Read the following extract from a letter of a well-known citizen of St. Catharines,—handsome like it:

ST. CATHARINES, Sept. 30th, 1885.
GENTLEMEN,—Being over 70 years of age, and over 30 years ruptured, I looked upon my case as hopeless, especially as I tried various appliances without success, among others, recently, two carried by agents from New York State, one of which I could retain by Herculean efforts over four months, night and day, with great satisfaction and comfort; even to bathe in it the rupture has never come down, it holds me perfectly secure under all circumstances. You may publish it for the benefit of other sufferers. Yours truly, CAPT. B. KING.

This new Spiral Spring Pad Truss has taken ten years to make it perfect; is guaranteed to hold the very worst case during the hardest work or severest strain. A Manager on His Muscle.

Mr. C. K. Mortimer, business manager of Mr. Wilson Day's Dramatic Company, is determined that the performances of his company during their engagement in Peterborough shall be characterised by the best of order throughout, and to this end has closed up the gallery, where the "gods" usually congregate and "raise Cain" throughout the whole show. As they are at present, Mr. Mortimer has them near the door, directly under his own eye, and any obstreperous youths who don't know how to behave themselves at a public gathering, will feel the force of Mr. Mortimer's massive muscle. Ye "gods," take warning.

COUNTY COUNCIL MEETING.

JANUARY SESSION.

FIRST DAY—TUESDAY.

The January session of the County Council of Peterborough opened at the council chamber to-day at 2 o'clock.

The following Reeves and Deputy-Reeves filed the necessary certificates of qualification:—

ASHBURNHAM.—John Barnham, Esq., Reeve.

LAKEFIELD.—E. C. Strickland, Esq., Reeve.

NORWOOD.—John Finlay, Esq., Reeve.

ASPHODEL.—John Walsh, Esq., Reeve; Jas. Moore, Esq., Deputy Reeve.

BELMONT, etc.—John Brown, Esq., Reeve.

BURLEIGH, etc.—F. Blackburst, Esq., Reeve; James Wild, Esq., Deputy Reeve.

DUMMER.—A. R. Kidd, Esq., Reeve; Richard Creegh, Esq., Deputy Reeve.

DOURO.—John Moloney, Esq., Reeve; Wm. Garbutt, Esq., Deputy Reeve.

GALWAY.—M. Mansfield, Esq., Reeve.

HARVEY.—James Hicks, Esq., Reeve.

NORTH MONAGHAN.—Jas. Forster, Esq., Reeve.

OTONABEE.—John Lang, Esq., Reeve; Geo. Stewart, Esq., Deputy Reeve.

SMITH.—M. Sanderson, Esq., Reeve; T. E. Fitzgerald, Esq., Deputy Reeve.

ELECTING THE WARDEN.

Mr. Kidd moved, seconded by Mr. Sanderson, that Mr. George Stewart, deputy-reeve of Otonabee, be Warden for the ensuing year.

The motion was carried unanimously.

The Warden in taking his seat thanked the Council for the honour implied in his selection, an honour he valued all the more highly because the position was unsought by him. He asked the co-operation of the Council in the discharge of his duties.

AUDITORS.

The Warden nominated Mr. F. J. Bell, of Smith, as one of the Auditors; the Council appointed Mr. J. J. Hall.

Mr. W. A. Stretton was re-appointed Sessional Clerk.

On motion, Messrs. Sanderson, Finlay, Lang, Moloney, Brown, Kidd and Strickland were appointed a committee to strike standing committees.

Messrs. Crowe, Fitzgerald, Garbutt, Moloney, Forster, Sanderson, Strickland and Brown were appointed a committee to report upon the matter of keeping the county roads passable during the winter.

Council adjourned till to-morrow.

The Shooting Affray.

Important Facts Omitted From Yesterday's Account of the Affair—The Wounded Italian's Condition.

Frank Marino, when arrested by P. C. McGinty, was searched and a five-shooter with three empty chambers found on him. A bullet was picked up off the floor, and is now in the possession of Chief Cooper.

Murphy, the wounded man, is a true-blooded Italian despite his Corkonian name, and can only speak pigeon-English. He served six months in the Central Prison some years ago, and recently was given a term in the gaol here for stabbing a comrade at Ashburnham.

Frank Anthony, who runs the peanut stand on Hunter street, acted as interpreter between the police and the interested parties. His services will be required at the Police Court next Monday.

Dr. Brennan was summoned Sunday morning by a friend of the wounded man, but learning that Dr. Kincaid had been given charge of the case by the town authorities, of course declined further attendance.

Marino, who did the shooting, is a true type of the Italian—dark, slim and fiery. Murphy, on the other hand, is heavy and seems to be possessed of great strength—a fact which will tell seriously against him should inflamation set in.

Murphy's condition remains unchanged. Dr. Kincaid is in attendance and so far has been successful in keeping down inflammation. He may live or may not.

Only a Campaign Sheet.

Sir John's Hurdy-Gurdy.

The assumptive and Conservative organ. The first number of the "Daily Standard," published in Toronto by Louis H. Kribe, has just been issued. The compiler of the "Standard"—in his salutatory apologizes for the imperfect typographical, editorial and news features of the journal, but promises better things in the future. In his "salutatory" the publisher says:—

"The defection of the Mail" "has left the Conservative party in the Toronto district without a newspaper exponent of its views. To close the gap left in the Conservative ranks by the course of the Mail, we have entered the field, and that we have done so hastily is because the time was pressing."

The new Conservative journal is merely a campaign sheet and does not make the first claim to supplanting the Mail as the organ of the Conservative party. Its appearance indicates that it is only an ephemeral publication—everything points to it as an ordinary campaign sheet. It has no published terms of yearly subscription, and to show that it is to be circulated by the party for the party, it declares:—

"Our system of delivery is perfect; a copy of the "Standard" will be placed in the hands of every resident in Ontario."

So is all the campaign literature "placed in the hands of every resident" at election times. The organ of the Conservative party is the Mail, while the new "Standard" is merely a hand organ, so to speak, which will cease grinding as soon as the elections are over and leave the field again to the real organ, the Mail. Sir John has fooled the Canadian public so often that he thinks he is able to palm off a shortlived campaign sheet as the substitute of the Mail, which will pound away to secure Sir John support in one quarter, while the new red herring is being trailed across the scent in another quarter. The only claim the campaign sheet called the "Standard" can lay to the term of an organ is the fact that it is supported by Government pap, and there is no earthly doubt that it will be circulated at the expense of the public—with the aid of money taken more or less directly from the public chest.

In Gala Guise for Guests.

The dining-room of the Morgan House is in gala attire for the Burns anniveversary supper to-night. Gaudy streamers are suspendek from the ceiling, Union Jacks, evergreens and patriotic mottoes line the walls, while the pillars are draped with Scotch plaid. Mine host "Joe" has in preparation a sumptuous dinner, that will eclipse all his former efforts.

Died at Campbellford.

Intelligence has been received that Mr. John Drennan, a former resident of Percy, died at Campbellford this morning of blood-poisoning. Mr. Drennan was a staunch, life-long Reformer, and was aged about 56 years.

Uncle Daniel.

The Messenger from Jarvis Section.

A full house greeted the initial performance of their five weeks engagement by the Wilson Day Dramatic Co. last night, and to say that everybody was satisfied does not do justice to their feelings on the occasion. they were more than satisfied. "Uncle Daniel, the Messenger from Jarvis Section," is one of the greatest of all sensational comedies, in four acts, and the play seemed to have been written especially for this company, so accurately did each member of the troupe fill the respective role allotted him. "Uncle Daniel" is a play abounding with thrilling climaxes and startling situations. The hero of the play, old Daniel Bartlett, "deputy-sheriff of Jarvis Section for nigh onto fifteen years," visits Boston on business relating to the welfare of his sister and niece, who are being oppressed by the villainous Simeon Briggs. While in the city Uncle Daniel meets with some lively experiences and difficulties, from which he always emerges at the "top o' the heap," finally returning home to straighten affairs and deal out justice to several troublesome criminals. Two of the scenes were laid in Boston—one a low bar room and the other a shabby tenement. These were especially well put on. Roars of laughter resounded throughout the hall at every move, only changing to tumults of applause when an exceptionally daring deed was performed. Mr. Wilson Day, as "Uncle Daniel," was the life of the play, he being off the stage very seldom. His make-up and characterization of a regular down-east Yankee were excellent. Mr. Wm. Henderson as "Skinny Smith," the little old miser, fitted the character perfectly. A better representation of the role could scarcely be imagined. Mrs. McGlenn (portrayed by Miss Willis) was the very type of an Irish landlady. Her make-up was faultless, while her acting was really good. Sandy Mitchell, Sheeny Mike and Keppler (the latter a rotund Dutchman) were admirably represented by Messrs. Herbert Carr, Wm. Howard and Ed. Summers. They were beaux ideals of the city bum. Throughout the entire play little Annie Bird, as "Clip," flitted like a ray of sunshine amidst the degradation and crime with which she was surrounded, her singing being greatly admired and always encored. Her first appearance on the stage was hailed by loud applause by the many warm friends she has in Peterborough. Miss Osborne, the leading lady support, had no chance to exhibit her dramatic talent. The genial and efficient manager of the company, Mr. Mortimer, announced that it was the intention of the management to only offer entirely new plays to the public throughout their entire engagement of two weeks, and that on Friday evening a benefit would be tendered Annie Bird, when will be presented the play written especially for her, "Bob, the Newsboy," in which she takes several parts. Saturday at the matinee a doll will be drawn for by the little girls in the audience.

To-night, for the first time in Peterborough, will be presented "Nobody's Child," a melo-drama of great strength and beauty of composition. Reserved seats can be secured at Hartley's music store. Low prices, 10 and 25c.

Personal.

Mr. W. R. Watson, of Cobourg, formerly with Mr. John Erskine, is in town on a visit.

Mr. White, of Belleville, is in town. He represents the Belleville curlers, and is taking the "lay o' the land" preparatory for the big bonspiel of Group No. 8, to be held here Tuesday and Wednesday next.

As if by Magic.

This is always the case when Polson's Nerviline is applied to any kind of pain; it is sure to disappear as if by magic. Stronger, more penetrating, and quicker in action than any other remidy in the world. Buy a bottle of nerviline to-day, and try its wonderful power of relieving pain of every description. Pain cannot stay where it is used. It is just the thing to have in the house to meet a sudden attack of illness. Only 25 cents a bottle. Sample bottle only 10 cents at any drug store. 6dw4

Have you ever tried McGregor & Parke's Carbolic cerate for sores of any kind? It is beyond doubt the very best preparation in the market for healing and curing Sores, Burns, Cuts, Pimples, Blotches, and is the only proper method of applying Carbolic Acid. Sold at John McKee's Drug Store for 25c. per box. eodw4

Threatened Danger.

In the fall of '84, Randall Miller, of Mitland, N.S., was prostrated to his bed with an attack of incipient consumption. Cough remedies all failed. He rapidly grew debilitated, and friends despaired of his recovery. He tried Burdock Blood Bitters, with immediate relief, followed by a speedy cure. 2w3d

HELLO! BROWN,

"What are you looking so mad about, this morning?"

"Well, I'll tell you, Jones. I bought a very fine Tent from TURNER, and one of my friends wanted to borrow it."

"And did you lend it?"

"Well, I guess not. The last Tent I had got used up by lending. I told him to go to J. J. TURNER, the great Tent maker, and he would rent or sell him a tent."

D. W. DUMBLE.

WHY
Will people pay rent when houses and lots can be purchased on such easy terms as are offered by the undersigned. Come and inspect our work and see for yourselves how we construct our houses. Our chief aim and study is to build substantial, warm, frost and damp proof houses. I am offering good building lots, and will build solid brick houses, nine-inch walls, strapped and lathed, two stories, for less money than you can buy frame or veneered buildings. We cordially invite those who anticipate renting or buying to inspect our work and prove for themselves that our houses are not merely built to sell. Every house I've sold given first-class satisfaction, and I am determined that every house I build shall be a standing testimony to honest building. QUARREL ABOUT FISH

THE PIRATES AT GLOUCESTER HAVE A JOLLIFICATION.

GLOUCESTER, Mass., Jan. 25.—There was great jubilation here last night over the passage of the "Retaliation" Fisheries Bill" by the Senate. A large crowd assembled in the vicinity of the Custom House and Postoffice, blocking the street and awakening the echoes with frequent cheers and manifestations of enthusiasm. The general opinion is that the bill is what fishermen and vessel owners here desire. They do not want to be on unfriendly terms with Canadians, but do want their accordance of commercial rights and privileges.

A Cabinet Meeting.

WASHINGTON, D.C., Jan. 25.—The Cabinet meeting was attended by all the members except the Secretary of War, who is out of the city. The principal topic of discussion was the action of the Senate on the Canadian fishery question, in the course of which a question arose as to the legality of the recent seizures of British vessels near the Seal Islands for alleged violations of the laws regulating the hunting of seals at or near those islands.

A Committee of Enquiry Suggested.

LONDON, Eng., Jan. 25.—Mr. Gourlay, M.P. for Sunderland, will, at the coming session, move the House of Commons to appoint a select committee to enquire into the fisheries conventions between Great Britain and the United States to ascertain how far they may be amended or abolished.

Opinions of the London Press.

LONDON, Jan. 25.—The Post says: "We are sure Mr. Ingalls' outspoken bitterness against England does not represent the feeling of either the American Senate or people."

The Chronicle hopes the Washington authorities will early disclaim any community of feeling with Mr. Ingalls.

The Daily News says: "It is much to be hoped that no steps will be taken to exasperate the quarrel, and that the good sense of Canada will insist upon a policy of peace."

The Standard says President Cleveland will probably have the good sense to veto the measure or agree to it merely in form as a prelude to amicable negotiations.

AFFAIRS OVER THE WATER.

The Speech to be Delivered From the Throne Approved by the Queen.

LONDON, Jan. 25.—A Cabinet council was held at Windsor Castle to-day. The Queen read and approved the speech to be delivered from the throne at the opening of Parliament on Thursday.

Gladstone in London.

LONDON, Jan. 25.—Gladstone arrived in London to-day. At the stations along the route from Hawarden he was recognized by the people and enthusiastically cheered.

Mr. Redmond Makes a Threat.

DUBLIN, Jan. 25.—Mr. Redmond, M.P., speaking at Kilbury yesterday, said that if England refused to redress Irish grievances constitutionally there were strong arms and stout hearts enough in Tipperary and Waterford to meet the enemies of Ireland on a widely different field. While Mr. Redmond was speaking the crowd violently attacked the Government reporter, who was repeatedly rescued by the police.

Mr. Gladstone's Resolution.

LONDON, Jan. 25.—Mr. Gladstone has prepared a resolution affirming the general principle of Home Rule which Chamberlain and Trevelyan will be asked to accept on the resumption of the Gladstonian-Unionists' conference.

Land Tenure in Ireland.

LONDON, Jan. 25.—Mr. Goschen, speaking at Liverpool last night, said that the system of dual ownership of land in Ireland, was impossible, and that further steps were necessary to simplify the land tenure. There was no reason why all parties should not combine and solve the difficulty.

NOVA SCOTIA'S PET.

THE HIGH COMMISSIONER ARRIVES AT THE NATIONAL CAPITAL.

MONTREAL, Jan. 25.—Sir Charles Tupper arrived in Montreal last midnight from New York, and was the guest for the night of Mr. Andrew Robertson, Chairman of the Harbor Commissioners. This morning he left for Ottawa. After his arrival Sir Charles refused to talk to reporters, even of the Government organs, but this morning he said that the first he knew of the elections was when he arrived in New York. Asked as to the object of his mission he said: "I had arranged to come out to discuss very important public questions with Sir John and the Government. I telegraphed to the Premier to that effect, and it must have been then that the news of my visit to the country created a stir that I am at a loss to understand. I have come here in connection with the proposed Canadian treaty with Spain and certain changes in the Imperial Institute. This, you can rest assured, is the sole object of my mission."

Sir Charles further added that he believed the treaty with Spain would be most advantageous to Canada. Sir John Macdonald is of the same opinion, and he thought the scheme was in a fair way to success.

Being asked whether he proposed to accept a seat in the Cabinet, Sir Charles said he did not expect to, but at the same time he did not believe he would return to London. However, matters were in Sir John's hands, and he would decide the whole question.

The High Commissioner at the Capital.

OTTAWA, Jan. 25.—Sir Charles Tupper and Mr. Andrew Robertson arrived here this afternoon. After lunch Sir Charles proceeded to the Eastern Departmental block, where he received a warm greeting from various ministers. He attended the Cabinet meeting at 3 o'clock, where the plan of the campaign was discussed. The High Commissioner is looking very well, and in response to enquiries stated that he has never enjoyed better health, although experiencing a rough passage to New York.

The political atmosphere since his return is again filled with all sorts of rumors, ridiculous and otherwise. One story is to the effect that he will enter the Cabinet, succeeding Hon. Mr. McLelan as Minister of Finance, and will oppose Hon. Mr. Blake in West Durham.

It is understood that Sir Charles Tupper will visit Nova Scotia in a few days. He is now the guest of Hon. J. H. Pope.

Off to the Front.

OTTAWA, Jan. 25.—Hon. J. A. Chapleau left this evening for Montreal, where he will undertake the work of organizing the campaign in the Montreal District. He will stump Terrebonne County at an early date.

Hon. Mr. McLelan, Minister of Finance, will fire the first gun at Truro, N.S., at the end of the week. He left for the Lower Provinces this evening.

The Crisis in Quebec.

QUEBEC, Jan. 25.—It is rumored to-night that Hon. L. O. Taillon has reported his inability to form a Ministry and that Hon. Mr. Mercier will be called upon, either to-night or in the morning, to form one.

The Work of Tuesday's Conventions.

WALKERTON, Jan. 25.—At the Reform Convention to-day in Formosa, Hon. R. M. Wells was chosen to contest East Bruce.

PRESCOTT, Jan. 25.—Hon. Wm. McDougall was to-day selected by the Reformers of South Grenville as their candidate.

OTTAWA, Jan. 25.—The Liberals of Dundas County nominated to-day Adam Johnston as their candidate for the House of Commons in opposition to Dr. Hickey.

The Conservatives of this city this evening nominated Mr. Perley and Mr. H. Robilliard ex-M.P.P., as their candidates.

A Montrealer's Bequests.

MONTREAL, Jan. 25.—By the will of the late Mr. R. A. Ramsay, which was probated in the Court House yesterday, a bequest of $1000 is made to the library of McGill University and $200 to the Montreal General Hospital. A handsome bequest is also made to his sister, Miss E. A. Ramsay, the residue of the estate, which is estimated at $100,000, being left to his wife and family. In connection with the bequest to McGill library, it is stipulated that the books be bound in leather and bear some indication whence they came. Mr. John Dunlop, advocate, and Mr. E. B. Greenshields, merchant, together with his mother and wife, are appointed trustees to the will.

Prize Fighters Arrested.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Jan. 25.—A fight between Pete McCoy of Philadelphia and Reddy Gallagher of this city was arranged to take place this evening at Curry's Hall. The price of admission was $5, and a great many were present. The battle was to have been to a finish, Marquis of Queensberry rules, with hard gloves. Five savage rounds were fought, to the disadvantage of Gallagher. In the middle of the sixth the police climbed over the ropes and arrested the principals and seconds. They were subsequently released on bail.

Another Comet Discovered.

ROCHESTER, Jan. 25.—Director Swift of the Warner Observatory received yesterday, Jan. 24, a telegram from Prof. Barnard, Director of the Vanderbilt University Observatory, Nashville, Tenn., announcing the discovery of another comet by him in Cygnus. This entitles him to another Warner prize. Three comets have been discovered in five days.

The Bulgarian Trouble.

PESTH, Jan. 25.—It is semi-officially stated that the Austrian Government concurs as to the necessity of a new Sobranje or a new regency before the election of a Prince to the Bulgarian throne. All the powers, with the exception of England, are now in unison on this subject.

Rev. O. J. Booth Resigns.

BUFFALO, Jan. 25.—Rev. Oliver J. Booth of the Church of the Ascension, who came here from St. Catharines, Ont., a year or a year and a half ago, has resigned his charge as a result of the trouble had on a railway train a few weeks ago with Gen. Wm. Scoy Smith.

Lewis to Wrestle Acton.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 25.—Articles of agreement have been signed by Evan Lewis and Jos Acton to wrestle a catch-as-catch-can match, best three falls out of five, at Chicago, Feb. 7, the winner to have 75 and the loser 25 per cent. of the net receipts.

A Head-Hand Passenger Loses a Leg.

OTTAWA, Jan. 25.—This morning about 3 o'clock, as the Montreal and Toronto trains were passing each other at a station called Pike Falls, between Smith Falls and Perth, a man named Patrick Blake, who is supposed to have been stealing a ride between the engine and baggage car of the east-bound train, fell off and was run over by the other train, one leg being completely cut off and several minor injuries sustained.

HAMILTON MATTERS.

Injured by Broken Glass—Sudden Death of a Little Boy—Burglary.

HAMILTON, Jan. 25.—A young man named Thomas Hutchinson had a narrow escape yesterday afternoon. He was assisting in putting a new plate glass window into P. D. Caux's store at the corner of Mary and King streets. While the glass was being placed in position a large piece broke off and fell upon Hutchinson. The glass cut through his fur cap and inflicted an ugly scalp wound.

Walter Beadle, the 14-year-old son of Mr. Samuel Beadle, of Tapleytown, Township of Saltfleet, died very suddenly yesterday. He complained of having a headache on Sunday, but nothing serious was thought of it. Yesterday afternoon he lay down on a sofa, and becoming very still a member of the household went to see if he were asleep, only to find that he was dead.

The house of Byron Kitchener, corner of Wellington and Robert streets, was broken into on Sunday night by burglars, who stole a number of articles, a gold ring among others.

THE MONTREAL CARNIVAL.

The Design for the Snowshoers' Living Arch Completed.

MONTREAL, Jan. 25.—The design for the snowshoers' living arch, which will stand at the head of McGill and St. James-streets, has been prepared by Mr. A.F. Dunlop, architect. The central tower will be twenty-four feet square by forty feet high, with a drive through fourteen feet wide. At each angle of the tower will be a turreted tower twenty-one feet high. Ledges will be constructed on all the towers to accommodate about 200 snowshoers who will mount the arch. At the top of the central tower there will be four flying turrets. The summit of the tower will form a crown constructed of snowshoes and evergreens; on the top of this will be a large figure of a beaver, and the date of Her Majesty's accession, 1837, will be inscribed underneath. At each angle of the square tower there are four bridges about sixteen feet from the ground, connected by a twelve foot span to four circular turreted towers.

JEWELRY ROBBERY IN MONTREAL.

There Were Two Clerks in the Store When the Theft was Committed.

MONTREAL, Jan. 25.—The jewelry store of N. LeFebvre, on Notre Dame-street, has been burglarized and ninety-seven gold rings and twelve silver watches are missing. Two clerks, Chas. Archambault and M. Bellager, were in the store at the time. Previous to going to supper Archambault went down into the cellar to get some coal for the stove. When he returned he found his confrere sleeping in a chair behind the counter. It will be remembered that only two years ago Mr. LeFebvre lost $18,000 worth of jewelry by a midnight robbery. The perpetrators were never found, and only $9000 worth of the stolen goods were recovered. Twenty of the stolen rings were 18kt., engraved; thirty-seven were 18kt., plain; thirty-four 9kt., plain, and four 9kt., band. The entire loss amounts to about $300.

A Railway Agent Killed.

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., Jan. 25.—David H. Thomas, agent of the New York, Lake Erie and Western at Suspension Bridge, N.Y., about midnight last night had his foot caught in a frog and was run over by a freight car in the yard and instantly killed. On account of the late storms the freights bound west and east had received serious delay and Mr. Thomas, who is a very energetic railroad agent, was out with his men helping to hurry the delayed freights along, and went between the cars to pull a pin when his foot caught in a frog and one truck on the car passed over him about the middle, killing him. One of the men, J. O'Neil, had his body cut before the second truck reached it. He is wide and favorably known, having been agent and connected with the Erie road for some twenty years. He leaves a wife and three grown up daughters, two of whom are married.

LIBERALS,

RALLY

To-Night!

Dominion Elections.

A Grand Rally of every working Liberal in Town is called for THIS EVENING, in the Liberal Club Rooms, to perfect organization for the coming Dominion Elections.

The Daily Examiner.

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 26, 1887.

IT CUTS BOTH WAYS.

It is charged against Liberals in the present contest that they are "seeking" to curry favour with the electors, by pretended leanings toward protection, and the former expressions of Liberal statesmen are quoted to endeavour to sustain the charge. If a public man's past utterances on fiscal subjects are to be used as a guide to the sincerity of his present opinions, then there is a member of the Cabinet who is decidedly unsound in the faith. Hon. Thomas White, now a shining light in the constellation, of great politicians that revolve around Sir John, is an out and out opponent of protection and thinks that an industry that cannot stand with a fifteen per cent. protection should go to the wall. Mr. White's opinions in opposition to protection when uttered, it should be supposed, were permanent and enduring for they were founded on principles and not prompted by questions of "political exigency." When in the Dominion Board of Trade Hon. Mr. White thus delivered himself against a protection resolution moved by a Toronto Liberal. Hon. Mr. White said:—

"I repeat that I think it scarcely fair to ask this Board to adopt the first part of this resolution, involving serious reductions in the revenue, unless at the same time we may discuss the proposals by which that loss is to be made up. If we could have a 20 per cent. tariff, and the assurance that it must be permanent, I will go in for it. But to my VIEW IF WE GOT THAT TWENTY PER CENT. TARIFF, STRONG OPPOSITION WOULD ARISE ON THE GROUND OF TOO HIGH TAXATION. If such a tariff was imposed and afterwards reduced, it would inflict much more harm on our manufactures than if it had never been imposed. What is wanted is permanence. The fifteen per cent. protection gives us fair assurance of that, and under it our manufactures have prospered in the past. It has placed our manufacturing industries in a position of which we may well feel proud. It is a tariff not likely to be lowered in accordance with the views of a fancy financier like Mr. Wilkes, and therefore it may be looked upon as a fair permanent tariff which ensures to every man engaged in manufacturing industry ADEQUATE PROTECTION FOR ALL REASONABLE TIME TO COME. A fifteen per cent. tariff means more than 15 per cent. protection to manufacturers. There is the cost of transport of goods from the other side of the water, which amounts on an average to at least five per cent. THAT OUGHT TO BE SUFFICIENT FOR ANY INDUSTRY SUITED TO THE COUNTRY, AND AS TO OTHERS IT WOULD BE UNWISE TO ATTEMPT TO SUSTAIN THEM BY FISCAL PROPS. I warn my protectionist friends against provoking the controversies to which a twenty per cent. tariff would give rise. The very discussion of it, the very attacks which it would provoke, would do more to unsettle manufacturing industry and drive capital from being invested in it, that any good results that could flow from it, I hope, therefore, that in the interests of the manufactures of the country as well as in the interests of its commerce generally, the Board WILL NOT ALLOW ITSELF TO BE INDUCED INTO RECOMMENDING ANY GENERAL INCREASE IN THE TARIFF."

This is the language of a gentleman, who now professes to be an advanced protectionist, and a member of a government which seeks support on the grounds of its record and intentions in the way of protecting Canadian industries, although the dishonest, discriminating and unfair mode of applying it has the effect of unduly favoring and enriching some manufacturers, and, by injudicious and unjust taxes on raw materials, seriously hampering others. These abuses of an adopted fiscal system, which circumstances do not suggest the desirability of changing, are what Liberals want checked. If the country is committed to a system of protection to Canadian industries, it is desirable that that system should be fairly, honestly and wisely applied. There should be no practical favoritism shown to any one class of industries to the detriment of another. While capital is protected its great co-operator, labour, should also have protection. Hon. Mr. White has not attempted to procure the fair and equitable application of the principle of protection since he has been in a position to do so with effect. Are we, therefore, not fairly justified in concluding that Hon. Mr. White, having been "convinced"—on the subject of protection by "political exigencies"—"against his will," is "of the same opinion still," as when he publicly declared that a fifteen per cent. tariff was adequate protection for all time to come. Residence in glass houses suggests the unwisdom of throwing stones.

NOTICE TO ADVERTISERS.

Advertisers in the DAILY EXAMINER are requested to hand in their changes by 6 o'clock p.m. for the next day's paper. This will save disappointment, as it is impossible to make so many changes as are sometimes sent in on one day.

THE Tory of to-day is wise in his own generation. A Nepanee Conservative has evolved a brilliant idea. The party in that town, having a Conservative candidate who can't be elected, this gentleman, who seems to be too good for this world, suggests that, for the sake of "peace and harmony," both the Liberal and Conservative candidates retire and allow Sir John to be returned for Lennox by acclamation. No, no, that won't do—the cloven hoof is too conspicuous—the "peace and harmony" blanket isn't wide enough to hide it. The Liberals intend to fight Lennox and elect their standard-bearer, Mr. D. W. Allison, whether Sir John, or the humbler Uriah, is his opponent.

THERE will be a hot fight in Kingston. After a dozen or more local men, among them Speaker Kirkpatrick and Mr. George Richardson, an extensive grain dealer, had declined to sacrifice themselves to prevent Mr. Gunn, the Liberal candidate, from having a walk-over, Sir John has yielded to the supplications of the faithful and decided to contest the city, presumably in the interest of the Government. Sir John feels an odd longing for Kingston, something like the affection of a moth for a flame, for there is little doubt that he is going to certain defeat. Mr. Gunn is no stronger a candidate than no local Tory dares face him. In 1878 he defeated Sir John disastrously. That time the Premier entered the contest against Mr. Gunn on the "didn't-know it-was-loaded" principle. This time, perhaps, he will, as the genial Mr. Boultbee suggests, see that the constituency is "loaded up the other way."

Slips of Tongue and Pen.

This is the expressive title of a neat and useful little volume issued by the Copp, Clark Company, (limited) publishers, Toronto. The author is Mr. J. H. Long, M.A., LL.B., Principal of the Peterborough Collegiate Institute. The little volume of a hundred pages treats of—Firstly, "common errors" in the application of words and phrases, both in writing and speaking. Secondly, of "grammatical points," giving hints for correction of habits of error of construction, etc. Thirdly, of concise comprehensive and valuable "general suggestions on composition." Fourthly, of the proper use of synonymous and antithetical words. Fifthly, of words which are preferable to use in numerous specified connections. Sixthly, of "objectionable words and phrases," and seventhly, of "punctuation." The work is prepared with great care, and shows abundant evidence of the erudition and culture with which the author is generally justly credited. It will prove most useful to beginners in the study of the English language and indeed, many adults with more or less literary pretensions will find in Mr. Long's capital treatise on "Slips of Tongue and Pen" instructive and valuable hints on grammatical deportment.

The Carnival Star.

The year 1887, the year of the Queen's jubilee, is to be signalised by the issue of the greatest illustrated paper ever issued in America—the Carnival number of the Montreal Star—a work of national importance. We are told by those who know that it will overshadow and out strip all previous efforts in illustrated journalism. those who cannot go to Montreal for the great Carnival will find all the events to the very life in the Carnival number of the Star. It is to be some forty odd mammoth pages with five plate supplements,

The hair on the head is not intended alone for ornament, but to protect the scalp as well; but it often happens that the head becomes bald, which, of course, leaves the scalp exposed, which is very uncomfortable and unsightly besides. Everyone who becomes bald should procure an artificial covering of hair in order to protect the scalp from the severe weather and to improve their looks. Prof. Dorenwend's fine styles of Gents' Wigs and Toupees, Ladies' Bangs, Wigs, Waves, etc., are just the things required in such cases. It is impossible to detect any false look about his pieces when put on the head. Everyone should call and see the Professor, as he will not be here again this season. He will be at Phelan's hotel on Saturday and Monday, February 5th and 7th. 3w3-5d

The next morning found Capt. Bennydeck still keeping his rooms at Sydenham. The state of his mind presented a complete contrast to the state of Catherine's mind. So far from sharing her aversion to the personal associations which were connected with the hotel, he found his one consolation in visiting the scenes which reminded him of the beloved woman whom he had lost. The reason for this was not far to seek. His was the largest nature and his had been the most devoted love.

As usual his letters were forwarded to him from his place of residence in London. Those addressed in handwritings that he knew were the first that he read. The others he took out with him to that sequestered part of the garden in which he had passed the happiest hours of his life by Catherine's side.

He had been thinking of her all the morning; he was thinking of her now.

His unopened correspondence offered a harmless occupation to his thoughts, in the meanwhile. One after another he read the letters with an attention constantly wandering and constantly recalled, until he opened the last of them that remained. In a moment more his interest was absorbed. The first sentences in the letter told him that the deserted creature whom he had met in the garden—the stranger to whom he had offered help and consolation in the present and in the future—was no other than the lost girl of whom he had been so long in search; the daughter of Roderick Westerfield, once his dearest and oldest friend.

In the pages that followed the writer confided to him her sad story, leaving it to her father's friend to decide whether she was worthy of the sympathy which he had offered to her when he thought she was a stranger.

This part of her letter was necessarily a repetition of what Bennydeck had read in the confession which Catherine had addressed to him. That generous woman had been guilty of one, and but one, concealment of the truth. In relating the circumstances under which the elopement from Mount Morven had taken place, she had abstained, in justice to the sincerity of Sydney's repentance, from mentioning Sydney's name. "Another instance," the captain thought bitterly as he closed the letter, "of the virtues which might have made the happiness of my life!"

But he was bound to remember—and he did remember—that there was now a new interest tenderly associating itself with his life to come. The one best way of telling Sydney how dear she was to him already, for her father's sake, would be to answer her in person. He hurried away to London by the first train, and drove at once to Randal's place of abode to ask for Sydney's address.

Wondering what had become of the postscript to his letter, which had given Bennydeck the information of which he was now in search, Randal complied with his friend's request, and then ventured to allude to the report of the captain's marriage engagement.

"Am I to congratulate you?" he asked.

"Congratulate me on having discovered Roderick Westerfield's daughter."

That reply, and the tone in which it was given, led Randal to ask if the engagement had been prematurely announced.

"There is no engagement at all," Bennydeck answered, with a look which suggested that it might be wise not to dwell on the subject.

But the discovery was welcome to Randal, for his brother's sake. He ran the risk of consequences, and inquired if Catherine was still to be found at the hotel.

The captain answered by a sign in the negative.

Randal persisted. "Do you know where she has gone?"

"Nobody knows but her lawyer."

"In that case," Randal concluded, "I shall get the information that I want." Noticing that Bennydeck looked surprised, he mentioned his motive. "Herbert is pining to see Kitty," he continued, "and I mean to help him. He has done all that a man could do to atone for the past. As things are, I firmly believe I shall not offend Catherine if I send him straight to the place in which Kitty and her mother are now living."

They left the house together—one to go to Sydney's lodgings, the other on his way to Mr. Serrazin's office.

CHAPTER LIV.

When the servant at the lodgings announced a visitor and mentioned his name, Sydney's memory (instead of dwelling on the recollection of the captain's kindness) perversely recalled the letter that she had addressed to him, and reminded her that she stood in need of indulgence, which even so good a man might hesitate to grant. Bennydeck's first words told the friendless girl that her fears had wronged him.

"My dear, how like your father you are! You have his eyes and his smile; I can't tell you how pleasantly you remind me of my dear old friend." He took her hand and kissed her as he might have kissed a daughter of his own. "Do you remember me at home, Sydney, when you were a child? No; you must have been too young for that."

She was deeply touched. In faint, trembling tones she said: "I remember your name; my poor father often spoke of you."

A man of true sympathy is never in danger of mistaking his way to a woman's heart, when that woman has suffered. Bennydeck consoled, interested, charmed Sydney, by still speaking of the bygone days at home.

"I well remember how fond your father was of you, and what a bright little girl you were," the captain went on. "You have forgotten, I dare say, the old-fashioned sentences that he used to be so fond of teaching you. It was the strangest and prettiest contrast to hear your small, piping child's voice singing of storms and shipwrecks, and thunder and lightning, and reefing sails in cold and darkness, without the least idea of what it all meant. Your mother was strict in those days; you never amused her as you used to amuse your father and me. When and cudgel you exercising my patience and sweetness, she accused me of destroying your digestion before you were 5 years old. I went on spoiling it, for all that. The last time I saw you, my child, your father was singing 'The Mariners of England,' and you were on his knee trying to sing with him. You must have often wondered why you never saw anything more of me. Did you think I had forgotten you?"

"I am quite sure I never thought that!"

"You say I was in the navy 'until all the time,'" the captain answered; "and we shall succeed nicely in a fencing match. When I got back to England Mr. Westerfield was waiting for me. I heard of your father's death and of that shameful trial. Poor fellow! He was as innocent, Sydney, as you are of the offense which he was accused of committing. The first thing I did was to set inquiries on foot after your mother and her children. It was some consolation to me to feel that I was rich enough to make your life easy and agreeable to you. I thought money could do anything. A serious mistake my dear—money couldn't find the widow and her children. We supposed you were somewhere in London; and there, to my great grief, it ended. From time to time—long afterward, when we thought we had got the clew in our own hands—I continued my inquiries, still without success. A poor woman and her little family are so easily inquited in the big city! Years passed (more of them than I like to reckon up) before I heard of you at least by name. The person from whom I got my information told me how you were employed and where."

"Oh, Capt. Bennydeck, who could the person have been?"

"A poor old broken-down actor, Sydney. You were his favorite pupil. Do you remember him?"

"I should be ungrateful, indeed, if I could forget him. He was the only person in the school who was kind to me. Is the good old man still living?"

"No; he rests at last. I am glad to say I was able to make his last days on earth the happiest days of his life."

"I wonder," Sydney confessed, "how you met with him."

EXTRACT FROM MONTREAL WITNESS, DATED DECEMBER 28th, 1886:—

THE LATE MR. McLACHLAN.

AS INSURANCE COMPANY' PROMPT SETTLEMENT.

We have been asked by Mr. McLachlan to publish the following, and do so in view of the exceptional public interest taken in the case mentioned:—

To E. Mackay, Esq., Managing Director of the Sun Life Assurance Company:—

DEAR SIR,—I have much pleasure in acknowledging the payment by you of $27,333.33, being the amount due under my policy on the life of my brother, the late James S. McLachlan. A company's character is tested when an opportunity arises in which it has the power to take advantage of a technicality or infirmity to defeat payment, and to compel, with every show and appearance of justice, the defendant to a just and honest claim. There is no doubt in the mind of any reasonable man that my brother and Mr. Scammell were unhappily drowned, and the affidavit produced abundantly supports this; but although a careful search has been made, the bodies may never be recovered owing to the swiftness of the current and the low temperature of the water. It would, indeed, be a pleasure to me, apart from the claim, under the circumstances, to commend in public words which, from the very nature of the case, it is impossible to repeat. I have great pleasure in certifying, to the honorable and liberal manner in which your Company has acted in respect to the claim. As soon as your board of directors was aware that the accident had really happened, you gave every facility for a prompt settlement. You have been the first of the many companies interested to pay, and I thank you for the businesslike and satisfactory manner in which you have met me.

W. McLACHLAN.

The Dominion Sabbath fund, we understand, has also paid its policy of $2,000. The Sun Life has taken from the executors of Mr. McLachlan a personal bond to refund the amount of insurance with six per cent. per annum compound interest, should he ever turn up alive. Mr. J. S. McLachlan had in all $42,139.70 insurance on his life, and other companies resist the claims.

BURNS BIRTHDAY BANQUET.

St. Andrew's Society's Supper in Honor of the Immortal Bard's Natal Day.

Largely Attended Banquet at the Morgan House—Nine Most Morgan Sentiments Elicited—Toasts, Songs, Music, Speeches—Enveloping Success of the Initial Burns' Anniversary Celebration.

On Tuesday evening, notwithstanding counter attractions, about eighty-five guests assembled in the dining-room of the Morgan House hotel to do honor to the 128th anniversary of the birthday of the poet, Robert Burns.

The room was beautifully and appropriately decorated for the occasion. From the ceiling hung festoons of red, white and blue bunting, relieved here and there with British and Canadian flags, and festoons of flags ornamented the side walls. The pillars of the dining hall were swathed in tartan, and at different points wreaths of evergreens twined with flowers gave pleasing variety to the decorations. At different points in the hall were suspended a portrait of Burns and portraits of David Kennedy and the Kennedy family, and pictures of Highland Mary and the biggin where Burns was born. The mottoes were exceedingly appropriate. On the wall at the head of the table was "Robert Burns, born 1759; Died—He Never Dies," a motto whose significance called forth repeated comment from several of the speakers. Opposite this was the motto "The Queen." On one of the side walls loomed up the motto "Scotland Our Home," having for its vis-a-vis this evidence of transplanted patriotism, "Canada Our Country." The entire decorations of the hall were exceedingly effective and reflect credit upon the committee charged with that duty. The well laden tables were in keeping and literally grand under a profusion of excellent edibles, an idea of which can be gathered from the following copy of

BILL OF FARE.

The president of the St. Andrew's Society occupied the chair, discharging the duties of that position gracefully and to the satisfaction of all. Mr. James Hendry, 1st vice-president, occupied the 1st vice chair, and Mr. Wm. Menzies, secretary, the 2nd vice chair.

After the removal of the cloth the secretary proceeded to read letters of regret of inability of attendance, and assurances of sympathy with the objects of the gathering, from the following gentlemen: A. P. Foosette, H. Calcutt, Dr. Fife, F. J. Lewis, Edg. Pearce, David Rose, Dunmer; John Isbister and John Dinwoodie, Lakefield; J. B. McWilliams, Mayor Stevenson, W. Manson, Dr. Bingham, D. H. Moore, John Green, J. H. Roper, John Burnham, and W. H. Hill.

As a preliminary to the regular programme, Dr. Massie, of Keene, read the following meritorious and appropriate

"OPENING ODE."

Hail brothers all, whatever clime
May boast our birth, this not the time
To dwell on theme so worn;
But let us celebrate his name,
The brightest on the scroll of fame,
That ever yet was born.

Whose soul was so divinely strung
Its notes in rich profusion flung,
Come floating on the gale;
And like some wild Æolian thing,
Each throbbing, palpitating string
Pours forth its melting tale.

Land of the bard, beyond the sea!
In social song and mutual glee
Whene'er this day returns,
We still, in friendship's sweet accord,
Shall gather round the festive board
In memory of Burns.

Praise to the bard whose mighty hand
Has placed our loved, our native land,
On Fame's celestial height,
To be through Time's most distant page,
For every dim succeeding age
A blazing beacon light.

Who knits all human hearts as one,
And charms all lands beneath the sun
With music from above;
And all our minds with wisdom stored,
And bound us with a golden cord
Of sympathy and and love.

Who taught us independence true
And rung the changes through and through
His own immortal rhymes;
And gathered, as of kindred blood,
In one fraternal brotherhood,
All peoples of all climes.

Who taught the lords of lofty domes
That worth may dwell in lowly homes
And noble patriot pride;
And points the great Creator's plan
Till man's humanity to man
Shall stem oppression's tide;

Shall drain the springs of sorrow dry
And wipe the tear from every eye
And raise the drooping soul:
And all the brotherhood of man
Shall bow to God's and Nature's plan
In one eternal whole.

The following toasts were then proposed by the President:

"The Queen and Royal Family"—Song, "God Save the Queen."

"The Governor-General"—Song, "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow."

Mr. Macduff gave a splendid violin solo, "Scotch Fantasie" with organ accompaniment by Mr. Seward, which was received, as it was worthy of, with enthusiastic cheers.

In a neat speech the president proposed "The Army, Navy and Volunteers," which was most heartily drunk, and eloquently responded to in a neat speech by Capt. Cooper and a recitation by Lieut. (Dr.) Brennan,—"John Burns of Gettysburgh."

A selection on the organ, excellently performed by Mrs. (Dr.) Massie, consisted of a selection of Scotch airs and strathespeys, which aroused the uncontrollable enthusiasm of several Scotchmen present.

The toast of the evening, "Robert Burns," was drunk in solemn silence. Mr. Gallelly sang, in his usually perfect manner, "The Natal Song"—"There was a Lad was born in Kyle," with chorus by the company.

Dr. MASSIE, of Keene, responded in a speech, graphically sketching the origin and life of the poet and eulogizing his poetry as the outcome of a heart in sympathetic tune with every emotion of the human heart, or even the humble mouse of the field. His heart was full of sympathy for every animate object. His burning patriotism found eloquent expression in his equally glowing verse. Though humble in extraction and sphere, his genius compelled the respect and admiration and affection of the most shining literary celebrities of his day. Burns had his faults, but these faults were exaggerated by the prominence of his position, which exposed him to a criticism which, in less eminent men, would have escaped notice. Burns was a loyal and patriotic man—his loyalty was of the highest and noblest character—and a champion of the volunteer force. As a Freemason Burns wrote many masterly pieces on the subject. Burns was born in a humble thatched cottage, yet his home is revered wherever Caledonians are found, and where goes they are found? for he touched the hearts of the fellow countrymen, and no other man ever taught Caledonians more of self dependence than Burns. The "Cotter's Saturday Night," was a picture of a typical lowly Scottish home, a picture to the world. Dr. Massie closed an eloquent speech by reading an "Anniversary Tribute to Robert Burns" which is too lengthy to be incorporated into this report.

MR. JAMES HENDRY gave with much expression, "Oh! the Ale the Wife can Brew."

MR. CHARLES CAMERON congratulated the St. Andrews Society upon the great success that attended the first attempt to celebrate the Burn's Anniversary, and as an old member of the Society he was highly gratified at the success that had attended the efforts of the President, Secretary and committee. After paying an eloquent tribute to the poems of Burns, he highly eulogized David Kennedy who had done more than any other man to keep alive the spirit of devotion to the memory of Burns, and proposed the toast, "In Memoriam, David Kennedy."

The toast was drunk, of course, in silence, and Mr. Gallelly gave in splendid voice the song "Flow Gently, Sweet Afton."

Mr. HENDRY proposed the toast, "Canada Our Home," which brought a phenomenally neat and happy response from Mr. A. Clegg.

Mr. M. MILLAR proposed the toast "The Parliament of Canada and Ontario Legislature," to which Mr. J. R. Stratton, M.P.P., briefly responded, referring to the prominent position Scotsmen took in public matters and their tendency to get to the front and to keep to the front and remarking the assistance of our legislative bodies to the large admixture of the Scotch element in them.

This was followed by a violin solo by Mr. McDuff, which was listened to with the great delight which always attends his playing. The selection was a medley of Scotch Airs.

The "Mercantile, Agricultural and Manufacturing Interests" brought out Mr. John Douglass in a most humorous and locally patriotic toast.

Mr. A. CLEGG proposed the "St. Andrew's Society," which was responded to by Mr. Menzies, president, and Mr. M. Millar, who proposed the "Host and Hostess."

Mr. CLEGG proposed "The Ladies," which was followed with the time-honored "Auld Lang Syne," and "God Save the Queen."

The banquet throughout was a very gratifying success, and the success of the first Burns Anniversary Dinner will doubtless furnish the Society with a precedent for annually marking the birthday of the immortal bard in a similar manner.

Organ Recital.

Remember the organ recital in St. Paul's Church Friday evening, 28th inst. An excellent programme by a chorus of 32 voices has been prepared by Prof. Parker. Proceeds in aid of the choir fund. Admission 25 cents.

A Successful Social.

A regular old-fashioned social was held at the residence of Mr. W. Walsh, Dixon street, last night. And it was successful, for Mr. and Mrs. Walsh know just how to please their friends when they try. The house was filled to overflowing, the viands were of the best, and plenty at that, while a nice little programme gave tone to the whole affair. After the refreshments were disposed of, order was secured and a fine musical programme rendered. It included instrumental music by Profs. Parker and Jacques, Miss Bertram, Miss Hazlitt, Mrs. Ferguson, Miss Grey, Miss Cox, Miss Fairweather and the Misses Smith; violin solo by Prof. MacDuff; vocal solos by Miss Cameron, Miss Dugan, Mr. Greatrix and Prof. Jacques. The proceeds amounted to about $33.

A Rare Opportunity.

Prof. Dorenwend, the well known hair goods manufacturer, is coming with an entirely new stock, special styles of Ladies' Bangs, Waves, Wigs, Switches and other kinds of ladies' head dresses; also Gents' Wigs and Toupees of best and latest improved patterns. This will be the only visit to Peterborough this season. He will be at Phelan's hotel on Saturday and Monday, Feb. 5th and 7th, and every one who is bald or whose hair is thin or turning gray should call at his show rooms and try on one of the Professor's artistic headdresses, manufactured from the very best human hair. They are so perfectly natural looking that when placed on the head not the slightest falseness is perceptible. Be sure to call, as this is the only visit this season. 3w5-3d

Nobody's Child.

Another large audience assembled at the opera house last night to witness "Nobody's Child," as played by the Day Dramatic Co. It seemed to please them immensely if the applause accorded be any criterion of their feelings. Little Annie Bird sang twice and thrilled her hearers through and through with her pretty, childish accent, clear, sweet tones and admirable gesture. Mr. Wilson Day as "Joe," the abused, half-witted vagrant (nobody's child), succeeded in portraying the character so well that the sympathies of the audience were with him; and when "Joe" succeeded in beating off several assailants and thwarting their evil designs, the shouts of approval that went up from the audience testified to the interest they took in the play. Miss Osborne as "Lucy Tregarvon," about whose head raged the storm of persecution and wrong, exhibited the true woman's feelings throughout in a whole-souled manner that won her golden opinions. Mr. Henderson as old "Peter Grice," the niggardly, "weasel-mugged" landlord, greedy and grasping to the death, again completely captivated the audience by his rendition of the role. It was the best representation of the character seen on the stage in Peterborough for a long time. The other members of the company sustained their parts as well as usual.

To-night "Forget-me-not" will be played. In this well known drama Miss Osborne is said to be magnificent, not only in her acting but in her costumes. She has several superb dresses, wonders of art, imported direct from Worth, the great Paris costumer, the night of which are alone worth the price of admission. Every member of the company appears on the stage in full evening dress, and the parlor scenes are said to be equal in brilliancy to the drawing-room of a Duchess. Reserved seats can be secured at Hartley's; admission, 10 and 25 cents.

APPOINTMENTS TO OFFICE.—Messrs. Sanderson, Burnham, Walsh, Finlay, Garbutt, Strickland, Hicks, Forster, Crough, Wild, and Lang. Mr. Forster, chairman.

EQUALIZATION AND ASSESSMENT.—Messrs. Finlay, Moloney, Forster, Strickland, Brown, Lang, Burnham, Hutchison, Moore, Sanderson, and Crough. Mr. Burnham, chairman.

The report was adopted.

THE GRAND JUNCTION CASE.

MR. E. B. EDWARDS, County Solicitor, was given a hearing. He stated that the case between the county of Peterborough and the Grand Junction Railway, which had been decided in the High Court of Justice in favor of the county, was to be appealed to the Privy Council. He asked instructions. The matter was referred to the Finance Committee.

A communication was read from Mr. R. W. Bell, Secretary of the Peterborough Rifle Association, asking for a continuance of the annual grant of $50 to the Association.—Referred to the Finance Committee.

MR. MOLONEY asked the opinion of Mr. Edwards relative to the disposition of Scott Act fines. He didn't think the town should get the benefit of all the fines.

MR. EDWARDS explained that a second order-in-council by the Governor General enacted that all fines levied in the town shall be paid to the town Treasurer, that all fines levied in the county shall be paid to the county Treasurer. The town Council held that the fines in all cases tried in the town, whether the offence was committed in the county or not, shall go to the town. The Police Magistrate ordered all fines and county cases to be paid to the county Treasurer. However, all the fines have found their way into the town treasury, and if the county wanted the fines they should get legal instructions from a higher authority.

MR. MOLONEY was disappointed. The county paid the entire expenses of the Scott Act, and they were entitled to every dollar of the fines.

MR. STRICKLAND thought it Mr. Dumble had been appointed county Police Magistrate instead of town Police Magistrate, the difficulty would not have occurred.

After a little further fruitless discussion, the Council adjourned till to-morrow morning.

Threatened Danger.

In the fall of '84, Randall Miller, of Mitland, N.S., was prostrated to his bed with an attack of incipient consumption. Cough remedies all failed. He rapidly grew debilitated, and friends despaired of his recovery. He tried Burdock Blood Bitters, with immediate relief, followed by a speedy cure. 2w3d

TOWN LOTS!
Parties desiring to buy Town Lots can buy to advantage from
D. W. DUMBLE.

WHY
Will people pay rent when houses and lots can be purchased on such easy terms as are offered by the undersigned. Come and inspect our work and see for yourselves how we construct our houses. Our chief aim and study is to build substantial, warm, frost and damp proof houses. I am offering good building lots, and will build solid brick houses, nine-inch walls, strapped and lathed, two stories, for less money than you can buy frame or veneered buildings. We cordially invite those who anticipate renting or buying to inspect our work and prove for themselves that our houses are not merely built to sell. Every house I've sold gives first-class satisfaction, and I am determined that every house I build shall be a standing testimony to honest building. JOHN CARLISLE, General Street, 2nd block west of St. Andrew's Church. wd

LIVERPOOL CONTEST.

MR. GOSCHEN DEFEATED BY A VERY SMALL MAJORITY.

LIVERPOOL, Jan. 26.—The election for member of Parliament for the Exchange Division in this city, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of David Duncan, was held to-day and resulted as follows: Mr. Neville, Gladstonite, 3833; Mr. Goschen, Conservative and Unionist, 3811. Nine votes remain in dispute and there will be a recount to-morrow. At the last election Duncan, Home Ruler, received 2939 and Bailey, Conservative, 2750.

Forecast of the Queen's Speech.

LONDON, Jan. 26.—Following is a forecast of the Queen's speech, which will be read at the opening of Parliament to-morrow. England's foreign relations are friendly. Affairs in Southeastern Europe are in a fair way of settlement, but England must insist upon the observance of the treaty of Berlin. In Burmah and Egypt there is a gratifying improvement. Grave anxiety is caused by the state of Ireland. The system adopted there of combining to force tenants to evade just debts may compel further legislation, and the Government will not hesitate to ask for additional powers if necessary. Among the bills to be submitted by the Government are measures relating to land transfer, railway rates, trade marks and the facilitation of agricultural allotments.

The Queen's speech is characterized by more than usual vagueness. The hints of legislation for Ireland are especially obscure. The only allusion to a conspiracy bill is found in the reference to the plan of campaign and the Government's intention to introduce, if necessary, a bill altering the existing laws so as to enable it to cope with the movement. An indication of the extension of the Ashbourne Act is given in the expression of the hope that the labors of the Land Commission will have issue in a measure to ameliorate the condition of the country. The leading measure for England and Scotland is a county government bill.

The Defeat of Goschen.

LONDON, Jan. 26.—The defeat of Mr. Goschen is felt by members of the Carlton Club to be a great party disaster. All the clubs were crowded at a late hour to-night, and there was much excitement over the result of the election. The members of the National Liberal Club are jubilant. The absence of Mr. Goschen from the House of Commons leaves the Government in an awkward position. Even if he should be provided with an uncontested seat he cannot sit in the House for the next ten days and during that period there will probably be critical debates and divisions. The votes were counted three times by the inspectors and a fourth count was made by six Conservatives. The official announcement of the result was deferred until to-morrow. This is a certain indication of the defeat of Mr. Goschen, even if the majority against him first announced should be reduced.

The Reply to the Address.

LONDON, Jan. 26.—The Gladstonians have not yet decided what shall be their line of action on the address in reply to the Queen's speech. They will meet on Friday to determine their course. The Parnellites will move an amendment to the address if Gladstone fails to do so.

DR. McGLYNN'S SUCCESSOR.

Father Donnelly Meeting With Much Opposition From the Congregation.

NEW YORK, Jan. 26.—Father Donnelly, who was appointed by the Archbishop to succeed Dr. McGlynn, was ordered to leave St. Stephen's Church this afternoon by a number of women, who were guarding Dr. McGlynn's confessional box, and as the priest went out he was hissed by the congregation. The red light, which is supposed to burn perpetually before the high altar went out yesterday, and it has not yet been renewed. It is the duty of the sacristan to see that the lamp is filled with oil, but he has neglected his work. Dr. McGlynn's friends are still very reticent. Their present plan is to so reduce the revenue of St. Stephen's that concessions will be made. The parishioners propose to attend service regularly, but they will give nothing for their seats and will not make the customary offerings for charity. Dr. McGlynn's condition to-day is reported to be better.

Rev. Dr. Curran, who had been Dr. McGlynn's assistant for fifteen years, has been transferred from St. Stephen's parish to the Cathedral, and all Dr. McGlynn's former associates in St. Stephen's have been transferred to new fields.

THE GERMAN ELECTIONS.

Bismarck Has Provided Himself with a Letter from the Pope.

BERLIN, Jan. 26.—Inspired journals state that Prince Bismarck will publish a document from the Pope favoring the Government in the present contest. It is expected that this will induce Catholics not to oppose the Government candidates.

The electoral campaign proceeds quietly. The Nationals of Essen and Herne have invited Frederic Krupp, son of the iron founder, to be their candidate. All the Alsatian members of the last Reichstag will stand again.

The Coal Handlers' Strike.

NEW YORK, Jan. 26.—At no time since the strike of the coal handlers and longshoremen began has the situation worn so threatening an aspect as that of this afternoon. More than 300 men joined the longshoremen strikers to-day. If present plans are carried out nearly 2000 more will join them to-morrow. The intention is to call out all the longshoremen in New York city and perhaps in Brooklyn, and if possible to stop the loading of every vessel at the docks.

A Slight Cause for a Strike.

NEWARK, N.J., Jan. 26.—Between 300 and 500 hands employed in the Edison Electric Light Works at Harrison went out on strike to-day. The cause of the trouble was the discharge of one of the boys, who, it was discovered, had broken about 250 of the glass lamps stored in the building. A committee of the Knights of Labor demanded the reinstatement of the boy and the dismissal of the foreman who discharged him. This was refused and a strike was ordered.

A Corking Mule.

NORTH ADAMS, Mass., Jan. 26.—A large party of sports witnessed a cock fight of thirteen battles at North Adams last night. The main was between birds from Troy, Mechanicsville, Adams and vicinity on the one side and North Adams on the other. The North Adams birds were victorious, winning eight battles out of the thirteen. Four cocks were killed. About $1000 changed hands on the result. The police have been investigating the affair.

Nothing New From Massowah.

ROME, Jan. 26.—In the Senate to-day Count Di Rudini, Minister of Foreign Affairs, said no further news had been received from Massowah. There was nothing alarming in the situation, he said, as the troops now at Massowah were more than sufficient to drive back the savages. The Premier, without a division, declared its confidence in the Government and passed the order of the day.

A DISPUTED POINT.

Can a Man Extradited for a Certain Offence be Tried for Another?

OTTAWA, Jan. 26.—The case of Blackstone, the Portland, Me., defaulter, now awaiting extradition at Winnipeg, raises a disputed point in international law, which is attracting the attention of the officials of the Department of Justice. An almost parallel case, the Winslow extradition case of 1876, created serious complications between the Imperial and Federal Governments. In that year Winslow, a defaulting cashier of Philadelphia, was arrested in Toronto charged with forgery, which is one of seven crimes covered by the extradition treaty. The prisoner was found guilty, but before delivering him up, the British Government required from the Washington authorities an assurance that he would be tried in the United States only for the offence for which he was extradited and not for other offences. This, the American Government refused to give, claiming the right to try him for any offence when he was again on American territory. The question was not authoritatively settled and still remains a disputed point between the two governments. Most of the writers on international law favor the British view. It is likely the present case will lead to further ventilation of the subject.

A STARTLING OCCURRENCE.

A Young Man in Hamilton Dies From the Effects of Chloroform.

HAMILTON, Jan. 26.—This morning William Fonger, living at 20 Merrick-street, went to the office of Dr. William Philp to have an ingrowing nail operated upon. He asked to be given chloroform, but the doctor told him he would not administer it unless some of his friends were present. He then went out, and his brother, Charles Fonger, returned with him. The doctor examined his heart before administering the drug, and found it beating naturally. He gave the man a teaspoonful and a half, just enough to render him unconscious. While he was taking the nail off the finger Fonger appeared to be breathing away all right but shortly after he finished the operation he noticed that his breath was becoming very weak. Dr. Woolverton, Dr. Storms, Dr. Bingham, Dr. Laferty and Dr. Cockburn were telephoned for and did all in their power to restore the man to consciousness, but he was too far gone. He died about an hour after the chloroform was administered. Fonger left his home in good health and had never been sick a day in his life. Coroner Dr. Woolverton will hold an inquest at 4 o'clock.

HAMILTON AFFAIRS.

Committed for Trial for Housebreaking—Work Begun on the Carnival Arch.

HAMILTON, Jan. 26.—James Henry, a moulder, was charged at the Police Court to-day with breaking into the house of Edward Breheny, King-street east. The prisoner had been seen in the prosecutor's shop, he being a working shoemaker, and when detected had extinguished his light and left the place by a rear door. He was committed for trial.

While walking down James-street yesterday Mr. A. R. Leask fell and broke his leg.

A large gang of men commenced the erection of a grand carnival arch at the corner of King and James-street to-day. It will be a square structure with a small tower at each corner, on each of which an electric light will be placed. The arch will be decorated with evergreens and Chinese lanterns, and, judging from the architect's drawing, will be a very attractive looking arrangement.

THE DUGAS-SHEPPARD CASE.

The Defendant Will be Arrested if He Does Not Pay the Judgment.

MONTREAL, Jan. 26.—The Dugas-Sheppard case was again before the Court to-day, when Mr. Adams, attorney for the plaintiff, Mr. Dugas, pressed the motion presented by him a few days ago, asking that inasmuch as the defendant has failed to comply with the decision of the Court ordering him to pay a fine of $1000, he be served with a new order to comply and notified that, in default, he will be subject to a contrainte par corps fifteen days after the granting of the motion. The defendant being called did not appear, and the motion was granted.

Scottish Rite Masonry.

HAMILTON, Jan. 26.—The seventh annual re-union of the Ancient Accepted Scottish Rite, comprising Murton Lodge of Perfection, Hamilton Chapter of Rose Croix and Moore Sovereign Consistory, opened this morning. A large number of visitors arrived on Tuesday night, including D. L. King, C. A. Collins and James Hugill, of Akron, Ohio; E. Ely, L. A. Hall, R. C. Shepard, James H. Peck, John Thompson, P. S. Kennard, Hugh Buckley, P. L. Johnson, George Arnold, George W. Morgan, Isaac Reynolds, J. W. Worthington, T. J. Townson, Evan Morris, B. D. Babcock and Frederick A. Morse, of Cleveland, Ohio; F. T. Jeanet, of Livingstone, Ohio; J. Livingstone and P. Erbach, of Baden; Charles Hendry, H. J. Hall and D. B. Dewar, of Berlin; Wm. Gibson, of Beamsville, and C. Henry, of Waterloo.

About twenty of the Cleveland delegates went up to Collier's restaurant last night and were handsomely entertained.

A grand banquet will be held at the Masonic Hall Thursday night.

The Hudson Bay Railway.

WINNIPEG, Jan. 27.—At a public meeting to-night in connection with his candidature, Mr. Hugh Sutherland announced that his company would expend $4,000,000 in the coming year in the construction of the Hudson Bay Railway. The company was having three ships specially built at Newcastle-on-Tyne for the navigation of Hudson Bay, ten locomotives at the Glasgow Locomotive Works, and rails for 200 miles of road at the West Cumberland Rolling Mills. He promised that the road would be completed two years from this time, which created a pleasing sensation.

A Duel at Bucharest.

BUCHAREST, Jan. 26.—A duel has been fought between M. Pherikyde, Minister of Foreign Affairs, and M. Flova, a member of the Chamber of Deputies. The latter received a ball in his hand. The encounter was the result of a row in the chamber.

The Fishery Bill.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26.—Chairman Belmont, of the House Committee on Foreign Affairs, says the Fishery Bill adopted by the Senate will probably be considered at the meeting of the House Committee to-morrow. Although that committee was authorized to report the matter back to the House at any time, Mr. Belmont does not believe it will be ready to report before next week, and intimated that the bill might be amended by the committee before being presented to the House.

A Canadian Forger Arrested.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 26.—The police have under arrest a Canadian forger and embezzler named Benjamin Hageman, who is wanted in Thorold to answer to a charge of swindling his employer, William H. Howland, grain commission dealer of Toronto, out of $15,000. He will be extradited.

The Mayoralty Contest in Montreal.

MONTREAL, Jan. 26.—Ex-Ald. Gen. Childs has withdrawn from the mayoralty contest on the advice of Dr. Wilkins, his medical advisor, who states that his health would not permit of the worry and excitement of an electoral contest.

CHOLERA IN SOUTH AMERICA.

Despite all Precautions the Disease Breaks Out in Chili.

NEW YORK, Jan. 26.—A letter from Panama says great excitement prevails throughout Chili at the appearance of cholera in its boundaries. Strict quarantine was enforced against vessels coming from suspected ports and the passes on the Argentine frontier were closely guarded, but the disease surmounted all barriers and reached the Pacific slope. A correspondent in Chili says: Time and space would fail me were I to attempt to discourse upon the clouds of dearess relating to the preservation of the public health.

From the Argentine Republic the telegraphic news for days has been exceedingly alarming, and in Mendoza, at the foot of the Cordilleras, no fewer than forty deaths are reported in one day. They speak of bodies unburied, of houses abandoned and of children attacked by the disease and left to perish on the resolution by their relatives, who are fleeing southward for safety.

Sir Charles to Enter the Cabinet.

OTTAWA, Jan. 26.—It is announced on the authority of a Cabinet minister to-night that Sir Chas. Tupper will enter the Dominion Cabinet. A decision has been come to on this point, but it is not yet known what portfolio he will take. Sir Charles will stand for his old constituency of Cumberland, N.S., where no Conservative candidate has yet been nominated.

Sir Charles to Oppose Secession.

OTTAWA, Jan. 26.—It is officially announced that Sir Charles Tupper has resigned the office of High Commissioner to England and is to re-enter Canadian public life, contesting Cumberland, N.S., his old seat. The alleged reason is because a deputation of his supporters in Cumberland met him in New York and asked him to again contest the county and represent the cause of union in opposition to those who would disrupt federation and raise the cry of secession. Sir Charles said he had not meant to re-enter politics, but the crisis was so grave, and he had received so many pressing appeals to aid the loyal cause that he had put aside personal convenience. He was confident Nova Scotia would, on second thoughts, be opposed to any severance of the ties which bound the province to the Dominion, and he looked forward to a glorious victory. He would not say whether he was about to re-enter the Cabinet, but now he will do so at a very early date. He will remain here for two or three days and then depart to commence the campaign in Nova Scotia.

The Louisville Jockey Club.

LOUISVILLE, Jan. 26.—The Louisville Jockey Club received a large number of entries from California by mail, numbering in all over forty. For the Cup sufficient entries were received to make the race fill under the conditions, the entries now being as follows:

Lucky B, b. h., aged, by Rutherford, dam Maggie Emerson.
Fosteral, b. g., aged, by Foster, dam Minnie F. Morgan.
Hopedale, br. g., 5, by Harrah, dam Silence.
Montana Regent, ch. c., 4, by Regent, dam Christine.
Sir Joseph, ch. c., 4, by Glenelg, dam Rosie Linwood.
Mollie's Last, b. f., 4, by Rutherford, dam Mollie McCarthy.
Solid Silver, ch. c., 4, by Grinstead, dam Josie G.
Tijero, b. c., 4, by Rutherford, dam Jennie D.
Volante, b. c., 4, by Grinstead, dam sister to Clara D.
Monte Cristo, ch. c., 4, by King Alfonso, dam Gabbatoss.

Hungary Does Not Want War.

PESTH, Jan. 26.—During the debate on the budget in the Lower House of the Hungarian Diet to-day Premier Von Tissa declared amid acclamations that no one wished for a war with Russia. Referring to a remark by an anti-Semitic deputy the Premier sustained in emphatic language the principle that Jew and Christian are entitled to equal rights.

Accidentally Shot.

WOODSTOCK, Jan. 26.—Last night about 10.30 o'clock William Higgins, a drug clerk and son of Capt. Higgins, while handling a revolver accidently shot himself through or near the heart. He died shortly after.

The Oxford-Cambridge Boat Race.

LONDON, Jan. 26.—The annual boat race between the Cambridge and Oxford University crews, has been fixed for March 26.

Wing Shots at Buffalo.

BUFFALO, Jan. 26.—Jake Koch of Buffalo and Geo. Rogers of St. Catharines shot at fifty live birds to-day for $250 a side. Koch won by a score of 43 to 39.

Agriculture and Arts Association.

The Eastern Dairymen's Association have granted $200 for prizes at the next Provincial Show at Ottawa, to be distributed over the dairy department.

The Agriculture and Arts Association offered prizes for the best three reports made of the show by students of the Agricultural College at Guelph, and awarded as follows: 1st prize, Clydesdale Stud Book, Vol. I., Elmer Luck; 2, Ayrshire Herd Book, Vol. I., F. J. Shifthorn; 3, Galloway, J. G. Scroughan. The essays do the writers considerable credit, as they are exhaustive and interesting accounts of the show. John J. Hobson of Meaborough and Major Smyth of London have just concluded auditing the accounts. They report all correct.

HOME AND FOREIGN.

A fire at Dallas, Texas, yesterday caused a loss of $460,000.

The French have evacuated Tamatave, Madagascar.

The Salvationists will erect a $3000 barracks in Brampton shortly.

The Government will be petitioned to establish the new cavalry school in Kingston.

The steamer Aries, which ran ashore on Monday at Barnegat, N.J., has been floated.

Chatham talks of bringing water to that town from the St. Clair River at a cost of $450,000.

A Kingston man named Schimlinghorn has disappeared, leaving a wife and seven children destitute.

Yesterday Lad Cornish shot and killed Lulu Green of Sharpeville, Ky., because she would not marry him.

A boiler exploded on the estate of Senor Miguel, Cuba, yesterday, killing five persons and wounding twelve.

The office of the Colorado and Santa Fe Railway at Richmond, Texas, was robbed of $1400 by masked men yesterday.

By the burning of the breaker of the Parrish Coal Co. at Wilkesbarre, Pa., yesterday 800 men and boys were thrown out of employment.

Sir Richard Brooks' tenants at Killeagh, County Cork, have adopted the plan of campaign. Writs have been served on them.

The island of Quel Paert, at the entrance to the Yellow Sea, sixty miles south of the Corea, was evacuated by the British on Sunday.

George Bainon, a Hungarian, was attacked by the coal strikers yesterday morning in Jersey City and so badly beaten that he will die.

The annual convention of the Sabbath School Association of Halton will be held in Georgetown on Feb. 24 and 25.

A steam barge to carry 60,000 bushels of grain will be built at Kingston for the Montreal Transportation Company.

A Monument for Mazzini.

ROME, Jan. 26.—In the Chamber of Deputies Senor Villanova, a member of the Extreme Left, tabled a bill for the erection in Rome of a monument to Mazzini at the expense of the State. Premier Depretis said the Government would not oppose the bill in its first stage, but would declare its course when the measure came up for discussion.

The Coon Championship.

NEW YORK, Jan. 26.—Johnny Banks, the colored middle-weight champion pugilist, and James Dempsey, also colored, to-night fought to a finish with kid gloves for a purse of $150 and the colored championship. Dempsey won on a foul in the ninth round.

Seizure of Flash Literature.

OTTAWA, Jan. 26.—The examiner of customs here has seized another batch of 250 copies of contraband literature, which was destroyed to-day. They were New York Sporting Worlds consigned to local newsdealers through the Canada News Company, and sent through the mail in concealed packages.

TUPPER, THE TORIES AND TEMPERANCE.

The chief organ of the Conservatives has professedly adopted an extra temperance platform, and it is interesting to note how this position squares with the practice of the organ and the general position of the party on the temperance question. As to the organ itself, while it preaches prohibition, the Mail seems to believe that acts of Parliament in favor of prohibition can be made without members of Parliament. Since the Mail "swore off" it has not been known to advocate the claims to election of any temperance candidate, either for the Ontario Legislature or the Dominion Parliament, who happened to be a Liberal. On the other hand, it has done everything in its power to defeat Liberal candidates, no matter how sound they may be on the prohibition question, and in no one way other than by mere mouthy profession has the Mail shown the bona fides of its conversion to temperance and prohibition principles. Of course, the Conservative party expects to gain votes by their organ's prohibition professions and in the light of its position on the subject at the present time, it is interesting to look at the men who are expected to aid the movement of securing prohibition. Sir Charles Tupper has returned to Canada to enter again into politics as a member of the Dominion Cabinet. He is an ardent temperance man, as can be shown by the manner in which he carries out his opposition to the liquor traffic. The following prohibition furniture was bought (with temperance taxpayers money, too) for Sir Charles Tupper's residence in London. Look at the little list and see what he will have to forego if he joins in the Mail's temperance crusade:

Twelve liqueur glasses, pattern plain Princess, cost $3.12½.
Thirty-six Port glasses, pattern do, cost $9.75.
Thirty-six Sherry glasses, pattern do, cost $9.75.
Thirty-six Claret glasses, pattern do, cost $11.25.
Thirty-six Champagne glasses, pattern do, cost $15.
Forty-eight tumblers cost $6.
Four quart decanters beaded, cost $21.
Four port decanters beaded, cost $15.
Two claret jugs cost $10.
Two claret jugs engraved, flat sided, cost $15.75.
One liqueur bottle, square shape, richly cut, hexagon diamonds, cost $8.75.
A liquor bottle, cut check, and lettered brandy, cost $4.
A wine bin in wine cellar made to hold eighty-four dozen bottles, cost $12.75.

A total expenditure of $192.12½ for glasses, decanters and wine bin alone, without any bill yet presented for wines and liquors, is a good showing for High Commissioner Sir Charles Tupper, as the Toronto Mail's ideal of a prohibitionist.

CHAPLEAU GETS HIS PRICE.

The Hamilton Times, writing in reference to the most recent strike of Hon. Mr. Chapleau, Secretary of State, remarks:

"After a week of sulking and vigorous kicking, Minister Chapleau has gone back to his place in the Dominion Ministry. What his price is has not yet been made public; but time will show that he has not given in for nothing. Chapleau is not that kind of citizen. It was he who organized the bolt of the French-Canadian Tories in 1884, when he and others entered their room in the Parliament buildings, and refused to respond to the invitation of their leader to vote in favor of better terms for the Canadian Pacific Syndicate till they were given a quid pro quo. The result was that the country not only had to comply with the demand of the railway millionaires, but had to subsidize the bolters, to the extent of millions of dollars of railway grants. It is more than probable that in their present desperation, with Provinces after Province turning against them, Sir John Macdonald and his Ministers are ready to make any sacrifice, so long as it costs them nothing—to retain control of such men as Chapleau. But it is nevertheless a sorry spectacle, which we hope will not soon be repeated. If that is to be prevented, however, there must be a change of Administration at Ottawa."

Mr. Chapleau knows very well when to "strike," and in "striking" this time it is evident that he has not only "struck" while the iron was hot, but also "struck it rich."

In a recent speech Hon. Edward Blake gave the following comparative statement of the rate of taxation in Canada:—

Under Liberal Rule.		Under Tory Rule.
1874	$13,139,000	1879	$13,478,000
1875	13,654,000	1880	15,479,000
1876	15,514,000	1881	22,342,000
1877	17,897,000	1882	27,549,000
1878	17,241,000	1883	28,329,000
		1884	28,453,000
		1885	28,264,000
		1886	28,217,000
Total	$94,502,000
Average	$15,750,000	Average	$24,585,170

Besides which the Tories, in the last eight years, have increased the debt of the country by $80,140,000.

Lakefield.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

THE ALTAR.

Last Wednesday evening a large gathering of friends and relatives assembled at the residence of Mr. G. Nelson to witness the marriage of his eldest daughter, Mary Tyler, to Mr. W. J. McWilliams, eldest son of Mr. J. H. McWilliams, of this village. The Rev. Mr. McEwen performed the ceremony. A pleasant evening was spent by all, the young people especially keeping up the fun until the "wee sma' hours." That the bride was popular was testified to by the large number of valuable and useful presents she received, as well as the many hearty wishes for her future happiness. The following evening the Forester's Band, of which the groom is a member, serenaded the happy couple, and were entertained to a handsome supper, after which a couple of hours were spent in song and music.

A GOOD JOB.

The grading of Queen street is almost completed, and our Road Master will then go on with Bridge street. When all is done our main street cannot be beaten by any village of its size in Canada. Some of the side streets will also receive the same attention before spring.

HOME TO DIE.

George Hamlin was brought back from the Nicholls Hospital on Saturday by order of the village Council, as the hospital authorities objected to keeping him longer. A place was obtained for him in the village, but he will not require it long, as his medical attendant holds out no hope for him.

COURT MEETING.

The regular meeting of Court Lakefield No. 43, C. O. F., will be held in the Forester's Hall on Thursday evening. There should be a large attendance, as initiations and arrangements for the annual entertainment will be part of the work of the evening.

FOX HUNTING.

Three of our village sports have killed no less than twenty-four foxes since the first snow fell, all in the township of Smith and within a radius of three miles of the village. One of the sportsmen informed your correspondent that they have a mortgage on six more, which they intend to foreclose before spring, especially on one—almost jet black, which so far has proved to much for them and their dogs. Our neighboring farmers should not forget them next 'Xmas, but should see that they have turkey, goose and fowl galore for their dinner.

MORE SPORT.

The late cold snap was the cause of sending large flocks of wintering ducks to the rapids between the village and Nassau mills, some of the flocks numbering from 50 to 75 in each. They should afford good sport to any one who cared to take the time and trouble to follow them up and down the river.

FIRE DEPARTMENT.

The village hand engines have been removed to the council chamber and placed in thorough working order. Pails, ladders and axes are marked and placed where they can be obtained at any moment in case of fire, and now we want a company organized with a practical leader or captain who will take charge at a fire and direct the labors of the company and others to the best advantage. Who will be the first to make a move in the matter and call a meeting in the council chamber? It will be no trouble, as we have plenty of young men ready and willing to join if it is only started, while there are men capable of taking the lead if they are only requested to do so. Now is the time for action, not when the village is in ashes.

ROCKS.

During the past two or three weeks teams have been engaged hauling immense stones from the quarries at Burleigh through the village, and the question is constantly asked, who and what are they for? We understand they are for Mr. Geo. Hilliard, who intends them for a new water wall for his mill. They should make a foundation that will last for all time to come,

BAND CONCERT.

We are pleased to see such an interest being taken in the concert to be given by the Forester Band on the 3rd Feb. in the P.C.A. hall, as it proves that the efforts of the "boys" are and will be appreciated by our citizens. Below I give the programme, which, as will be seen, is varied enough to suit all tastes, so save up your quarters, make big turnout, and send the "boys" home with "a heavy purse and light hearts."

1. Overture.....Band.
2. Instrumental medley.....Prof. Obendorf and [Musical Family.
3. Song—Tit for Tat.....Miss Nelson.
4. Song—Nor'-West Volunteer in Character.....[Wm. Scringeour.
5. Duet.....Misses Galvin and White.
6. Song.....Mrs. Lefevre.

12. Song.....Mr. Doidge.
13. Duet.....Mr. and Miss Scrimgeour.
14. Ventriloquist.....Prof. Dixon.
Farce.....Band.

God Save the Queen.

STRAY NOTES.

A large number of strangers are in the village to-day (Tuesday) attending the big lumber sale of Messrs. R. & G. Strickland.

Our auditors are at work on the village accounts and expect to have their report ready for a special meeting of the Council, which will be held next week.

Our juvenile curlers are practicing hard for the return match with their late opponents in Peterborough.

Large quantities of wood are coming into the village, the price obtained being $3 for sawed, and $2.50 for long, per cord.

A number of Messrs. R. & G. Strickland's employes were engaged to-day testing the firm's system of waterworks, which were found to work satisfactory, notwithstanding the severe frost.

Deputy returning officers have all received a copy of the Dominion Elections Act from the returning officers, so that, in case a poll should be demanded, they will have ample time to post themselves on the working of the Act.

The subject of lighting the main street will no doubt come up before the Council at their next meeting. The question will be: "Electric light, gas, or coal oil?"

A Lucky Escape.

Mrs. Cyrus Kilborne, of Beamsville, Ont, had what was thought to be a cancer on her nose, and was about to submit to a cancer doctor's operation, when she tried Burdock Blood Bitters, which effected a radical cure. This medicine cures all blood diseases. 2w3d

A Fee-ling Reply.

"Doctor," said the friend, stopping him on the street, "what do you take for a heavy cold?" A fee" replied the doctor softly, and passed on.

Threatened Danger.

In the fall of '84, Randall Miller, of Mitland, N.S., was prostrated to his bed with an attack of incipient consumption. Cough remedies all failed. He rapidly grew debilitated, and friends despaired of his recovery. He tried Burdock Blood Bitters, with immediate relief, followed by a speedy cure. 2w3d

Astonishing Success.

It is the duty of every person who has used Boschee's German Syrup to let its wonderful qualities be known to their friends in curing Consumption, severe Coughs, Croup, Asthma, Pneumonia, and in fact all throat and lung diseases. No person can use it without immediate relief. Three doses will relieve any case, and we consider it the duty of all Druggists to recommend it to the poor, dying consumptive, at least to try one bottle, as 50,000 dozen bottles were sold last year, and no case came where it failed was reported. Such a medicine as the German Syrup cannot be too widely known. Ask your druggist about it. Sample bottles to try, only 10 cents. Regular size, 75 cents. Sold by all Druggists and dealers, in the United States and Canada. eodw5

The old Story.

"Oh I've loved before!" said a six-weeks' bride to her forth husband as she took a handful of hair from his head because he refused to hang out the weeks washing.

World-wide is the reputation of West's Cough Syrup, the truly marvelous remedy for coughs, colds, croup, whooping-cough, asthma and consumption. All druggists.

This is to certify that I have used McGregor's Speedy Cure for Dyspepsia and Liver Complaint, and so honestly say that if it cost me one hundred dollars ($100.00) a bottle I would not be without it, as it has done more good than all the medicine I ever used, and I feel like a new man.—Yours truly, ALEX. STEEL, Carleton Place, Ont. This medicine is for sale at 50c. and $1 per bottle at John McKee's Drug Store. eodw4

"There was nothing at all romantic in my first discovery of him. I was reading the police reports in a newspaper. The poor wretch was brought before a magistrate, charged with breaking a window. His one last chance of escaping starvation in the streets was to get sent to prison. The magistrate questioned him and brought to light a really heart-breaking account of misfortune, embittered by neglect on the part of people in authority who were bound to help him. He was remanded, so that inquiries might be made. I attended the court on the day when he appeared there again and heard his statement confirmed. I paid his fine and contrived to put him in a way of earning a little money. He was very grateful and came now and then to thank me. In that way I heard how his troubles had begun. He had asked for a small advance on the wretched wages that he received. Can you guess how the schoolmistress answered him?"

"I know but too well how she answered him," Sydney said; "I was turned out of the house, too."

"And I heard of it," the captain replied, "from the woman herself. Everything that could distress me she was ready to mention. She told me of your mother's second marriage, of her miserable death, of the poor boy, your brother, missing, and never heard of since. But when I asked where you had gone she had nothing more to say. She knew nothing, and cared nothing, about you. If I had not become acquainted with Mr. Randal Linley I might never have heard of you again. We will say no more of that, and no more of anything that has happened in the past time. From to-day, my dear, we begin a new life, and (please God) a happier life. Have you any plans of your own for the future?"

"Perhaps, if I could find help," Sydney said, resignedly. "I might emigrate. Pride wouldn't stand in my way; no honest employment would be beneath my notice. Besides, if I went to America, I might meet with my brother."

"My dear child, after the time that has passed, there is no imaginable chance of your meeting with your brother—and you wouldn't know each other again if you did meet. Give up that vain hope and stay here with me. Be useful and be happy in your own country."

"Useful!" Sydney repeated, sadly. "Your own kind heart, Capt. Bennydeck, is deceiving you. To be useful means, I suppose, to help others. Who will accept help from me?"

"I will, for one," the captain answered.

"You?"

"Yes. You can be of the greatest use to —you shall hear now."

He told her of the founding of his home and of the good it had done. "You are the very person" he resumed, "to be the good sister-friend that I want for my poor girls; you can say for them what they cannot always say to me for themselves."

The tears rose in Sydney's eyes. "It is hard to see such a prospect as that," she said, "and to give it up as soon as it is seen."

"Why give it up?"

"Because I am not fit for it. You are as good as a father to those lost daughters of yours. If you give them a sister-friend, she ought to have set them a good example. Have I done that? Will they listen to a girl who is no better than themselves?"

"Gladly! Your sympathy will find its way to their hearts, because it is animated by something that they can all feel in common —something nearer and dearer to them than a sense of duty. You won't consent, Sydney, for their sakes? Will you do what I ask of you, for my sake?"

She looked at him, hardly able to understand—or, as it might have been, perhaps, afraid to understand him. He spoke to her more plainly.

"I have kept it concealed from you," he continued, "for why should I lay my load of suffering on a friend so young as you are, so cruelly tried already? Let me only say that I am in great distress. If you were with me, my child, I might be better able to bear it."

Still encouraging her to see new hopes and new interests in the future, the good captain spoke of the share which she might take in the management of the home if she would like to be his secretary. With this view he showed her some written reports relating to the institution which had been sent to him during the time of his residence at Sydenham. She read them with an interest and attention which amply justified his confidence in her capacity.

"These reports," he explained to her, "are kept for reference; but, as a means of saving time, the substance of them is entered in the daily journal of our proceedings. Come, Sydney, venture on a first experiment in your new character. I see pen, ink, and paper on the table; try if you can shorten one of the reports without leaving out anything which it is important to know. For instance, the writer gives reasons for making his statement. Very well expressed, no doubt, but we don't want reasons. Them, again, he offers his own opinion on the right course to take. Very creditable to him;—but I don't want his opinion—I want his facts. Take the pen, my secretary, and set down his facts. Never mind his reflections."

Proud and pleased, Sydney obeyed him. She had made her little abstract, and was reading it to him at his request, while he compared it with the report, when they were interrupted by a visitor. Randal Linley came in and noticed the papers on the table with surprise. "Is it possible that I am interrupting business?" he asked.

Bennydeck answered with an assumed air of importance which was in itself a compliment to Sydney: "You find me engaged on the business of the home with my new secretary."

"You good fellow!" he said. "Add to your kindness by excusing me if I ask for a word with you in private."

He took Bennydeck apart from the table. After having explained how he came to be in possession of the letter addressed to Catherine, he showed it to the captain. He opened the door for her as respectfully as if the poor girl had been one of the highest ladies in the land.

"I have seen my friend Shrande," Randal began "and I have persuaded him to trust me with Catherine's present address. I can send Herbert there at once if you will only help me."

"How can I help you?"

"Will you allow me to tell my brother that your engagement is broken off?"

Bennydeck shrank from the painful allusion, and shrugged it.

"Is this necessary?" he asked.

"Most necessary. Herbert left Sydenham firmly persuaded that you were to marry Mrs. Ormond; and, let me add in justice to him, resigned to that event."

"Resigned, after what he said to me when we met?"

"Yes. He had not then spoken with Catherine—he had not been asked to read the confession which she addressed to you. There were remembrances in him which felt that appeal; his conscience told him that you were worthy of her. I am grieved, Bennydeck, to distress you by referring to this. But if my brother is left under the impression that your engagement will be followed by your marriage, he will refuse to intrude himself on the lady who was once his wife. There are the circumstances. What is your reply to my request—yes or no?"

Frankly and fairly the captain answered: "Yes."

CHAPTER LV.

The front windows of the Brightwater cottage look out on a quiet green lane in Middlesex, which joins the high road within a few miles of the market town of Uxbridge. Through the pretty garden at the back runs a little brook, winding its merry way to a distant river. The few rooms in this pleasant place of residence are well (too well) furnished, having regard to the limits of a building which is a cottage in the strictest sense of the word. Water-color drawings by the old English masters of the art ornament the dining-room. The parlor has been transformed into a library. From floor to ceiling all four of its walls are covered with books. Their old and well-chosen bindings seen in the mass present nothing less than a feast of color to the eye. The library and the works of art are described as heir-looms, which have passed into the possession of the present proprietor—one more among the hundreds of Englishmen who are ruined every year by betting on the turf.

So sorely in need of a little ready money was this victim of gambling—tacitly permitted or conveniently ignored by the audacious hypocrisy of a country which rejoiced in the extinction of Baden, and which still shudders at the name of Monaco—that he was ready to let his pretty cottage for no longer a term than one month certain; and he even allowed the elderly lady, who drove the hardest of hard bargains with him, to lessen by one guinea the house-rent paid for each week. He took his revenge by means of an ironical compliment, addressed to Mrs. Presty. "What a saving it would be to the country, ma'm, if you were chancellor of the exchequer!" With perfect gravity Mrs. Presty accepted that well-earned tribute of praise. "You are quite right, sir; I should be the first official person known to the history of England who took proper care of the public money."

Within two days of the time when they had left the hotel at Sydenham Catherine and her little family circle had taken possession of the cottage.

Napoleon the Great,

(there was only one great Napoleon) wished the word impossible banished from the dictionary. In many a case where leading physicians have pronounced a cure impossible, consumptives and victims of other fell diseases have been restored to health by using Dr. R. V. Pierce's "Golden Medical Discovery." Soothing and healing in its nature its power over scrofulous and pulmonary diseases is simply marvellous. Far more nutritive than cod liver oil, a powerful invigorating tonic and harmless as it is powerful. 6dw4

Read the following extract from a letter of a well-known citizen of St. Catharines—name given below:

ST. CATHARINES, Sept. 20th, 1886.

GENTLEMEN,—Being over 70 years of age, and over 30 years Ruptured, I looked upon my case as hopeless, especially as I tried various appliances without success, among others, recently, two springless trusses me, I think York State, costing me $25. Nothing would retain my Hernia. I have worn your truss over four months, night and day, with great satisfaction and comfort—even to bathe in it the rupture has never come down. It holds me perfectly secure under all circumstances. You may publish it for the benefit of other sufferers. Yours truly, CAPT. B. KING.

This new Spiral Spring Pad Truss has taken ten years to make it perfect; is guaranteed to hold the very worst case during the hardest work or severest strain. It will cure every child sure; and 95 out of every 100 of adults. Be warned—don't waste your money on useless appliances, but send stamp for our treatise; it contains full information, your neighbors' testimony, price list and questions for you to answer. Bold, Bad Boys.

Says the Kingston Whig:—"C. K. Mortimer, of Day's theatre company, is having fun with the "gods" in Peterborough. He thought the small boys of Kingston the worst on the continent, but he has met others quite as bad." The Whig man had better give Peterborough and Peterborough boys a wide berth in future.

Port Hope Coming.

The Peterborough Curling Club, says the Port Hope Times, expects to have a great gathering of the clans on the 1st and 2nd of February to settle the contest in the primary matches of group 8 for the Ontario silver tankard. They have one of the finest covered rinks outside of Toronto and can furnish accommodation for at least a dozen rinks. Port Hope rinks will be there.

A Growing Giant.

About a year ago a small furniture factory was started in Peterborough. The enterprising proprietors, young men both, worked hard and succeeded in pleasing the public taste so well with their unique designs and excellent workmanship that their business quickly assumed large proportions. To-day they are doing a metropolitan trade. The men referred to are Messrs. Lindsay and Selden; their factory is along Dickson's race. This week a planer, lathe, saw and other new machinery has been added, the works are running over time, with a staff of 20 men, and the firm are contemplating a necessary enlargement of their present premises. A feature of their products this year is what is called the "Queen's Jubilee" furniture—a bedroom set with crown top. They lead the Canadian market in this departure, and have received an order for 30 sets from one Toronto firm, which has since been duplicated. Next week they will ship three cartloads of furniture in two consignments, a shipment which is seldom equalled by the largest manufactories in Ontario. The Lindsay-Selden Furniture Factory is an industry worthy of Peterborough.

Your money goes farther at the Golden Lion than any place in town. R. FAIR.

Campaign Meeting.

Messrs. Geo. A. Cox, John Bertram and Peter Ryan addressed a large and enthusiastic assembly of electors at O'Reilly's school house, Eastmore, last night. Mr. Cox's chances of election are improving every day, and the prospects are that Eastmore will repeat the record of December 29th.

Omemee Races.

Appended is the result of the Omemee races yesterday:

COLT RACE.—Jas. Wilson's bay mare, "Dolly Wilson," 1st; J. J. Daly's (Peterborough) bay mare, "Rosie D.," 2nd.

OPEN TROT.—H. G Smith's bay mare, "Maud Bartlett," 1st; F. McRae's bay mare, "Mayflower," 2nd.

Mortuary Statistics.

The mortuary returns for December just published, for the under-mentioned places, are as follows: Montreal, 570; Toronto, 163; Quebec, 135; Hamilton, 66; Guelph, 11; Hull, 43; Belleville, 14; Three Rivers, 12; Chatham, 13; Sherbrooke, 15; Halifax, 64; Winnipeg, 34; Ottawa, 63; St. John, N.B., 40; Peterborough, 10; Sorel, 37; Fredericton, 7; St. Hyacinthe, 13; Galt, 10; Woodstock, 4; London, 37; Kingston, 24; St. Thomas, 8.

The Rival Rinks.

The teams which will represent Peterborough in the curling bonspiel here Tuesday and Wednesday next are as follows:

No. 1.	No. 2.
J. B. Pentland,	J. McClelland,
C. McGill,	T. Rutherford.
R. S. Davidson,	S. Ray.
W. G. Ferguson, skip	G. Brown, skip

The two rinks have been playing practice matches every night this week, resulting the first two evenings in victories for Mr. Ferguson's rink by the scores of 18-13 and 15-9. Last night the tables were turned, Mr. Brown's rink winning, the score being 21-17. They play matches every night this week.

Not to be Forgotten.

Day's Theatre Co. presented "Forget-me-not," Merrivale's greatest society play, to a fair house last night. This play is well known in Peterborough to be one of the strongest and most thrilling modern dramas. Miss Osborne as "Stephanie," (Forget-me-not), acted admirably, in some of the finest passages holding the audience spell-bound by her passionate, soul-stirring rendition. Her dresses, too, were the finest ever seen on the stage in Peterborough. Miss Willis as Alice Verney, dressed richly and acted well. Mr. Wilson Day, as Sir Horace Welby, again exhibited his wonderful histrionic ability and further enhanced the reputation he has won as a first-class actor. Mr. Wm. Henderson as "Prince Maleath," also played well, as did the other members of the company. Little Annie Bird sang between the acts and as usual scored new triumphs.

"Davy Crockett," the great Californian play, occupies the boards to-night. To-morrow evening is the benefit to Annie Bird, when she appears as "Bob, the Newsboy Detective." At the Saturday matinee a handsome doll will be drawn for by the little girls in the audience. Reserved seats at Hartley's; admission, 10 and 20 cents.

Seen by Electric Light.

With a doleful look on his usually merry phiz, the "Offus Rat" slowly dragged himself into the sanctum late this morning, and began: "I'm very tired; and no wonder, for what I saw Wednesday night would tire a train of cars. You see, last night a dashing young fellow hired a horse at Fitzgerald's livery stable and took his best girl for a drive out around Smith. In turning around to come home the cutter upset, and as soon as the stars quit dancing in front of their eyes and they got themselves gathered again, the young people prepared to re-enter the cutter and proceed. But the horse, with the usual "cussedness" of livery stable animals, had started for home at a lively gait, leaving the "left" in a miserable plight. Nothing daunted, 'girding up their loins' and gathering up the buffalo robe which had been left with them, they heroically struck out for town, he trying to keep up the other's courage and temper—"the words of his mouth were smoother than butter, but war was in his heart." Tired and foot sore they at length reached town at a fashionable hour. The horse was caught somewhere in Ashburnham after running through town, down around the locks."

"Oh, yes, I forgot to tell you something I saw at the skating rink the other night. A young lady walked up to a gentleman and remarked within hearing of several persons standing by: "May I see you home to night? If you won't ask me I'll ask you." He of course complied with the request, and the young lady saw her "feller" to the very door of his house, after which she walked to her own home, whistling merrily to keep herself company. Good day." Exit "O. K."

A Review of the Situation.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

The Review, always alive to anything small and narrow-minded and, therefore, within the grasp of its own intelligence, continues to compliment the palate of its readers by serving up daily its one monotonous dish of "hash." The component parts of this dish are as mysteriously blended and as doubtful in their origin as those which make up the article doing duty at the most comfortless of boarding-houses. In the name of all the gods and a few of the little fishes, why cannot the Review discover that its readers are not to be hood-winked by a systematic policy of personal detraction? The Review does not live in any other than a glass house. Its poorest policy is to throw stones. In any comparison which it may draw between the personal character, honesty and general straightforwardness of the opposing candidates it will grind no axe of its own. It will only sharpen the weapons to be used against itself.

I have fallen heir to the mantle of the too lightly esteemed genius of Mr. J. Mickson Dorgan, who has left us. This will account for the accompanying doggerel, which represents the case of a fair-minded Conservative who looks dispassionately upon the situation—local issues in particular—and which indicates the result at which he naturally arrives:—

Calm is my soul nor apt to rise in arms,
Except when fast approaching danger warns;
But when a rival candidate descends,
Uses vile tools to further evil ends;
When I behold a factious band prepare—
Do all things vile to us—all things moral sneer;
A wretched sheet reflect the landscape o'er,
Steeped in all scandal, skilled in slander's lore;
The weekly president the profits draw,
Law made the scapegoat 'gainst all heard of law;
Doubt, anger, falsehood, prejudice give way,
The truth unlocks and shows the light of day;
Till all ashamed of what I was before,
I vote Reform—paint Tories to the door.

Yours truly,
R. E. FORMER.

Police Court.

THURSDAY, Jan. 27th.

Three Scott Act cases were dealt with at the Police Court this morning. Hugh Drain of Norwood, was fined $20; the case against — Beckett was dismissed, and that against C. Freeman adjourned till Monday.

East Peterborough.

The East Riding Dominion Election Campaign was opened at Keene on Monday evening when Mr. John Lang, Reform candidate, and Mr. John Bertram addressed a large audience. On Tuesday evening a joint meeting was held at Westwood. Both Mr. Lang's and Mr. Burnham's meetings were unavoidably announced for the same date, and an amicable arrangement was made and both parties were satisfied with the arrangements made as to time of speaking, etc. Mr. Lang will address the electors at the Town Hall, Doare, on Friday evening and at Lakefield on Saturday evening.

"Chemong Matters."

THE EXAMINER is in receipt of a long letter from Mr. A. E. Kennedy, agent of the New England Company, denying the allegations contained in a letter on the above subject in the last weekly issue, signed "Neighbor." It is not necessary to publish the first part of Mr. Kennedy's letter; it contains personal references to Rev. Mr. Roberts, who, so far as we know and believe, had nothing to do with "Neighbor's" letter. In justice to Mr. Kennedy, the following is given:

[COPY.]

We, the undersigned Indians of Chemong Indian village, in council assembled, this 24th day of January, 1887, having read or heard the article in the Peterborough EXAMINER of the 20th inst., headed "Chemong Matters" and signed by "Neighbor," do hereby declare that said article is false and without foundation, in fact, in so far as it refers to us, or to our feelings and understanding of matters therein referred to:

North Monaghan.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Members elect, except Mr. Johnston, met on Monday, Jan. 17th, and took the declaration of qualification and office, as follows: Joseph Forster, Reeve; Councillors—William Brownscombe, Robert Dunlop and John McIntosh.

Messrs. W. J. Sherwood and Thomas. M. Hunter were appointed auditors.

On motion of Mr. Dunlop, seconded by Mr. McIntosh, the following accounts were ordered to be paid:

The Reeve and Mr. Brownscombe were instructed to purchase a suit of clothes for Joseph Garrett.

The Council adjourned till the 13th day of February next, then to meet to appoint certain township officers and transact other township business.

Literary Notices.

THE Brooklyn Magazine has deferred its change of name to the American Magazine until April 15th, in order that the publishers may have suitable time for properly developing the many plans necessary to the successful launching of a high-class illustrated magazine.

THE Carnival Number which is being issued this week by the Montreal Witness, will, we believe, command a most unprecedented sale, as it is published at the extremely low price of 15 cents, or two copies for 25 cents—all free by post. It is to contain 24 pages, literally crowded with excellent colored pictures and engravings of the principal scenes of the Carnival, correctly as well as beautifully executed. The idea of sending two copies at such a reduction is a capital one; everybody can afford to buy one copy to keep, and at least one other to send to friends at a distance.

JANUARY PANSY is a royal number. The leading stories, "Monteagle," by Mrs. G. R. Alden (Pansy); "The Little Red Shop," by Margaret Sidney; "A Sevenfold Trouble," told by seven people who knew of it, are strong, helpful and graphic. The number contains also short stories, poems and sketches. Noticeable among these is Our Alphabet of Great Men, which gives an excellent biography of Daniel Webster, with portrait. There is, too, a sketch of Faye Huntington, written by Rev. J. W. Sanborn, in which he recounts a pleasant visit to the home of this well known woman; another on Marie Antoinette, and a pleasant story told by Mary E. Metheny, missionary in Tarsus, Asia Minor. Illustrated. D. Lothrop & Co., Boston. $1 a year.

THE first number of the Rideau Record, a new weekly launched at Smith's Falls by Mr. G. F. McKimm, is to hand. Its politics are Liberal, and its news columns, excellent typography and general air of enterprise indicates that it will be an excellent local paper and that it has come to stay.

Hamilton's Merriment.

The official programme for Hamilton's grand winter carnival on February 2nd and 3rd, has just arrived. The attractions consist of art exhibitions, tobogganing, curling bonspeils, trades procession, grand drive, triumphal arch, fireworks, torchlight procession, roller and ice skating, music by several bands, etc. Reduced fares on all railroads, and cheap rates of living in the city.

WHY
Will people pay rent when houses and lots can be purchased on such easy terms as are offered by the undesigned. Come and inspect our work and see for yourselves how we construct our houses. Our chief aim and study is to build substantial, warm, frost and damp proof houses. I am offering good building lots, and will build solid brick houses, nine-inch walls, strapped and lathed, two stories, for less money than you can buy frame or veneered buildings. We cordially invite those who anticipate renting or buying to inspect our work and prove for themselves that our houses are not merely built to sell. Every house I've sold gives first-class satisfaction, and I am determined that every house I build shall be a standing testimony to honest building. THE QUEEN'S REQUEST

OPENING OF THE BRITISH PARLIAMENT YESTERDAY.

LONDON, Jan. 27.—As early as 8 o'clock this morning the members began to arrive in the House of Commons so as to secure good seats. The first to appear was Mr. Selwyn, Conservative member for Cambridgeshire. The scenes at the opening of Parliament were duller than usual. The crowds about the buildings showed little if any enthusiasm, and the members were evidently uncertain as regards the future. Lord Randolph Churchill, when he first entered the House, tried to take the coveted seat below the gangway which he formerly occupied. He found though that he had been forestalled by Rt. Hon. Henry Chaplin, whose hat was on the seat. Lord Randolph lifted the hat, examined it critically, read Chaplin's card for a minute, then smiled and took a back seat. It is notorious that a feud exists between Lord Randolph and Mr. Chaplin.

The speech from the throne, after touching on the Bulgarian and Egyptian questions, and referring to brigandage in Burmah, went on:

The condition of Ireland still requires your anxious attention. Grave crimes in that country have happily been rarer in the last few months than during a similar period of the preceding year. But the relations between the owners and occupiers of the land which in early autumn exhibited signs of improvement have since been seriously disturbed in some districts by organized attempts to incite the latter class to combine against a fulfilment of their legal obligations. The efforts of the Government to cope with this evil have been seriously impeded by difficulties incident to the method at present prescribed by statute for dealing with such offences. Your early attention will be called to proposals for the reform of legal procedure which seems necessary to secure prompt and efficient administration of criminal law.

This is the most important part of the speech, which ends by promising local government bills for Ireland and Scotland, and suggests a bill for altering the mode of levying tithes.

The Parnellites, after the reading of the Queen's speech, held a conference and discussed the advisability of offering an amendment to the address in reply to it. They adjourned without coming to a decision.

W. H. Smith, First Lord of the Treasury, gave notice of the Government's intention to introduce measures for the reform of the rules of Parliamentary procedure and said he would ask for facilities for giving precedence to the consideration of these measures so that they may be at once discussed from day to day.

Mr. Gladstone reached the House at 4.30 o'clock. He was greeted with great enthusiasm by the people on the way from his residence.

Mr. Parnell entered the House and reached his seat unobserved.

Regret for Iddesleigh.

LONDON, Jan. 27.—The Marquis of Salisbury referred to the death of Lord Iddesleigh in the House of Lords this evening. He said: "His death left in my mind an impression which can never be effaced. It has brought home to me keenly the truth of the reflection 'what shadows we pursue.' He was probably more beloved than any statesman of our time. His gentle temper and unfailing courtesy and spirit of cheerfulness made him universally appreciated."

Parnell's Amendment.

LONDON, Jan. 28.—Mr. Parnell has drafted an amendment to the address in reply to the speech from the throne, raising the agrarian question in a general form.

Gladstone Speaks.

LONDON, Jan. 27.—In the Commons Mr. Gladstone applauded what he called Lord Randolph Churchill's sacrifices in behalf of sound economic policy and the judicious mode in which he proposed to apply the principles he advocated. He (Gladstone) objected to the severance of the Treasury portfolio from the Premiership, the former being practically a sinecure.

Referring to the Candian fisheries question, he said he treated the papers on the subject would speedily be presented to the House. He said he thought England and Scotland very justly complained of the Irish monopoly of the time of Parliament, but he feared there was small likelihood of a remedy being found. He was ready to bet ten to one that the Local Government question would not be settled this session. The Government, he said, also proposed to deal with the criminal law in Ireland, although they tried to make it sound better by using the term procedure. In regard to the allusion to the inciting of tenants against the landlords, he greatly lamented the fact that the Queen had not expressed regret at the recent lamentable evictions in Kerry. In conclusion Mr. Gladstone said he hoped the sanguine expectations of the Royal speech would be fulfilled.

Churchill Explains.

LONDON, Jan. 27.—In the Commons Lord Randolph Churchill entered upon an explanation of the reasons which led him to resign the Chancellorship of the Exchequer. He said he retired because the Government's naval and military estimates exceeded £31,000,000, without counting the large supplementary estimates. He insisted on having these estimates reduced, but his colleagues refused to cut them down, "although," added Lord Randolph, "I had been urging economy ever since August." Lord Randolph then referred to the Government's foreign policy and declared amid loud Opposition cheers: "I also objected to the Government's policy of needless interference in the affairs of other nations." Continuing, Lord Randolph said he wrote to Lord Salisbury complaining of the excessive estimates. The Premier answered that he deemed the estimates moderate, and referred to the danger of war and the necessity of protecting the coaling stations of the Empire. In conclusion Lord Randolph, whose speech lasted forty minutes, quoted from his last letter to Lord Salisbury the statement that he left the Cabinet with regret, but without misgiving or hesitation.

Salisbury Defends the Government.

LONDON, Jan. 27.—In the Lords Lord Granville said the speech from the throne disclosed the fact that the Government intended again to introduce a coercion bill. The Government could not be acquitted of responsibility for the carrying on of the "Plan of Campaign," for they had delayed denouncing it when they knew it was illegal.

Lord Salisbury opened the debate for the Government by alluding to the resignation of Lord Randolph Churchill, saying the Government were sensible of the loss they had sustained through his resignation. The Premier said, however, that he thought the execution of Lord Randolph Churchill's policy at the present time would inflict an injury on the public service, because it was a time when no one could tell what crisis might happen. Continuing Lord Salisbury said that a most unjust reference had been made to the Government's action toward the "Plan of Campaign." The Irish executive, he declared, had taken the promptest legal measures against the "Plan of Campaign." The party really responsible for the origin of the Plan and any success it had obtained was that section of the Liberal party which relied for its strongest support upon the Irish party, and the leaders of which did not think it their duty to denounce a scheme of deliberate robbery which the Government was doing its best to defeat. The abiding aim of the Government was to maintain peace, and nothing known to him gave an impression that there was imminent danger of war, or that the relations between France and Germany were other than peaceful.

The House then adjourned.

THE EXPECTED SHUFFLE.

Sir Charles Enters the Cabinet as Minister of Finance—The Other Changes.

OTTAWA, Jan. 27.—The expected Cabinet shuffle took place at the meeting this afternoon. Sir Charles Tupper enters the Cabinet as Minister of Finance. Hon. Mr. McLelan leaves the finance office and becomes Postmaster-General, relinquished by Sir Alexander Campbell on account of ill-health.

It is among the possibilities that Sir Alexander will be the next Lieutenant-Governor of Ontario.

Sir Charles was very busy all day. He was closeted with Sir John nearly all the forenoon, and in the early part of the afternoon he received many members of the Conservative party. He will leave to-morrow morning for Nova Scotia.

It is reported Mr. McLelan will enter the Senate after the elections.

A deputation of leading Conservatives of the County of Carleton waited upon Sir John this morning at his residence and tendered him the nomination for the county. Sir John thanked the deputation and stated that it was his intention to contest that constituency as well as Kingston, and before the fight was over it might be necessary for him, in the interests of the party, to contest other constituencies.

MERCIER VICTORIOUS.

Mr. Taillon, Defeated in the Legislature, Hands in His Resignation.

QUEBEC, Jan. 27.—The Quebec Legislature met this afternoon and the long-discussed question as to which party had a majority was decided against the Government. On the opening of the House Attorney-General Taillon moved that Taucher De St. Maurice be selected speaker. This was what Mr. Mercier wanted and the fun began. The Opposition leader proposed Hon. F. G. Marchand for presiding officer and his motion was carried on a division, the vote standing 35 to 28, the Taillon Government being thus defeated by seven. Mr. Mercier had secured the support of the National Conservatives and of Dr. Cameron, the only English Protestant on the Liberal side, who deserted his party on the Riel issue and who had promised to support the Conservatives. This victory did not content Mr. Mercier, who wanted to rub it in, so he asked the leader of the Government, if there was a Government, what his program was. Mr. Taillon replied he would answer in the debate on the address, as the election of Speaker was only in order to-day and moved the adjournment of the House in order that the Ministers might confer about the vote just given. Mr. Mercier refused to allow the adjournment and made a long speech denouncing the Government but finally agreed to adjourn until to-morrow.

The true state of the parties, according to the divisions, is twenty-nine Conservatives to thirty-six Nationalists, or with the Speaker in the chair, a majority of five for Mercier.

After the adjournment the ministers dined with Lieut.-Gov. Masson and then tendered their resignations. His Honor then summoned Mr. Mercier to form a cabinet. It is now likely that the House will meet pro forma to-morrow and then adjourn to April.

FISH PIRATES FINED.

The Jeannette and Maggie Mitchell will be Released When They Settle.

OTTAWA, Jan. 27.—The Customs Department has decided to release the American fishing schooners, the Jeannette and the Maggie Mitchell, seized by the cruiser Middleton at St. Andrews, N.B., a week ago, on the payment of fines of $50 and $100 respectively. They were charged with infraction of customs and fisheries regulations. The two vessels are among a number that have obtained Canadian certificates of registry, but are owned either wholly or in part by citizens of the United States residing at Eastport, Maine, and their masters seemed to be under the impression that the Canadian registry entitled them to all the privileges of this country.

FATHER DONNELLY UNPOPULAR.

He Has to Call in the Police to Drive Out Hostile Parishioners.

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—An exciting scene occurred at St. Stephen's Church to-night. The basement of the church was locked all day, but the body of the church was left open. A large crowd assembled this evening, and at 9.30 about 200 women succeeded in forcing their way into the basement, where they surrounded Dr. McGlynn's confessional. Dr. Donnelly went down stairs and asked them to leave. He was driven out and called in the police, who finally succeeded in clearing the place. The women hissed Father Donnelly and made fun of the officers.

The Effect of War Rumors.

BERLIN, Jan. 27.—The Boerse to-day was flat. There were heavy sales of Hungarian and Austrian rentes, and other securities fell in sympathy with these, there being a general decline of 1 per cent. Austrian credit fell four marks.

The great Kentucky stakes for $50,000, to be run in the spring of 1889, and which was to have closed Jan. 15, has now 175 entries. Col. Clark is considering, with the consent of the stables already in, a postponement of a month in order to attain the 300 necessary to fill.

BISMARCK AND WAR.

IT IS MORE PROBABLE THAN MANY HAVE INFERRED.

PESTH, Jan. 27.—The Pesther Lloyd publishes a communication from Berlin which it asserts is from an authentic source and which states that war between Germany and France is regarded as more probable at Berlin than is to be inferred from the information which is permitted to be accessible to the public. "It is erroneous," says the letter, "to suppose that the semi-official press of Germany publish the details of French armaments merely for the purpose of influencing the people in the coming elections. We happen to know that Prince Bismarck recently, when he had that view of the case presented to him, quoted in reply from 'Faust' the words: 'Thou resemblest the spirit whom thou comprehendest; not me.' The Prince added that the statements made in behalf of the German Government respecting French armaments were not put forth as any part of any election manœuvring, but as a warning, and he said the cold douche had been turned on with less force this time in order not to provoke the people too much, but it would be turned on with greater strength if that was found necessary.

"'We once averted war,' continued the Chancellor, 'by appealing against it at the proper moment.' He alluded to the position of affairs in 1884, when the German semi-official press called attention to the fact that Russian cavalry were being massed on the German frontier. Then it was understood that an alliance existed between Russia and France and it was shown that warlike action on the part of Russia was positively imminent. The present condition of affairs is not exactly analogous to that which then existed, no Franco-Russian alliance being now feared; but there is ample authentic evidence that Gen. Boulanger is persuaded that France will be prepared and able by 1888, at the latest, to enter unaided into a great and decisive struggle, if quiet were maintained in the east until that time. If Russia, however, should speedily take action, or if an outbreak should occur in the Balkans, there was evidence that Gen. Boulanger contemplated in that event a campaign against Germany within a few months. Germany, therefore, was compelled to consider the expediency of awaiting inactively for the French attack."

The Berlin communication above alluded to concluded with these words: "President Grevy and Prime Minister Goblet both unsuccessfully have tried to remove Boulanger from control of the military affairs of France. The maintenance of peace depends on Gen. Boulanger's removal."

Boulanger Won't Talk.

PARIS, Jan. 27.—A sensation has been caused by Gen. Boulanger's sudden refusal to grant an audience to any foreign journalist.

STABBED WITH A BUTCHER KNIFE.

A Montreal Woman Wounded to Death by Her Father.

MONTREAL, Jan. 27.—Early this morning the police were notified that Mrs. M. Kelly, a young woman living at 150 Ottawa-street, had been stabbed by her father. Constables Sheehan and Sullivan found the woman lying upon a bed and suffering greatly from loss of blood which was coming from a wound in her breast apparently inflicted with a butcher's knife, there being a gash in the woman's corset about an inch and three-quarters in length. The woman was so weak that Father Caron, of St. Ann's Church, was brought and administered the last rites of the church. Although unable to make a statement she said that her father had been drinking since New Year's, and last evening she made up her mind to remonstrate with him for his conduct, when he turned on her and plunged a knife in her. When the father was brought before the Police Magistrate to-day he appeared to be very unconcerned, and to the question whether he pleaded guilty or not guilty, he responded "Guilty," but said that he had committed the deed in a paroxysm of anger. The doctors give no hope to Mrs. Kelly.

THE COAL HANDLERS' STRIKE.

The Shipping Trade in New York Almost Paralyzed.

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—Twenty thousand men are now on strike among the coal shovelers, longshoremen, freight handlers and men employed on the river fronts in almost every capacity, and the number is augmented to close on 33,000 by strikers on the Brooklyn and Jersey shores. It is almost impossible for any of the steamers bound for Europe or the coast ports to leave. At the Cunard dock the Gallia's cargo could not be discharged because the majority of the pier men struck. The next move will be to get the engineers on the tug boats to leave work. The ferry boats are seriously inconvenienced on account of the lack of coal.

A strike along the river front of Brooklyn also went into effect. The longshoremen, grain shovelers, trimmers and other laborers went out quietly. Freight has accumulated on the docks ready for shipment, while several vessels are waiting to discharge cargoes. Steamers about to sail are delayed for want of coal, and a pretty general interruption of maritime traffic has been inaugurated.

To Enlarge the Canals.

ALBANY, N.Y., Jan. 27.—The Senate Canal Committee will report favorably Daly's bill appropriating $400,000 for enlarging the Erie Canal locks, $70,000 for the Champlain Canal, $15,000 for the Oswego Canal and $15,000 for the Black River Canal.

HOME AND FOREIGN.

The diptheria epidemic in St. Thomas has abated.

Henry M. Stanley, the explorer, has arrived at Cairo.

Goschen was defeated in the Liverpool contest by seven votes.

The strike at Charleroi, Belgium, continues, 8000 men being out of work.

Harry Johnson is out with another challenge to run any man in America 100 yards for $300 a side.

Dr. G. S. Lafleur, one of the best known medical practitioners in Point Levis, Quebec, died suddenly on Tuesday.

An ice jam occurred in the Susquehanna River at Port Deposit, Md., yesterday, and the flood that ensued caused great damage.

The ice jam in the river at London continues. Dynamite was unsuccessfully used to dislodge it, and men have been put to work sawing up the ice.

Hon. Robert Horsey of Chicago, and thirty-five years ago Mayor of Bytown, was entertained at the Rideau Club, Ottawa, yesterday by Mayor Stewart and a large party.

Schoemmerhorn, the Kingston man reported to have deserted his family, denies that he did so. He was away working on the Welland Canal and was in communication with his family all the time.

Navy pensioners, seamen and marines in the British colonies have been notified to hold themselves in readiness for active service. The circular applies only to those under fifty-five years of age. There has only been one such circular since the Crimean war.

The Canada Cotton Manufacturing Company find that the damage to their premises by the recent flood at Cornwall is not anything like what was at first estimated, and that they will not be at the expense of purchasing a steam new machine.

LIBERALS,

RALLY

To-Night!

Dominion Elections.

A Grand Rally of every working Liberal in Town is called for THIS EVENING, in the Liberal Club Rooms, to perfect organization for the coming Dominion Elections.

The Daily Examiner.

FRIDAY, JANUARY 28, 1887.

HON. EDWARD BLAKE, in a recent speech, placed the case against the Government in regard to the Northwest rebellion in a nutshell. He said:

Let me recall to you a sequence of events:—

Had there been no neglect, there would have been no rebellion;

If no rebellion, no arrest;

If no arrest, no trial;

If no trial, no condemnation;

If no condemnation, no execution.

They, therefore, who are responsible for the first are responsible for every link in that fatal chain!

At a meeting of the Halton County Scott Act Association, various matters touching on the interest of temperance were discussed and the meeting voted overwhelmingly against a resolution proposing to bind the members of the association to vote for only such candidates as would pledge themselves to vote for the "immediate enactment" and enforcement of total Prohibition was defeated by an overwhelming majority. The consensus of opinion was strongly in favour of perfecting and efficiently enforcing the Scott Act, rather than surrendering that advantage in favor of a premature, and, in the judgement of some, an unwise and impracticable advance. The report of the Committee on Resolutions strongly censuring the recent appointments of Mr. Merner and Dr. Casgrain to the Senate, on account of their well known hostility to the Scott Act was unanimously adopted. The Mail, which professes to be so ardent a temperance advocate spoke approvingly of these appointments, thus showing how hypocritical are its utterances on the subject.

THE CHAMPION OF YOUNG CANADA.

Montreal Herald.

It is not to be wondered at that the young men of Canada are especially the champions of Mr. Blake. He has been their advocate and spokesman in many a debate, in many a campaign. When the aspirations of Young Canada were beginning to take shape, that is to say, when Canadians, natives of the soil, began to realize that they were treated as nullities in the shaping of their country's future, and that the remnant of an old circle of Upper Canada regarded the new Dominion as a heritage bequeathed to themselves, Mr. Blake, a young Canadian himself, not long in public life struck the first blow at a system that was cramping the energies and aspirations of all our younger men. He gave them hope. He was born and bred in the land, the friends of his youth, the pursuits that he engaged in were Canadian. He represents the best phase of Canadian life, he is the sympathetic representative of the generation of Canadians now pressing to the front, as other worthy men, now in their declining years, are of a past generation whose opinions and prejudices time has left in the distance. The speeches that he made when in the Ontario Legislature, whether on political or social subjects went home to the heart of Canada. A responsive echo was awakened in the hearts of those who were rising men in their respective localities, and his championship of that which was coming rather than that which was going, cast a new and brighter light upon the public life of Ontario. Since then he has never remained the firm friend of the younger generation. It has been shown at every turn. Not a little service on their behalf was done by him and his friends on the occasion of the Franchise Bill. As introduced, that measure was a monstrous production, designed apparently to admit Indians and such voters as the Government imagined they might rely upon. It was filled with conditions and qualifications that placed the voters' lists under the control of an officer to be appointed by the Government. This revising officer's powers, as proposed by Sir John Macdonald, placed the suffrages of the country in the hands of the Government. That was the main purpose of the bill. To break through this purposely-entangled mass of provisions was no ordinary work. When Mr. Mitchell, of Northumberland, proposed to render unless the dogdes that were apparent in the bill, by providing for Manhood Suffrage, Mr. Blake gave him his hearty support, and when the Government voted it down, Mr. Blake, with Mr. Mills, Mr. Paterson, Mr. Davies and others, set himself to work to break down some of the barriers that Sir John had raised against the young men of Canada. At every step their views were combatted. That was not what the Franchise Bill was for. Sir John was not accustomed to consider the younger men of the country. His bill was intended to control the lists and to place the Indians as voters under the direction of the Government agents. Not only the civilized Indians of Ontario and Quebec; the wild Indians of Manitoba and the North-West, and the lowest savages of British Columbia, men who in no way compare with the Indians of Canada proper, were to be called in to swamp and counteract the vote of those young white men whom the act might enfranchise. This was resisted by Mr. Blake and his friends by night and day, until at last, hard fighting at every step, the Indian iniquity was prevented, and the restraints and conditions that were sought to be placed on the sons of the farmers, tradesmen and others were one by one removed. It was one of the grandest fights yet made on behalf of Young Canada, and by it Mr. Blake established himself more firmly than ever in the hearts of his fellow countrymen.

The sympathy and regard of the younger men has gone out to Mr. Blake not a little because of his love of his native Canada and her institutions. He has never threatened to break up the confederation because his wishes were thwarted, nor signed annexation manifestoes because he was angry. He has ever been a loyal subject and a true Canadian. The honors he enjoys are those given him by Canadians. He has not sought the alphabetical distinctions of Europe. He has declined to be knighted—it was not a Canadian honor; he has not asked to be made a C.B. or G.C.B. While fifth and sixth rate Englishmen were offered the same distinctions that were thought to be good enough for the leading men of Canada, he kept aloof from them. He did not desire any, but doubtless felt that if Canadian statesmen fell into the ranks at all they should not be in the very rearmost ones. In every particular he has been careful for the honor as for the welfare of the country, and Canadians of the present and coming day, knowing his ability and reputation here and abroad are not a little moved by the knowledge that he has more than once declined the suggestion that he should seek a field in England where a rapid promotion to the highest ranks awaited him. He thought more of serving his native Canada, and he has his reward in the hearts of the young men of the Dominion.

ADMITTING ITS CLIENT'S GUILT.

Speaking in reference to the cause of the North-west rebellion, the Toronto Mail, Sir John's personal organ, discharged its conscience by the following outburst of truth. Referring to the Half-breeds, the Mail of July 8th, 1885, says:—

"Had they (the Half-breeds who rose against Ottawa tyranny) had votes, like white men, or if, like the Indians, they had been numerous enough to command respect and overawe red tape, without doubt, the wheels of office would have revolved for them; but being only Half-breeds, they were put off with an eternal promise, until patience ceased to be a virtue.

"We repeat again that the departmental system under which such callous and cruel neglect of the rights of a portion of the community was possible, was wrong, and should be censured."

Peterborough Markets.

[Supplied by W. H. Wrighton, Grain and roduce Dealer & General Grocer, George St.]

JANUARY, 26th, 1887.

The receipts of grain during the week have been only moderate. Barley has been selling at advanced prices ranging from 40c. to 59c. Spring wheat was run up to 85c. yesterday but to-day sold from 83c. to 84c., with fall selling at 82c., peas 52c. to 55c., oats are higher selling from 29c. to 30c.

On the market—Fresh butter is getting scarce selling 20c. to 22c., eggs 20c., potatoes 70c. to 75c. per bag, apples 80c. to $1.25 per bag. Beef 4 to 5½, mutton 6 to 8c., tallow 4c., chickens 50c. to 60c., turkeys 75c. to $1.25. Other commodities are unchanged.

As if by Magic.

This is always the case when Polson's Nerviline is applied to any kind of pain; it is sure to disappear as if by magic. Stronger, more penntrating, and quicker in action than any other remidy in the world. Buy a bottle of nerviline to-day, and try its wonderful power of relieving pain of every d scription. Pain cannot stay where it is used. It is just the thing to have in the house to meet a sudden attack of illness. Only 25 cents a bottle. Sample bottle only 10 cents at any drug store. 6dw4

Signed Aid.

What a truly beautiful world we live in! Nature gives us grandeur of mountains, glens and oceans, and thousands of means of enjoyment. We can desire no better when in perfect health; but how often do the majority of people feel like giving it up disheartened, discouraged and worn out with disease, when there is no occasion for this feeling, as every sufferer can easily obtain satisfactory proof, that Green's August Flower, will make them free from disease, as when born. Dyspepsia and Liver Complaint are the direct causes of seventy-five per cent, of such maladies as Biliousness, Indigestion, Sick Headache, Costiveness, Nervous Prostration, Dizziness of the head, Palpitation of the Heart, and other distressing symtoms. Three doses of August Flower will prove its wonderful effect. Sample bottle, 10 cents. Try it. eodw4

CAMPBELL'S TONIC ELIXIR

This agreeable yet potent preparation is especially adapted for the relief and cure of that class of disorders attendant upon a low or reduced state of the system, and usually accompanied by Pallor, Weakness and Palpitation of the Heart. Prompt results will follow its use in cases of Sudden Exhaustion arising from Loss of Blood, Acute or Chronic Diseases, and in the weakness that invariably accompanies the recovery from Wasting Fevers. No remedy will give more speedy relief in Dyspepsia or Indigestion, its action on the stomach being that of a gentle and harmless tonic, exciting the organs of digestion to action, and thus affording immediate and permanent relief. The carminative properties of the different aromatics which the Elixir contains render it useful in Flatulent Dyspepsia. It is a valuable remedy for Atonic Dyspepsia, which is apt to occur in persons of a gouty character.

For Impoverished Blood, Loss of Appetite, Despondency, and in all cases where an effective and certain stimulant is required, the Elixir will be found invaluable.

In Fevers of a Malarial Type, and the various evil results following exposure to the cold or wet weather, it will prove a valuable restorative, as the combination of Cinchona Calisaya and Serpentaria are universally recognised as specifics for the above-named disorders.

The two ladies were sitting in the library, each occupied with a book chosen from the well-stocked shelves. Catherine's reading appeared to be more than once interrupted by Catherine's thoughts. Noticing this circumstance, Mrs. Presty asked if any remarkable event had happened, and if it was weighing heavily on her daughter's mind.

Catherine answered that she was thinking of Kitty, and that anxiety connected with the child did weigh heavily on her mind.

Some days had passed (she reminded Mrs. Presty) since the interview at which Herbert Linley had bidden her farewell. On that occasion he had referred to her proposed marriage (never to be a marriage now!) in terms of forbearance and generosity, which claimed her sincere admiration. It might be possible for her to show a grateful appreciation of his conduct. Decidedly fond of his little daughter, he must have felt acutely his long separation from her; and it was quite likely that he might ask to see Kitty. There was now an obstacle in the way of her willing compliance with that request, which it was impossible to think of without remorse, and which it was imperatively necessary to remove. Her mother would understand that she alluded to the shameful falsehood which had led the child to suppose that her father was dead.

Strongly disapproving of the language in which her daughter had done justice to the conduct of the divorced husband, Mrs. Presty merely replied: "You are Kitty's mother; I leave it to you"—and returned to her reading.

Catherine could not feel that she had deserved such an answer as this. "Did I plan the deception?" she asked. "Did I tell the lie?"

Mrs. Presty was not in the least offended. "You are comparatively innocent, my dear," she admitted, with an air of satirical indulgence. "You only consented to the deception, and profited by the lie. Suppose we own the truth. You are afraid."

Catherine owned the truth in the plainest terms: "Yes, I am afraid."

"And you leave it to me?"

"I leave it to you."

Mrs. Presty complacently closed her book. "I was quite prepared to hear it," she said; "all the unpleasant complications since your divorce—and heaven only knows how many of them have presented themselves—have been left for me to unravel. It so happens—though I was too modest to mention it prematurely—that I have unraveled this complication. If you only have eyes to see it, there is a way out of every difficulty that can possibly happen." She pushed the book that she had been reading (across the table) to Catherine. "Turn to page 240," she said. "There is the way out."

The title of the book was "Disasters at Sea," and the page contained the narrative of a shipwreck. On evidence apparently irresistible, the drowning of every soul on board the lost vessel had been taken for granted—when a remnant of the passengers and crew had been discovered on a desert island, and had been safely restored to their friends. Having read this record of suffering and suspense, Catherine looked at her mother and waited for an explanation.

"Don't you see it?" Mrs. Presty asked.

"I can't say that I do."

The old lady's excellent temper was not in the least ruffled, even by this.

"Quite inexcusable on my part," she acknowledged; "I ought to have remembered that you don't inherit your mother's vivid imagination. Age has left me in full possession of those powers of invention which used to amaze your poor father. He wondered how it was that I never wrote a novel. Mr. Presty's appreciation of my intellect was equally sincere; but he took a different view. 'Beware, my dear,' he said, 'of trifling with the distinction which you now enjoy; you are one of the most remarkable women in England—you have never written a novel.' Pardon me; I am wandering into the region of literary anecdote, when I ought to explain myself. Now pray attend to this: I propose to tell Kitty that I have found a book which is sure to interest her; and I shall direct her attention to the lamentable story which you have just read. She is quite sharp enough (there are sparks of my intellectual fire in Kitty) to ask if the friends of the poor shipwrecked people were not very much surprised to see them again. To this I shall answer: 'Very much, indeed, for their friends thought they were dead.' Ah, you dear, dull child, you see it now!"

Catherine saw it so plainly that she was eager to put the first part of the experiment to an immediate trial.

Kitty was sent for, and made her appearance with a fishing-rod over her shoulder. "I'm going to the brook," she announced; "expect some fish for dinner to-day."

A wary old hand stopped Catherine in the act of presenting the "Disasters at Sea" to Kitty's notice, and a voice, distinguished by insinuating kindness, said to the child: "When you have done fishing, my dear, come to me; I have got a nice book for you to read."

"How very absurd of you, Catherine," Mrs. Presty continued, when they were together again, "to expect the child to read and draw her own conclusions while her head is full of fishing! If there are any fish in the brook, she won't catch them. When she comes back disappointed, and says: 'What am I to do now?' the 'Disasters at Sea' will have a chance. I make it a rule never to preach, but if there is a thing that I understand, it is the management of children. Why don't I have a large family?"

Attracted by the faithful Susan, Kitty baited her hook and began to fish where the waters of the brook were overshadowed by trees.

A little arbor covered by a thatched roof, and having walls of wicker lattice-work, had been by Benjamin Chantry over these trees, and had offered an attractive place of rest on this shortest visit of the season. Having brought her work with her, the nursemaid retired to the summer house and diligently plied her needle, looking at Kitty from time to time through the open door. The air was delightfully cool. The pleasant ripping of the brook fell soothingly on the ear, the mist in the summer house resembled a sister with the softly yielding substitution of elastic wires. Susan had just finished her early dinner; in mind and body alike this good girl was entirely and deservedly at her ease. By finely succeeding degrees her eyelids began to show a tendency downward; her truant needlework escaped from her fingers and lay lazily on her lap. She snatched it up with a start and sewed with seven consecutive stitches until her thread was exhausted. The reel was ready at her side; she took it up for a fresh supply, and innocently rested her head against the leafy and flowery wall of the arbor. Was it thought that gradually closed her eyes again, or was it sleep? In either case Susan was lost to all sense of passing events; and Susan's breathing became musically regular, emulous of the musical regularity of the brook.

As a lesson in patience the art of angling pursued in a shallow brook has its moral uses. Kitty fished and waited, and renewed the bait, and tried again with a command of temper which would have been a novelty in Susan's experience, if Susan had been awake. But the end which comes to all things came also to Kitty's patience. Leaving her rod on the bank, she let the line and hook take care of themselves, and wandered away in search of some new amusement.

Lingering here and there to gather flowers from the beds as she passed them, Kitty was stopped by a shrubbery, with a rustic seat placed near it, which marked the limits of the garden on that side. The path that she had been following led her farther and farther away from the brook, but still left it well in view. She could see on her right hand the clumsy old wooden bridge which crossed the stream and served as a means of communication for the servants and the tradespeople between the cottage and the village, on the lower ground a mile away.

The child felt hot and tired. She rested herself on the bench, and spreading the flowers by her side, began to arrange them in the form of a nosegay. Still true to her love for Sydney, she had planned to present the nosegay to her mother, offering the gift as an excuse for returning to the forbidden subject of her governess and for asking when they might hope to see each other again.

Choosing flowers and then rejecting them, trying other colors and wondering whether she had accomplished a change for the better, Kitty was startled by the sound of a voice calling to her from the direction of the brook.

SUN

LIFE ASSURANCE CO. OF CANADA.

Gross Life Business for 1886, - - - $3,540,000.

EXTRACT FROM MONTREAL WITNESS, DATED DECEMBER 31st, 1886:—

THE LATE MR. McLACHLAN.

AN INSURANCE COMPANY' PROMPT SETTLEMENT.

We have been asked by Mr. McLachlan to publish the following, and do so in view of the exceptional public interest taken in the case mentioned:—

To R. Macaulay, Esq., Managing Director of the Sun Life Assurance Company:—

DEAR SIR,—I have much pleasure in acknowledging the payment by you of $17,120.70, being the amount due under the policies held by your Company on the life of my brother, the late John S. McLachlan. A company's character is tested when an opportunity arises in which it has the power to take advantage of a technicality or inability (as in the present case) to comply with every condition and requirement, so as to occasion delay and expense, and perhaps finally defeat a just and honest claim. There is no doubt in the mind of any reasonable man that my brother and Mr. Sumner were unhappily drowned, and the affidavit produced abundantly support this; but although a careful search has been made, the bodies may never be recovered owing to the swiftness of the current and the low temperature of the water. It would, indeed, be a hardship if any company were, under the circumstances, to demand technical proofs which, from the very nature of the case, it is impossible to furnish. I have great pleasure in certifying to the honorable and liberal manner in which your Company has acted in regard to the claim. As soon as your board of directors was aware that the accident had really happened, you gave every facility for the payment of settlement. You have been the first of the companies interested to pay, and I thank you for the kind and satisfactory manner in which you have met me.

W. MCLACHLAN.

The Dominion safety fund, we understand, has also paid its policy of $2,000. The Sun Life has taken from the executors of Mr. McLachlan a personal bond to refund the amount of insurance with six per cent. per annum compound interest, should he ever turn up alive. Mr. J. S. McLachlan had in all $42,120.70 insurance on his life, and other companies resist the claims.

ST. CATHARINES, Sept. 20th, 1886.

GENTLEMEN,—Being over 70 years of age, and over 30 years Ruptured, I looked upon my case as hopeless, especially as I tried various appliances without success, among others, recently, two springless trusses (so-), in York State, costing me $60. Nothing would retain my Hernia. I have worn your truss over four months, night and day, with great satisfaction and comfort; even to bathe in it the rupture has never come down, it holds me perfectly secure under all circumstances. You may publish it for the benefit of other sufferers. Yours truly, CAPT. H. KNOX.

This new Spirial Spring Pad Truss has taken ten years to make it perfect; is guaranteed to hold the very worst case during the hardest work or severest strain. Music's Golden Tongue.

To-night a rare treat is expected at St. Paul's Church. Under the able leadership of Prof. J. S. Parker, organist of the church, the choir, comprising a chorus of 32 voices, will render some grand choral selections. Mr. Parker will manipulate the organ, and from his well known ability at the keys, a great flow of melody may be expected. Tickets have been placed at the low figure of 25 cents. The proceed sare in aid of the choir fund.

The Merry, Merry Tobog.

About two score and ten tobogganers assembled at the Riverside park last night and made the crisp night air reverbrate with their ringing cheers and joyous laughter, as the "tobog," with a swish and rattle that was deafening to its riders, leaped down the chute and shot over the smooth pathway of glistening ice that stretched to the Park gate. One redeeming (?) feature of tobogganing in Peterborough is the entire absence of accidents or mishaps arising from carelessness. The slide is so arranged that a serious accident is next to impossible where the least care is exercised. It is suggested that instead of the customary "whoops" of the tobogganers in "descending the descent," a short ditty be adopted, after the manner of boat songs. The following taken from an exchange could be sung nicely to the tune of "Home, Sweet Home"—that is, if enough breath could be caught on the way down to let it out at one gasp:—

The rinktum has vanished,
The skatum has fled;
The rollum is banished,
The wheelum is dead.
Tobog's now the daisy
That now rules the day:
Let's tob g till we're crazy,
Ri-tu rai-li-ta.

Davy Crockett.

Everybody spoke in terms of praise of the excellent and artistic production of the famous Californian melo-drama, "Davy Crockett," by the Day Dramatic Company last night to a highly pleased audience. The sentiment of the play is good, and calculated to appeal at once to the sympathy of the auditor, who leaves the theatre reluctantly, wishing there were more of it. The bold, fearless backwoodsman, "Davy Crockett," found in Mr. Day an exponent worthy of the character, and his portrayal of the unselfish devotion and heroic manhood of "Davy" called forth loud applause. As "Elinor Vaughn," the beautiful and true woman who recognized the worth of "Davy" and reciprocated his affection, Miss Osborne acted ably, blending pathos and comedy most effectively and winning the admiration of the audience. Little Annie Bird, precocious and "chipper" as ever, represented "Bob Crocket," Davy's pupil, with a vim and reality that showed what wonderful dramatic talent she possesses. The support was good all round, and last night's performance ranks among the best yet given by the Day Company.

To-night the little favorite, Annie Bird, takes a testimonial benefit, when she appears in three distinct characters in a protean drama written expressly for her, entitled "Bob, the Newsboy." Low prices, 10 and 25c. Reserved seats at Hartley's.

Laid Low by Fire.

A Handsome, Old Residence Totally Destroyed.

At a quarter to 5 o'clock Thursday afternoon an alarm of fire was rung, and in a few minutes the firemen were out in force and had the engine and hose reels on the way to the residence of Mr. J. M. Irwin, Ashburnham, (next St. Luke's Church) where already could be seen fiery tongues of flame darting in and out amid the dense clouds of blackest smoke which poured out of an upper window on the south side of the house. Arrived at the village, great difficulty was experienced in finding water, and it was fully half an hour from the first alarm till a stream was playing on the burning building. The small creek which runs across the foot of Stewart street furnished water, and the hose was quickly all strung out, but quite a distance yet remained to be covered. This caused further delay, more having to be brought from the fire hall in Peterborough. Once at it, however, the firemen worked like Tartars, but the fire had such a start nothing could be done but prevent it spreading to the out buildings. Before the fire brigade got down to work, the house was pretty well ransacked, particularly the lower story, and the contents carried or thrown out by hundreds of willing but excited hands and piled up in the yard, an almost valueless heap of furniture, glassware, books, etc. The building was a large, handsome, solidly-constructed two-story brick residence, erected by Rev. Mr. Beck about 25 years ago, and at present owned by Dr. Burritt, of Toronto, and occupied by Mr. Irwin, whose loss is heavy. Situated as it was on a hill, the wind had full sweep and speedily spread the flames to all parts of the house. Mr. Irwin had supplied his home with a collection of fancy house ornaments and bric-a-brac which could not be replaced in a life-time, and most of which if not burned, were destroyed by careless handling. The origin of the fire is a mystery, as the room in which the first blaze was seen had no stove in it, nor anything from which fire could originate, a defective chimney is supposed to have been the cause.

The house was known as "St. Leonard's" and was insured for $6,000 in the Royal. The total loss on house and contents is estimated at $12,000. There was a small insurance on the contents, which will partly cover the loss.

FIRE AT NORWOOD.

On Thursday morning fire broke out in the old Presbyterian Church, Norwood, at 5 o'clock, and speedily resulted in the complete destruction of the building. The structure was at one time used as a roller skating rink but of late was unoccupied and there is no other way of accounting for the fire than incendiarism. It was owned by Mr. Thomas Hendren, jr., whose loss is about $1,500, reduced by insurance to the amount of $800 or $900.

County Scott Act Fines.

The following letter has been sent to Mr. Edg. Pearce, County Treasurer:—

DEAR SIR,—I herewith enclose to you a statement of Scott Act cases tried before me, which I consider county cases. On these I have received $625, for which I enclose my cheque. The town treasurer has $550 which he refuses to pay over to me, by instructions of the town authorities. I think the money he holds belongs to the county.

There are two cases in which the fines have not yet been paid over, as I understand the officers have not yet collected the entire penalties. On receipt of these I will send you a cheque for them. They are in the cases:—

Cochrane vs. Kearns	$ 50
Darling vs. Glyan	50
	$100

In the uncertain state in which the law was, as to the application of these fines, the money was paid over to the Treasurer of the Town, as he was the clerk of the Police Court. Hereafter I will take charge of all county fines, so that this trouble will not again arise. I would advise that the county make application to the town for all moneys received by them on account of fines imposed on persons residing outside of the town.

I am, sir,
Your obedient servant,
D. W. DUMBLE.

Gathering o' the Clans.

The Bonspiel Next Week—A Big Day for Curlers—All for the Ontario Tankard.

Arrangements have been finally completed for the district curling bonspiel for the Ontario tankard, which is to take place in the Charlotte street rink Tuesday and Wednesday next, weather permitting. All the clubs comprised in group 8, Brockville and Ogdensburg excepted, will send two rinks each. They will arrive in town Monday night or Tuesday morning, when they will be drawn against each other. The skating rink will be used for the bonspiel, three rinks playing in the centre and three at the sides, or six in all. Playing will continue afternoon and evening. The winners in the first day's contest will play off on Wednesday.

At a meeting of the club yesterday afternoon it was decided to furnish dinner and tea for the visitors in the rink lunch room. Outside of this each club bears its own expenses, which, by the present plan of holding a district bonspiel, will be materially reduced. Mr. T. P. Attrill will act as umpire.

CURLING NOTES

Mr. Brown's rink defeated Mr. Ferguson's last night by 20 to 9. This makes two wins for each rink. Mr. Davidson, vice-skip for Mr. Ferguson, was absent, which, no doubt, influenced the result.

A curling match was played at Campbellford yesterday between two rinks from Keene and two rinks of the home club. Keene won by 18 points.

After the bonspiel is over two Caledonian medal medal matches will be played. Keene will play Bobcaygeon, and Belleville will play Campbellford. Dr. Boucher is umpire in the first, and Mr. Wm. Campbell, of Keene, umpire in the second.

A Transformation.

As a sample of what can be accomplished in a few months by an energetic contractor, the recent job of converting the "old gaol" at the court house into handsome living apartments by Mr. A. Rutherford has seldom been beaten. Seven rooms—parlor, dining-room, kitchen and four bedrooms—have been walled off and arranged in the most convenient style possible. Bath-room, closets, etc., have been supplied, while a couple of bay windows and a handsome piazza relieve the sombre appearance of the outside. Inside the best of workmanship has been applied, walls and ceilings being nicely plastered, a few mouldings attached, the woodwork beautifully grained, and every modern device of the house-builder adopted. Mr. Nesbitt, the gaoler, will move in right away, his present home in the front of the Court House being wanted for Judges Chambers, etc. Mr. Rutherford also has the contract for reconstructing the front apartments. The members of the County Council have expressed themselves highly pleased with the manner in which Mr. Rutherford has executed his contract so far. It is certainly a good job.

COUNTY COUNCIL MEETING.

JANUARY SESSION.

FOURTH DAY—FRIDAY.

Council met in regular session at 10 o'clock. The minutes of last meeting were read and confirmed.

Mr. Moloney moved, seconded by Mr. Walsh, that Mr. Kidd's name be added to the committees on County Property and Equalization and Assessment.—Carried.

COMMITTEE ON PETITIONS.

The Committee on Petitions beg leave to report as follows:—

(1). That no action be taken with reference to the communication of the County Council of the County of Norfolk, asking this Council to pass a resolution favoring the repeal of the Scott Act.

(2). That no action be taken with reference to the communication of the City Clerk of Kingston, asking this Council to memorialize the Ontario Government to take steps to establish in Kingston a School of Practical Science.

(3). The committee recommended that this Council memorialize the Dominion Government to fix the standard for a barrel of salt, making it the legal weight of 5 bushels or 280 pounds, and that the weight be stamped on the barrel.

(4). That no action be taken with reference to the communication from the County Clerk of Frontenac recommending an amendment to the law so that County Councils should have an independent power to appoint an officer or officers to enforce or carry out the provisions of the Canada Temperance Act.

(5). That no action be taken with reference to the communication from the Canada Land Law Amendment Association, asking that the Provincial Government be petitioned to extend the Torrens Land Act to this county.

All of which is respectfully submitted.
JOHN LANG,
Chairman.

Mr. MOLONEY made some inquiries regarding the appointment of Mr. Nicholls as Game Inspector. He hadn't seen anything done by him yet, and if the office was one of emolument, the appointment should not be made.

Mr. KIDD also thought the same way.

Mr. FITZGERALD replied that it was Mr. Nicholl's duty to protect game from the inroads of persons who shot or trapped out of season.

Mr. KIDD was not aware that he had yet been instrumental in preserving any game. He had really done nothing, and it would be unwise to pay a person for doing nothing. He had himself eaten venison out of season.

Mr. FITZGERALD was not aware that there was anything wrong, or that game was being killed out of season.

The WARDEN suggested that the Game Inspector should be instructed to report annually to the Council.

MR. KIDD asked if the appointment was under the jurisdiction of the County Council. He thought those municipalities where game abounded were the proper authorities to move in the matter.

Mr. HICKS called attention to the fact that the name should be Garner Nicholls instead of Stephen Nicholls.

Mr. Kidd moved, seconded by Mr. Moloney, that the item appointing a Game Inspector be stuck out, and the report then adopted.—Carried.

SCHOOL MATTERS.

The Committee on Schools beg leave to report:—

Your committee recommend that the report of the County Judge, County School Inspector and Warden of 1886, appoint arbitrators to consider the complaint of Angus Davidson and others against the resolution of the Council of North Monaghan, be received as confirmed.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

THE COUNTY PRINTING.

The Committee on Printing beg leave to report:—

(1). That convictions by Police Magistrates be not hereafter published in any newspaper, but that all other convictions required by law to be published be printed by the Norwood Register at published tariff rates.

(2). That the printing of the assessment schedules be given to the Peterborough Times at the same price as paid last year, the paper for the schedules to be subject to the approval of the County Clerk and to be in quality equal to No. 2 book paper, the word municipality to be substituted for the word township in the first line of the schedules.

(3). That all the county printing be divided between the EXAMINER and Review in the same way and at the same rates for the work as last year.

(4). That the Clerk be instructed to procure each year 500 copies of the Public School Inspector's report and to forward to the Secretary-Treasurer of each school section in the county four copies of same for each such school section.

All of which is respectfully submitted.
R. C. STRICKLAND,
Chairman.

The report was adopted.

COUNTY PROPERTY.

The Committee on County Property beg leave to report:—

(1) Your committee recommend that the report of the County Engineer, as to alteration of the old gaol and Court House, be received and adopted.

(2) Your committee recommend that the Warden, the Reeve of Smith, and the Reeve of Ashburnham be continued a committee to complete the alterations of the Court House so as to provide offices for the Judge and Clerk of the Peace, according to the plans for that purpose by the County Engineer.

(3) Your committee recommend that the Warden and the Reeves of Smith and Ashburnham be a committee to fix up rooms for the turnkey at an expense of not more than $75.

All of which is respectfully submitted.
MICHAEL SANDERSON,
Chairman.

The report was adopted.

APPOINTMENTS TO OFFICE.

The Committee on Appointments to Office beg leave to report, recommending the following appointments for the current year:—

(1) That Thomas Parke be appointed trustee of the Norwood High School.

(2) That Messrs. Sanderson and Porter Preston be appointed members of the Board of Audit of Criminal and County Accounts.

(3) That John E. Belcher be appointed County Engineer.

(4) That Robert Kincaid, M.D., be appointed Jail Surgeon.

(5) That H. Nesbitt be appointed caretaker of the Court House and grounds.

(6) That W. B. Kelly be appointed caretaker of the Mud Lake bridge.

(7) That S. Nicholls be appointed Game Inspector for the county, at same salary as last year.

All of which is respectfully submitted.
JOSEPH FORSTER,
Chairman.

HELLO! BROWN,

"What are you looking so mad about, this morning?"

"Well, I'll tell you, Jones. I bought a very fine Tent from TURNER, and one of my friends wanted to borrow it."

"And did you lend it?"

"Well, I guess not. The last Tent I had got used up by lending. I told him to go to J. J. TURNER, the great Tent maker, and he would rent or sell him a tent."

"You did right, Brown."

"Good morning, Jones."

D. W. DUMBLE.

WHY

THE IRISH SECRETARY GREETED WITH CRIES OF "SHAME."

LONDON, Jan. 28.—Mr. Fry (Liberal) asked the Government in the House of Commons this afternoon what they had done to prevent the burning of the dwellings from which tenants had been evicted at Glenbeigh, Ireland. He also asked whether Gen. Buller had tried to obtain a concession on rent for the tenantry in Ireland. Sir Michael Hicks-Beach, Chief Secretary for Ireland, replied that Gen. Buller had not interfered until some seventy evictions had been executed, when he tried to influence the mortgagees toward greater leniency. The Government, Sir Michael said, had no legal right to go further than this. "There is," continued the Chief Secretary, "one real remedy and that is to remove these poor people from the poverty stricken districts."—[Cries of "shame," "shame" and "no," "no,"]—"with their own free will," went on the speaker—[Cries of "no," "no," "never," "shame,"]—"to some other place in Ireland." A great and prolonged uproar here ensued.

The Speaker interrupted the proceedings at this point and notified the members that cries like "shame" would be rigorously suppressed. Sir Michael Hicks-Beach then said, "All I wished to say was that the very poor people, living in poverty-stricken districts, should be removed to other parts of Ireland or elsewhere, where they could live in prosperity and comfort. [Conservative cheers]. If those who take an interest in this matter desire to promote such a settlement, I will be most delighted to give every aid in my power to any action they may combine on to bring it about."

William Redmond (Parnellite) asked: "Does the Government approve the actions of the authorities in burning the houses at Glenbeigh?"

Sir Michael Hicks-Beach: "It is not my business to express any opinion on that point." [Conservative cheers.]

Mr. Sanderson (Conservative) made a vigorous attack upon the Land League, which he said had manufactured the present crisis in Ireland. It ought to be crushed if Ireland was to be made contented and happy. The object of the plan of campaign was to overthrow the authority of the Crown. He believed the plan had more or less commended itself to Mr. Gladstone.

Mr. Gladstone shook his head in the negative.

Mr. Harrington (Nationalist) replying to Sanderson, contended that the plan of campaign was better than the pressure which Sir Michael Hicks Beach exercised for the same purpose.

Mr. Fry (Liberal) said he thought if Sir Michael Hicks-Beach was unable to give any opinion or suggest a remedy for the Glenbeigh affair he ought to follow Lord Randolph Churchill's example.

Sir Michael said he thought Mr. Fry's remarks unfair. The Government had in view proposals for the amelioration of the condition of Ireland. It was because he had concerned himself very much, even going beyond his ordinary duties to prevent the suffering alluded to, that he had been misrepresented and charged with supporting the plan of campaign. The plan of campaign, he continued, meant a combination to force landlords to accept what the tenants chose to offer (that sum to be further reduced next year), or leave the tenant in possession of the land rent free, and then raise a cry about the hardship of evictions for the purpose of deceiving the country. [Cries of "Oh, oh!" and cheers.] The Government was obliged to do its best with the tools in its hands, but with the difficult delays of the criminal law as it existed it had not sufficient power to cope with such a proceeding as the plan of campaign. The House then adjourned.

Affection Rather than Force.

LONDON, Jan. 29.—Gladstone has written a letter congratulating the Liverpool electors in their success in their "struggle against the personal and official influence of Mr. Goschen, the intervention of the Marquis of Hartington, and belief of our antagonists that we seek to sever the Union. On the contrary," says the letter, "we desire to convert the Union into one of cordial and perpetual affection instead of one of force."

THE MONTREAL CARNIVAL.

It is Attracting a Great Deal of Attention in New York.

NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—The Montreal carnival is receiving a great deal of attention from New Yorkers this year. Inquiries at the Canadian Club and elsewhere are very numerous. Mr. E. Wiman having been chosen Vice-President of the Carnival Committee, has shown his appreciation of the honor by an enormous distribution of programs, amounting in all to between eleven and twelve thousand, so that every house on Fifth, Lexington, Madison and Park avenues and the neighboring streets is supplied with an illuminated program and all the necessary particulars regarding lodgings, etc., for the carnival week at Montreal. Among the guests outside of New York who have determined to enjoy the festivities are Robt. Garrett of Baltimore, Geo. B. Roberts of the Pennsylvania Railway, R. G. Dun, and many others. Mrs. Cleveland has been specially invited to accompany Mr. Garrett's party in their private car from Baltimore, and seems very much inclined to accept.

At the Canadian Club last night the fortnightly entertainment consisted of a lecture by Joseph Lemoine of Quebec, whose subject was "The Heroines of Canada." There was a large attendance, and the lecture was greatly enjoyed. Mr. John Paton presided.

CANADA'S POSITION.

SHE WILL SUSTAIN HER POSITION ON THE FISHERY QUESTION.

NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—The Herald publishes what purports to be an interview with Sir John Macdonald on the fishery question. Referring to England's position in the case, he said "the English Government relies on its law officers in questions of this kind. The Lord Chancellor and the Attorney General give advice on points of law, international and otherwise. The whole subject is one of law, and the English law officers have sustained the position of Canada."

In reply to the question: "What would Canada do if the Retaliation measure came into effect?" Sir John said: "Yes, you are at liberty to say that Canada's position is fixed, regardless of what may be done in the United States." • • • If we concede the claims of the United States that her fishermen shall buy bait and obtain supplies, we give them an almost irreparable advantage over our fishermen. The Canadian fisheries are one of her great sources of wealth. We cannot afford to abandon them, and we never will."

The Case Before the Commons.

LONDON, Jan. 28.—The subject of dispute between the United States and Great Britain in regard to the Canadian fisheries was brought up in the House of Commons this afternoon. Sir James Fergusson, Parliamentary Secretary of the Foreign Office, in answer to enquiries, said the Government had been conferring with the Government of the United States on the question. The Canadian fisheries, he said, were very valuable, and the Government had followed a policy concerning them which had been adopted by preceding Governments and would maintain the rights of the colonists with every desire to conciliate the United States. The Government was unable at present to narrate the whole course of the negotiations with the United States, but could state that despatches had been received which were of a pacific character, and afforded material grounds for hope of a final settlement of the dispute.

Guarding the Fishing Grounds.

EASTPORT, Me., Jan. 28.—The winter school of herring has struck in on the American coast and about twenty-five English vessels are fishing on this shore. Meanwhile the cruiser Middleton is patrolling between here and St. Andrews, ready to seize any American fishermen that venture over the dead line.

Salisbury and Phelps Confer.

LONDON, Jan. 28.—Minister Phelps had an hour's conference with the Marquis of Salisbury to-day, at the Premier's request, to discuss the Canadian fisheries question. The conference was most cordial on both sides. Lord Salisbury expressed himself gratified at the general tone of the American press and people in the disputes and he assured Mr. Phelps that England and Canada were equally desirous of an amicable adjustment of the whole case.

THE TEUTON AND THE GAUL.

Germany to Call Out Seventy-Two Thousand Reserves at Once.

BERLIN, Jan. 28.—At a Court reception today the Emperor William informed the assembled officers that 72,000 men of the reserves would be called out immediately and be drilled in the use of the new repeating rifle. This announcement, taken in conjunction with the reported words of the Crown Prince Frederick William at the same reception, that the situation was still serious, renews the public alarm.

A French View.

PARIS, Jan. 28.—The commanders of the French forces on the frontier deny the rumors that Germany is making extensive war preparations.

Barrack for Barrack.

LONDON, Jan. 28.—Germany has made arrangements to at once erect barracks at various points along the French frontier, thus answering France; as the dispatch from Berlin giving the intelligence says, "with barrack for barrack."

It Does not Mean War.

BERLIN, Jan. 28.—With regard to summoning the reserves the Emperor William in his conversation with the army generals at the Court reception to-day said: "This action will produce loud rumors of war, but there will not be war. The reserves will be called out only to accustom them to the new weapons."

Bismarck's Deal with the Vatican.

BERLIN, Jan. 28.—The Frankfort Gazette has a despatch from Rome saying that the Vatican is surprised at the assertions of the organs of the Prussian Government relative to the attitude of the Pope. Prince Bismarck, the despatch says, promised the Pope the complete abrogation of the May laws in return for the Vatican's influencing the Centre party to vote for the septennate. To this proposition the Pope responded that he was unable to interfere, but that he had caused the leaders of the Catholics to know that he would be pleased if the members of the Centre found voting for the septennate consistent with their political duty.

The Bulgarian Question.

ST. PETERSBURG, Jan. 28.—The Novoe Vremya says Russia will abstain from offering any opinion as to the suitability of the Duke of Leuchtenberg as a candidate for the Bulgarian throne until she is convinced that the other Powers will approve of him. The Novoe Vremya further says the Duke of Leuchtenberg is as fully qualified to fill the vacancy as Prince Nicholas of Mingrelia.

Another Tragedy in Cleveland.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Jan. 28.—When Mrs. Calalek murdered her three children and suicided the newspapers published long accounts of the crime. Frank Roth, a Bohemian, read the report to his wife, two children and mother-in-law. He is a well-to-do mechanic and lived happily. His wife listened to the account of the murder and had her husband re-read it. On Thursday she sent her mother to a grocery for yeast and then took a heavy dose of "rough on rats," and forced a dose of poison down the throat of the baby. When the old lady returned she alarmed the neighborhood and doctors were called, but came too late. The woman died in great agony, and the babe expired soon after.

An Ottawa Libel Suit.

OTTAWA, Jan. 28.—James Johnson, editor of the Citizen, is charged with criminal libel by Charles E. George, city editor of the Free Press, on account of a letter which appeared in the former paper accusing George of writing a scurrilous letter about Canada in a Boston paper. The case will come up in the Police Court on Tuesday.

A Distinguished Visitor.

OTTAWA, Jan. 28.—Admiral Sir Edward Commerell, late Commander of the British North American Squadron, is here. He arrived from England by the last mail steamer, and will make a tour of this country.

THE STRIKE AT NEW YORK.

Several Ocean Steamers Get Away, but Others are Greatly Delayed.

NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—The big strike remained practically unchanged to-day. The Britannic, of the White Star Line, delayed thirty hours, completed coaling with the assistance of the crew this morning and started on her voyage to Liverpool. Much cargo was left behind. The steamer Helvetia arrived yesterday, but will not begin to discharge before to-morrow. The steamer State of Georgia, delayed twenty-five hours, sailed for Glasgow to-day. Of the Guion Line the steamship Wyoming is being unloaded by non-union men and will probably leave on time. The Cunard line steamship Gallia is being coaled by sailors. On the Inman line City of Chicago about 200 non-union men are at work and she will leave on time. Of the Anchor line the steamer Devonia is doing fairly well and will be able to get away on the first of the week. She should leave to-morrow. Numerous other steamers have been delayed on account of the strike.

Representatives of the strikers say that if the present move does not prove effective orders will be given for other workers to quit. Regarding the new men they say that as fast as these are set to work they are to be organized and brought over to the union. The 'longshoremen employed by the New York and New England Railway struck this morning. In Brooklyn the strike is still in full operation.

HOKE OF PEORIA.

The Extradition Warrant for His Removal Signed.

OTTAWA, Jan. 28.—The Minister of Justice this afternoon signed the warrant for the extradition of Hoke, the Peoria, Ill., defaulter, now lying in jail in Montreal. C. P. Davidson, Q.C., the prisoner's counsel, arrived in town to-day to urge the Government to withhold the issue of the warrants. The authorities, however, refused his application, with the result that Hoke will be extradited immediately. The embezzler is said to have defrauded the Peoria banks to the extent of $179,000.

The Champion Slugger Faints.

NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—John L. Sullivan, the pugilist, to-day visited a surgeon in this city for the purpose of having his broken arm examined. He found the fractured arm had not been set right. It was set with the palm down, when it should have been with the palm upward. The surgeon rebroke the arm and set it properly. He says the arm will be as perfect as ever. Sullivan fainted with pain.

The Week's Failures.

NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—The business failures reported for last week give a total of 271, of which the United States has 236 and Canada 35, compared with a total of 301 last week and 280 for the same week in 1886. In New York city and the New England States they are very light, the bulk of the failures being in the Western, Pacific and Southern States.

Music for Moroney.

DUBLIN, Jan. 28.—Bands of music and crowds of people assembled outside Kilmainham Jail this evening and serenaded the Nationalist, Moroney, who was imprisoned for refusing to testify in his bankruptcy case, arising out of the adoption of the plan of campaign.

They Struck Against the Sultan.

LONDON, Jan. 28.—News has been received of a revolution among the inhabitants of the Maldive Islands in the Indian Ocean. The Maldives became incensed at their Sultan because of his failure to remove certain grievances. They invaded the palace, deposed the Sultan and installed his nephew in his place.

Mr. O'Brien's Strong Language.

DUBLIN, Jan. 28.—Mr. O'Brien, in a speech referring to Mr. Chamberlain's condemnation of plan of campaign, said Mr. Chamberlain's life during the past year had been a lie, and that his turning against his friends made him equal to an assassin.

The Paris Curlers Victorious.

PARIS, Jan. 28.—At the final result of the double drawn, Paris was victorious by three shots above Woodstock and Brantford. Paris will represent the Tankard at Toronto.

The New Trotting Association.

DETROIT, Jan. 28.—The date of the meeting for the formation of a new trotting association has been fixed. It will be held in Detroit at the Russel House on March 1.

Disastrous Floods in Australia.

BRISBANE, Australia, Jan. 28.—Serious floods have occurred in Southern Queensland. Fifty-eight persons have been drowned and much damage done to property.

Cholera in Buenos Ayres.

BUENOS AYRES, Jan. 28.—During the last forty-eight hours there have been thirty new cases of cholera and eight deaths in this city.

Dominion Elections.

A Grand Rally of every working Liberal in Town is called for THIS EVENING, in the Liberal Club Rooms, to perfect organization for the coming Dominion Elections.

SATURDAY, JANUARY 29, 1887.

THE LIBERAL CANDIDATE.

The marvellous growth and development of the town of Peterborough, especially within the past decade, has been and still is the subject of great gratification, and pride to its citizens and a common theme of remark by outsiders. All over the Province of Ontario and at the great commercial centres of the other provinces Peterborough bears the reputation of being the most wide-awake, progressive and flourishing town in Canada. And we all know that her character corresponds in all respects with this reputation. Solidly, regularly and tastefully built, her residence and business streets have an air of thrifty cityhood, which few of the nominal cities of the province can boast, while the public buildings and manufacturing structures are such as to be a source of pride to the citizens and a credit to the town. With unequalled natural facilities for manufacturing purposes, energy and enterprise have done so much for their development that few places of the size of Peterborough, not exclusively manufacturing in their character, can equal her in this respect. The question naturally arises as to what the present position of the town of Peterborough is due.

The Conservatives will, of course, naturally answer that it is due to the influence of the "National Policy," but this solution falls short of the truth. To no influence is the progress and solid growth of the town so predominantly due as to the energy, enterprise and business foresight of Mr. George A. Cox, the candidate in the Liberal interest in the present Dominion election. Whatever may have been the adventitious aid supplied by a fiscal policy, the present condition and status of the town of Peterborough would never have been reached without his co-operation. We are all naturally and justifiably proud of such manufacturing establishments as the Auburn Woolen Mills, the Lock Works and the Stove Foundry, and it will be generally conceded that the flourishing condition and very existence of these is most largely due to Mr. Cox's active, co-operation and active identification with the establishment or promotion of these enterprises. He has always been ready with his capital influence and good-will—whatever project for the benefit of the town has been shown to be practicable and promising of permanent good results, has felt the influence of his active assistance. If the workmen in our many manufacturing establishments have steady employment at remunerative wages, they must not forget that they owe no small share of it to Mr. George A. Cox. There are few of our leading manufacturing establishments—especially those under corporate management, whose machinery does not receive a substantial impetus from his invested capital, and if his efforts had been backed by those who now are loudest in decrying him our condition as a manufacturing town, gratifying as it is, would would have been far in advance of what it is to-day. Those Conservatives who prate loudest of encouragement to manufactures, and who opposed so strongly and, unfortunately for the manufacturing interests of the town, so successfully, an enterprise asking the assistance of exemption, designed to establish a system of manufacturing establishments on Dickson's race, in which Mr. Cox was a leading spirit, have the guilty satisfaction of knowing that, but for their obstructive course, the banks of the river would have been lined with humming factories, busy hives of wealth-producing and population-increasing industries, like the few now doing so flourishing a business in that neighborhood, thanks again, in great measure, to Mr. Cox's capital and energy.

The first great impetus to progress came to Peterborough with the establishment of a regular railway service. Who was it but George A. Cox that laid his reviving hand upon a moribund railway, and in a few months, by the application of far-seeing intelligence and shrewd energy, give the town the inestimable blessing of regular and efficient railway communication? To his wise management was due the fact that a formerly isolated town of minor importance was provided with radiating railway lines, giving egress and ingress to commerce to and from four or five points of the compass? Mr. Cox made Peterborough the focal point of the trade of a large and fertile area of country. Here he established the headquarters of the Midland system, which led to a direct and large increase of our population and the distribution of tens of thousands of dollars monthly in our midst. Now, the establishment that reaped the largest share of advantage from the printing patronage of the Midland railway is leading the pack that is bounding down the former president of the Midland railway and doing its best to blacken his character, to belittle the benefits he has conferred upon Peterborough, and to attempt to prevent his serving the town and riding as wisely and loyally in a public capacity, as he has done in a private capacity. This very establishment, which now delights in condemning Mr. Cox's course for factious political objects, did not dare, at the time, utter one word in opposition to his course—it would not do to sacrifice paying printing contracts for the public interest.

As a private citizen and a business man Mr. Cox has been phenomenally successful. And the money he has made has been invested in a manner calculated, while benefitting himself, to benefit the town. He did not invest his money in bonds and mortgages, but in brick and mortar. No one man has erected half as many buildings in town as Mr. Cox. He had faith in the future of the town, and while his building operations involved an expenditure of hundreds of thousands of dollars for wages to workmen and for materials to dealers and producers, a wise and energetic encouragement of manufactures on his part became a natural complement to such a course. To Mr. Cox's example is due the co-operation of other citizens, which, combined with his own exertions, has made Peterborough the best built, handsomest, neatest and most go-ahead town in Canada. If our own citizens fail to see his predominating influence in this respect, outsiders are not so blind. Rival and jealous towns, in sneeringly applying what they may deem the slighting term of "Coxtown" to Peterborough, practically give utterance to the fact that to Mr. Cox its prominence and progress are mainly due. Wherever the name of Peterborough is spoken, and it is familiar in every great commercial centre in Canada, the name of Geo. A. Cox is associated with it—telling an impartial testimony to the lion's share he has had and still has in making the character of the town.

Now, Mr. Cox comes before the electors as a candidate for the representation of them in Parliament. That he is fitted for the position none can deny; that he will work willingly, earnestly and successfully for its best interests, his past record in developing, building up and booming the town is ample guarantee. This town owes Mr. Cox his election. It owes it to itself to place as guardian of its interests at Ottawa, the man who for the past quarter of a century has proved in a hundred ways its best friend. In point of ability, administrative executive and legislative—in point of financial ability and business foresight in point of loyalty to the interests of the town, he is the man for the position. He does not seek the position for his own ends. In entering upon this campaign he makes no inconsiderable sacrifice of business interests. If the people are wise, if they are grateful they will triumphantly elect him. If they withhold their support and confidence on this occasion it will afford poor encouragement to Mr. Cox to continue to persevere, as he has done in the past, in promoting the interests of Peterborough—if twenty-five years of loyal service are to be rejected with ingratitude—if the people say, as they practically will say, if they reject Mr. Cox—"You have done so much for us that we can now do without you." Mr. Cox has, we believe, been exposed to strong inducements to transfer his interests and influence to Toronto. This city in its greed, grasps at every good thing within its reach, and it is wide-awake enough to appreciate the importance of securing the influence, capital and business ability of a man like Mr. Cox by securing him as a citizen. They think that by securing Mr. Cox for Toronto, Peterborough as a commercial rival by no means to be despised, will be reduced to insignificance. But in this they will be disappointed. The people of Peterborough, we are sure, appreciate too highly Mr. Cox's value as a citizen to assist in sweeping from the town the immense influence for good of which George A. Cox is the representative and embodiment.

PROCLAMATION!

To the People of Peterborough and Surrounding Country.

I would hereby return thanks for the kind patronage and encouraging support shown to me in the past years; and I shall try my utmost to please the people, and to merit this support in the future. My business in Toronto has increased to such an extent, that I shall not be able to visit my outside customers so often as heretofore. My next visit will be at

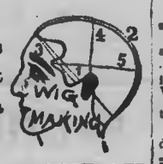
PHELAN'S HOTEL, PETERBOROUGH,

ON SATURDAY AND MONDAY,

FEBRUARY 5th and 7th,

where I shall be glad to see my old customers, and as many new ones as may require any of my goods.

For this season I have made up an extra fine line of Hair Goods,—a Stock that is far ahead of anything yet offered. I have added many new designs to my variety of Ladies' Bangs, Waves, Wigs, Front Pieces, &c. My Ladies' Switches, Gents' Wigs, Toupees, &c., cannot be equalled.



Every Gentlemen who is bald and lady who has straight grey or thin hair, should pay a visit to my Show Rooms at

PHELAN'S HOTEL, SATURDAY & MONDAY

FEBRUARY 5th AND 7th.

Don't miss THIS CHANCE, as it is the only one this SEASON.

TO DEPOSITORS—Deposits are received by this Company both on current account and for periods of one year or longer. The rate of interest paid on amounts deposited on current account and which may be withdrawn by check in such same as the depositor may from time to time require, is FOUR per cent., either paid or compounded half-yearly, and the rate on yearly deposits is FIVE per cent.

TO INVESTORS—The five and ten year FIVE PER CENT DEBENTURES of this Company which are issued in denominations of $100, $200, $400 and $1000 each, transferable by endorsement, with half-yearly interest Coupons attached, payable at the Head Office of the Company in Peterborough, or at any Branch of the Bank of Toronto in Canada, afford a safe and convenient mode of investment.

The funds of the Company being invested in first mortgages on Real Estate, no better security can be offered to depositors or debenture-holders, they having a first claim or mortgage on the whole Assets of the Company, the shareholders having the second. The annual statement shows that the amount so invested was over $800,000, and on the security of real estate at least double that value.

Peterborough School Teachers Remember a Departing Friend.

The following address and accompanying gift (a handsome parlor lamp) were recently forwarded Mrs. G. O. Fowler, Colborne, (nee Miss Matthews) who was for many years a teacher in the Central School here.

Dear Miss Matthews:—

We have, indeed, cause for regret, when we learn that you have decided to sever your associations with the Public Schools of the town of Peterborough, with which, for the past fourteen years, you have been connected.

Each succeeding day has proven to us more clearly your devotion to the work in which you have been so long and successfully engaged; your zeal in the cause of the "Education of the Young;" the appreciation of which cannot be better expressed than by mentioning the length of time you have been connected with our schools.

Of twenty-four teachers now in our schools, you have served the longest, which circumstance alone is a proof of your proficiency as a teacher.

We shall ever remember your courtesy and kindness towards us. And as a slight token of the esteem in which you are held by us, we ask of you to accept this parlor lamp, which, though not of great value in itself, we trust may be worthy of recalling to your memory pleasant recollections of your associations with us.

And although you have given up your profession of Public School teaching, we sincerely hope that in your new sphere of life, coming years hold naught but happiness for you.

Signed on behalf of the pupils and teachers of the Public Schools of the town of Peterborough,

WM. SMITH,	A. E. SCOTT,

Assessment System.

The following letter from A. M. Smith, Esq., of the firm of Smith & Keighley, of Toronto, regarding the prompt payment of a death claim by the Mutual Reserve Fund Life Association will interest the members of that Company in Canada:—

TORONTO, Jan. 10, 1887.

J. D. WELLS, Esq.,
General Manager,
Mutual Reserve Fund Life Ass.
Toronto.

DEAR SIR,—As one of the Executors of the late Francis Rush, I beg to acknowledge the receipt of the sum of three thousand dollars in full of claim under Certificate No. 41,192, issued by the Mutual Reserve Fund Life Association.

On behalf of the other Executors I desire to express their appreciation of the prompt manner in which your Company have paid this claim, being thirty days prior to its maturity.

I may also add that in the capacity of Executor to other estates I have had occasion to adjust similar claims, and I cheerfully bear testimony to the fact that in the settlement of this claim I have had less trouble and less delay than with any of the other companies I have been brought in contact with. Wishing you and your Association every success,

I am yours truly,
(Signed) A. M. SMITH.

In reference to the above claim I beg to state that the late Mr. Rush held originally alpolicy in the Mutual Reserve for $6,000. Owing to an article published by the Monetary Times, and written in the interests of competing companies, which one of their agents brought to the notice of Mr. Rush, he decided to lapse his insurance, and called at my office to give his reasons for so doing. After discussing the Monetary Times' article and pointing out to him the animus which prompted that journal in making attacks upon the Mutual Reserve, he decided to retain $3,000 of the $5,000 then in force. Soon afterwards Mr. Rush was taken ill and never recovered.

His estate has been deprived of the extra $2,000, for which I hold the Monetary Times are directly responsible.

Comment is unnecessary.

J. D. WELLS,
1d·1w General Manager.

Hymns at Hastings.

St. Mary's church, Hastings, says the Star, was the scene of an interesting ceremony on Wednesday forenoon, 19th inst., the occasion being the marriage of Mr. Jas. H. O'Neill, of Cobourg, to Miss Katie, daughter of Mr. T. Collins, Percy. The bridegroom was supported by Mr. J. B. McCall, barrister, of Cobourg, and Dr. C. Collins, brother of the bride, of Peterborough; the bridesmaids being Miss Mary O'Neill, sister of the groom, and Miss Ella Collins, sister of the bride. After the wedding ceremony was performed and the nuptial mass was celebrated by Father Quirk, the bridal party, accompanied by a number of guests, repaired to the residence of the bride's father, where a sumptuous dinner was prepared and partaken of. The bridal presents were both numerous and valuable, testifying to the popularity of the bride, who is a most estimable young lady, deserving the esteem in which she is held. The happy couple drove to Norwood in the afternoon, where they took the C. P. R. for Montreal.

Read This and Call.

The hair on the head is not intended alone for ornament, but to protect the scalp as well; but it often happens that the head becomes bald, which, of course, leaves the scalp exposed, which is very uncomfortable and unsightly besides. Everyone who becomes bald should procure an artificial covering of hair in order to protect the scalp from the severe weather and to improve their looks. Prof. Dorenwend's fine styles of Gents' Wigs and Toupees, Ladies' Bangs, Wigs, Waves, etc., are just the things required in such cases. It is impossible to detect any false look about his pieces when put on the head. Everyone should call and see the Professor, as he will not be here again this season. He will be at Phelan's hotel on Saturday and Monday, February 5th and 7th. 3w2-5d

Astonishing Success.

It is the duty of every person who has used Boschee's German Syrup to let its wonderful qualities be known to their friends in curing Consumption, severe Coughs, Croup, Asthma, Pneumonia, and in fact all throat and lung diseases. No person can use it without immediate relief. Three doses will relieve any case, and we consider it the duty of all Druggists to recommend it to the poor, dying consumptive, at least to try one bottle, as 80,000 dozen bottles were sold last year, and no one case where it failed was reported. Such a medicine as the German Syrup cannot be too widely known. Ask your druggist about it. sample bottles to try, only 10 cents. Regular size, 75 cents. Sold by all Druggists and dealers, in the United States and Canada. eodw

Napoleon the Great.

(there was only one great Napoleon) wished the word impossible banished from the dictionary. In many a case where leading physicians have pronounced a cure impossible, consumptives and victims of other fell diseases have been restored to health by using Dr. R. V. Pierce's "Golden Medical Discovery." Soothing and healing in its nature its power over scrofulous and pulmonary diseases is simply marvellous. Far more nutritive than cod liver oil, a powerful invigorating tonic and harmless as it is powerful. 6dw4

Struck with Lightning

Neatly describes the position of a hard or soft corn when Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor is applied. It does its work so quickly and without pain that it seems magical in action. Try it. Recollect the name—Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor. Sold by all Druggists and dealers everywhere. 6dw4

As if by Magic.

This is always the case when Polson's Nerviline is applied to any kind of pain; it is sure to disappear as if by magic. Stronger, more penetrating, and quicker in action than any other remedy in the world. Buy a bottle of nerviline to-day, and try its wonderful power of relieving pain of every description. Pain cannot stay where it is used. It is just the thing to have in the house to meet a sudden attack of illness. Only 25 cents a bottle. Sample bottle only 10 cents at any drug store. 6dw4

Threatened Danger.

In the fall of '84, Randall Miller, of Midland, N.S., was prostrated to his bed with an attack of incipient consumption. Cough remedies all failed. EGAN'S IMPERIAL TRUSS.
Read the following extract from a letter of a well-known citizen of St. Catharines,—hundreds like it:
ST. CATHARINES, Sept. 30th, 1885.
GENTLEMEN,—Being over 70 years of age, and over 30 years ruptured, I looked upon my case as hopeless, especially as I tried various appliances without success, among others, recently, two springless trusses made in New York State, costing me $36. Nothing would retain my Hernia. I have worn your truss over four months, night and day, with great satisfaction and comfort; even to bathe in it the rupture has never come down. It holds me perfectly secure under all circumstances. You may publish it for the benefit of other sufferers. Yours truly, CAPT. B. KING.
This new Spiral Spring Pad Truss has taken ten years to make it perfect; is guaranteed to hold the very worst case during the hardest work or severest strain. It will cure every child sure; and 80 out of every 100 of adults. Be warned—don't waste your money on useless appliances, but send stamp for our treatise; it contains full information, your neighbors' testimony, price list and questions for you to answer. Meeting To-night,

Mr. Geo. H. Marsh, the evangelist, who will conduct meetings here shortly, will speak at the meeting in the Y. M. C. A. hall to-night at 8 o'clock. All young men are invited.

The Brave Laddies.

It is generally conceded that the firemen earned their bread to-day. They toiled like Trojans, and a more grimy, weary, broken-up party of men than were the fire brigade at noon it would be difficult to muster. All were more or less bruised or burned. Mr. Tom Wilson got a cinder in his eye, a painful and dangerous mishap.

Bible Society.

The annual meeting of the Peterborough branch of the Bible Society will be held in the George street Methodist Church on Wednesday evening next, Feb. 2nd, at which Rev. Mr. Burton, of Toronto, will speak. A full attendance is requested.

The "Boot-Black Orator."

Two popular lectures will be given in the lecture room of the George street Church on Monday, Jan. 31st, and Tuesday, Feb. 1st, by Mr. John R. Clarke, of Detroit. His subjects are "The Rose, Shamrock and Thistle" and "Hits and Misses." Admission 15 cents. Chair taken at 8 o'clock. Proceeds in aid of Sunday School work.

Accident to a Skater.

This forenoon a young man named Fawcett, living about a mile below the locks, in Otonabee, while skating on the river fell and struck his head on the ice with such force as to render him insensible. After lying for a long time he was found and taken home. Dr. Kincaid was summoned, and gives it as his opinion that the young man will recover. He is suffering from concussion of the brain.

Slight Accident.

Friday afternoon Mr. Fred. Wesley, foreman in the Lindsay-Seldon furniture factory, met with an accident. He was reaching boards through an opening in the ceiling to an employee above, when the latter allowed one one to slip from his grasp. It struck Mr. Wesley, who was stooping to pick up another board, on the right shoulder, and glancing off, scraped the flesh of his arm and broke the middle finger of his right hand.

W. C. T. U.

The Woman's Christian Temperance Union will meet in the usual place next Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock, it having been found that a larger attendance can be secured for that hour. At this meeting fuller discussion will be given to the various phases of the work in connection with the establishment of a reading room for girls and a servants' directory, with a view of taking immediate and definite action. The subject is a most important one, as affecting the welfare and interests of a large number of girls, who, by virtue of their situation, are deprived of the enjoyment of pleasant home surroundings and of friendly and sympathetic interest in their welfare. It is urged that there be a large attendance on Monday afternoon.

A Rare Opportunity.

Prof. Dorenwend, the well known hair goods manufacturer, is coming with an entirely new stock, special styles of Ladies' Bangs, Waves, Wigs, Switches and other kinds of ladies' head dresses; also Gents' Wigs and Toupees of best and latest improved patterns. This will be the only visit to Peterborough this season. He will be at Phelan's hotel on Saturday and Monday, Feb. 5th and 7th, and every one who is bald or whose hair is thin or turning gray should call at his show rooms and try on one of the Professor's artistic headdresses, manufactured from the very best human hair. They are so perfectly natural looking that when placed on the head not the slightest falseness is perceptible. Be sure to call, as this is the only visit this season. 3w3-5d

Two Lives Narrowly Saved.

Wainright's Butcher Shop and Feint's Woollen Mill Burned—A Young Woman and a Baby Snatched From the Flames.

About 6.30 this morning Mr. R. Wainright's butcher shop on George street was noticed to be afire and an alarm was quickly rung. The building, a small, rough-cast one, was speedily enveloped in flames, and in a few minutes the rear apartment was a total wreck. The fire ladder were soon on hand, though, and the blaze squelched almost as quickly as it had sprung up. Very little of the contents of the building were saved. An insurance of $400 was placed on the building by the proprietor, Mr. William Yelland; on the contents there was no insurance. Mr. Wainright immediately leased the vacant store a few doors south of the old stand, next Mr. F. Mason's seed store, where his customers will find him ready for business.

About 9.30 the fire blazed out afresh, and the brigade was called out again. They soon extinguished it.

Faint's Woollen Mill.

Before the firemen had left Wainright's shop on George street for the last time, the alarm bell again pealed out its warning, and a great rush was made by the crowd for Ashburnham, where Mr. Faint's woollen mill, close to the bridge, was on fire. About a quarter to ten o'clock, Mrs. Faint, who lives just behind the factory, noticed a small blaze in the south-west corner of the building, and ran into the house to get a pail of water. On her return the place was a mass of fire. The alarm was given and all the employees escaped but one, Miss Annie Murphy, on the top flat, who on running to the stairway found her escape stopped by the dense volume of smoke and flame which rolled upwards. There being no other means of exit, she rushed to a window and, breaking out a single pane of glass, thrust her head through the aperture and

SCREAMED FRANTICALLY FOR HELP.

Her head was enveloped in the clouds of inky smoke which poured out on all sides, and at times only her cries could be heard. A ladder was quickly erected against the side of the building, up which Mr. R. B. Rogers sprang, and, after breaking away the sash, cutting himself severely in the act, dragged the half-fainting girl out into safety, amidst the plaudits of the crowd below. Meanwhile it had became known that a little child of Mr. Faint's had been left playing under the counter in the front part of the mill, and Mr. Faint bravely forced his way through fire and smoke to the little one, which he saved. His face was severely scorched. The fire brigade worked manfully, and soon two streams were playing on Messrs. Mowry's foundry opposite, which was in imminent danger of catching fire. Mr. J. J. Baguley's house, next the woolen mill, was saved by water and dripping blankets being applied to the roof and side continuously. In half an hour the factory, a three-storey lath and plaster building, was and all danger of further disaster was past. While it lasted, though, the heat was intense, the flames mounting with a roar of fury fifty feet into the air.

BURNED TO A WRECK,

Mr. Faint's loss will be overwhelming, as there was no insurance on either the building or contents, all of which was owned by him.

A Musical Evening.

The "Kist o' Whistles" Talks—Prof. Parker's Organ Recital—An Excellent Programme.

It is to be regretted that there was not a larger audience in St. Paul's Church last night to listen to as fine a musical programme as was ever rendered in Peterborough. Mr. J. S. Parker, the organist, had taken the utmost pains in preparing the programme, every number of which showed careful study and training. The absence of a few members of the choir did not in the least deteriorate from the magnificent choruses they rendered. Mr. J. B. Hutchins, who was down for a solo, did not appear, much to the disappointment of the audience.

At precisely a quarter after eight o'clock the grand organ pealed forth its voluptuous swells of sweetest melody, and the opening anthem by the choir, "O Praise God in His Holiness," was sung with perfect harmony. Mrs. Mein and Mr. Baguley took solo parts, while a quartette composed of Mrs. Mein, Miss L. Dixon, Miss Howden and Mr. Baguley lent additional effect to the anthem. After an organ solo by Prof. Parker, "Easter Offertoire," Mr. Manning charmed the audience with a recitative solo, "Comfort Ye," which was followed by Mr. A. Davis in a sacred solo "Judith." An artistically rendered overture on the organ by Miss Dugan preceded a recitative solo by Mrs. Mein. It was sung nicely and won for Mrs. Mein the highest encomiums. Another organ solo by Prof. Parker closed the first part of the programme.

A chorus, "I will call upon the Lord," by the choir, including a quartette by Miss Dugan, Miss Dawson, Mr. Manning and Mr. G. Dawson, prepared the way for an excellent organ solo by Mr. Parker. Miss Vair followed with a sacred solo, which was probably the most pleasing number on the programme. Miss Vair's singing was greatly admired by all. After another effectively executed organ solo by Prof. Parker, Mr. Greatrix rendered "Nazareth," a sacred solo, in fine voice. Mr. Parker's closing piece, "Le Italiana in Algeri," surpassed his previous efforts, and was a fitting termination to a musical programme of rare excellence, one which it has seldom been the good fortune of the people of Peterborough to have placed before them.

Mr. Parker played the accompaniments and all of his selections with a finish and delicacy of touch that at once proved him to be a master-hand. The organ recital, though probably not a brilliant success financially, was, as a musical event, the chef d'œuvre of the season.

Annie Bird's Benefit.

A Bumper House and Fine Entertainment Rob the Newsboy.

A house crowded to the doors, with standing room at a premium, greeted the little favorite Annie Bird last night in the great sensational protean drama entitled "Rob the Newsboy," in which this excellent little genius assumed no less than three distinct characters, namely, a newsboy, a German girl and a dude, all of which it is safe to say she portrayed with a degree of art and finish that was perfection itself, and in one so young cannot be called anything short of marvellous. This wonderful child gave evidence last night of the fact that she is without a doubt the greatest of living child actresses. She played each and every character assigned to her in so finished a manner as to put older and much more experienced heads in the background. All in all, it clearly showed that we have never seen her like before, and doubt if we ever shall again. Annie Bird has won a place in the hearts of Peterborough people that nothing can ever efface. The drama itself abounds in thrilling situations and is full of good comedy, and the audience is kept in the best of humor during the entire evening. Mr. Day as the "Fourth Ward Chicken" gave a life-like portrayal of a difficult part, and to say that this talented gentleman did it well, would be but mildly expressing what was the best piece of character acting seen here in some time. In fact he does nothing badly. Miss Willis as "Laura Adams" was very good, while Mr. Henderson as "Hans," the German saloon keeper, was exceptionally fine, and proved himself a comedian of the highest order. Mr. Summers as Vandry, Mr. Carr as Heywood and Mr. Howard as Dick, all gave excellent support. The court room scene in the second act was the funniest piece of stage portrayal ever witnessed here. The audience were fairly convulsed with laughter at the antics of Bob and the worry of the State's Attorney, while Mr. C. E. Mortimer, the business manager of the company, made his initial bow before a Peterborough audience, appearing as the judge, and played his role to perfection. Miss Day, as Sarah, gave a splendid rendition of the characters assigned her.

To-night the company will play Joaquin Miller's famous western drama, entitled "Carrots."

East Riding Campaign.

Friday evening Mr. John Lang, candidate for the East Riding, and Mr. Peter Ryan addressed the electors at the Town Hall, Douro. Mr. John Moloney, Reeve, occupied the chair, and stated that it was his intention to warmly support Mr. Lang, as, after careful study of our public affairs he had come to the conclusion that the government of Sir John Macdonald was a corrupt and extravagant one, and that they should be deprived of the power to further abuse their trust.

Church Chimes.

The subject of the evening sermon at St. Luke's to-morrow will be "The Church of England in its Relation to Dissent."

At the Charlotte street Methodist Church—in the morning Rev. F. H. Wallace, M. A., B.D., will preach on "The Sole Authority of the Bible as the Rule of Faith and Life." In the evening the service will be conducted by the Rev. I. Tovell.

Dominion Elections!

Polling Day: February 22nd.

A NEW CANDIDATE IN THE FIELD!

HIS PLATFORM:

Gentlemen,

I have no desire to tamper with the votes of that noble army of our citizens who freely exercise the Franchise on behalf of their favorite political leaders. But, in order to take a hand in the present political struggle for supremacy between Grit and Tory, I have decided to come out and offer such tempting

BRIBES TO THE ELECTORS

as cannot fail to place me at the head of the polls.

I would scorn, like all other candidates for parliamentary honors, to buy up votes, or do aught that might be construed as a violation of our Election laws. My object is a far more patriotic one, namely—that of making a CLEAN SWEEP of all my Winter Clothing and Tweeds before Election day.

Nor will the secrecy of the Ballot be infringed by asking, purchasers whether they will vote for LeBRUN, COX, or STEVENSON. No, not by a home rule scuttle full! But every elector is expected to attend this exciting Political-Winter-Clothing-Sale, and to hurrah for LeBRUN, so as to elect him by an overwhelming majority as the Workingman's Favourite Candidate.

D. W. DUMBLE.

WHY
Will people pay rent when houses and lots can be purchased on such easy terms as are offered by the undesigned. Come and inspect our work and see for yourselves how we construct our houses. Our chief aim and study is to build substantial, warm, frost and damp proof houses. I am offering good building lots, and will build solid brick houses, nine-inch walls, strapped and lathed, two stories, for less money than you can buy frame or veneered buildings. We cordially invite those who anticipate renting or buying to inspect our work and prove for themselves that our houses are not merely built to sell. Every house I've sold gives first-class satisfaction, and I am determined that every house I build shall be a standing testimony to honest building. FISHERY QUESTION.

ENGLAND WILL SUPPORT THE DOMINION IN ITS DISPUTE.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—While there is little immediate prospect of war with England over the fishery question, army officers located here with little else to do are discussing our offensive and defensive condition as if there were. It is generally agreed among experts that cities on the Canadian border—such as Detroit, for instance—would be the first to feel the supremacy of England's navy. England has 111 light gunboats. The fleet has for some time past been hovering in the vicinity of Bermuda. Since the commencement of the fishery imbroglio six light British gunboats have been ordered to New Brunswick. The entire fleet of 111 gunboats could navigate the St. Lawrence as far as Kingston. The canals built around the rapids in the St. Lawrence would enable the fleet to reach the lakes. All that the United States have to oppose them is the decrepit old gunboat Michigan. These facts are having their effect on Michigan members of Congress. They are pretty generally in favor of the United States Government building up a suitable navy with the least possible delay.

England to Co-operate with Canada.

OTTAWA, Jan. 29.—It is officially stated that the Government, in response to an appeal to the mother country, has just received assurances from the Imperial authorities that men-of-war will be despatched to the Maritime Provinces in the spring for the purpose of co-operating with Canadian cruisers in the enforcement of the fishery protective service. The promise of the English Government created great satisfaction in official circles, and indicates that American vessels will be more rigidly excluded from our waters during the next season than in the past. A cabinet minister, speaking on the subject, expressed himself as follows:

"I have come to the conclusion that American legislators having gone so far will never yield their consent to the appointment of a commission. Gloucester fishermen will not venture into our waters again in force, and next April will witness the first startling falling off in their trade. Two years hence the splendid Yankee fishing fleet will be a thing of the past. Let them resort to retaliation if they will, and the result will be that the game will work both ways. Portland, now a winter port of Canada, will decline, while Halifax, under the new order of things, will flourish. Civil war between the Eastern and Western States would follow the adoption of a retaliatory bill."

New York Wants Protection.

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—A large and enthusiastic meeting was held at the Produce Exchange this afternoon to discuss the urgent necessity of providing New York with proper harbor protection. Resolutions were adopted setting forth the need of defense and the danger of delay and urgently requesting Congress to authorize the expenditure of such sums as shall in the opinion of competent authority place the Harbor of New York and all other important seaports in a state of complete defense. The resolutions will be forwarded to Washington at once.

The Ohio Militia Warlike.

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 29.—Gov. Foraker received a letter to-day from Homer J. Lake, of Tiffin, Seneca County, asking authority to enroll at once the able-bodied men of Seneca County into a militia regiment, as a defence force in case of sudden emergency. It is also understood that Adjt.-Gen. Drum has requested the Adjutant-General to send him a detailed report of the strength and equipment of the Ohio militia.

London Newspaper Comment.

LONDON, Jan. 29.—Silence is still the rule in the English daily press on the fishery business, though the weekly papers allude to the Senate debates. The Spectator says the English Government cannot help supporting Canada. The same journal thinks it most unfortunate that American Senators should have made a compromise difficult by speeches really addressed to their constituents, but here understood to betray a deep latent ill-will. The Saturday Review heads its article "Senator Pogram," but cannot decide whether Mr. Ingalls or Mr. Frye better deserves the name. Questions are certain to be asked soon in Parliament concerning the matter.

THE MAID AND THE ANARCHIST.

Miss Van Zandt Still in Communication With Her Lover.

CHICAGO, Jan. 29.—Miss Van Zandt has not seen her imprisoned lover since the day she took out the license to wed him. She has not, however, relinquished him, and maintains communication with him almost as close and satisfactory as oral and visual intercourse. Every morning at 8 o'clock she summons a district messenger boy to her house and dispatches this messenger to the jail freighted with a basket of choice provender and a carefully sealed note. An hour later Spies calls the boy and returns the basket, now emptied save of soiled dishes and an answering missive. This morning the note was as big and square as an official communication and filled the double-sized envelope like a wad of editor's manuscript. What on earth so formidable a message could contain none can guess. If it was a mere billet d'amour it must certainly have exhausted all the idioms of the language in its protestations of devotion. The visiting crowd is still carefully culled by the jail officials, and a steady procession of curious personages, cranks and mysterious individuals are turned away.

A RIOT IN BELFAST.

MANY PERSONS REPORTED KILLED AND WOUNDED.

BELFAST, Jan. 29.—There was terrible rioting in the Peter's Hill, Cusack Hill and Shank Hill districts of this city on Saturday night. The trouble originated through soldiers belonging to the West Surrey Regiment insulting a number of Catholic civilians. The latter retaliated by stoning the soldiers, many of whom were injured. This was followed by wholesale arrests, over 100 persons being locked up. A constable engaged in this duty was seriously injured by the excited crowd. Finally the military pickets were called out and quiet was restored. This evening the rioting was renewed, and at this hour the police and mob are exchanging shots. Thirty persons are reported killed and a hundred more injured.

Altogether fifty rioters have been arrested. The trouble originated on Saturday night in a row between Protestants and Catholics. The arrival of the police incensed the mob and led to a free use of revolvers and stones. The police were compelled to fire for their own protection. The Mayor and the other authorities did their best to prevent a renewal of the riot to night, but without success. Only three persons were arrested to-night. The outbreak to-night was caused by the appearance of two constables who gave evidence before the Riots Investigation Commission. The constables were roughly handled and reinforcements had to be called out.

THE GERMAN ELECTIONS.

The Government Doing All it Can to Impede the Socialists.

BERLIN, Jan. 29.—The ballot scrutiny being now fixed for March 2 the Reichstag cannot meet before March 8. The preparations for the elections are proceeding very quietly, but on all sides with much activity. The Government is working chiefly along two lines—to impede the Socialist electoral propaganda and to influence the return of clerical candidates supporting the Septennate. Toward the latter object a new church bill will be laid before the Upper House of the Prussian Landtag on Feb. 14. The bill embodies a thorough revision of the May laws, including the right of residence of religious orders; recognizes the Vatican's interpretation of the Ansegnpflicht, and practically renounces during a stated period (reported to be ten years) all rights of the state to approve the appointments to clerical vacancies except in Polish districts. The Germania considers that the modifications agreed to by the Government do not amount to a complete revision of the May Laws, but that in the meantime they will satisfy the Vatican and gratify Catholics.

The repression of Socialists extends to the suppression of electoral meetings, the arrest of leading members of local committees and the seizure of manifestoes if the police consider the appeals a breach of the law. At Dantzic on Thursday twelve Socialists were arrested. The police made the usual charge that the prisoners were members of a secret society. But, notwithstanding the efforts of the police, the Socialist candidatures are progressing.

The Progressist prospects are rather doubtful. Since the Dantzic Progressists declared in favor of the Septennate, other districts including Konigsberg and Sonderhausen, have decided to elect only candidates who will vote for the Military Bill in its entirety. At Friedberg and Arnswalde a Progressionist has been nominated who promised to vote for the Septennate.

EVICTIONS IN IRELAND.

The Sheriff, Bailiffs and Police Leave Glenbeigh.

DUBLIN, Jan. 29.—The sheriffs, bailiffs and police have left Glenbeigh. The mother of Clifford Lloyd, who was a special magistrate in Ireland during Earl Spencer's administration as Lord-Lieutenant, and who was particularly severe in his enforcement of the laws against the tenantry, has written a letter sympathising with the persons who have been evicted at Glenbeigh.

DUBLIN, Jan. 30.—Mr. McNulty and other farmers on the Defreyne estate at Frenchpark, Roscommon, have been committed to await trial for conspiring to collect rents by means of the "Plan of Campaign."

Victories for Tenants.

LONDON, Jan. 29.—Lord Dunsandle some time ago offered his Galway tenants a reduction of 15 per cent. in rents. They demanded a 30 per cent reduction, and when this was refused adopted the plan of campaign. Lord Dunsandle now agrees to reduce rents 25 per cent. and to reinstate evicted tenants. There is great rejoicing among the tenantry over their victory.

A crowd at Lisalaton, Cork, to-day barricaded the house of a widow named Scanlan against the bailiffs who had come to evict her, and threatened the bailiffs and their escort of forty policemen with scythes, pitchforks and scalding water. The force was withdrawn in order to prevent a conflict.

PARNELL'S ILLNESS.

It Was Much More Serious Than Has Been Supposed.

LONDON, Jan. 25.—The Irish cause has had a more narrow escape from the loss of Mr Parnell's services than anyone at the time suspected. With characteristic pride and reserve Mr. Parnell kept back from everyone, even his nearest colleagues, the seriousness of his late illness. The facts have only just come to light. Now he is out it can be seen how terribly he has been reduced by his recent struggle with death. His pale, worn face and thin neck, and the reduction of another four-teen pounds in his weight, show how fearfully he suffered. For seven consecutive days he was absolutely unable to take or retain admixtured food in any form. Another week at this rate would have seen him in his grave. This is the more curious, as Mr. Parnell was most abstemious at the table. His illness was the result of the irregular hours and severe strain of Parliamentary life. For three months he has not tasted butcher's meat. He is confined strictly to fish and game. His recovery must in any case be slow, and it is liable to be impeded by his duties in the House of Commons.

London Stock and Money Market.

LONDON, Jan. 30.—Discount was quiet during the past week at 3 to 2. The Stock Exchange rate until next account is 4¼. On the Stock Exchange during the week business fluctuated under the influence of various reports concerning the situation on the continent. At the opening of the week there was a semi-panic, afterwards a partial recovery, and yesterday renewed the depression. Throughout the week sales on French and German account were very heavy. American railway securities were adversely affected by the quantities of stock thrown upon the market from Berlin and Paris. The steady absorptions here and the buying on New York account checked the severity of the fall.

NOTICE TO ADVERTISERS.
Advertisers in the DAILY EXAMINER are requested to hand in their changes by 6 o'clock p.m. for the next day's paper. This will save disappointment, as it is impossible to make so many changes as are sometimes sent in on one day.

THE WAR SCARE IN EUROPE.

The Calling Out of the German Reserves Still an Alarming Feature.

BERLIN, Jan. 29.—The statements of the official press that the calling out of the reserves does not imply war has failed to reassure the general public, while both on the Bourse and in military circles the measure is interpreted as part of campaign preparations. The Bourse to-day was the flattest since Monday's scare and the feeling of alarm approached a semi-panic toward the close after the receipt of bad advices from Paris and Vienna. On the Vienna Bourse there was intense depression, partly arising from several failures announced yesterday. One speculator committed suicide in front of the Rathhaus.

The Mulhausen papers announce the purchase of large school buildings at Zillisheim, near Colmar, for barracks for the German troops. Reinforcements have arrived at Diedan, Hagenau and other frontier posts. An Alsace journal reports that the French are building wooden barracks at Gerardmer to accommodate 2000 men, and at Cuncieux for 3000 more, and that at other places in the Vosges smaller barracks are being erected. The garrisons at Epinal, Bruyeres and Saint Wie have each been reinforced with 5000 troops. The National Zeitung says it sees that France is preparing for immediate war. The Germans need not discuss the truth of the assertions that France is only defending herself against possible assaults.

POLITICAL AFFAIRS IN ENGLAND.

The Irish Amendment to the Address Will Raise the Question of Home Rule.

LONDON, Jan. 29.—The Irish amendment to the address in reply to the Queen's speech will be produced either on Monday or Tuesday, as opportunity may offer. It will definitely raise the question of Home Rule, placing it before the land issues as more important and urgent. The Government wish to avoid being drawn into a discussion on Home Rule at this early stage of the debate, but the Nationalists are resolved the subject shall be at once as thoroughly ventilated as the rules of the House of Commons permit. The Tory Unionist program is to take the land question first and defer discussion of Home Rule until the procedure amendments or Irish gag law are passed.

THE NEW YORK STRIKE.

A Probability That Matters Will be Complicated by a Street Car Tie-up.

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—There seems to be a strong probability that within the next twenty-four hours the strike situation in this vicinity will be complicated by the tying up of the surface cars.

It is estimated that the loss entailed by the great strike thus far will foot up over $4,000,000.

A Little Girl Commits Suicide.

ST. THOMAS, Jan. 29.—A Port Burwell correspondent reports that a young orphan girl, aged 12 years, brought out to this country by Miss Rye, and who has lived in the family of Mr. David Flanders of Townsend for three years, died suddenly yesterday morning, with well marked symptoms of strychnine poison. It is said the girl threatened to poison herself before, but the family paid little attention to the remark. It is supposed that she secured the drug from a small parcel kept for poisoning rats. Coroner Rose deemed an inquest unnecessary on hearing the facts of the case.

HOME AND FOREIGN.

Jas. Gordon Bennett's steam yacht Namouna has arrived at Suez.

The crop expectations of South Australia will not be realized.

Gladstone spent yesterday with the Prince of Wales at Sandringham.

A branch of the Irish Land League has been formed at Barnia.

William Crawford of Montreal, for shooting at his wife with intent to kill, has been committed to jail for ten days.

Charles Poore, aged 18, of Troy, Westworth County, has been committed to the Central Prison for two months for theft.

The Pall Mall Gazette asserts that the Liberals are urging Mr. Gladstone to abandon all concessions to the Liberal-Unionists.

Lord Algernon Percy, Conservative member of Parliament for St. George, London, is willing to retire in favor of Mr. Goschen.

The steam mill of the Vancoboro Woodenware Company, Vancoboro, Me., was burned on Saturday night; loss $40,000.

John Roach, the New York ship-builder, lately deceased, bequeathed to his sons all the property he died possessed of.

J. G. Winston and Richard Buckner, prominent citizens of McMonott, Ark., quarrelled on Saturday, and Buckner fatally shot Winston.

A despatch from Pekin confirms the statement that Capt. Hamilton has been evacuated by Great Britain and restored to Corea.

Lord Colin Campbell's library will be sold at Edinburgh this week. The divorce suit cost him $13,500 and promises to land him in the bankruptcy court.

The contract for the construction of the Cape Breton Railway has been awarded to Messrs. Sing & Slater of Ottawa. The central route has been adhered to.

A frame house, owned and occupied by Miss E. McClone, near the Welland Canal at Port Dalhousie, was completely destroyed by fire on Thursday night.

The shaft of the tunnel under the river at Sarnia has been sunk to a depth of eighty feet and the work of excavating toward the centre of the river is going on.

The Princess Augusta Victoria, wife of Prince William, the eldest son of the Crown Prince, gave birth to a son Saturday at Potsdam, Prussia.

Middlesex County Council is having a bylaw prepared providing for the payment of License Commissioners in East, West, and North Middlesex to enforce the Canada Temperance Act.

The railway track of the Northern and Northwestern Colinadar extension, which has been blocked with snow and ice for the past few days, is again clear and trains are running on time.

Two new townships, comprising some of the richest agricultural lands in the Province of Quebec, have been added to the surveyed portion of Ottawa County by the recently completed survey of the Lievre district.

Joseph Stringer, while working in the woods at Quinn, near Pletcher, was killed Friday by a falling tree. He was pinned to the earth by limbs across his head and legs. He lived eight hours after in great pain, but never spoke.

An action of damages brought against the Grand Trunk Railway by one Joseph Sauve of Montreal, for injuries received on the line, was dismissed Friday morning by Justice Loranger, on the ground that he should have heeded the danger signal of the flagman.

Dr. Junker and Dr. Schweinfurth, the African explorers, though at first opposed to Stanley's views, now agree with him that the Congo route is the best one to take to reach Emin Bey.

A fire broke out Saturday afternoon on the Cromwell Line pier, No. 2, North River, and in less than half an hour the whole structure and its contents were destroyed; damage stated to be about $80,000.

The French Chamber of Deputies on Saturday adopted the first clause of the public worship budget. The rejection of this clause would have been tantamount to the suppression of the whole of the public worship estimates.

The Cork Municipal Council has, on motion of Mr. Aitkin, adopted a resolution declaring that instead of the Irish people subscribing to the Queen's jubilee it would be more fitting for the Prince of Wales to send relief to the Irish people in distress.

LIBERALS,

RALLY

To-Night!

Dominion Elections.

A Grand Rally of every working Liberal in Town is called for THIS EVENING, in the Liberal Club Rooms, to perfect organization for the coming Dominion Elections.

The Daily Examiner.

MONDAY, JANUARY 31, 1887.

THE OPERA HOUSE MEETING.

It is well that the public should bear in mind the political meeting to be held in the Opera House on Wednesday evening. The Opera House should be filled on the occasion, for the electors will have an opportunity of hearing Mr. Geo. A. Cox, the Liberal candidate, state his platform and discuss the political questions of the day. He will doubtless take the opportunity of placing himself right on several questions upon which the unfair and underhand tactics of his opponents have placed him in the wrong. The addresses of Mr. John Bertram and Mr. Wm. Patterson, of South Brant, will also be of interest as amplifying the discussion of general political questions. It is important that the electors hear these addresses, for the opponents of Mr. Cox and good government have narrowed down discussion into petty personal and sectional issues, with the object of shirking the main issues before the people at this time. It is hoped that there will be a large attendance. All the addresses will be worthy of careful hearing.

PROMISE AND PERFORMANCE.

The Montreal Herald thus pointedly presents the chief features of the folly of relying on Sir John's political promises.

Trust me in power yet once again, said Sir John, and I will make many reforms.

P—The North-West shall be peacefully governed and thousands of settlers and millions of English capital shall come in.

F—Another rebellion, 200 lives lost, $5,000,000 wasted, few emigrants and English capital looked up at mere mention of it.

P—And the national debt shall be reduced.

F—It has increased by over $160,000,000.

P—And there shall be no more deficit.

F—Eight millions in two years.

P—And the annual expenditure shall be decreased.

F—It has increased from $23,000,000 to $39,000,000, and no one knows how much more for the current year.

P—And the cost of the Civil Government shall be less.

F—It has gone from $823,369 to $1,139,495.

P—And the amount of departmental salaries shall decrease.

F—They went from $665,000 to $922,000.

P—And the cost of public printing shall be smaller.

F—It increased from $17,406 to $244,505.

P—And the provinces will be firmly knit together in contentment and prosperity.

F—Prince Edward Island is appealing to the throne for justice. Nova Scotia is threatening to secede. Ontario has carried case after case against Sir John to the Privy Council. Quebec has been threatened with re-conquest by Sir John's official organ, and even the meek and docile Norquay has uttered threats of secession. If there is a Dominion left to us to-day it is not Sir John that is to be thanked for it.

FACTS ABOUT THE PUBLIC DEBT.

The gross debt of Canada is $281,000,000.

The net debt is $220,000,000.

This is over $1,000,000 for every constituency.

$2,000,000 for the average Ontario county.

$300 for every family.

$50 for every man, woman and child.

It has increased $75 a minute under Tory rule.

If piled up in silver 35 trains of 20 cars each would be needed to carry it away.

It would pave a highway for 105 miles with dollar bills.

It would take seven years' wheat crops of all Canada to pay it.

If used to purchase wheat at $1 a bushel 24,000 trains of 20 cars each would be required to haul away the wheat.

If the wheat were loaded in waggons placed in line as on a road the line would encircle the earth at the equator and lap over.

The annual interest is $21 a minute.

MIRACLES.

SERMON BY LAYMAN.

(Written for The Examiner.)

There seems to be a great misconception and misapplication of the word "miracle." Applied to human reason it means something beyond human understanding. In that sense it becomes miraculous and is or may be called a miracle. The magician, in his wonderful feats, performs stranger things and, for the time being, his doings appear to be miraculous. That is, things are beyond human reach. His powers are only finite and they soon pass away. He serves his purpose by simply imposing upon the ignorance and credulity of his spectators and they pay their money to be deceived. No good ever has or ever can come from his most successful labours. People look on and are amused and wonder. Being human they know he is but deceiving them and there it all ends. But it is a mistake to apply the word "miracle" to the supernatural powers of our Lord. He was the God man, endowed with infinite power from On High, and in performing what He did while upon the earth He did so, not to excite wonder and admiration, but to do good and to help the unfortunate. These acts formed part of His ministry among men. They showed Omnipotent power and the people looked upon and received them as coming from Infinite Power. When Christ restored sight to the blind and raised the dead to life again it was not for the purpose of surprising the people, but it was because, in His great kindness, it pleased Him to do so. He felt that these were proper objects of His compassion and mercy. It is true that the people looked on these manifestations of divine power with astonishment and awe, but they were not done to excite astonishment. To suppose that what Christ thus did was done simply as a demonstration of His own powers, and done to excite the wonder and astonishment of the people, would be a libel upon His character and an insult upon the Father who sent Him. His mission upon earth was for a high purpose. He came in poverty, but he also came as the messenger of the Creator of the universe. He came to save the world. And it was no part of His ministry to perform acts of divine grace merely to excite wonder or to create belief in a work preordained for thousands of years before, a work foreshadowed by ancient prophecies, and which was to bring about a new order of things and a new dispensation, and a new art in the enlightenment and Christian progress of mankind. And thus whatever Christ did was but the result of His heavenly mission, although the people looked on and called it miraculous. As well might it be said that the birth of the Saviour was a miracle. Or that the existence of the visible planetary system is a miracle. Or that the growth of a flower or of a blade of grass is a miracle. Or that the existence of man and his wonderful construction is a miracle. They may be incomprehensible to finite beings here below, but they are not miracles and were not intended as miracles. They are all in the order of God's Providence and were foreordained before the world was made. People may call Christ's resurrection a miracle, because they cannot understand it. But it was part of God's law from the beginning and was foretold by the prophets thousands of years before. And all the priestly sacrifices typified the birth and death and resurrection of the Lord. Because an act is incomprehensible it is not a miracle. Every day of our lives we see things which we do not understand, but they are not miracles. Everything around us may be full of wonders to us, and they may be past finding out, but this does not make them miracles. Who can explain the composition of the sun or the planets or the stars, or even of the earth upon which we live. And yet they are not miracles. Who can tell the cause of earthquakes, and who can tell whence comes the wind or whither it goes. And yet they are not miracles. Their mysteries belong to the Infinite and He alone understands their origin or their existence or their purposes. And we must be content with knowing that God is the Author of all and that every thing has been ordered for our good. But we should not call them miracles. Christ did not come upon the earth to do strange things or to work upon the fears or the imaginations of the people. He came to save sinners. His mission was a holy mission and all He said and all He did were said and done in the order of God's providence and said or done in the fulfillment of His mission as the Lord and Saviour and to carry out the purposes and objects of His ministry. And if the people were surprised at them that did not make them miracles. His whole life on earth was full of wonder to those who did not believe, but to those who did believe they were simply manifestations of divine power and goodness. Just think of the great Supreme Being, the Creator of the universe, having recourse to the performance of miracles for the purpose of surprising and influencing the people of this little planet, the work of His own hands. The Saviour did not come into the world for any such undignified purpose. He came, as foretold thousands of years before, not to impose upon popular credulity, but to save sinners, and all He did while on earth was in furtherance of His own great mission, to teach people to help and to love one another, giving His own life as an example, and to teach them goodness and mercy. I not long ago heard a preacher say that Christ would be nothing without miracles. He did not undertake to prove his assertion, because he could not do so. His statement, however, in effect, involves this further statement that Christ was not the Son of God, else if He were, there would have been no necessity for miracles. In the sense of this preacher Christ's mission on earth would have been a failure if it were not for His performance of miracles. In other words his presence on earth was an accident, and was not fore-ordained, and was not to carry out the long previous law of God when He created man; and that all the types and symbols of His coming for thousands of years before were delusions. For, if Christ really was the Son of God, as He was and really possessed Supreme power, as He did possess it, and if He was God over all, what necessity was there for His exhibition of supernatural powers, merely for the purpose of influencing the thoughts and notions of poor, helpless man whom He had come to save. To attribute to Him any such purpose as that would involve a contradiction so great as to change the nature of Christ and to prevent the great objects and aims of His mission. God's dealings with man previous to the coming of His Son were not intended to exhibit miraculous powers. He was their Creator and the Great Supreme Rector of the Universe, and if the people of these times had refused to acknowledge His existence and His power, unless through the exercise of miraculous means, they would have looked for such in vain. And so with His Son and our Saviour. He was God man on earth, and He came to fulfil the previous law of His Father, viz.: to grant repentance and pardon and to become the sacrifice for man's sins, so that man might, through believing in His divinity and through repentance, be saved. No better proof can be required as to the mistaken belief in the performance of miracles as such by Christ than His birth and life while on earth. He was born of humble parents and was born in a manger, and His whole life and ministry showed the absence of all display and the absence of all desire to excite wonder and admiration. And as the poor and lowly he bestowed His especial care and attention. He came not as a king, but as a friend and Saviour, and He never exercised His supernatural powers, except for the purpose only of doing good. He healed the sick and restored sight to the blind, and life to the dead, but He did so from feelings of compassion and pity alone.

She looked round and saw a gentleman crossing the bridge. He asked the way to Brightwater cottage.

There was something in his voice that attracted her—how or why, at her age, she never thought of inquiring. Eager and excited, she ran across the lawn which lay between her and the brook before she answered the question.

The gentleman approached her and suddenly stood still. Kitty said: "This is the cottage, sir; do you want to see mamma?"

The last words fell faintly from her lips; she hardly knew whether she was frightened or surprised. There the stranger stood with his eyes fixed on her, thinner and paler, and not looking happy—and yet like, oh, so like her lost father!

His sorrowful eyes rested kindly on her. The child ventured to say: "Do you know me sir?"

He answered in the saddest voice that Kitty ever heard: "My little girl, what makes you think I know you?"

She was at a loss how to reply, fearing to distress him. She could only say: "You are so like my poor papa."

He shook and shuddered, as if she had said something to frighten him. He took her hand. On that hot day his fingers felt as cold as if it had been winter time. He led her back to the seat she had left. "I'm tired, my dear," he said. "Shall we sit down?" It was surely true that he was tired! He seemed hardly able to lift one foot after the other; Kitty pitied him. "I think you must be ill," she said, as they took their places, side by side, on the bench.

"No; not ill. Only weary, and perhaps a little afraid of frightening you." He kept her hand in his hand, and patted it from time to time. "My dear, why did you say 'poor papa' when you spoke of your father just now?"

"My father is dead, sir."

He turned his face away from her, and pressed both hands on his breast, as if he felt some dreadful pain there and was trying to hide it. But he mastered the pain; and he said a strange thing to her—very gently, but still it was strange. He wished to know who had told her that her father was dead.

"Grandmamma told me."

"Do you remember what grandmamma said?"

"Yes—she told me papa was drowned at sea."

He said something to himself, and said it twice over. "Not her mother! Thank God, not her mother!" What did he mean?

Kitty looked and looked at him, and wondered and wondered. He put his arm round her. "Come near to me," he said. "Don't be afraid of me, my dear." She moved nearer, and showed him that she was not afraid. The poor man seemed hardly to understand her. His eyes grew dim; he sighed like a person in distress; he said: "Your father would have kissed you, little one, if he had been alive. You say I am like your father. May I kiss you?"

She put her hands on his shoulder, and lifted her face to him. In the instant when he kissed her the child knew him. Her heart beat suddenly with an overpowering delight; she started back from his embrace. "That's how papa used to kiss me!" she cried. "Oh! you are papa! Not drowned; not drowned!" She flung her arms round his neck and held him as if she would never let go again. "Dear papa! Poor, lost papa!" His tears fell on her face; he sobbed over her. "My sweet darling! My own little Kitty!"

The hysterical passion that had overcome her father filled her with piteous surprise. How strange, how dreadful, that he should cry—that he should be so sorry when she was so glad! She took her little handkerchief out of the pocket of her pinafore and dried his eyes. "Are you thinking of the cruel sea, papa? No! the good sea, the kind, bright, beautiful sea that has given you back to me and to mamma——!"

They had forgotten her mother! and Kitty only discovered it now. She caught at one of her father's hands hanging helpless at his side. With sparkling eyes, with flushed cheeks, she pulled at his hand as if her little strength could force him to his feet. "Come," she cried, "and make mamma as happy as I am!"

He hesitated. She sprang on his knee; she pressed her cheek against his cheek with the caressing tenderness familiar to him in the first happy days when she was an infant. "Oh, papa, are you going to be unkind to me for the first time in your life?"

His momentary resistance was at an end. He was as weak in her hands now as if he had been the child and she had been the man.

Laughing and singing and dancing round him, Kitty led the way to the window of the room that opened on the garden. Some one had closed it on the inner side. She tapped impatiently on the glass. Her mother heard the tapping; her mother came to the window.

And they saw each other again! Since the miserable time when they had left Mount Morven, since the long, unnatural separation of the parents and the child, these three were together once more!

AFTER THE STORY.

1.—The Lawyer's Apology.

That a woman of my wife's mature years should be jealous of one of the most exemplary husbands that the records of matrimony can produce is, to say the least of it, a discouraging circumstance. A man forgets that virtue is its own reward, and asks what is the use of conjugal fidelity.

However, the motto of married life is (or ought to be): Peace at any price. I have been this day relieved from the condition of secrecy that has been imposed on me. You insisted on an explanation some time since. Here it is at last.

For the ten thousandth time, my dear, in our joint lives you are again right. That letter, marked private, which I received at the domestic tea-table, was what you mostly declared it to be, a letter from a fair—a charming lady—plunged in the deepest perplexity. We had been well known to each other for many years as lawyer and client. She wanted advice on this occasion also, and wanted it in the strictest confidence. Was it consistent with my professional duty to show her letter to my wife? Mrs Sarrazin says yes. Mrs. Sarrazin's husband says no.

Let me add that the lady was a person of unblemished reputation, and that she was placed in a false position through no fault of her own. In plain English, she was divorced. Ah, my dear (to speak the strong language of the people), do you smell a rat?

(To be Continued.)

If anything clogs the waste-pipes in the house we become alarmed, for sewer-gas is apt to generate disease. The children, then, are removed to their grand parents' or kept out of doors as much as possible, until the pedest is remedied. But the waste-pipes of the human system are often allowed to clog, and the sufferer, who cannot get away from the pois on, becomes unfit for work or pleasure. In such cases Dr. Pierce's "Pleasant Purgative Pellets" will gently remove the cause, and the effect will vanish of itself. By druggists. 6dw5

The Raw Cutting Winds

Of winter bring to the surface every latent pain. It is one of the strange things associated with our physical well being that the very air, without which we could not exist, is heavily laden with germs of disease. Rheumatism, neuralgia, lumbago, and other complaints of a similar character hold revel at this season of the year amongst human nerves and human muscles. There was a time when fortitude alone could make life tolerable, but now with the advent of powerful, penetrating and nerve soothing remedies pain becomes a thing of the moment. The best, the most powerful and most certain pain cure is Polson's Nerviline. Nothing equals Nerviline for penetrating power. Nervi ine is beyond comparison the grandest discovery for the relief of pain offered to the public. Druggists sell a ample bottle for 10 cents; large bottles only 25 cents at any drug store. 6dw5

Safe, Sure, and Painless.

What a world of meaning this statement embodies. Just what you are looking for, is it not? Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor—the great sure-pop corn cure—acts in this way. It makes no sore spots; safe acts speedy and with certainty; surely and mildly, without inflaming the parts; painless. Do not be imposed upon by immotations or substitutes. 6dw5

Joyful News.

It is certainly glad tidings to the poor invalid to be informed of a remedy that will give prompt and sure relief in case of painful suffering. Such a remedy is Hagyard's Yellow Oil adapted for internal and external use in all aches, pains, lameness and soreness It cures rheumatism, neuralgia, sore throat, croup and all inflammatory pains. 2w5d

Gross Life Business for 1886, - - - $3,540,000.

EXTRACT FROM MONTREAL WITNESS, DATED DECEMBER 31st, 1886:—

THE LATE MR. McLACHLAN.
AN INSURANCE COMPANY' PROMPT SETTLEMENT.
We have been asked by Mr. McLachlan to publish the following, and do so in view of the exceptional public interest taken in the case mentioned:—
To R. Macaulay, Esq., Managing Director of the Sun Life Assurance Company:—
DEAR SIR,—I have much pleasure in acknowledging the payment by you of $17,130.70, being the amount due under the policies held by your Company on the life of my brother, the late John S. McLachlan. A company's character is tested when an opportunity arises in which it has the power to take advantage of a technicality or inability (as in the present case) to comply with every condition and requirement, so as to occasion delay and expense, and perhaps finally defeat a just and honest claim. There is no doubt in the mind of any reasonable man that my brother and Mr. Sumner were unhappily drowned, and the affidavit produced abundantly support this; but although a careful search has been made, the bodies may never be recovered owing to the swiftness of the current and the low temperature of the water. It would, indeed, be a hardship if any company were, under the circumstances, to demand technical proofs which, from the very nature of the case, it is impossible to furnish. I have great pleasure in certifying to the honorable and liberal manner in which your Company has acted in regard to the claim. As soon as your board of directors was aware that the accident had really happened, you gave every facility for a prompt settlement. You have been the first of the companies interested to pay, and I thank you for the kind and satisfactory manner in which you have met me.
W. McLACHLAN.
The Dominion safety fund, we understand, has also paid its policy of $2,000. The Sun Life has taken from the executors of Mr. McLachlan a personal bond to refund the amount of insurance with six per cent per annum compound interest, should he ever turn up alive. Mr. J. S. McLachlan had in all $42,130.70 insurance on his life, and other companies resist the claims.

GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY
CURES ALL HUMORS,
from a common Blotch, or Eruption, to the worst Scrofula. Salt-Rheum, "Fever-sores," Scaly or Rough Skin, in short, all diseases caused by bad blood are conquered by this powerful, purifying, and invigorating medicine. Great Eating Ulcers rapidly heal under its benign influence. Especially has it manifested its potency in curing Tetter, Moss Rash, Boils, Carbuncles, Sore Eyes, Scrofulous Sores and Swellings, Hip-Joint Disease, White Swellings, Goitre, or Thick Neck, and Enlarged Glands. Send ten cents in stamps for a large treatise, with colored plates, on Skin Disease, or the same amount for a treatise on Scrofulous Affections. "THE BLOOD IS THE LIFE." Thoroughly cleanse it by using Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and good digestion, a clear skin, vigorous health, vital strength, and soundness of constitution will be established.

CONSUMPTION,
which is Scrofulous Disease of the Lungs, is promptly and certainly arrested and cured by this God-given remedy, if taken before the last stages of the disease are reached. From its wonderful power over this terribly fatal disease, when first offering this now celebrated remedy to the public, Dr. PIERCE thought seriously of calling it his "Consumption Cure," but abandoned that name as too limited for a medicine which, from its wonderful combination of tonic, or strengthening, alterative, or blood-cleansing, anti-bilious, pectoral, and nutritive properties, is unequaled, not only as a remedy for consumption of the lungs, but for all

CHRONIC DISEASES

Powerful Plea for Temperance.

Sermon by Rev. Father Conway on behalf of St. Vincent de Paul Society.

A large congregation assembled in St. Peter's Cathedral Sunday night to listen to Rev. Father Conway's sermon on "Temperance," delivered on behalf of the St. Vincent de Paul Society. In the beginning the speaker claimed that he came before his children to plead the cause of God—to speak on the cause of temperance, or rather intemperance. The doctrine of the church relative to the vice of drunkenness was very strict. It was without doubt a mortal sin, and in it was the basest form of sin—gluttony. And so grievous was the sin that a person committing it inflicted upon himself the greatest punishment that the church could inflict upon any of her children, that is excommunication—excommunication practically, for let a man die in drunkenness, no matter how good he was before, no matter how good a child of the church, let him die in drunkenness and the church's prayers never ascended to Heaven in his behalf. The holy sacrifice of the Mass is never offered for his soul. He has put himself outside the pale of the Church, thus rendering the prayers of the Church useless in his behalf. The Reverend Father quoted passages of Scripture relating to drunkenness—6th chapter of 1st Corinthians, the 19th and 20th chapters of Ecclesiastics, Proverbs 23, 29-30—showing that "the drunkard shall never inherit the Kingdom of Heaven," and classifying him with murderers, thieves, adulterers and other nameless criminals who should not be mentioned among Christians. The murderer, having the use of his reason, was scarcely ever refused the services of the Church; but the man dying in drunkenness cannot have that consolation, because his reason is dethroned. Many other texts of Scripture might be brought forward speaking in equally strong terms of the terrible vice of drunkenness and its consequences. We might say it is the source of all crime. Ask any clergyman to-day in Ontario, of any denomination, which is the besetting sin of his parish, what is the great source of all his trouble, what is the greatest enemy he has to contend with in the cause of God, and his answer will be at once and without hesitation,—drunkenness.

So much for drunkenness from a theological standpoint. From a rational standpoint, drunkenness is first of all an enemy to our pecuniary interests. Look at the countless thousands and millions that are wasted—nay, worse than wasted—every year in intoxicating liquor. Better that that money was taken and cast into the depths of the lake. What is so destructive to business principles as drunkenness? For four years the Rev. Father said he had attended the Toronto gaol as its chaplain, and he had taken particular care to ask of the inmates what was the first thing they did that led them inside the gaol walls, and invariably, invariably, the answer was, drink.

It is quite as fatal to our social interests. It was hardly necessary to attempt to prove this. How many quarrels, how much bloodshed and perpetuated discord in families arose from the rash words or deeds of one under the influence of liquor. The Rev. Father then drew a vivid picture of the comparison between the home of a sober, industrious man, and the home of the drunkard, and related a sad instance in his own recollection where an entire family had been destroyed. He urged upon his congregation the necessity of living sober lives and thereby setting a good example to their children. The speaker described the evil effects of liquor on the constitution, which was undermined, slowly but surely, by alcohol, and the entire system laid open to all contagious diseases. He proved these statements by facts and figures which could not be disproved. Some men had an idea that they must take a little liquor or they would not be able to do their work. That was a mistaken idea, and again statistics were produced, showing the fallacy of such a line of argument.

Not only were alcoholic beverages the enemy of our pecuniary, social and physical interests, but also of our intellect. How were the asylums of our land filled? By men who had lost their intellects through drink. The speaker likened the besotted, bloated drunkards to perambulating beer barrels, and related an incident which had come under his notice. Two gentlemen were driving along a road and saw lying in the mire at the roadside a man beastly drunk, while by his side wallowed a hog. One remarked, "how comfortable and how alike." Said the other, "you owe the hog an apology." It was true; man intoxicated lowered himself below that much-despised brute.

The Rev. Father Conway concluded by stating his disbelief in the Scott Act or any legislative means for prohibiting drinking, but advocated the education of public sentiment to the point of scorn and derision for drink and drunkards. Let the wives and children take the matter in hand, and shun a man whose breath was heavily laden with the poisonous stuff. Let every wife, if whiskey is brought into her house, break the jars and pitch it out. Let every one that has the cause of temperance at heart frown down intemperance, treating and tippling. Moderate drinking was the beginning of drunkenness, and should be frowned down by all.

Rev. Father Conway asked, on behalf of the St. Vincent de Paul Society, a liberal donation, as the Society was deserving of every support.

Police Court.

MONDAY, Jan. 31st.

Frank Marino, charged with the shooting of Joseph Murphy, was further remanded for a week. It is expected Murphy will be sufficiently recovered by that time to give evidence.

On Saturday Robert Hays, an infirm old gentleman, was committed to gaol as a vagrant. He applied for protection to the police and told a sad story. He claimed to have influential and rich relatives in England, and had himself at one time driven his four-in-hand and lived like an English gentleman. Whiskey had brought him down to his present degraded position.

The case Darling vs. Brennan, of Norwood, for violation of the Scott Act, was dismissed.

A Close Call.

Sunday afternoon a young man and two girls were driving into town from the south, and in crossing the C. P. R. track on George street narrowly escaped a serious accident. A "dead" engine was coming over the bridge, its whistle blowing and bell clanging, but the young man, evidently to "show off," drove on and crossed the track not a instant too soon. The driver reversed his engine as soon as he saw the danger, and averted a calamity by his prompt action. It was a hair-breadth escape. The driver on leaving his cab was as pale as death, and told a bystander that it was the closest call he ever witnessed. Saturday night, he said, his engine, having in tow a long freight train, had jumped the rails on the eastern division and ran half a mile on the ties before it could be stopped. Fortunately the cars kept to the rails, and beyond a complete smash-up of the engine, no damage was done. The huge bars connecting the drive-wheels were both broken, besides numerous other minor breakages. It was on its way to Toronto for repairs.

"Carrots."

Joaquin Miller's great Californian drama, "Carrots," was presented to a fair audience at the Opera House Saturday night by the Day Dramatic Company. "Carrots," so called after the heroine of the play, is a highly sensational drama of the wild west order, in which pistols, Winchesters and bowie knives are a prominent and decisive feature. The scene is laid in a California forest, where "Carrots, the waif of the woods," a wild, untutored, but impulsive and virtuous, young maiden, auburn-haired and uncouth, yet possessed of great personal beauty, loves and wins the heart of the good Ed. Mitchell, who, though of Indian extraction, was on an equal footing with his white comrades. A series of diabolical plots are discovered and frustrated by him, but unfortunately an accident lays him open to a charge of murder, and he flees for his life. Finally everything is cleared up at the point of the pistol, and "Carrots" and "Ed." are happy. Mr. Wilson Day, as "Ed. Mitchell," was particularly strong in the third act, where his father, a white man, who had deserted his Indian mother, makes himself known. Mitchell's Indian blood crops out and as a very pretty scene is the result. Mr. Day's acting was first-class throughout. As "Carrots," Miss Stella Willis acted charmingly, and made a lasting impression on the audience. Little Annie Bird, as "Stumpe," was the acme of piquant sauciness, and roused storms of applause. Her singing was always encored. Mr. Wm. Henderson, as the old Virginian gentleman, addicted to the flowing bowl, was excellent. The other members of the company carried out their parts well.

To-night "Under the Gaslight" will be presented. This play is well known in Peterborough and will need no commendation. Reserved seats at Hartley's; prices, 10 and 25 cents.

Enjoy Life.

What a truly beautiful world we live in! Nature gives us grandeur of mountains, glens and oceans, and thousands of means of enjoyment. We can desire no better when is perfect health; but how often do the majority of people feel like giving it up disheartened, discouraged and worn out with disease, when there is no occasion for this feeling, as every sufferer can easily obtain satisfactory proof, that Green's August Flower, will make them free from disease, as when born. Dyspepsia and Liver Complaint are the direct causes of seventy-five per cent. of such maladies as Biliousness, Indigestion, Sick Headache, Costiveness, Nervous Prostration, Dizziness of the head, Palpitation of the Heart, and other distressing symtoms. Three doses of August Flower will prove its wonderful effect. Sample bottle, 10 cents. Try it. eodw4

Dominion Elections!

Nomination Day: February 15th.

Polling Day: February 22nd.

A NEW CANDIDATE IN THE FIELD!

HIS PLATFORM:

GENTLEMEN,

I have no desire to tamper with the votes of that noble army of our citizens who freely exercise the Franchise on behalf of their favorite political leaders. But, in order to take a hand in the present political struggle for supremacy between Grit and Tory, I have decided to come out and offer such tempting

BRIBES TO THE ELECTORS

as cannot fail to place me at the head of the polls.

I would scorn, like all other candidates for parliamentary honors, to buy up votes, or do aught that might be construed as a violation of our Election laws. My object is a far more patriotic one, namely—that of making a CLEAN SWEEP of all my Winter Clothing and Tweeds before Election day.

Nor will the secrecy of the Ballot be infringed by asking purchasers whether they will vote for LEBRUN, COX, or STEVENSON. No, not by a home rule scuttle full! But every elector is expected to attend this exciting Political-Winter-Clothing-Sale, and to hurrah for LEBRUN, so as to elect him by an overwhelming majority as the Workingman's Favourite Candidate.

SAMPLES OF THE BRIBES:

SUITS, made to Order - - $12
Formerly sold for $15.

SUITS, made to Order - - $14
Formerly sold for $17.

SUITS, Ready-made, for $5 and upwards.

PANTS made to Order for $3.00——$4.00——$4.50.

If the Electors will only ponder over these facts and see and handle these Bribes for themselves, I feel certain that the 22nd will be a cold day for the other candidates.

WHY
Will people pay rent when houses and lots can be purchased on such easy terms as are offered by the undesigned. Come and inspect our work and see for yourselves how we construct our houses. Our chief aim and study is to build substantial, warm, frost and damp proof houses. I am offering good building lots, and will build solid brick houses, nine-inch walls, strapped and lathed, two stories, for less money than you can buy frame or veneered buildings. We cordially invite those who anticipate renting or buying to inspect our work and prove for themselves that our houses are not merely built to sell. Every house I've sold gives first-class satisfaction, and I am determined that every house I build shall be a standing testimony to honest building. A Grateful Girl.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

DEAR SIR,—I take much pleasure in writing a card of thanks to Mr. R. B. Rogers for the brave way in which he saved my life on Saturday at Mr. Faint's fire, as if it had not been for him I am sure I would have perished. Thanking one and all for their brave work, and may they forever prosper, I also take the opportunity of thanking Mr. Conroy and the rest for the way in which they worked. Please give the above space in your valuable paper.

Yours Sincerely,
ANNIE MURPHY.
Peterborough, Jan. 31st, 1887.

N. B.—I think if there was ever a man in the world worthy of a government medal, it is Mr. R. B. Rogers.

St. Paul's Organ Recital.

The following letter has been handed us for publication:—

Rev. E. F. Torrance:

DEAR SIR,—It was my pleasure to be present at the Organ Recital held in your church last Friday night, which a musical critic pronounced "one of the best that had ever been given in Peterborough."

I presume the smallness of the audience was entirely due to the inclemency of the weather, for I feel satisfied that the congregation of St. Paul's church are always ready and glad to give evidence of their good will and support to their organist and choir, of which they may well feel proud. However, it would be too bad to allow a programme of such rare excellence to slip away under such unfavorable circumstances. It must not be done—the concert must be repeated, in order to give the many who intended being present another opportunity, as well as to open the way for your congregation to show their high esteem of Prof. Parker's abilities and deep appreciation of the efforts which the choir are making to render good work for the church.

To and Fro in London.

John R. Clark's First Lecture—A Full House and Pleasing Entertainment.

The George street Methodist Church was almost filled last night to listen to John R. Clark, the celebrated orator, who was at one time a wandering boot-black on the streets of London. His subject was to have been "The Rose, Shamrock and Thistle," but as announced by the pastor, Rev. I. Tovell, at the request of a great many people it was changed to "To and Fro in London." Mr. J. W. Flavelle occupied the chair. For fifteen minutes before eight o'clock Prof. Jacques played on the organ. The lecturer was introduced by the chairman in a few happy remarks. His lecture described the sights and incidents of life in London, the metropolis of the world, touching upon St. Paul's Cathedral, Westminster Abbey, London Bridge, Fleet street, Buckingham Palace, Madame Tussaud's wax works and other interesting topics, and the various noted characters connected therewith, whose memorials and statutes were on exhibition, viz., Cowper, Livingstone, Rowland Hill, Wesley, Spurgeon, Gladstone, Disraeli, Burke, Shakespeare, Byron, Father Matthews and many others, whose biographies were indissolubly linked with the history of London. He touched upon the social and political phases of London life impartially, advocating temperance with all the force of a cultured orator. Mr. Clark possesses the mesmeric power of swaying an audience with his own impassioned utterances, rousing them to long continued outbursts of laughter or by his eloquence lifting them into a higher sphere of nobler and purer thought. The lecture occupied from 8 till 10:30, but the attention never once flagged, the audience being fairly transported from all knowledge of self to a passionate interest in each object or individual as it was touched upon by the lecturer. The customary vote of thanks was owing to the lateness of the hour left till this evening.

To-night "Hits and Misses," one of Mr. Clark's most humorous and imitative lectures, will be delivered. There is sure to be a full house.

W. C. T. U.

The regular meeting of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union was held Monday afternoon in the usual place. The attendance was good and all the officers were present. After the usual devotional exercises and the Secretary's and Treasurer's reports had been read and accepted a lengthy and instructive communication with reference to temperance instruction in public schools, was read from Mrs. Rutherford, of Brockville, also communications from Mrs. Chisholm, Ottawa, with reference to organizing a Young Woman's Christian Temperance Union; Miss Scott, Ottawa, in reference to Kitchen garden; Miss Skinner, Toronto, and Miss Lamb, of Quebec, with reference to Girl's Reading Room and Secretary's Directories. Committees reported on canvass for reading room, and in order to arouse sympathy in this scheme, it was deemed advisable to forward Misses Scott and Skinner letters to the Ladies Aid Societies of the different churches to be read at their meetings.

An Obstinate Case.

"In the spring of 84 I was nearly dead, as everybody around my neighborhood knows. My trouble was caused by obstinate constipation. One bottle of Burdock Blood Bitters cured me entirely." This statement is made by Walter Bateson, of Gerrie, Ont. 2w8d

REPLY TO THE SPEECH

LORD RANDY CHURCHILL CAUSES A SENSATION.

LONDON, Jan. 31.—In the debate on the address in reply to the speech from the throne, Lord Randolph Churchill, referring to the Glenbeigh evictions, said he thought there never was a case found, under a microscopic examination, which was more favorable to Irish landlords on the whole. During the winter he said "the landlords had done their duty in a generous way." He praised Sir Michael Hicks-Beach for the greatness of the sacrifices associated with the latter's acceptance of the Chief Secretaryship for Ireland and wished him success in the work he had undertaken. He said he had never seen much that he considered alarming in the plan of campaign.

If juries refused to do their duty Parliament would grant additional powers, under which those pursuing the plan of campaign would, either voluntarily or under compulsion, abandon their course. He said the permanent preservation of the Union must always depend upon the Conservative party, which, if it wanted warning of the uncertainty of its position, had only to watch the negotiations of the Radicals. He hoped the House would never follow Chamberlain on a line of policy tending toward the creation in Dublin of anything in the nature of a parliament. That clear and broad position which the Tories had assumed they should never depart from.

Lord Randolph Churchill's speech caused a sensation in the House. It had the distinct character of a carefully studied oration.

Parnell's Amendment.

LONDON, Jan. 31.—The amendment which Mr. Parnell proposes to offer to the address in reply to the Queen's speech, is as follows:

The relations between owners and occupiers of land in Ireland have not been seriously disturbed in the cases of those who granted to their tenants such abatements as were demanded by the prices of agricultural and pastoral produce. The remedy for the crisis in Irish agrarian affairs will be found, not in an increased stringency of criminal procedure for in the pursuit of such novel, doubtful and unconstitutional measures as those recently taken by Her Majesty's Government, but in such reform of the law and system of government as will satisfy the needs and secure the confidence of the Irish people.

THE WAR SCARE IN GERMANY.

There is No Cause for Alarm as the Step Has Long Been Contemplated.

BERLIN, Jan. 31.—The German reserves summoned for practice will, it is reported, be called from the western provinces. The Kreuz-Zeitung is endeavoring to allay the alarm caused among the people by the calling out of these reserves, by reminding the country that the budget of last October provided for the calling out of 115,000 reserves for practice with the new repeating rifles and that the 72,000 now called constitute the first instalment of the whole body then arranged to be called.

Taking Advantage of the Scare.

BERLIN, Jan. 31.—The Committee of the National Liberal party have issued a manifesto to the electors. They say: "Never since the Franco-German war has the danger of a great conflict been so near. No statesman can form any certain conclusion as to the future, even for a few weeks. The peace of Europe rests at this moment solely upon the strength, readiness for action and moral trustworthiness of the German army. The National Liberals are confident that the voice of universal suffrage will pronounce a right decision. An unpropitious issue of the elections will bring down upon the country war with all its terrors, and even with the best results heavy losses."

The English Shareholders Want Move.

LONDON, Jan. 31.—The English shareholders in the Pennsylvania Railroad Company today adopted resolutions declaring that the company should pay a larger dividend on its net earnings. The earnings of the road for the half year ending in November last, the resolutions state, justify the payment of a larger dividend than that declared. John Taylor reported that from what he saw in Philadelphia he was convinced that the company's accounts were kept in a very unsatisfactory manner.

The Curtin Boycott.

DUBLIN, Jan. 31.—The troubles between the moonlighters and the Curtin family, near Tralee, are being revived. A boycott has been kept up against the family for several months and it having been reported recently that the family, unable any longer to stand the boycott, were about to give up the lease of their farm and move away, notices have been posted warning all persons against taking their farm under penalty of succeeding to the boycott

Great Loss of Life.

LONDON, Jan. 31.—Despatches from Rio Janeiro report that the steamship Kapunda, from London to Australia with a large number of emigrants on board, collided with an unknown vessel near the coast of Brazil and sank almost immediately. Three hundred of those on board the Kapunda were drowned. The remainder landed at Bahia. No further particulars received.

It is learned that the vessel with which the Kapunda collided was the British bark Ada Melmore, which also went to the bottom. All told, 304 persons were drowned.

Stanley Heard From.

LONDON, Jan. 31.—Henry M. Stanley telegraphs from Cairo as follows: Nubar Pasha desires me to contradict the reports that the Egyptian Government is creating difficulties for the Emin Bay relief expedition. Men and everything I have asked for will be ready for departure on Monday." Stanley adds that everything is proceeding satisfactorily.

A Trader Absconds.

MONTREAL, Jan. 31.—John O'Neil, trader, has disappeared from the city, leaving behind him a number of creditors. Judge Mathieu granted a petition to appoint Jas. W. Mills provisional guardian to protect the interests of the creditors. The court also ordered O'Neil to appear within six days.

Hamilton's Carnival.

HAMILTON, Jan. 31.—The carnival is booming. The big storm to-day has caused preparations for the opening Wednesday to be prosecuted with renewed vigor and all the events will come off as arranged.

A Conductor Killed Near Tilbury.

ST. THOMAS, Jan. 31.—A Michigan Central conductor named George Pim, while walking over his train near Tilbury yesterday, fell between the car and was instantly killed. He leaves a wife and one child.

Committed for Trial for Libel.

LONDON, Jan. 31.—Mr. Felherman, the proprietor, and Mr. Wilkinson, the publisher of Life, were to-day committed for trial on a charge of libel. The plaintiff is Dr. Bird, Lady Colin Campbell's co-respondent.

A Montreal Merchant Assigns.

MONTREAL, Jan. 31.—Archibald Allan, dry goods merchant, Notre Dame-street, has assigned with liabilities of about $60000.

A BANKER'S SON SHOOTS HIMSELF.

Violent Death of Young Raymond Belmont in New York.

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—Word reached Police Headquarters at 3 a.m. that Raymond Belmont, son of August Belmont, the well-known banker, had shot himself. Young Belmont lived with his father, 109 Fifth-avenue, and was associated with the Belmont banking house. In the evening young Belmont went out to dinner. He returned shortly before 1 o'clock this morning. With him was Leonard Behr, a night watchman, with whom Raymond was well acquainted and who frequently accompanied him home. They went down to the basement, where there was a shooting gallery, in which young Belmont, who was an expert shot, frequently practised. Here he also had a stock of revolvers and guns. As they entered the room young Belmont picked up a double-acting Smith & Wesson pearl-handled revolver of 32 calibre, and turning to Behr, said: "Now, I want you to go and hold up a gold collar button in your hand and I will shoot it out. Behr, who had frequently seen the young man shoot and had great confidence in him, at once agreed to do this. Before taking up his position, however, young Belmont turned to him and said: "Oh, first close all the doors so that the report may not alarm father who is upstairs." Thereupon Behr walked over to a door and had just put his hand upon it when he heard the report of the pistol. Turning at once he saw young Belmont falling to the floor, blood gushing from a wound in the right side of the head. "My God! Raymond," he cried, "what have you done?"

He leaned over the young man, who opened his eyes, and looking at him tried to speak, but could not. As Behr looked at him he closed his eyes and became unconscious. Behr then left him, and running up-stairs aroused August Belmont, the young man's father, who was all alone in the house. The watchman was sent for Dr. Polk, the family physician, and in a few moments he was at the bedside with two other physicians, whose names could not be ascertained. They tried to resuscitate young Belmont, but failed. He died soon after the bullet entered his brain. Coroner Eidman and his deputy were notified and arrived before the doctors left. They found that the bullet had passed clear through the skull, entering the right side of the head and coming out of the left. The watchman said the shooting was accidental, but the coroner said all the indications pointed to suicide. It was evident that young Belmont had taken considerable wine with his dinner.

Sergeant Schmittberger of the Nineteenth Precinct went to the house with a policeman. At first they intended to put the frightened watchman under arrest, but they finally concluded to let him alone.

August Belmont is greatly prostrated by the affair. The Coroner will leave the question as to whether death was accidental or suicidal to a jury.

ALARMIST RESOLUTIONS.

The Americans Considering Their Defenceless Harbors.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—In the House this afternoon Mr. Lawler of Illinois introduced the following resolution: Whereas the belligerent tone of the Canadian press and the announcement that Great Britain will shortly despatch a fleet of war ships to cruise in the vicinity of our northeastern coast line, indicates hostility towards the United States, growing out of our position in the fisheries question, and whereas Admiral Porter has directed attention to the fact that twenty-seven of our Atlantic, Gulf and Pacific harbors are absolutely defenceless, seven of them, to wit: New York, San Francisco, Boston and the lake ports; Hampton roads, New Orleans, Philadelphia, Washington, Baltimore, Portland, Maine, and Rhode Island ports of Narragansett Bay are in urgent need of immediate defence, and whereas it is alleged that Great Britain and Canada are in possession of the charts and exemplifications of all our harbors and coast defences, therefore be it resolved that the President be requested, as commander-in-chief of the army and navy, to inform the House of Representatives at an early day what steps if any are necessary in his judgment to provide for this emergency.

Gen. Bragg suggested that it was unwise to advertise to the enemy our unprotected position. The resolution was referred to the Committee on the Appropriations.

Mr. Boutelle submitted a resolution directing a committee on foreign affairs to report back forthwith the Senate Retaliation Bill.

Mr. Lovering presented a resolution of the Massachusetts Legislature in favor of a retaliation bill.

The Canadian Fishers Fish.

BOSTON, Jan. 31.—A correspondent at Eastport says the Canadians are still fishing in American waters, but no attempt is being made to stop them, and there is no excitement in the town.

The Fasting Girl.

WABASH, Ind., Jan. 31.—Mary Baker, the White County fasting girl, last night completed the ninety-eighth day of her fast, which began in October. During that period the young lady has eaten no food nor taken nourishment of any kind. Even water is immediately expelled from her stomach. Dr. John T. Mead, her physician, says the case has completely baffled the medical fraternity. He vouches for the genuineness of the fast, as do the nurses. During the last week Miss Baker has grown weaker very rapidly, and her physician states that she can last but a very short time.

The Cape Breton Railway.

OTTAWA, Jan. 31.—The Government has decided not to call for tenders for the construction of that portion of the Cape Breton Railway extending from Point Tupper to the Narrows until next summer. The contract for the section between Sydney and the Narrows, forty-five miles in length, has been awarded to Messrs. Sims and Slater of this city. The work of constructing the proposed docks at Point Tupper, on the Straits of Canso, will be undertaken next season.

Tracked by Bloodhounds.

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M., Jan. 31.—Last Monday Detectives Franks and Marsh, with four determined men and a pack of bloodhounds, started in pursuit of a gang of robbers who have been operating in this vicinity for six months. News has reached here that the robbers have been overtaken and a desperate encounter ensued. They were tracked into Hell's Canon, eighty miles south of here, and surrendered.

A Perilous Experiment.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 31.—T. S. Baldwin, aeronaut, leaped from a balloon yesterday at the height of 1000 feet from the ground, and descended with a parachute. He fell through a tree to the ground, but was unhurt. The exhibition was witnessed by 12,000 people. The feat is believed to be the greatest of its kind on record.

Burglaries in Montreal.

MONTREAL, Jan. 31.—A series of burglaries have been reported to the police during the last few days, and are evidently the work of some of the most notorious and skilful crooks in the United States. Among the establishments burglarized were Brophy, Cains & Co., Berthuer Bros., Wm. McGowan, Brown, Maille & Gibbin and other establishments.

TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 1, 1887.

FOR "SELF-PROTECTION."

Mr. Neelon, ex-M. P. P., of Lincoln, has gone body and bones over to the boodlers, after having been perched on the political fence long enough to see where his personal interests suggest that he should jump. He is now a friend, supporter and aider of Mr. John Charles Rykert, the most successful and persistent boodler in the Conservative camp. The local Conservative organ, in recording Mr. Neelon's latest,—not at all probably, his last—flop-over, says a "Reformer has been drawn from Mr. Blake in self-protection." This is true and it is not true. Mr. Neelon is not a Reformer—in the very extract from his speech the local organ quoted, Mr. Neelon declared that he had been an "independent" for seven years—he is not a Reformer because he advocates the interests of capitalists as against that of the people, he is not a Reformer because he joins the gang of boodlers, who follow at the heels of Sir John for the crumbs—in Mr. Rykert's case, loaves—that fall in his wake. No doubt Mr. Neelon does join the ranks of the boodlers in self-protection. No doubt Mr. Rykert, who got a timber limit for a nominal price, through his influence as a member of Parliament, as a supporter of Sir John, and he now carries in his pocket the $100,000 he secured for the sale of it, and doubtless Mr. Neelon is looking out for himself, when he joins such questionable company. He is a worthy follower of Sir John, whose supporters are largely composed of men who support him for the favours they receive at his hands. Sir John declares that he wanted followers who would support him when he was wrong, not when he was right, and if the remains of a conscience stand in the way the member is bought body and soul and is, of course, to follow the leader right or wrong, especially wrong. No man changes his political faith to follow Sir John Macdonald, without excellent assurances, more or less direct, of personal advantage—which the elastic political ethics of the party call "self-protection."

HON. EDWARD BLAKE.

The Montreal Witness, a journal which is not surpassingly friendly to the Liberal party of late, and whose word on the subject is entitled to more weight, thus comprehensively eulogizes the leader of the Liberty party :—

"The Hon. Edward Blake, the leader of the Opposition in the Dominion Parliament, who is to speak in the Queen's hall on Monday, is undoubtedly the ablest man in public life in Canada to-day. In intellectual power no parliamentarian approaches him, and to great mental abilities he brings untiring industry. His speeches on almost every important question which is brought up in Parliament give evidence of a careful examination of all the facts that can be got at in connection with his subject, and of careful judgment in deciding as to his course from the conclusions which he has come to. It was a matter of reproach against him by his opponents that he left nothing to be dealt with by his followers in Parliament; he did all the work himself. The fact was that his industry enabled him to examine into all matters, and when he had dealt with a subject in his exhaustive manner there was little left to be said upon it from his side of the question—or from the other either. No member of the House gives such close and careful attention to the proceedings of the House; no item of routine, no order, no question, no motion escapes his notice. No slip in a Government measure or a favorite bill evades his keen scrutiny. Time and again he has pointed out serious defects in measures which the Government has brought before the House. His capabilities and powers in the House are the astonishment and admiration alike of friend and foe. His speeches before the people are always of a high order, regarded from any point of view. Their moral tone is usually of the very highest. The more political portion of his speeches is generally prefaced by the noblest appeals to the highest qualities of his hearers. Throughout they are closely reasoned, thoroughly informed with authentic fact, and are generally models of dignified eloquence.

Mr. Blake's father was a member of that Government which has always been regarded as the purest, the noblest standard of patriotic Reform Governments, the Baldwin-Lafontaine administration. The names of Baldwin and Lafontaine are to-day reverenced by men of all classes and creeds, and of both the races whom they represent. Mr. Blake's career has been as stainless as that of his father and his colleagues."

There is not a word beyond the truth in this panegyric, and at this time when political methods as applied to Dominion elections are reduced, in the way of corruption and bribery, to a science, there is need of the services of a man like Mr. Blake being called to guide the destinies of the country. And there is a good prospect that on the 22nd of February the people will decide in favour of honesty and uprightness as opposed to trickery and corruption.

The Raw Cutting Winds

Of winter bring to the surface every latent pain. It is one of the strange things associated with our physical well being that the very air, without which we could not exist, is heavily laden with germs of disease. Rheumatism, neuralgia, lumbago, and other complaints of a similar character hold revel at this season of the year amongst human nerves and human muscles. There was a time when fortitude alone could make life tolerable, but now with the advent of powerful, penetrating and nerve soothing remedies pain becomes a thing of the moment. The best, the most powerful and most certain pain cure is Polson's Nerviline. Nothing equals Nerviline for penetrating power. Nerviline is beyond comparison the grandest discovery for the relief of pain offered to the public. Druggists sell a sample bottle for 10 cents; large, bottles only 25 cents at any drug store. 6dw5

Astonishing Success.

It is the duty of every person who has used Boschee's German Syrup to let its wonderful qualities be known to their friends in curing Consumption, severe Coughs, Croup, Asthma, Pneumonia, and in fact all throat and lung diseases. No person can use it without immediate relief. Three doses will relieve any case, and we consider it the duty of all Druggists to recommend it to the poor, dying consumptive, at least to try one bottle, as 80,000 dozen bottles were sold last year, and no one case where it failed was reported. Such a medicine as the German Syrup cannot be too widely known. Ask your druggist about it. sample bottles to try, only 10 cents. Regular size, 75 cents. Sold by all Druggists and dealers, in the United States and Canada. eodw4

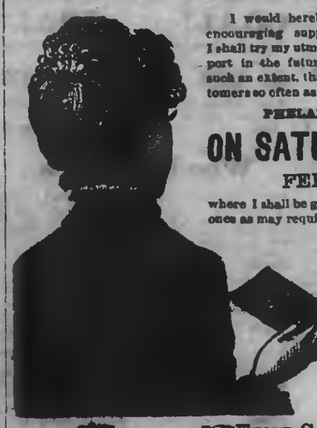
PROCLAMATION!

To the People of Peterborough and Surrounding Country.



I would hereby return thanks for the kind patronage and encouraging support shown to me in the past years; and I shall try my utmost to please the people, and to merit this support in the future. My business in Toronto has increased to such an extent, that I shall not be able to visit my outside customers so often as heretofore. My next visit will be at

PHELAN'S HOTEL, PETERBOROUGH,

ON SATURDAY AND MONDAY,

FEBRUARY 5th and 7th,

where I shall be glad to see my old customers, and as many new ones as may require any of my goods.

For this season I have made up an extra fine line of Hair Goods,—a Stock that is far ahead of anything yet offered. I have added many new designs to my variety of Ladies' Bangs, Waves, Wigs, Front Pieces, &c. My Ladies' Switches, Gents' Wigs, Toupees, &c., cannot be equalled.

Every Gentlemen who is bald and lady who has straight grey or thin hair, should pay a visit to my Show Rooms at

PHELAN'S HOTEL, SATURDAY & MONDAY

FEBRUARY 5th AND 7th.

Don't miss THIS CHANCE, as it is the only one this SEASON.

COUNTY COUNCIL MEETING.

JANUARY SESSION.

FIFTH DAY—SATURDAY.

Council met at 10 a.m., all the members present.

A communication was read from the County Clerk of Victoria County Council, stating that Mr. Dean had been appointed an arbitrator re the repairs of bridges at and near Bobcageon, and requesting this county to appoint an arbitrator on its own behalf.

Mr. SANDERSON submitted that this county do not admit any responsibility in the matter, and the appointment of an arbitrator would be an admission of responsibility, and it would be safest for the council not to take any action.

Mr. KIDD said that last year he had written to the Warden of Victoria, that the County of Peterborough disclaimed any liability in the premises. A local bill was introduced by Mr. Fell at the last session of the Local Legislature, which would make this county liable. The bill was withdrawn, Hon. Mr. Fraser promising on behalf of the Government that a comprehensive bill would be introduced dealing generally with the matter.

Mr. EDWARDS, County Solicitor, thought there was no doubt that the county was not responsible for the Bobcaygeon bridges.

Mr. STRICKLAND moved, seconded by Mr. Sanderson, that no action be taken by the county and that in case of legal proceedings the Warden be instructed to defend the interests of the county.

FINANCE.

Mr. KIDD, Chairman, read the following report of the Finance Committee.

2. That no grant be made to Ontario Rifle Association.

3. Your Committee recommend that a special grant of $50.00 be given to the County of Peterborough Rifle Association.

4. That no newspapers except the Peterborough Review and EXAMINER be hereafter subscribed or paid for by the county.

5. That no action be taken with reference to the account of J. G. Macdonald, acting Police Court Clerk.

6. That a special grant of $250.00 be given to the Norwood High School.

7. Your committee acknowledge the receipt of a communication from the Registrar of the county of Peterborough, stating that the gross amount of fees for 1886 of his office were $3,493.56, on which the rebate to this county is $168.70, a cheque for which was enclosed by him.

8. That with reference to the communication from W. H. Cooper, High Constable of the county, applying for some fair remuneration for his services in connection with county work, your committee recommend that the Warden and Reeves of Smith and Dummer be a committee thereon to report at the June session.

(9) That the account of the Peterborough Gas Company, $10.00 for lamp from 1st of March to 1st September, 1886, be paid, providing the account is for the lamp on the Otonabee bridge.

(10) That the Warden and the Reeves of Douro, Smith, Dummer, Lakefield and Ashburnham be a committee, with full power to act, to consider the communication of the Board of License Commissioners for the License District of West Peterborough, requiring a deposit of $650.00 to the credit of the License Fund and also to arrange with the Town of Peterborough as to payment over to this county of the proportion of fines to which this Council is entitled.

(11) That with reference to the suit of the Grand Junction Railway Company against the county of Peterborough, Mr. Edwards be authorized to go to England to watch the interests of the county on the appeal to the Privy Council, and to take such steps, with the approval of the Warden, as may be necessary for the purpose of defending the suit, and that the Warden be authorized to issue his warrant to the Treasurer for payment of such sums as may be necessary for disbursements.

All of which is respectfully submitted.
A. R. KIDD,
Chairman.

The motion to accept the report, Mr. Strickland moved that the report be referred back with instructions to include a grant of $200 to Peterborough Collegiate Institute, on condition that county pupils be admitted free.

Lost on the following division: Yeas—Messrs. Hicks, Mansfield, Finlay, Strickland, Fraser, Sanderson and Fitzgerald—7. Nays—Messrs. Moloney, Garbutt, Moore, Walsh, Hamilton, Crough, Kidd and Crowe—8.

Mr. Garbutt moved, seconded by Mr. Moloney, that the report be amended by striking out the grant of $200 to Peterborough Rifle Association.—Lost.

The report was adopted.

ROADS AND BRIDGES.

Mr. MOLONEY read the following report:

The Committee on Roads and Bridges beg leave to report as follows:—

1. That a special grant of $200 be given to the Stoney Lake road, between lots 20 and 21 in 1st concession of Douro and Dummer, and that the Reeve of Dummer be commissioner for expenditure of same.

2. That on certificate by the County Engineer that the sum of $450 has been expended in repairing the Harvey bridge, your committee recommend that the Treasurer of this county pay to the Treasurer of Northumberland and Durham $112.59.

3. That the account of Geo. J. Chalmers, for planking the Young's Point bridge, be left in the hands of our representative in the Local Legislature.

4. That the County Clerk be instructed to give, free of charge, to any municipality in the county any old iron belonging to the county and required by such municipality on any leading road.

5. That the sum of $50.00 be granted to the Municipalities of Burleigh, Harvey, Belmont and Galway, respectively, for expenditure on the roads and bridges therein, and that the respective Reeves thereof be the commissioners of same, each to furnish to this Council a certified statement in detail of the manner in which such moneys are expended.

6. That the County Engineer be instructed to close the locks bridge as soon as he considers the same unfit for travel.

7. That a special grant of $100 be given to the municipality of Belmont and Methuen towards building the high bridge in Oak Lake settlement, township of Methuen, and that the Reeve of Belmont be a commissioner for expenditure of same.

8. Your committee recommend that the approaches to the Buckhorn bridge be filled in with stone and gravel during the coming summer, under the instructions of the County Engineer and the Warden and the Reeve of Smith.

9. That the report of the County Engineer be received and adopted,

10. Your committee recommend that the Clerk write to the Clerk of the County of Hastings that this Council has heretofore granted $50 towards finishing road on the eastern boundary of the County of Peterborough, from the 14th concession of the Township of Chandos to the northern boundary, provided the County of Hastings granted a like amount, and the Ontario Legislature granted $100 towards the same: That the offer of this County is still open and the Ontario Government express their willingness to grant $100, but in default of the above grant of $50 at the present session by the County of Hastings the County of Peterborough will withdraw their grant of $50.

That the head of each municipality hand in a report to the Council at the June session the number of rods of fencing on not more than three of the leading roads through their respective municipalities required to protect the said roads that have been made impassable by snow drifts during the balance of the present winter,

All of which is respectfully submitted,
JOHN MOLONEY,
Chairman.

The report was adopted.

BY-LAWS.

By-laws confirming the finance report, and authorizing the Warden and Treasurer to borrow money, not exceeding $15,000, to meet current expenses, were passed; one confirming the report of the Committee on Appointments to Office was read. At the first reading Mr. Sanderson moved in amendment, seconded by Mr. Moloney, that Mr. Carnegie be appointed a member of the Board of Audit instead of Mr. Porter Preston. The amendment was carried on the following division: Yeas—Messrs. Moloney, Sanderson, Garbutt, Moore, Hicks, Crough, Elmhirst, Mansfield, Crowe, Finlay, Strickland, Forster, Brown and Fitzgerald. Nays—Messrs. Kidd, Walsh and Finlay.

GRANTS.

Mr. Fitzgerald moved, seconded by Mr. Brown, that a special grant of $100 be given towards improving the road from Bobcageon road to Buckhorn road, and the Reeve of Harvey to be a commissioner for the expenditure of the same.—Carried.

Mr. Elmhirst moved, seconded by Mr. Strickland, that whereas the main travel to the east country during the summer months is by water to Julian's Landing, that a grant of $25 be given towards making the road passable between Julian's Landing and the Berleigh road, and that the Reeve of Berleigh be a commissioner to expend the same.—Carried.

THE ARBITRATOR.

Mr. Kidd introduced a by-law to appoint a county arbitrator.

Mr. Finlay moved, seconded by Mr. Kidd, that Mr. W. E. Roxburgh, of Norwood, be appointed.

On motion, the by-law was read for a first time.

On the second reading Mr. Strickland moved, seconded by Mr. Moloney, that Mr. John Carnegie be the arbitrator.—Carried.

CARETAKER.

Mr. Sanderson moved, seconded by Mr. Forster, that Mr. Flood be appointed caretaker of the Pigeon Creek bridge, and that his salary be $12, and that the Treasurer pay him $25 for the last year.—Carried.

ICE.

Mr. Moloney moved, seconded by Mr. Walsh, that the Treasurer be authorized to procure the necessary ice for the Court House.

COUNTY CONSTABLES.

Mr. Elmhirst introduced a motion referring to the payment of County Constables. It was left over till the June session.

The Council adjourned.

If anything clogs the waste-pipes in the house we become alarmed, for sewer-gas is apt to generate disease. The children, then, are removed to their grand parents' or kept out of doors as much as possible, until the defect is remedied. But the waste-pipes of the human system are often allowed to clog, and the sufferer, who cannot get away from the poison, becomes unfit for work or pleasure. In such cases Dr. Pierce's "Pleasant Purgative Pellets" will gently remove the cause, and the effect will vanish of itself. By druggists. 6-lw5

RUPTURE CURED
IN FROM 30 TO 90 DAYS BY WEARING
EGAN'S IMPERIAL TRUSS.

Read the following extract from a letter of a well-known citizen of St. Catharines,—hundreds like it:

ST. CATHARINES, Sept. 30th, 1886.
GENTLEMEN,—Being over 70 years of age, and over 30 years Ruptured, I based upon my case as hopeless, especially as I tried various appliances without success, among others, recently, two spiralean trusses (so-called) from New York State, costing me $40. Neither would retain my Hernia. I have worn your truss over four months, night and day, with great satisfaction and comfort; even to bathe in it the rupture has never come down, it holds me perfectly secure under all circumstances. You may publish it for the benefit of other sufferers. Yours truly, CAPT. H. KING.

This Out Shows one Style only.

This new Spiral Spring Pad Truss has taken ten years to make it perfect; is guaranteed to hold the very worst case during the hardest work or severest strain. It will cure every child sure; and 95 out of every 100 of adults. Be warned—don't waste your money on useless appliances, but send stamp for our treatise; it contains full information, your neighbors' testimony, price list and questions for you to answer. When writing please mention this paper. Address

GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY

CURES ALL HUMORS,

from a common Blotch, or Eruption, to the worst Scrofula. Salt-rheum, "Fever-sores," Scaly or Rough skin, in short, all diseases caused by bad blood are conquered by this powerful, purifying, and invigorating medicine. Great Scaling Ulcers rapidly heal under its benign influence. Especially has it manifested its potency in curing Tetter, Rose Rash, Boils, Carbuncles, Sore Eyes, Scrofulous Sores and Swellings, Hip-Joint Disease, White Swellings, Goitre, or Thick Neck, and Enlarged Glands. Send ten cents in stamps for a large treatise, with colored plates, on Skin Diseases, or the same amount for a treatise on Scrofulous Affections. "THE BLOOD IS THE LIFE." Thoroughly cleanse it by using Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and good digestion, a fair skin, buoyant spirits, vital strength, and soundness of constitution, will be established.

CONSUMPTION,

which is Scrofulous Disease of the Lungs, is promptly and certainly arrested and cured by this God-given remedy, if taken before the last stages of the disease are reached. From its wonderful power over this terribly fatal disease, when first offering this now celebrated remedy to the public, Dr. Pierce thought seriously of calling it his "Consumption Cure," but abandoned that name as too limited for a medicine which, from its wonderful combination of tonic, or strengthening, alterative, or blood-cleansing, anti-bilious, pectoral, and nutritive properties, is unequaled, not only as a remedy for consumption of the lungs, but for all

CHRONIC DISEASES
OF THE
Liver, Blood, and Lungs.

If you feel dull, drowsy, debilitated, have sallow color of skin, or yellowish-brown spots on face or body, frequent headache or dizziness, bad taste in mouth, internal heat or chills, alternating with hot flashes, low spirits and gloomy forebodings, irregular appetite, and coated tongue, you are suffering from Indigestion, Dyspepsia, and Torpid Liver, or "Biliousness." In many cases only part of these symptoms are experienced. As a remedy for all such cases, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has no equal.

For Weak Lungs, Spitting of Blood, Shortness of Breath, Bronchitis, Severe Coughs, Consumption, and kindred affections, it is a sovereign remedy. Send ten cents in stamps for Dr. Pierce's book on Consumption. Sold by Druggists.

A Brutal Fight.

Saturday night a row took place in a hotel yard on Hunter street, one of the combatants using an iron nut off a waggon, through which he slipped his finger, as a "steel knuckle," seriously cutting his antagonist. The latter, however, succeeded in knocking his man out. It was a brutal fight throughout.

Alleged Attempt at Stabbing.

About three weeks ago James Cumming, of Ashburnham, and Geo. Moncrief, of Emily, traded horses, the former says, only on approbation. Monday afternoon Moncrief and John Atkinson, also of Emily, drove to town with the horse got from Cumming, and put up at the Morgan House. During the afternoon Cumming, who was not satisfied with the exchange, went to the yard, unhitched the horse and drove it to his own place in Ashburnham. Moncrief and Atkinson followed, and a quarrel and scuffle ensued. Cumming claims that Moncrief attempted to stab him, and exhibited a hole in his coat which he said was made by the knife. A warrant was sworn out in the evening, but only Atkinson could be found. Moncrief having left the town. Chief Cooper, who arrested Atkinson, searched him, as is customary, and found in his pockets a revolver, pack of cards, two silver watches and chains, a couple of keys and a box of aperient pills. On a charge of carrying a pistol the young man was detained till sureties could be found to bind him over to keep the peace. Meanwhile a warrant has been issued for Moncrief, who may expect a visit from the police at an early date.

Terse Talks on Town Topics.

Regular Session of the Town Council—Business, Important and Unimportant, Transacted—Talks Among the Councillors—Assessors Appointed.

Town Council met in regular session Monday evening, all the members present.

Communications were read from the following persons:—

The Assistant Provincial Secretary, Mr. Geo. E. Lumsden, acknowledging receipt of the Little Lake memorial.—Received.

Mr. John E. Belcher, asking to be re-appointed town engineer.—Received.

Mr. Thos. McKee, applying for the office of Assessor.—Received.

Mr. John Hillier, referring to some necessary drain improvements at his place, caused by defective drainage, which caused the water to flood his cellar and premises.—Referred to the Street and Bridge Committee.

Mr. Wm. Hamilton and Angus Williams, applying for the position of Street and Bridge Inspector.—Received.

Mr. Chas. Archambault, asking time to pay his taxes.—Received.

The Peterborough Gas Co., asking for the use of the town fire engine for an hour or two to force steam through the mains to clear out obstructions.—Granted.

Mr. E. Barnham, asking for justice in the matter of assessment on his premises, which he contended had not been given him.—Received.

All were referred to the Finance Committee

INJUSTICE IN ASSESSMENT.

Mr. Menzies moved, seconded by Mr. Kelly, that a special committee, composed of Kelly, Stenson, Hartley, McNaughton and the mover, to report to this council on the matter of Mr. Barnham's assessment.

Mr. CAHILL suggested an amendment to the effect that the committee enquire also into all the assessments complained before the Council.

Messrs. Davidson, Kendry and Moore considered the motion "bunkum" and out of order. No committee could do the work laid out for it. The motion was lost by a vote of 5 to 7.

CHARITY MATTERS.

The Mayor called attention to the fact that there were numerous complaints by poor people of inability to pay their taxes, and requested that something be done. The matter was referred to the Charity Committee.

Messrs. Yelland and Hartley thought it a hardship when persons who were unable to pay had their goods seized and were compelled to pay 90 per cent. costs. If the officers of the town served the notices, this extra expense would be saved them.

FINANCE.

Mr. Davidson presented the report of the Finance Committee, recommending payment of the following accounts:—John Hackett, $28.95; Martin Connors, $2.50; R. Duncan, $1; Fitzgerald & Stangar, $1.70; Macfarlane Wilson, $3.85; H. Wills, $1; M. O'Brien, $1; Review Printing Co., $83.88; W. B. Kelly, $10.80. The report was adopted.

FIRE, WATER AND LIGHT.

Mr. MCNEIL presented the report of the Fire, Water and Light Committee, as follows:—

GENTLEMEN,—Your Fire, Water and Light Committee have examined the fire hall and apparatus, and find that the new hose waggon and swinging harness recently purchased and paid for are of no service to the brigade in their present condition. The waggon is entirely too small and totally unfit for its intended service. The snap collar is too small and cannot be made to fit the present horses.

Your committee would therefore recommend that tenders be asked for to supply a new box, the party tendering to take back the present box in part payment of the same, and the committee to have power to award the contract to the lowest or any tender.

We would also recommend that a new snap collar be procured to fit our present horses and the one recently purchased to be taken in part payment.

We would further recommend that a cheap carpet be purchased for the two firemen's bedrooms, blinds procured for the windows, and a door put on the opening in the partition leading from the bandroom into the bedroom.

(Signed) ANDREW MCNEIL, Chairman.

MR. MCNEIL made a more explicit verbal explanation of the case, giving the reasons of the committee for so recommending. The purchases were necessary to a good standing of the fire brigade. The report was adopted.

TOWN ACCOUNTS.

MR. MCNAUGHTON introduced a motion, which was seconded by Mr. Menzies, providing for the attachment of all orders to accounts presented to the council, that the accounts be presented in detail, by whom given, and what value was given for them; and that no goods be ordered on behalf of the town by the chairman of any committee except the Charity Committee without the consent of a majority of the members of such committee.

Mr. MCNAUGHTON supported his motion by stating that one-half of the accounts which came before the Council were never heard of before or afterwards by one-half of the councillors.

CONTRA OPINIONS.

Mr. CAHILL argued that the motion was impracticable. For instance, it would prevent the Street Inspector, in case of a flood where ten cents worth of nails would prevent the loss of hundreds of dollars, from acting promptly, and in time to do any good.

Mr. KENDRY contended that if Mr. McNaughton wanted any information about the accounts he was at liberty to attend to the Finance Committee meeting.

Mr. MCNAUGHTON.—Didn't I, and I was put out? (Laughter and cries of "No, no" from the members of the Finance Committee, and "Yes, that's so," from Mr. McNaughton.)

Mr. HARTLEY also spoke in the same line of argument, and Mr. Menzies himself considered that the matter was already provided for.

The motion was lost.

MOTIONS.

Mr. McNeil moved, seconded by Mr. Kelly, that the clerk report to the Council the amounts expended in charity by the Mayor and members of the Charity Committee in their respective wards during the year 1886.—Carried.

Mr. Stenson moved, seconded by Mr. Kelly, that the taxes of Mr. Morgan be referred to the Court of Revision, and that the collector be requested to take no action until this Council meets.—Carried.

Mr. Cahill moved, seconded by Mr. Davidson, that the Street and Bridge Committee be authorized to advertise for the necessary supplies of lumber and round cedar for streets and sewers for the current year with power to award contracts for the same.—Carried.

AN IMPORTANT MATTER.

MR. DAVIDSON moved, seconded by Mr. McNeil, that the Fire, Water and Light Committee ask for tenders for an extra team for the purpose of drawing the hose cart and hook and ladder waggon, and such other purposes as the council may direct.

In support of the motion Mr. Davidson suggested that a man also be employed to sleep at the fire hall, and that alarms be placed around the town, while the town could easily be utilized in various ways. This would certainly result in the town being placed in Class B by the Fire Underwriter's Association, which would result in an insurance saving to the citizens. Mr. McNeil urged the same claims, and was further backed up by Mr. Kendry.

Messrs. Douglass and Menzies did not see it in that way. It was claimed that if the waterworks were put in their insurance would wonderfully decrease. So it did, but taken with the taxes they were really paying more than before the waterworks system was introduced.

MR. CAHILL felt disposed to look at it in the same light as Mr. Douglass.

The motion was passed.

INCREASE OF SALARY.

Mr. Kendry moved, seconded by Mr. Hartley, that the town solicitor be paid $100 in addition to his salary of last year. The mover remarked that Mr. Edwards deserved the money, as the committee on estimating the salary had made it too low.

Mr. MCNAUGHTON considered that the town solicitor had quite enough salary, and called up a point of order on the motion. The paper was left on the table as a notice of motion.

A DANGEROUS CREEK.

The MAYOR called attention to the precarious condition of the bridge and creek near Mr. Douglass' residence, which, if choked by ice, would overflow and cause great damage. —Referred to the Street and Bridge Committee.

ASSESSORS.

Mr. Menzies moved, seconded by Mr. Kendry, that Wm. Aldridge, Cornelius McGrath and Thomas McKee be appointed assessors for the year.

Messrs. McNaughton and Yelland considered that there was no necessity for having three men doing the work of two men.

The motion was carried, after which the Council adjourned, to meet at the call of the Mayor.

Turnbull has already received an immense shipment of French dress goods for the spring trade in all the latest shades described in the latest ladies journals Those looking for something new should see them.

Under the Gaslight.

A fair audience greeted the Day Dramatic Co. last night in "Under the Gaslight," a play exposing the depths of crime and the haunts of the criminals in New York. Mr. Wilson Day as "Joe Snorkey," as usual, gave a life-like portrayal of the character, and Little Annie Bird as "Peach Blossom," the young street Arab whose heart was in the right place, again carried the audience by storm. Miss Rose Osborne acted "Laura Courtland admirably, and Mr. Wm. Henderson, at the colored orator, received a hearty encore to his stump speech from the boys. The play was well put on, each role being in good hands. This evening "Don Cæsar De Bazan" will be presented. It is recommended by the city press as being one of the finest dramas on the modern stage, the costumes being something elegant.

Case after case of cottonades and shirtings have been arriving at Turnbull's. All the new patterns now in stock at his old well known low prices.

"Richard is Himself Again."

Mr. Richard Phelan has now recovered from his illness sufficiently to again enter the harness. He has taken possession of the Daly House bar and billiard rooms, and from this date will run them on his own responsibility. He has on hand a first-class stock and can abundantly meet the wants of the public. 3d26

Dominion Elections!

Nomination Day: February 15th.

Polling Day: February 22nd.

A NEW CANDIDATE IN THE FIELD!

HIS PLATFORM:

GENTLEMEN,

I have no desire to tamper with the votes of that noble army of our citizens who freely exercise the Franchise on behalf of their favorite political leaders. But, in order to take a hand in the present political struggle for supremacy between Grit and Tory, I have decided to come out and offer such tempting

BRIBES TO THE ELECTORS

as cannot fail to place me at the head of the polls.

I would scorn, like all other candidates for parliamentary honors, to buy up votes, or do aught that might be construed as a violation of our Election laws. My object is a far more patriotic one, namely—that of making a CLEAN SWEEP of all my Winter Clothing and Tweeds before Election day.

Nor will the secrecy of the Ballot be infringed by asking purchasers whether they will vote for LEBRUN, COX, or STEVENSON. No, not by a home rule scuttle full! But every elector is expected to attend this exciting Political-Winter-Clothing-Sale, and to hurrah for LEBRUN, so as to elect him by an overwhelming majority as the Workingman's Favourite Candidate.

WHY
Will people pay rent when houses and lots can be purchased on such easy terms as are offered by the undersigned. Come and inspect our work and see for yourselves how we construct our houses. Our chief aim and study is to build substantial, warm, frost and damp proof houses. I am offering good building lots, and will build solid brick houses, nine-inch walls, stripped and lathed, two stories, for less money than you can buy frame or veneered buildings. We cordially invite those who anticipate renting or buying to inspect our work and prove for themselves that our houses are not merely built to sell. Every house I've sold gives satisfaction, and I am determined that every house I build shall be a standing testimony to honest building. JOHN CARLISLE. NEW YORK'S STRIKE.

ALL THE FREIGHT HANDLERS ON THE PIERS TO JOIN IT.

NEW YORK, Feb. 1.—The extension of the strike to the freight-handlers on the railroad piers of New York is the most serious blow to commerce that the union men have struck. The effect of it on one road, the Jersey Central, it was admitted at the office on the dock this morning, was an almost complete suspension of business. The men turned out so suddenly that the company was left at a great disadvantage, and its inability to deliver freight was the cause of much inconvenience to merchants.

The men on the Pennsylvania piers along the North River are ready to come out the very minute the time for receiving the answers to their demands from the company has expired.

The Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Co.'s freight is handled by the J. H. Starin Transportation Co., and the men are in sympathy with the freight-handlers on the other lines and are ready to come out at any time.

The Lehigh Valley freight-handlers at piers on the North river have also notified their employers that unless the demand for an increase of salary was given they would quit work at noon. The company will not concede the advance.

At the New York Central Pier 26 the superintendent said the company had not received any demand from the men. Everything was quiet. It is reported that the men organized and will join the strikers as soon as the word is passed for them to do so.

The Erie Road freight-handlers made a demand for an increase at the same time as the men on the other roads. The company refused to concede it, and will give the men a determined fight. The next move on the part of the strikers will be to induce the train men to come out and thus tie up the railroads centering on the Jersey shore. There is some talk of getting the deck hands and firemen on the ferryboats to join the strikers, but these men are adverse to such a course. The boat service of the Boston, and Providence line has been suspended for the present.

The longshoremen, truckers, pilers and the members of the numerous branches of workmen who are members of the Longshoremen's Union, employed on the railroad piers of the North River, turned out at 1 o'clock to-day. The men on the Lehigh Valley Road pier No. 2, the Pennsylvania piers No.'s 1, 4, 5 and 16, the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western, and the New York, Lake Erie & Western, numbering nearly 1000, quit work by order of the Longshoremen's Union. Elsewhere on the river front the situation remains unchanged.

It is stated that the next step to be taken by leaders of the strike is to put into operation the Irish "plan of campaign."

THE COLONIES MUST PAY

If They Indulge in the Luxury of Imported Officers.

OTTAWA, Feb. 1.—Information reaches here that the Imperial Government has just issued a warrant distinctly stating that when officers of the Imperial force are lent to the various colonies they are to look to the latter for all pay and emoluments. This decision came to by the English Government will have the effect of cancelling the allowances of all English officers employed in the colonial service in the British Empire. The question has been under consideration for several years past and during all this period has naturally met with considerable opposition. It will have the effect of discouraging English officers from entering the service of the colonies, for the simple reason that they can secure better remuneration at home. For instance, the predecessors of General Middleton received, in addition to their salary from the Dominion, an Imperial allowance of £500 a year.

A $30,000 FIRE.

The Simcoe Woollen Mills Completely Destroyed.

SIMCOE, Feb. 1.—The Simcoe woollen mills took fire this afternoon about 5 o'clock. The flames spread very rapidly, and two of the operatives were badly burned before they could escape. The whole main building and contents are a total loss. It is feared a young man is lost in the building, as he is missing. The storehouse and fuel were saved. Loss about $30,000. There is a good deal of insurance, but the amount is not known.

MARRIED BY PROXY.

Miss Van Zandt Determined to Have Her Anarchist.

CHICAGO, Feb. 1.—The announcement is made this evening that August Spies and Miss Nina Van Zandt have been married by proxy, the groom being represented by his brother. A suburban justice of the peace officiated.

The Railway Race for Sault Ste. Marie.

OTTAWA, Feb. 1.—It is understood that the interview of Joseph Hickson, general manager of the Grand Trunk Railway, with Sir John Macdonald yesterday, was in connection with impending trouble with the Canadian Pacific over the construction off the branch to Sault Ste. Marie. Litigation is almost sure to ensue, as the projected line of the Grand Trunk, starting from Kirkfield or Lindsay, and running as direct as possible to the Sault, a distance of 380 miles, has stirred up its rival to extend the Algoma branch to the same point.

A Break in the French Cable.

OTTAWA, Feb. 1.—The Marine Department was notified last evening that the French cable has broken in thirty fathoms of water, two knots from St. Pierre. The agent of the company, in the absence of the cable steamer Minia, has chartered the Government steamer Newfield to make the necessary repairs. The Deputy Minister of Marine has ordered the commander of the vessel to be prepared to sail for St. Pierre from Halifax on Thursday.

A Doctor's Suicide.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Feb. 1.—Dr. Mott [illegible] by taking five grains of morphine. He was one of the leading physicians of Knoxville, and had recently been dissipated. He left a note [illegible] to bail. Tell my son to go to Heaven." Dr. Alexander was a member of the Board of Examining Surgeons of the Pension Department.

PLOTTING FOR CHURCHILL.

A Ministerial Circle Working for His Return to the Cabinet.

LONDON, Feb. 1.—The nucleus of a Churchill party is being formed by the younger members of the Carlton Club.

In the Ministerial circle Sir Henry Thurston Holland, A. B. Forwood, Sir John Gorst, Lord Harris, W. H. Long and Sir Edward Clarke, who are in sympathy with Churchill, are plotting for his return to the cabinet.

An Unprincipled Politician.

LONDON, Feb. 1.—The St. James' Gazette denounces Churchill as an unprincipled politician, who is playing his own game without regard for the interests of his party.

DAVITT'S ARRIVAL AT CORK.

The Mayor of the City Presents Him With an Address of Welcome.

QUEENSTOWN, Feb. 1.—On the arrival of the steamship Alaska here this afternoon the Mayor of Cork, accompanied by a large deputation of prominent members of the different branches of the Irish National League, went aboard and presented an address of welcome to Michael Davitt. Davitt thanked the deputation for the heartiness of their reception. Davitt left the ship at Queenstown and proceeded to Cork, where he was received with enthusiasm by the people. The Municipal Council of Cork will give a banquet to-morrow in Davitt's honor.

Panic on the London Exchange.

LONDON, Feb. 1.—A panic prevailed on the Stock Exchange to-day, slightly abating toward the close. Throughout the day orders to sell poured in from the continent, and only buying by English operators prevented an extreme fall in rates. Business after the official close was active. The street was excited over the reports of impending failures of many Paris dealers which would involve English houses. Latest quotations showed a decline for the day of 2½ in Hungarian securities, 1¾ in Italian, 5s, 1¼ in Spanish, and 4s, and 1¼ in Turkish, Russian and French securities.

The European Mails.

LONDON, Feb. 1.—The Government has settled the trans-Atlantic mail contracts so that the White Star steamers leaving Liverpool on Wednesdays and the Cunard steamers on Saturdays will take the mails. The vessels of both lines will call at Queenstown. The mails will also be sent by the steamships of the Inman line, leaving Liverpool on Tuesday, and by the North German Lloyd steamers, which leave Southampton on Thursday.

England's Defence.

LONDON, Feb. 1.—The Army Estimates this year will include the new repeating rifles, the defense of home ports and the equipment of submarine mining corps for the Clyde, Mersey, Tyne, Tay and Severn rivers and Belfast Bay. The War and Navy Departments will thus be enabled to make a concerted defence in the emergency of a sudden attack on any of above ports.

William's Significant Words.

BERLIN, Feb. 1.—The Emperor William today gave audience to the President of the Prussian Landtag, and in the course of his remarks said: "Once before we had to dissolve the Reichstag owing to its refusal to vote on the Army Bill, and then the differences between the Government and the Parliamentary majority were only brought to an end by a foreign war."

The Bulgarian Question.

PESTH, Feb. 1.—Posther Lloyd says it fears the negotiations between Russia and the Porte concerning Bulgaria were instituted merely to give time to prepare for an invasion of Bulgaria.

In Favor of Mild Drinks.

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—The Commissioners of Excise to-day passed a resolution which is certain to meet with the approval of all temperance advocates. It is designed to encourage the sale of ale, beer and wine in preference to whisky and other "hard" drinks. The new regulation goes into effect Feb. 15 next. It fixes the license for a first-class hotel at $250, and for an ordinary saloon at $200. The latter is double the present rate. The license to sell ale and beer is unchanged. The Commissioners say that they are desirous of suppressing intemperance, and believe that the best way to do it is to encourage the sale of the lighter wines and malt liquors.

An Iowa Sensation.

DES MOINES, Ia., Jan. 29.—A sensation was created in this city yesterday by the arrest of Dr. Schooler, Dean of the Iowa College of Physicians and Surgeons by the Sheriff of Warren County on the charge of complicity in the robbing of the grave of Miss Hattie Hull at Carlisle some weeks ago. The grand jury of that county, after a thorough investigation of the outrage, found an indictment against Dr. Schooler as a party to the desecration of the young lady's grave. He will be taken to Indianola to answer to the charge.

Burial of an Italian Marquis.

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—The funeral of the late Roberto Prati, Marquis of Rovagnasca, a noted Italian nobleman, took place to-day from his late residence in East Twenty-eighth-street. The body of deceased was dressed in the uniform he wore at the time of his exile from Italy, and his breast was covered with the badges and medals he had received while in the service of the Italian Government. A large number of his friends and neighbors attended the funeral. No services were held at the house, and the body was removed to Orange, N.J., for interment.

THE MONTREAL CARNIVAL.

All the Arrangements Completed and a Grand Show Promised.

MONTREAL, Feb. 1.—All that one hears just now is about the coming carnival. The progress of the work is being closely watched by those immediately concerned, who state that this splendid weather facilitates closing operations upon the spectacular features. The ice castle, maze, slide, arch and lumberman's camp are nearing completion. The details of the hockey matches, fancy dress skating tournament, the attack upon the ice castle, the snowshoers' procession up the mountain, the street parade, etc., have all been perfected. All the toboggan slides are being prepared for illumination and about thirty allegorical cars, gorgeous and grotesque are in course of construction.

The Grand Trunk and the Canadian Pacific Railways have determined to illuminate their depots during carnival week.

A FARMER FATALLY INJURED.

Run Down by a Train at a Lonesome Railway Crossing.

LONDON, Ont., Feb. 1.—Between 11 and 12 o'clock to-day, a farmer named Benj. Godwin, of the third concession of West Nissouri, received serious injuries while endeavoring to cross the G.T.R. track with his team at Maitland-street. It appears that the yard engine was making a running shunt, going at about six miles an hour, when Godwin attempted to [illegible] ware, but before Godwin could realize his [illegible] position the engine struck the sleigh, throwing him against the cars on the adjoining track. His side was badly bruised, and it is feared he sustained internal injuries. Drs. Moore, Edwards and others were promptly summoned and had Godwin removed to the hospital.

TROUBLE IN AFGHANISTAN.

The Natives Oppose the Building of a Railway to Candahar.

BOMBAY, Jan. 31.—The Duranis, an Afghan tribe, incited by the Government of Candahar, recently attacked the fort between Pishin and the Khojak range of mountains in Afghanistan. The intention was to kill the British political officer and the engineer in charge of the construction of the railroad from Quettah towards Candahar. The route is through the Khojak Pass, and the Duranis expected to find the British officials at the fort. It happened, however, that both were absent at the time of the attack. The Duranis have massacred a khan and a hundred coolies since the commencement of the work on the section of railway between Gulisman and Chaman Chauki at the head of the Khojak Pass. The Governor of Candahar has ordered that everybody from Quettah shall find security for his future good behavior. The Ameer of Afghanistan has appointed several khans at Chaman Chauki to prevent the Duranis from intriguing against the British. It is believed that if any attempt be made to continue the construction of the railway beyond Chaman Chauki it will meet with dangerous opposition from the natives. Great numbers of the Ameer's troops have perished from the cold while engaged in the pursuit of the Ghilzai rebels. The Ghilzai Chief, Syder Khan, has written to Ayoub Khan that he left the present Ameer's service to raise a rebellion in Ayoub's interest, that treachery and disaster have thwarted his revolutionary plans up to date, and that now he awaits some encouragement from Ayoub Khan himself.

HOME AND FOREIGN.

There was almost a panic in the Austrian Bourse yesterday.

Great activity in the building trade is looked for in the spring in St. Thomas.

O'Neill, another of New York's boodle aldermen, has been found guilty.

Congressman Reagan has been elected United States Senator for Texas.

Frank Beeb, a German actor, committed suicide in a Chicago variety theatre on Monday.

The Chinese of Victoria, B.C., celebrated their New Year, Jan. 23, with great ceremony.

John D. Lisle, discount clerk in the First National Bank, Baltimore, has disappeared with $7,000.

Mr. Goschen has issued an address to the electors of St. George's Division, Hanover-square.

The Grace Flouring Mill, owned by Albers & Co., at Carthage, Ill., was burned on Monday; loss $50,000.

Archdeacon Lauder of Kingston was thrown from a sleigh the other day and sustained severe injuries.

Nicholas Ormsby, an old citizen of London, and for many years a hotelkeeper there, died in that city on Monday.

At Dutton on Monday Ed. Smith, hotelkeeper at Rodney, was fined $50 and costs for violating the Scott Act.

The duties collected at the port of London for January, 1887, were $45,861.70; for January, 1886, $34,142.04; increase, $9719.66.

An order has been issued in Russia forbidding newspapers to publish other than official notices of military movements.

The London Daily News compliments Lord Randolph Churchill at having in his speech struck a blow at the Liberal Union.

Thomas Lee, sentenced to twelve months in the jail at Montreal, has escaped. He once served five years for burglary at St. Thomas.

The Edison-Swan electric light interest in London has secured a verdict against the Woodhouse-Rawson interest for infringement of patent.

A man named Alexander Douglas was shot in a disreputable house in Westminster on Friday night by a frequenter of the place. No arrests were made.

Thomas Moollok, an old man, was murdered in a house in Schenectady, N.Y., yesterday by Edward Zoph, who chopped his victim's head to pieces with a hatchet.

Julius Barron of New Westminster, B.C., has been summoned to appear before the Police Magistrate of that city on the odd charge of selling sausages without a license.

Many trains are stalled by snow on the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul, the Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis and Omaha, and the Burlington, Cedar Rapids and Northern railroads.

The French Chamber of Deputies yesterday, at the request of Premier Goblet, reinstated, by a vote of 301 to 208, the credit for Canon's salaries, and finally adopted the Public Worship budget.

A panic prevailed in the Paris Bourse yesterday owing to the situation of political affairs in France and in other European countries. Three per cent. rentes were quoted at 77f. 70c., a decline of 1f. and 87c. from the closing quotation yesterday.

Llewellyn Evans, a Brantford painter, has become insane. He became enamored of a young lady in that city, and his attention to her rendered her life miserable. He will be sent to an asylum.

Gerald Maxwell of the Wilson Barrett Dramatic Company, who has become insane, is a son of Mrs. H. E. Braddon, the novelist. His condition is not serious and it is thought he will soon recover.

The Prince of Wales, who has accepted the Presidency of the Grand National Hunt Committee, will, it is said, start a cross-country stud. The object of His Royal Highness is to own a Grand National winner.

Bishop Potter of the Protestant Episcopal Church of New York, has arranged for a memorial service celebrating the hundredth anniversary of the consecration of the first bishop of New York, which took place at Lambeth Palace on February 4, 1787.

Mrs. Edward Walker, residing nine miles north of Devil's Lake, Dak., perished in attempting to go to a neighbor's house during Saturday's blizzard. Her husband found her body half buried in the snow, one-third of a mile from the neighbor's house.

The great event of the season in political circles in Washington is to be the dinner given to Senator-elect Frank Hiscock of New York by Congressman William Walter Phelps of New Jersey. Covers will be laid for twenty-two and Chamberlin's is to be the scene of the gathering.

The Toronto Caledonians and Brampton have not yet decided when they will meet for the Ontario Tankard. As the former is the only city club now left in group 7, considerable interest is taken in the match. The winner will meet the Scarboro Heathers, and this will determine which club will be in the final competition for this trophy.

The trotting stallion Artillery, 2.21¼, by Hyndyk's Hambletonian, dam Wells' Star, by Seeley's American Star, was purchased last week by R. B. Metcalf and T. C. Jefferson of Lexington, Ky., for $10,000.

Isaac Wier, the featherweight who vanquished Jack Farrell, is matched to fight Tommy Warren for the featherweight championship of America. The men are to fight to a finish, with skin-tight gloves, in a New York club room, within six weeks. The winner is to receive a purse of $1500 and the loser a $400 consolation purse.

Several of the English "cracks," notably Ormonde, are being talked about as if they had gone amiss. Ormonde's absence from the entries for the Ascot Cup is thus commented upon in Truth: "Ormonde is not engaged, and I hear that the Hardwicke Stakes (Ascot, June 16), and Champion Stakes (Newmarket, Oct. 13), are to be his only races this year, if, indeed, he runs again; for there is reason to believe that the best has been seen of him, and it will probably be found in the spring that he has 'gone off,' as has been the fate of so many crack 3-year-olds. In that case Ormonde will not again be seen on a race-course, as the Duke of Westminster would not run the risk of having him beaten for any consideration.

The Derby was the medium of some little betting in London lately, with 5 to 1 taken against the Baron, 100 to 12 against Florentine, 11 to 1 against Grandison and 20 to 1 against Glenarvon. As to the Derby "cracks," "Under" says in his first weekly Opinion that "The Baron has been at work all winter, on the heath when possible and on a straw bed attached to Matthew Dawson's place at Exning when frost prevented work on the heath. Baron has improved considerably in appearance. He has lost much of the coarseness he once possessed, and is now a [illegible] horse in the mean way to be. Enterprise has grown the right way. That is, he has filled out, and has dropped considerably. [illegible] and quality, [illegible] Florentine is still steadily the best looking Derby horse in training. Florentine is all stable. His backs have been 'touched' to strengthen them, while in appearance he has filled out considerably during the recess. He has an enormous reach, and will win the Two Thousand if he keeps well.

LIBERALS,

RALLY

To-Night!

Dominion Elections.

A Grand Rally of every working Liberal in Town is called for THIS EVENING, in the Liberal Club Rooms, to perfect organization for the coming Dominion Elections.

The Daily Examiner.

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 2, 1887.

UNDER WHICH KING, BEZONIAN?

In yesterday's issue, was re-published from the Montreal Witness a highly complimentary article on Hon. Edward Blake, stated in terms which the latter's most bitter political foes will not say are strained or exaggerated. With a man like Edward Blake at the head of public affairs in Canada, can any one admit the possibility of a reign of corruption, such as now exists and has existed for the past eight years at Ottawa? With a statesman, of Sir John's political-moral status, things are in a deplorable state enough, but if a greater than Sir John in proficiency in political profligacy succeeds him, one can hardly hope to picture the possibilities of political vice. Sir Charles Tupper has replaced Hon. Mr. McLelan as, Minister of Finance—a change, technically viewed, for the better—but where Mr. McLelan is weak in ability Sir Charles is strong in wickedness—as shown by the fact that Sir Charles is pronounced by the man he now succeeds as the "high priest of corruption." Even Conservatives cannot swallow Sir Charles without a grimace. A member signing himself a "Tory M. P.," writes to the Globe saying that "he trusts that no one will mention Sir Charles Tupper" as the successor of Sir John to the leadership of the Tory party, adding "Sir Charles Tupper—whose moral reputation alone, not to mention other dark spots on his moral and political career," unfit him for the leadership. Yet he is elected by Sir John as the leader of the Conservative party. Would Sir Charles Tupper, who is "noted to have an itching palm," resign the certain glories of a high commissionership, with a palatial residence, $10,000 a year and found," light work and heavy pay, for the smaller salary of a cabinet minister, if he did not hope to be promoted to the occupancy of Sir John's shoes? Everything goes to show that Sir Charles Tupper will be Sir John's successor as "the Chieftris." And he is the man, the "high priest of corruption," the betrayer of provincial trust and appropriator of coal mines, whom the people of Canada are asked to prefer as a ruler to Hon. Edward Blake. Patriotism is not clear gone forever, and even Dr. Grant's gloomy pessimism cannot convince us that the people cannot have their consciences changed with the duty of upholding honesty and honour and pronouncing against corruption and self-seeking.

HON. MR. MERCIER has formed his ministry for Quebec, as follows: Hon. Honore Mercier, Premier and Attorney-General; Hon. Joseph Shehyn, Provincial Treasurer; Hon. James McShane, Minister of Public Works; Hon. Pierre Garneau, Minister of Crown Lands; Hon. George Duhamel, Solicitor-General; Hon. Charles A. E. Gagnon, Provincial Secretary; Hon. David A. Ross and Hon. Arthur Turcotte, members without portfolios. The English-speaking element is practically represented by three members, Messrs. McShane, Ross and Shehyn. Hon. Mr. Mercier thus shows that the rant of the Conservative organs which have insisted so abusively on the dangers of French domination, is utterly uncalled for, and that their abuse of the French-Canadians was wanton and malicious. The English-speaking ministry of Quebec has been liberally treated. There is no reason why Canadians of all nationalities should not live agreeably together, and if they do not do so it is chiefly due to the stirring up of strife by such fire-brands as the Mail and other Conservative organs.

WHEN the Grand Trunk employes had to submit to a reduction of wages, Manager Hickson told them it was all on account of the tax on coal. The wages of railway employes are not the only thing affected by the tax on coal. Every consumer has to pay an increased price, and the profits of every manufacturer who uses coal are largely reduced and, of course, his ability to pay high wages to his hands. The tax on coal is as much out of place as the tax at one time imposed in England on windows. The wiser way of protecting manufacturing industries is to remove the duties from raw materials, and give the manufacturer a fairer chance for profit and the hands he employs a better chance of getting high wages.

SIR JOHN is a candidate for Kingston at the present election. Judging by the result of the Provincial elections and the by-elections, the Premier's popularity has not greatly increased and his chances are not of the best. Mr. Alex. Gunn, the present candidate, defeated Sir John in 1878 by a majority of 144, and his chances are now better this time for giving the Gun Boodler a good drubbing.

WHERE THE FARMER COMES IN.

The advocates of the National Policy, who claim that the present Government administers it fairly and equitably, also claim that it is of inestimable benefit to the farmer. The Kingston Whig thus deals with the one aspect of the subject:

"The ministerial candidates in the several constituencies want the farmers to believe that the national policy has contributed wonderfully to their prosperity. They do not go into particulars and if they did they would have to state these things: (1) That the Canadian Parliament placed in 1879 an import duty upon malt; (2) that such a proceeding was insane in the extreme, in view of the fact that the Canadians did not import a pound of malt; (3) that in a retaliatory spirit the Americans also placed an import duty on malt; and (4) the result was the closing of the malt houses of Messrs. McMillan and Fisher in Kingston (or its suburbs), of Mr. Matthews, Toronto, the greatest maltster in Canada, and of every other man engaged in the business. Now the maltsters used to buy the best barley grown and marketed in the country, and they have been known to pay as much as 5c. and 7c. per bushel more for it than the regular grain dealers. They placed a premium on competition, and the farmers generally profited by it. Suppose the farmer, however, lost only 2½c. per bushel on the products of the year, and they are, say about 25,000,000 bushels of barley exported yearly, the aggregate loss is indeed a tremendous one. Their loss individually is serious enough, and for that loss they have to thank very largely the National Policy. Nor is their loss confined to barley. An import duty was placed upon corn, and what was the result? That the corn raised in Canada is only fitted for stock feed; that on every bushel of corn, brought into Canada and ground, a duty placed and paid. The importer pays it to the Government and adds it to the cost of the article when retailed in another shape; the farmer is the principal consumer, and hence the principal contributor to the Government's taxation.

"These facts are indisputable, and no politician who knows anything can upon them found an argument that will win the farmers' support. To even attempt such a thing is to discount the intelligence of the tillers of the soil, as honest men are not likely to do.

"Can the farming community be satisfied with the blessings and benefits which the National Policy was promised by Sir John to confer upon them. The above is a specific instance in which it has been so administered as to do them a positive injury. Has it raised, as Sir John promised it would do, the price of any kind of grain? Every product the farmer raises is now lower in price than it was eight years ago. Farmers are called upon to support Sir John because he gave them the National Policy. But while it has not only not done them good, it has positively injured their interests. Farmers should also remember that Sir John's Government is otherwise ruining the country. The annual expenditure has been increased from twenty-three millions to thirty-nine millions since 1878. The national debt is now over two hundred and twenty millions, or $235 for every family of five. The farmers have been trifled with long enough, and they are too long-headed to be further deceived.

The Raw Cutting Winds

Of winter bring to the surface every latent pain. It is one of the strange things associated with our physical well-being that the very air, without which we could not exist, is heavily laden with germs of disease. Rheumatism, neuralgia, lumbago, and other complaints of a similar character, hold revel at this season of the year amongst human nerves and human muscles. There was a time when fortitude alone could make life tolerable, but now with the advent of powerful, penetrating and nerve soothing remedies pain becomes a thing of the moment. The best, the most powerful and most certain pain cure is Polson's Nerviline. Nothing equals Nerviline for penetrating power. Nerviline is beyond comparison the grandest discovery for the relief of pain offered to the public. Druggists sell a ample bottle for 10 cents; large bottles only 25 cents at any drug store. 6dw5

Not his own Business.

A poet has written some lines entitled "I owe no man a dollar." This, if true, is conclusive evidence that he is engaged in some other business than writing poetry.

If anything clogs the waste-pipes in the house we become alarmed, for sewer-gas is apt to generate disease. The children, then, are removed to their grand parents' or kept out of doors as much as possible, until the defect is remedied. But the waste-pipes of the human system are often allowed to clog, and the sufferer, who cannot get away from the poison, becomes unfit for work or pleasure. In such cases Dr. Pierce's "Pleasant Purgative Pellets" will gently remove the cause, and the effect will vanish of itself. By druggists. 6dw6

Joyful News.

It is certainly glad tidings to the poor invalid to be informed of a remedy that will give prompt and sure relief in case of painful suffering. Such a remedy is Hagyard's Yellow Oil adapted for internal and external use in all aches, pains, lameness and soreness It cures rheumatism, neuralgia, sore throat, croup and all inflammatory pains. 2w5d

Yes; my client was Mrs. Ormond; and to her pretty cottage in the country I betook myself the next day. There I found my excellent friend, Randal Linley, present by special invitation.

Stop a minute. Why do I write all this, instead of explaining myself by word of mouth? My dear, you are a member of an old and illustrious family; you honored me when you married me; and you have (as your father told me on our wedding-day) the high and haughty temper of your race. I foresee an explosion of this temper, and I would rather have my writing paper blown up than be blown up myself. Is this a cowardly confession on my part? All courage, Mrs. Sarrazin, is relative; the bravest man living has a cowardly side to his character, though it may not always be found out. Some years ago, at a public dinner, I sat next to an officer in the British army. At one time in his life he had led a forlorn hope. At another time he had picked up a wounded soldier and had carried him to the care of the surgeons through a hailstorm of the enemy's bullets. Hot courage and cool courage, this true hero possessed both. I saw the cowardly side of his character. He lost his color; perspiration broke out on his forehead; he trembled; he talked nonsense; he was frightened out of his wits. And all for what? Because he had to get on his legs and make a speech!

Well; Mrs. Ormond and Randal Linley and I sat down to our consultation at the cottage.

What did my fair client want?

She contemplated marrying for the second time, and she wanted my advice as a lawyer, and my encouragement as an old friend. I was quite ready; I only waited for the particulars. Mrs. Ormond became dreadfully embarrassed, and said: "I refer you to my brother-in-law."

I looked at Randal. "Once her brother-in-law, no doubt," I said; "but after the divorce——" My friend stopped me there. "After the divorce," he remarked, "I may be her brother-in-law again."

If this meant anything, it meant that she was actually going to marry Herbert Linley again. I told him plainly that I could not believe it.

"Why not?" Randal asked.

"Saying I do want you in one breath, and I don't want you in another, seems to be a little hard on divorce," I ventured to suggest.

"Don't expect me to sympathize with divorce," Randal said.

I answered that smartly. "No, I'll wait till you are married."

He took it seriously. "Don't misunderstand me," he replied. "Where there is absolute cruelty, or where there is deliberate desertion on the husband's part, I see the use and the reason for divorce. If the unhappy wife can find an honorable man who will protect her, or an honorable man who will offer her a home, society and law, which are responsible for the institution of marriage, are bound to allow a woman outraged under the shelter of their institution to marry again. But where the husband's fault is sexual frailty, I say the English law which refuses divorce on that ground alone is right, and the Scotch law which grants it is wrong. Religion which rightly condemns the sin, pardons it on the condition of true penitence. Why is a wife not to pardon it for the same reason? Why are the lives of a father, a mother, and a child to be wrecked, when those lives may be saved by the exercise of the first of Christian virtues—forgiveness of injuries? In such a case as this I regret that divorce exists; and I rejoice when husband and wife and child are one flesh again, reunited by the law of nature, which is the law of God."

I might have disputed with him; but I thought he was right, and I wanted to make sure of the facts.

"Am I really to understand," I asked, "that Mr. Herbert Linley is to be the lady's husband for the second time?"

"If there is no lawful objection to it," Randal said, "decidedly yes."

My good wife, in all your experience you never saw your husband stare as he stared at that moment. Here was a lady divorced from her husband, by her own lawful desire and at her own personal expense, thinking better of it after no very long interval, and proposing to marry the man again. Something to wonder at, surely! How did it end?

It ended in my admitting my ignorance as a lawyer, and offering my encouragement as a friend. The case being without precedent in my experience, I dropped my professional character at the outset. Speaking next as a friend, I had only to say to Mrs. Ormond: "The law has declared you and Mr. Herbert Linley to be single people. Do what other single people do. Buy a license, and give notice at a church, and by all means send wedding cards to the judge who divorced you."

Said; and, in another fortnight done. Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Linley were married again this morning, and Randal and I were the only witnesses present at the ceremony, which was strictly private.

2.—The Lawyer's Defense.

I wonder whether the foregoing pages of my writing paper have been torn to pieces and thrown into the waste-paper basket? You wouldn't litter the carpet. No. I may be torn in pieces, but I do you justice for all that.

What are the objections to the divorced husband and wife becoming husband and wife again? Mrs. Presty has stated them in the following order. Am I wrong in assuming that there is no chance in the universe of the case being tried in Scotland, where the thing has been done before, but whether such a thing is possible.

Second objection: Husband or wife respectable person. Third objection: No body has ever done it. Fourth objection: Presty? Agree with Mrs. Presty that everybody does it, and you will find, on this occasion at least, that public opinion is on your side. Mrs. Presty replies: The question is not whether the thing has been done before, but whether it is right. There is no chance in the universe of the case being tried in Scotland, where divorce is not known. Second objection: Husband or wife respectable person. Third objection: Nobody has ever done it. Fourth objection: Presty? Agree with Mrs. Presty that everybody does it, and you will find, on this occasion at least, that public opinion is on your side. Mrs. Presty replies: The question is not whether the thing has been done before, but whether it is right. There is no chance in the universe of the case being tried in Scotland, where divorce is not known. Second objection: No respectable person will visit her. Mrs. Sarrazin will visit her. Yes, you will, my dear. Not because I insist upon it; do I ever insist on anything? No; you will act on your own responsibility out of compassion for a misguided old woman. Judge for yourself if Mrs. Presty is not sadly in need of the good example of an ornament

Enjoy Life.

What a truly beautiful world we live in! Nature gives us grandeur of mountains, glens and oceans, and thousands of means of enjoyment. We can desire no better when in perfect health; but how often do the majority of people feel like giving it up disheartened, discouraged and worn out with disease, when there is no occasion for this feeling, as every sufferer can easily obtain satisfactory proof, that Green's August Flower, will make them free from disease, as when born. Dyspepsia and Liver Complaint are the direct causes of seventy-five per cent, of each maladies as Biliousness, Indigestion, Sick Headache, Costiveness, Nervous Prostration, Dizziness of the head, Palpitation of the Heart, and other distressing symtoms. Three doses of August Flower will prove its wonderful effect. Sample bottle, 10 cents. Try it. eodw4

Rather Cute.

It is the impecunious young M. D. with a long head that hireth an office at the foot of a toboggan slide and putteth out his shingle.

McGregor's Speedy Cure.

When we say McGregor's is the only perfect Cure for Dyspepsia, Liver Complaints, Indigestion and impure blood, we are telling plain facts, upon which hundreds upon hundreds can testify who have been restored to perfect health by its use. we would therefore advise you strongly if you are a subject of any of the above troubles to give McGregor's Speedy Cure a trial and be convinced. It is sold in 50. and $1.00 bottles at John McKee's Drug Store. eodw5

A Fair Proposition.

There could be no offer more fair than that of the proprietors of Hagyard's Yellow Oil, who have long offered to refund every cent expended for that remedy if it fails to give satisfaction on fair trial for rhumatism, neuralgia, sore throat and all painful complaints.

Circumstances Alter Cases.

Willie—Mamma, you ain't going to give all that chicken to tommy, are you? Mamma—No, Willie Dear; it is for you. Willie—Oh, what a little bit!

The Last Year, 1886.

After the above year is ended there need be no person suffering from Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Toothache' Headache, Lumbago, or any acute pain, if they only purchase a bottle of Fluid Lightning, as it cures instantly. Pain cannot stay where it is used. The name is Fluid Lightning. Sold by John McKee Druggist. eodw4

McGregor & Parke's Carbolic Cerate.

Have you an old Sore, Cut, Burn, Bruise, Corn, bunion, Salt Rheum, Pimple, Blotches, Rough Hands or Face? If so, there is but one cure, namely, McGregor & Parke's Carbolic Cerate. If you but try it, it will convince you. It costs but 25c, at John McKee's Drug Store. eodw5

Safe, Sure, and Painless.

What a world of meaning this statement embodies. Just what you are looking for, is it not? Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor—the great sure-pop corn cure—acts in this way. It makes no sore spots; safe acts speedy and with certinty, surely and mildly, without inflaming the parts; painless. Do not be imposed upon by immotations or substitutes. 6dw5

Jumping at a conclusion—a dog trying to catch his own tale.

World-wide is the reputation of West's Cough Syrup, the truly marvelous remedy for coughs, colds, croup, whooping-cough, asthma and consumption. All druggists.

West's Cough Syrup instantly relieves and speedily cures bronchitis, sore throat, and all throat diseases. Try it and be convinced. All druggists. dwd

A Crying Evil.—Children are often fretful and ill when worms are the cause. Dr. Low's Worm Syrup safely expels all worms. dwd

The increasing demand for West's Cough Syrup is evidence of its great virtue in all throat and lung diseases. Three sizes. All druggists. dwd

West's Cough Syrup, the most reliable remedy for all throat and lung diseases. For safety keep it always in the house. All druggists. dwd

To remove Dandruff—Cleanse the scalp with Prof. Low's Magic Sulphur Soap. A delightful soap for the toilet. dwd

Chilblains, frosted feet, and all frost bites cured by a few applications of West's World's Wonder or Family Liniment, the magic cure. Try it. 25 and 50c. All druggists. dwd

Out in Manitoba they put the thermometer in the oven to keep it from going down out of sight.

MOTHERS TAKE NOTICE.—West's Cough Syrup contains no opiates, opium or any minerals, and can be given to the youngest and most delicate child with perfect safety. It is an infallible cure for croup and whooping cough. A bottle should always be kept convenient, as it is always a certain cure for coughs, colds, consumption in its early stages, bronchitis, asthma, and all throat and lung troubles. 25c., 50c. and $1 per bottle. EGAN'S IMPERIAL TRUSS.

Read the following extract from a letter of a well-known citizen of St. Catharines,—hundreds like it:

ST. CATHARINES, Sept. 20th, 1886.

GENTLEMEN,—Being over 70 years of age, and over 30 years ruptured, I looked upon my case as hopeless, especially as I tried various appliances without success, among others, recently, two spiralic trusses from New York State, costing me $16. Nothing would retain my Rupture. I have worn your truss over four months, night and day, with great satisfaction and comfort; even to bathe in it the rupture has never come down. It holds me perfectly secure under all circumstances. You may publish it for the benefit of other sufferers. Yours truly, CAPT. B. KING.

This new Spiral Spring Pad Truss has taken ten years to make it perfect; is guaranteed to hold the very worst case during the hardest work or severest strain. It will cure every child born; and 99 out of every 100 of adults. Be warned—don't waste your money on useless appliances, but send stamp for our treatise; it contains full information, your neighbors' testimony, price list and questions for you to answer. When writing please mention this paper. Address, from a common Blotch, or Eruption, to the worst Scrofula. Salt-rheum, "Fever-sores," Scaly or Rough Skin, in short, all diseases caused by bad blood are conquered by this powerful, purifying, and invigorating medicine. Great Eating Ulcers rapidly heal under its benign influence. Especially has it manifested its potency in curing Tetter, Rose Rash, Boils, Carbuncles, Sore Eyes, Scrofulous Sores and Swellings, Hip-Joint Disease, White Swellings, Goitre, or Thick Neck, and Enlarged Glands. Send ten cents in stamps for a large treatise, with colored plates, on Skin Diseases, or the same amount for a treatise on Scrofulous Affections.

GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY

CURES ALL HUMORS,

"THE BLOOD IS THE LIFE." Thoroughly cleanse it by using Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and good digestion, a fair skin, buoyant spirits, vital strength, and soundness of constitution, will be established.

CONSUMPTION,

which is Scrofulous Disease of the Lungs, is promptly and certainly arrested and cured by this God-given remedy, if taken before the last stages of the disease are reached. From its wonderful power over this terribly fatal disease, when first offering this now celebrated remedy to the public, Dr. PIERCE thought seriously of calling it his "Consumption Cure," but abandoned that name as too limited for a medicine which, from its wonderful combination of tonic, or strengthening, alterative, or blood-cleansing, anti-bilious, pectoral, and nutritive properties, is unequaled, not only as a remedy for consumption of the lungs, but for all

CHRONIC DISEASES OF THE

Liver, Blood, and Lungs.

If you feel dull, drowsy, debilitated, have sallow color of skin, or yellowish-brown spots on face or body, frequent headache or dizziness, bad taste in mouth, internal heat or chills, alternating with hot flashes, low spirits and gloomy forebodings, irregular appetite, and coated tongue, you are suffering from Indigestion, Dyspepsia, and Torpid Liver, or "Biliousness." In many cases only part of these symptoms are experienced. As a remedy for all such cases, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has no equal.

For Weak Lungs, Spitting of Blood, Shortness of Breath, Bronchitis, Severe Coughs, Consumption, and kindred affections, it is a sovereign remedy. Send ten cents in stamps for Dr. Pierce's book on Consumption. Sold by Druggists.

Money to Lend

Attention of those concerned is directed to the advertisement of Mr. A. P. Poussette in another column in which he announces that he has made arrangements for lending an unlimited amount of money at 6 per cent. and on the most favorable terms. Mr. Poussette has had a large experience in negotiating loans and parties in need of money will doubtless find it to their advantage to him.

A Dandy Barber Shop.

Mr. Joe Mitchell's barber shop on Hunter street now ranks among the neatest and nobbiest in town. Recently the premises have been altered and improved till Mr. Mitchell's tonsorial parlor is a "parlor" indeed. The walls have been hung with a handsomely tinted paper, the three chairs have been covered and look like new, a large marble-topped walnut wash-stand, with tank and mirror, have been added, and finally a beautiful case, walnut with marble top, comprising two cup-racks, two cases for soap, etc., and a large mirror for each chair completes the equipment of as nobby a barber shop as there is in the midland district. Outside a gorgeous striped pole and neat sign attract the customers.

County Orange Lodge.

Tuesday evening the above lodge met in session in the Orange Hall, Peterborough. There was present the largest attendance on record in the history of Orangeism in Peterborough. A new lodge was reported as having been started in the township of Smith. At the election of officers there was the keenest interest taken. For County Master there was a contest between Messrs. J. B. McWilliams and Wm. King, the former being elected by a considerable majority. The following are the officers for the coming year:—

J. R. McWilliams.....County Master
Richard Weram.....Deputy " "
J. H. Campbell.....Chaplain
W. A. Stratton.....Rec.-Sec.
J. G. Wier.....Treasurer
Samuel Nelson.....D. of C.
John Smith.....Lecturer
T. G. Eastland.....Deputy-Lecturers

Don Cesar de Bazan.

The opera house was well seated last night at the performance of the Day Dramatic Co. The play was "Don Cesar de Bazan," a first-class comedy, the scene of which is laid in Spain during the reign of Charles II. The costumes were those in vogue at the date of the play, rich and unique, and the play was exceedingly well put on. Mr. Wilson Day as "Don Cesar," the hero, played his part to perfection. Miss Osborne as "Maritana," the gipsy, gave a good rendition of a difficult role. Little Annie Bird sang as usual, and won a warm place in the hearts of the audience. To-night the company play at Lindsay, and will re-appear in Peterborough Thursday night in Bartley Campbell's "Van, the Virginian," a Southern melo-drama of beautiful character. Friday night Mr. Day will take a benefit, when will be played "The Honeymoon." Each lady attending will be presented with a satin programme as a souvenir.

An Expanding Industry.

It is not always that a deserving industry receives proper material recognition, but such is not the case with the hot water and steam boiler works of Messrs. McAndrew & Noble, whose business on Hunter street has grown to such dimensions that they are now making their boilers by steam power. Their work was formerly all done by hand, and though the steam power, of course, affords greater facilities for rapid work, yet the firm are unable to fill the orders as they come in, though work is continued until 10 o'clock every night. The boilers made by this firm are the largest made in Peterborough, and are commended by all who have purchased them. In Ottawa city alone they have orders from Messrs. Johnston, Blyth & Kerr, Landry & Jalien, Hunting & Loving, Bank of Commerce, and others inside and outside the city. It is pleasing to notice that our local industries, one by one, are gradually creeping to the front of all competition. Messrs. McAndrew & Noble are hard workers and deserve success.

The O. R. A.

At a meeting of the Oddfellows Relief Association held recently at Gananoque, among those present was Mr. R. W. Errett, of Peterborough. The directors' report showed the benefits paid last year in Class A amounted to $13,000, $4,000 of which was for claims accruing last year. In Class B the benefits paid were $2,000. The present membership is—Class A, 2,336; Class B, 1,267; total, 3,603, showing a net gain during the year of 386. The amount paid in benefits in five years was $50,300, and the net amount of assessments received $50,649. The expenses per member decrease as the members increase; the expense in 1882 in Class A was $1,06¼; in '83, 86½; '84, 58⅝c.; '85, 59⅜c.; '86, 48⅛c. These figures show that the association is flourishing. There is a total surplus on hand of $7,586.09. The report and financial statement were adopted, after which directors were appointed. Motions to oblige those joining the Association to remain members of Oddfellows lodges, and to allow indigent members over 60 years of age certain amounts to be deducted from their policy after death, were after a warm debate voted down, after which the meeting adjourned.

Hits and Misses.

A larger audience than the night before assembled in the George street church last night to listen to the second of John R. Clarke's celebrated lectures on "Hits and Misses." The speaker referred to the "hits" made by great political and social characters, which he offset by an account of their too frequent "misses," due in the majority of cases to intemperance. Then he enumerated a few of the "misses" who had made "hits" in the literary world or domestic circle. During the course of his lecture he sang Dutch, negro and Yorshire songs. Mr. Clarke has a fine voice, his mimitic powers are excellent and his dialect perfect. The songs created great amusement. He concluded by urging his hearers not to make any more "misses" than they could help, and one way to accomplish this was to adhere strictly to temperance principles.

At the close a vote of thanks was moved by Rev. I. Tovell and unanimously carried, the pastor speaking in highest terms of the lecture and expressing the hope of another early visit from Mr. Clark. The proceeds of the two lectures will net the Sunday school about $100.

St. Luke's Concert.

The neat little school room of St. Luke's Church, Ashburnham, was well filled last by an audience that at the close of the concert expressed itself highly pleased with the entertainment. The Rector, Rev. Mr. Bradshaw, opened the proceedings by announcing a few changes of programme, Mr. T. Dunn, who was down for a solo, being absent. Appended is the programme as rendered, upon which no comment is necessary. A single glance will at once reveal the fact that the concert was a decided success. Mr. L. Seward acted as pianist throughout, in his usual efficient manner.

The Ontario Tankard.

Preliminary Competition in Group 2—Fine Ice, Fine Weather, and Fine Sport—The Home Club Goes Left—Down to a Fine Point Now.

The great bonspiel is almost over. Everything passed off as harmoniously as could be wished for, and though the defeated ones no doubt felt sore for a time, their victorious brethren of the "stone and broom" made everything as comfortable and cheering that they went away, if not rejoicing, at least in an amiable mood. Every price had been taken by the home curlers to afford the visitors a hearty welcome and treat them as they deserved, and it was evident that their efforts were highly successful. Conviviality and the best of good humor reigned throughout. In the afternoon the following matches were played:—

Rink No. 1.

Cobourg.		Belleville.
C. T. McCallum,		J. Wickett,

G. Roddick,		J. McClelland,
J. Clemes,		T. Rutherford,
E. Burton,		S. Ray,
P. Phillips, skip	23	G. Brown, skip	18

Sorry indeedare we to record a defeat for Peterborough in the first draw, which debars them from further active participation in the bonspiel. From the very start the Port Hope scopers had a lead, but when nearing the finale the Peterborough laddies slowly crept up and a couple of fine shots by skip Brown raised their hopes considerably, but the game was too nearly finished to admit of a victory, and the Port Hopers came out ahead by 16. In the beginning of the Belleville-Cobourg contest things looked rather blue for the former, but they finally crept up and passed their opponents with a good majority. One of the Belleville teams scored 7 points in a single rink,—a remarkable record.

Dinner and tea were served in the lunch room at the expense of the home club, Mr. S. Ray providing the "spread" in his usual excellent manner.

The first draw resulted in the following clubs being victorious:—Lakefield, Whitby, Lindsay, Belleville and Port Hope. These, with Bobcaygeon, a bye, played off in the evening.

EVENING PLAY.

Lindsay.		Bobcaygeon.
W. Needler, skip	15	W. T. Read, skip	17

Majority for Bobcaygeon 8; Dr. Boucher, umpire.

AFTERNOON PLAY.

Port Hope played the winning club for the district championship, but the result is not known as we go to press.

Two rinks of Scarboro' Curling club arrived by C. P. R. to-day to play Port Hope for the Caledonian medal, but as the latter preferred trying conclusions with Whitby for the Ontario Tankard, they allowed the game to go to Scarboro' by default. A friendly match was begun this afternoon between Peterborough and Scarboro' clubs.

Board of Education.

Inaugural Meeting—Appointment of Committees, etc.

At the inaugural meeting of the new Board of Education in the Council Chamber at noon to-day the following members signed declaration of office papers and took their seats:—Messrs. R. W. Errett, R. W. Muncaster, W. H. Wrighton, D. W. Dumble, Jas. Stevenson, J. R. Stratton, A. Rutherford, Thos. Rutherford, Robert Weir, Jas. Kendry, J. B. McWilliams, Wm. English and George Sproule.

Mr. J. R. Stratton moved, seconded by Mr. Weir, that Mr. Jas. Stevenson be re-appointed chairman for the ensuing year.—Carried.

Mr. Stevenson took the chair and briefly reviewed the work of the past year and the prospects for the coming twelve months, regretting that there was a small deficit in the finances.

DRAFTING COMMITTEE.

Mr. Stratton moved, seconded by Mr. Wrighton, that a special committee be appointed to strike standing committees for the ensuing year as follows:—Messrs. Dumble, Deane, English, Muncaster, Errett, Kendry and the mover and seconder, with instructions that the whole Board constitute the committee on appointments.—Carried.

Mr. Rutherford moved in amendment, seconded by Mr. Weir, the drafting committee be composed of the following gentlemen: Wrighton, Deane, Kendry, Stratton and the mover and seconder.—Lost.

The committee withdrew for a few minutes and reported, recommending the appointment of the following

STANDING COMMITTEES.

Appointment.—The whole board.

Finance.—Messrs. Kendry, Wrighton, McWilliams, Dr. Burnham and Muncaster.

Property.—Messrs. Wrighton, Sproule, A. Rutherford, T. Rutherford, English and Weir.

Supervision.—Messrs. Stratton, Burnham, McWilliams, Muncaster, Deane and Errett.

The report was adopted.

Mr. Stratton moved, seconded by Mr. Deane, that the Property and Supplies Committee be instructed to secure the necessary wood, coal, and other supplies for the present year.—Carried.

Mr. Brown Appointed.

Mr. Dunlop stated, accompanied by Mr. Errett, that Mr. Fowler Stratton had appointed School Inspector for the present year.

Mr. Kendry moved in amendment that Mr. Brown be appointed School Inspector.

After considerable discussion, the matter of appointing an Inspector was left over till the next meeting.

The Board then adjourned till Saturday night at 8 o'clock.

DIED.

DEVLIN.—In Peterborough, on the 1st Feb'y 1887, Ellen Monica, youngest child of Mr. W. J. Devlin, aged 10 months.

Dominion Elections!

Nomination Day: February 15th.

Polling Day; February 22nd.

A NEW CANDIDATE IN THE FIELD!

HIS PLATFORM:

Gentlemen,

I have no desire to tamper with the votes of that noble army of our citizens who freely exercise the Franchise on behalf of their favorite political leaders. But, in order to take a hand in the present political struggle for supremacy between Grit and Tory, I have decided to come out and offer such tempting

as cannot fail to place me at the head of the polls.

I would scorn, like all other candidates for parliamentary honors, to buy up votes, or do aught that might be construed as a violation of our Election laws. My object is a far more patriotic one, namely—that of making a CLEAN SWEEP of all my Winter Clothing and Tweeds before Election day.

Nor will the secrecy of the Ballot be infringed by asking purchasers whether they will vote for LEBRUN, COX, or STEVENSON. No, not by a home rule scuttle full! But every elector is expected to attend this exciting Political-Winter-Clothing-Sale, and to hurrah for LEBRUN, so as to elect him by an overwhelming majority as the Workingman's Favourite Candidate.

SAMPLES OF THE BRIBES:

SUITS, made to Order - - $12
Formerly sold for $15.

SUITS, made to Order - - $14
Formerly sold for $17.

SUITS, Ready-made, for $5 and upwards.

PANTS made to Order for $3.00——$4.00——$4.50.

If the Electors will only ponder over these facts and see and handle these Bribes for themselves, I feel certain that the 22nd will be a cold day for the other candidates.

H. LeBRUN

WAR SCARE IN EUROPE

THE GERMAN PRESS STILL DISCUSS ITS PROBABILITY.

BERLIN, Feb. 2.—The Cologne Gazette, in an article headed "Are War Apprehensions Justified?" points out that France is preparing to form in the shortest time possible, in the event of war in the spring, the strategical line which she delayed forming in 1870. Germany must, therefore, either take needful counter measures or summon France to reduce her frontier garrisons. The Gazette further announces that the Government will take the necessary steps to prevent Alsace-Lorraine from being overrun by French troops immediately after the declaration of war.

It is an Electoral Game.

PARIS, Feb. 2.—The Temps refuses to regard as serious the attacks of the German papers upon France. It says they are due to an electoral game, the issue of which will be the triumph of imperialism or of parliamentarysm.

A Useless Endeavor.

BERLIN, Feb. 2.—The National Gazette states that the French Ambassador in a recent interview with Prince Bismarck, tried to reassure the chancellor regarding Boulanger's position and intention.

Alsace-Lorraine.

BERLIN, Feb. 2.—Minister Von Hoffman, Secretary of State for Alsace-Loraine, in an address to the Alsace National Committee, contends that a vast majority of the population of Alsace-Loraine do not desire that France should go to war for the reconquest of those provinces. He urges the people of Alsace-Loraine to elect members of Reichstag who will show that these are their sentiments, and says such an expression of their feelings will make a profound impression on France.

The Tension Extreme.

LONDON, Feb. 3.—A dispatch from Berlin to the Standard says: "The tension between Germany and France is extreme, and a solution must come very shortly."

Comment on the Post's Article.

BERLIN, Feb. 2.—All the newspapers here, except the North German Gazette, are discussing the Berlin Post's recent article on the situation in France.

The Vossische Zeitung condemns the article as offering wanton provocation to France.

The Tagblatt reminds the public that a sensational war article in the Post in 1875, headed "War in Sight," was disavowed by Prince Bismarck in the Reichstag.

The Freisinnige declares that the article was especially designed to play upon the fears of the German electors.

The National reproduces it without criticism beyond affirming that Germany continues a solid rampart for European peace and that in rightly judging the situation it is necessary to recall the words of Bismarck, that Germany would not take the responsibility of attacking France.

Belgium Wants a War Grant.

BRUSSELS, Feb. 2.—It is reported that the Government has decided to ask of Parliament a credit of 50,000,000 francs for war armaments and fortifying Antwerp and the country between the Sambre and Meuse rivers.

A Brave Rescue.

FORREST, Jan. 20.—While the east-bound express train was waiting here to-day for the west-bound express, Messenger Sparling (of the Canadian Express Company) noticed two children standing on the switch a few yards from his car. He yelled to them, but the noise of the escaping steam from the standing engine drowned out his voice. The engineer of the incoming train at the same time noticed their danger and whistled, putting on the brakes and reversing his engine. Messenger Sparling, seeing that the children did not notice his yelling or the whistling, jumped out of the car door and ran and threw them under the standing train as the engine swept past, just grazing them. Had the messenger's foot slipped in jumping down on the icy ground, nothing could have saved him from being killed, as well as the children. The excitement of the lookers-on (who were too far away to render any assistance) was intense, and when it was seen that all were safe they clustered around the express car to shake hands with the messenger and congratulate him on his escape and on his brave act.

How the Scott Act Should be Enforced.

BERLIN, Feb. 2.—At the meeting of the Waterloo County Council it was moved by Mr. Walter, Reeve of Wellesley, seconded by Mr. Lumsden, Reeve of Galt, and carried by a vote of 25 to 3 that the county memorialize the Ontario Legislature that it is unjust and inexpedient that any provincial money should be expended to aid in the enforcement of the Scott Act which, being of the nature of a local improvement measure, should be enforced entirely at the expense of the counties adopting it and not at all at the expense of counties under the License Act. The resolution meets with warm approval here, especially from the Germans.

The Queen Attends a Play.

LONDON, Feb. 2.—The Queen attended a dramatic performance at Osborne to-day. This is the first time she has been at a play since the death of Prince Albert. The performance took place in the Council Chamber of the palace. The play was Gilbert's "Sweethearts," with Mr. and Mrs. Kendall in the leading roles. The audience included Princess Beatrice, Prince Henry of Battenberg, Princess Frederick of Hanover and thirty court attendants.

The Italian Campaign in the Soudan.

ROME, Feb. 2.—It transpires that the fighting at Saati, near Massowah, on January 25 and 26, was not between Arabs and Italians, but between the Italians and Abyssinians. The newspapers this morning, in commenting upon the situation, urge calmness in dealing with the matter. They say there is no question of war with the Abyssinians, but only a question of the defence of Massowah.

HARCOURT'S PLAN.

HE INVITES GLADSTONE TO MEET HARTINGTON AND CHURCHILL.

LONDON, Feb. 2.—The Liberals are pleased with the Parnell amendment to the address, considering it moderate in tone and skilfully worded. The Chamberlain group will hold aloof from the division on the amendments.

Harcourt's Dinner Party.

LONDON, Feb. 2.—Sir Wm. Vernon Harcourt has invited Mr. Gladstone to meet Lord Hartington and Lord Randolph Churchill at dinner at his house on Saturday. Lord Hartington needs his excuses, and the presence of Mr. Gladstone is doubtful. The invitations have caused a sensation. It is rumored that Harcourt is trying to effect a temporary coalition in order to attack the Government's war expenditures. The dinner is to be purely social in character and without political import.

Lord Hartington at Newcastle.

LONDON, Feb. 3.—Lord Hartington spoke at Newcastle last evening. He said it was unlikely that they would see the Government's Irish proposals this session if the present waste of the time of Parliament continues. He explained that though he continued to support the Government, he believed an official coalition would have diminished the Unionist-Liberal following, and he could better help the Unionist cause by remaining independent. With Mr. Goschen the case was different. He had no sympathy with those who reproached the Government for its efforts to bring the Irish landlords and tenants to an agreement. He believed it was impossible to dispense with evictions. Certainly no legislative measure of any kind could dispense with them. He urged that the agitators who, he said, were in many cases the originators of Ireland's troubles, be firmly dealt with and that a steady endeavor be made to remove the economic causes of those troubles.

The Irish Disorder.

DUBLIN, Feb. 2.—The Government has decided to suppress a meeting of tenants announced to be held at Loughrea.

A large crowd of people, accompanied by bands, paraded to-day in Hospital, a town in Limerick, to celebrate the acquittal of Carroll, Chairman of the Killmarnock Board of Guardians, who was charged with rioting. The presiding magistrate notified the police to suppress the demonstration. An attempt to carry out this order resulted in a conflict, during which a woman was wounded by being struck by a truncheon in the hands of a constable.

Numerous priests, jurors and other residents of Sligo have signed protests against the exclusion of Catholics from the jury box.

THE NEW YORK STRIKE.

The "No Rent" Plan Will be Adopted by the Strikers.

NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—District Assembly No. 49 of the Knights of Labor failed yesterday to stop business on the Pennsylvania and Jersey Central Railways. The switchmen, mechanics and machinists did not come out, and probably will not.

The Board held a stormy session last night. Delegates from two local assemblies reported that they had decided to refuse to pay rent. They said that pretty nearly all of the local assemblies which take in the longshoremen and freight handlers, would resolve to take this course. A member of the Executive Board said that probably 15,000 men would refuse to pay rent.

Negotiations Declined.

NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—President Austin Corbin, of the Philadelphia and Reading Company, to-day conferred with the coal presidents individually in accordance with the request made to him by the Knights of Labor. The following statement is authorized by him. Mr. Corbin came on from Philadelphia at the request of the Knights of Labor to see if any compromise could be effected between the coal companies and the men on strike. The presidents declined to open any negotiations, saying they had now nearly as many men as they needed, and would be, within the next day or two, working at their full capacity.

The managers of the various steamship lines claim to be experiencing little difficulty except from the slowness of the new men.

A PRISONER'S GREAT LUCK.

Discharged From the Penitentiary in Mistake for Another Man.

MONTREAL, Feb. 2.—A young man named Eugene Herbert was undergoing a four years term in St. Vincent de Paul Penitentiary for forgery. His friends and relatives believing that he had been led into crime by others, petitioned Chief Justice Sir A. A. Dorion to intervene in his behalf with the Government authorities. He did so and with success, and a few days ago orders were received at the penitentiary to set young Herbert free. He had served two years of his allotted term in an exemplary manner, and accordingly he was liberated. A few days after his liberation it was discovered that the wrong man had been let out. There were two Herberts in prison, and the Herbert who had been pardoned was still imprisoned. The orders from Ottawa had to be obeyed and accordingly the second Herbert was set free. The other Herbert, who had not finished his term, has not yet been retaken.

THE QUEBEC LEGISLATURE.

The Speech From the Throne Will be Delivered March 16.

QUEBEC, Feb. 2.—Owing to an understanding that the speech from the throne would not be read, and that the House would only meet to adjourn, there was a light attendance of members and the public at to-day's session of the Legislative Assembly. At 3 o'clock His Honor, Lieut-Governor Masson ascended the throne, acknowledged the formation of the Mercier Government, and announced that the speech from the throne would be delivered on the reassembling of the House on the 16th of March. The adjournment till that date was then moved and carried.

A Steamship in Distress.

SANDY HOOK, N.J., Feb. 2.—At 8 o'clock to-night a patrolman from Monmouth Beach Life-Saving Station, No. 4, discovered a large steamer which had come ashore off a mile south of the station. The passengers on board were screaming for assistance. The life-saving crew hastened to the spot. When the crew got to the place the steamer had gone about half a mile off shore, and is thought to be fast on the bar and leaking. The weather is very thick and a heavy sea is running. No further particulars are obtainable.

Suicide Near Guelph.

GUELPH, Feb. 2.—Jos. Atkinson, a farmer, living near Marden, four miles from Guelph, committed suicide on Tuesday by shooting himself in the breast with a shotgun. He leaves a wife, four sons and three daughters. The deceased was well and favorably known throughout South Wellington.

Call at Turnbull's for dresses and mantles. Every garment made in the latest fashion.

A DIABOLICAL DEED.

Attempt to Destroy an Ocean Steamer With Dynamite.

NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—The Old Dominion steamship Guyandotte sailed from the foot of Beach-street at 3 o'clock Monday afternoon, after having been delayed somewhat by the troubles of the line with the strikers. She was loaded by non-union 'longshoremen. She came back that night with two great holes in her decks, caused by a dynamite explosion off Long Branch. She had five cabin passengers and ten or fifteen in the steerage. She sailed for Norfolk. The run down the bay and out by the Hook was uneventful and pleasant, and the passengers and ship's people were in excellent spirits. The vessel was off Long Branch at about 5 o'clock in the afternoon, when the explosion occurred, and a frightful explosion it was. The explosive was in a closet on the starboard quarter, about 160 feet aft of the boilers. Capt. John A. Kelly was in the pilot house at the time when, with a loud report and a crash, a hole fifteen feet square was torn up through the hurricane deck. The downward force of the explosive tore a similar opening through the heavy planks of the main deck into the hold. A young man passenger was reading in the cabin at the time, and a bit of flying timber struck him on the leg, lacerating the flesh over the shin bone, but not seriously injuring him. The joiner work of the cabin was torn away and the after part of the cabin was badly wrecked. The steady motion of the ship soon showed that no serious injury was done to the hull, and the panic and excitement that had momentarily seized all hands was soon calmed.

The fuse of the infernal machine was found in the cabin of the steamer. It is suspected that the machine was brought aboard by a young man who was seen on the dock before the steamer sailed.

Killed on Shipboard.

NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—The steamer Arizona reached her pier early to-day with her ensign floating at half mast astern, out of respect to two of the seamen, William Haseo and Wm. Roberts, who died from the effects of injuries sustained on January 25. The men were killed by being swept along the deck by a heavy sea which washed on board during a severe gale.

An Ex-Detective Sent up.

OTTAWA, Feb. 2.—Francis McPherson, who figured as a private detective for some months before Jan. 10, when he was caught in the act of burglarizing the Canada Atlantic Railway Ticket Office, was this afternoon sentenced to two years and a half in the penitentiary.

Vice-Chancellor of Laval.

MONTREAL, Feb. 2.—A special decree received from Rome appoints Archbishop Fabre Vice-Chancellor of Laval University. The official announcement of this appointment will shortly be made known from the pulpits of several churches of the archdiocese.

The Pope's Allocution.

LONDON, Feb. 2.—A despatch from Rome says a consistory will be held there on March 7 next, and that the Pope's allocution will affirm with increased emphasis the principle of the temporal power of the church.

THE WEST RIDING CAMPAIGN

MR. COX'S MEETING IN THE OPERA HOUSE.

A Large Attendance and Highly Successful Meeting.

Three Capital Speeches—Addresses by Mr. Cox, Mr. Bertram and Mr. Patterson, of Brant—Captious Charges Cleared Away—Profession Versus Promise Dealt With—Masterly Arraignment of the Government.

Notwithstanding the unfavourable state of the weather, there was a well filled hall at the Opera House on Wednesday evening—the first campaign meeting held in the town. The gallery was also well filled with ladies. Mr. M. Millar, President, occupied the chair, and on the platform, besides the speakers of the evening, a number of prominent gentlemen representing the manufacturing, mercantile and other interests of the town, were seated.

Mr. MILLAR made a few brief opening remarks, saying that since the last meeting held in the Opera House the Liberal party had scored a great victory, and he believed a still greater victory awaited them in the present election. (Cheers.) The electors had in the person of Mr. Cox an unexceptionable candidate, a gentleman who deserved well at their hands, and also the warmest thanks of every member of the Reform party for the great sacrifices he has made in coming forward at this time. During the present canvass many false charges had been laid against Mr. Cox. He was present to meet them and no doubt would satisfactorily define his position. After alluding to the order of the addresses, the chairman introduced Mr. Cox, who was received with enthusiastic applause.

MR. COX'S SPEECH:

MR. CHAIRMAN, LADIES AND GENTLEMEN: It is a source of pleasure and satisfaction to me to see the gallery so well filled with ladies and the hall so well filled with the electors of the town and county this evening. You will have an opportunity of hearing the public questions of the day ably discussed by Mr. Bertram and by Mr. Wm. Patterson of Brant, one of the leading members of the House of Commons in the late parliament. These addresses I am sure will be both interesting and instructive, but as the candidate in the Liberal interest asking for your support in the coming contest, it is proper that I should state to you as briefly and as plainly as possible the grounds upon which I ask you to entrust me with the management of your business at Ottawa. There are a great many reasons why I would have preferred not to enter into a political contest with my friend Mr. Stevenson, but I was impelled to do so by the deep conviction that the time had come when no person who has the welfare of the country at heart can afford to treat the present political situation with indifference. The Mackenzie Government was dismissed from office in 1878 not by Conservatives alone, but by a large number of Reformers also because they refused to accede to the demands of the people for increased protection on certain classes of manufactured goods, and the time has now come when the present administration should be dismissed from power by Reformers and Conservatives alike because of the reckless indifferent and extravagant manner in which since the last general election they have been conducting the business of this country. After their victory in 1878 upon the question of increased protection they again appealed to the country in 1882 raising the same issue and at that time Sir John A Macdonald said that if the Conservative party were again returned to power that it would ensure the safety and stability of the National Policy. Notwithstanding that statement, notwithstanding the fact that the Liberal party have no desire or intention whatever of withholding fair and equitable protection to all the manufacturing interests of this country, a desperate effort is being made to again make this the chief issue before the country. The reason for this is obvious. It is not because the Conservative party really believe that the Liberal party have any intention of or desire to embarrass or injure our manufacturing interests, it is because they know that there are many serious and grevious charges preferred against them, to which they can make no defence that will be satisfactory to the electorate of this country and therefore when it is charged against them that they have abused their privileges, they cry out that the "National Polfby is in danger."

There are many charges of a serious and damaging nature that could be urged against the Government, I must, however, leave the gentlemen who are to follow me on this and possibly on other occasions before election day to enlarge upon those charges. Before leaving the subject of

THE NATIONAL POLICY

I will give you my views upon the matter. I hold it to be the duty of the Government to afford such protection to all our manufacturing industries as will enable them to sell their products at a price that will give them a substantial advantage over foreign competition, and that will at the same time afford such returns as will enable them to pay their operatives and employees the highest wages for that class of labor current either in Canada or the United States, and that will afford to the manufacturer himself a safe and reasonably profitable investment for his capital. When the tariff is not sufficiently high to accomplish that end, then I say it should be increased, but I hold that when the tariff is higher than what is necessary to accomplish that end, that it is then imposing an unfair and unjustifiable burden upon the consumer, that is to say upon the large mass of working men who toil, and feel keenly every extra dollar they have to pay out of their limited means for the necessaries of life. If some of our manufacturing interests were further encouraged by the reduction of the unwarrantable duty upon the raw material of manufacture, it would cause the production of a cheaper article for the home consumer, and lead to the encouragement of foreign trade. I hold that it is the duty of the Government to maintain a fair and equitable balance between the manufacturer and capitalist on the one hand, and the consumer, including the workingman, the mechanic and the farmer, (the large wealth producing classes of the country) on the other hand. The farmers, mechanics and laborers of this country, altogether outside of our manufacturing interests, represent an overwhelming majority of our population, and while I hold that it is in their interest that our manufactures should be maintained upon a substantial and profitable basis, I hold that it is unfair and unreasonable that the great mass of the people should be unduly taxed for the purpose of giving these gentlemen unwarrantable profits.

These are briefly my views upon the question of protection to the manufacturing interests of this country and I pledge myself to support these views whether Sir John A. Macdonald or the Hon. Edward Blake is in power. I pledge myself to oppose any change in the tariff that is inconsistent with those views, no matter from whom they emenate. But the editor of the Review tells you that when I make these statements he cannot believe I am sincere. He asks you to believe that I and the manufacturers, who are on this platform to-night supporting me, have no interest in this country or this community. He asks you to believe that I want to shut down the factories in which my own money is invested, to turn out of employment the men that are living in my own houses, to close up my own stores in which these men get their supplies. In short he asks you to believe that I want to depopulate and destroy this town, which the best twenty-nine years of my life have been devoted to building up. He wants you to believe that the Liberal party of this country want to destroy it. He asks you to believe what he is not fool enough to believe himself. He asks you to believe that the issue before the country is between a protective tariff on one hand and free trade on the other, when, if he was candid enough to admit it, he knows it to be absolutely and altogether untrue.

The Liberals of this Dominion have just as much interest in, and are just as anxious for, and contribute just as much to its prosperity as their opponents. If you take this town for example they contribute a great deal more, and have a very much larger interest in it. I am proud to have on this platform to-night, supporting me, gentlemen largely representing the manufacturing interests of this town, as well as her professional, agricultural, commercial and mercantile interests. But the Review assumes that the Liberal party are hostile to the National Policy, and goes on to say that even if I am sincere in my statement, that my vote would not affect the party policy. That is very true, but it will go just as far as Mr. Stevenson's. If the Hon. Mr. Edward Blake desired to test his strength in the House upon any interference with the tariff that was not in accord with my views, I should vote against him whether he was in or out of power, and that is all that Mr. Stevenson could do; my vote would go just as far as his, but I know that Mr. Blake does not intend and does not want to do any injustice to any industry in this country.

"BOGUS SYNDICATE."

The next question to which I would like to refer at length is that of the Canadian Pacific Railway, but I shall have to leave that until a future meeting, as I am anxious that you should have a good opportunity to-night of hearing Mr. Patterson who has come from a distance specially to address you and will not have another opportunity of doing so. I shall, therefore, confine my remarks to-night upon the railway to what the editor of the Review is pleased to term the "Bogus Syndicate," which he uses as a pretext for another personal attack upon myself, and another reason why I should be defeated. [Mr. Cox read a couple of extracts from the Review of recent date, stating that Mr. Cox, "if for no other reason, ought to be defeated on account of his bitter opposition to the construction of the C. P. R.] Now, what right has Mr. Carnegie to characterise this as a bogus offer; what right has he to characterize as disgraceful tricksters, ten or twelve of the leading financial men of this country, who made a bona fide offer backed up by a cash deposit of $1,396,000 or $396,000 more than the $1,000,000 required by the Act as security that the necessary guarantee for the completion of the contract would be forthcoming? What right has he and what right had his political friends to disregard as offer made by gentlemen that were abundantly able to carry it out, that would have forfeited an actual cash deposit of $1,396,000 if they had failed to provide the necessary security for the completion of the contract? I say what right had his political friends to reject an offer that would have effected the following saving and advantages to this country:

(a) Less cash	$ 3,000,000
(b) Less land 3 000,000 acres worth at $3 per acre	9,000,000
(c) No exemption from duty on material	1,000,000
(d) No exemption from taxation on land or capital	12,250,000
Direct cash advantage	$25,250,000
(e) No transportation monopoly advantage to the North-west of untold value
(f) Canadian control secured.
(g) Right of the Government to purchase at any time on fair terms

Personally I was a comparatively unimportant member of that syndicate, but I was able to provide my portion of the deposit and would have been able to do my proportion of the work and it comes with bad taste from the Editor of the Review to tell the people of this town who know us both that any offer I make is a "bogus offer or a disgraceful trick."

ONTARIO AND QUEBEC RAILWAY.

Speaking of the National Policy, on the 21st of January, the Review tells its reader that I am so strong a partizan that I would be almost certain to follow my party leaders whether right or wrong and whether in my interests or not. In the same issue is an article headed "For Self" in which he takes a directly opposite position and charges me with sacrificing the interests of the town in opposing the charter of the "Ontario and Quebec Railway" because it came in contact with my own interests. He knows the statement to be untrue. He knows that I opposed it in the interests of the Midland Railway Company who had obtained the Charter from the late W. H. Scott of the Toronto and Ottawa Railway Company and was then actually engaged in the construction of the line, and had expended a large amount of money upon it from Perth westward, and will now It is expected shortly resume the work again making another through line in connection with the Grand Trunk System and connecting with the Northern Pacific Railway at Sault Ste. Marie. When the Toronto and Ottawa charter was in the hands of the late Mr. Scott no progress being made in the building of line, the Review thought it was right for this Town and County to vote a bonus of $200,000 for its construction, when it was in the hands of the company provided over by myself with large expenditure of money being made upon it, and with no assistance being asked from the town or county it was wrong for me to even oppose the granting of a charter to an opposition line. This is a fair example of the kind of treatment that any man gets at the hands of the Review who tries to advance the prosperity of this town, unless he happens to be a Tory.

DICKSON BY-LAW.

It is in keeping with the successful effort made by these same gentlemen to defeat the proposal for large and important improvements on the property of the Dickson Company. In my desire to promote the prosperity of the town and to afford every opportunity of taking advantage of the National policy I acquired a one seventh interest in the Dickson Company owning the water power and factories on both sides of the river from the iron bridge to what was known as Halls mills on the north side of the town. From what I had seen of manufacturing industries elsewhere I conceived the idea that if we could erect a large brick or stone building at Hunter street bridge divided into compartments by fire proof walls so that accommodation could be afforded for any industry that came along no matter whether they wanted one room one flat one section or the whole building that it would be likely to lead to the establishment of numerous small industries and possibly some large ones in our midst amounting in the aggregate to very important additions to our town and providing employment for many who are now sadly in need of it. Now gentlemen, what encouragement do you think we asked to make this effort to benefit the town? We said to the council the company will take the risk of putting up these buildings and further developing and improving the property taking our own chance of them standing idle. If you will simply say that the town will not increase our taxation in consequence of this improvement for the space of ten years, in other words the town will assist you in the risk of putting up these buildings by saying that we will not tax them for 10 years. Now gentlemen, do you think candidly the company demanded too much for what would have been a very important step forward in the interests of your town. An opposition organized and led on by our Conservative friends caused the proposal to be rejected, but it did not secure any more taxes for the town because the building did not go up. They succeeded, however, in retarding the progress of the town and falsely represented me as trying to get my own property exempted from taxation imposing the burden upon the other taxpayers when they knew perfectly well that my only desire was to help the town forward and get my profits indirectly from the increased value of other properties. I offered to enter into a written agreement with any person who desired to take my stock in the Dickson Company at any time within five years at actual cost to give it to them.

MIDLAND RAILWAY.

Yet another attack has been made upon me. [Mr. Cox read an article from that paper referring to the Midland Railway, which made the statement that he took the "nice little pot of $100,000 out of the pockets of the farmers and other furnishers of supplies, etc., to add to his already plethoric purse."] Mr. Cox said: "The part I desire to refer to is the charge of having taken out $100,000 out of the creditors of the Midland Railway. When I first took charge of the railway there were some five or six hundred men in Port Hope on strike. They hadn't been paid for some two or three months. The trainmen and

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Quite a storm of snow driving this Wednesday morning and high wind.

The sleighing in this neighborhood is excellent.

We are a most energetic people here in the curling line, but our harvest of victories is not very heavy yet.

Quite an exciting runaway occurred last Sunday afternoon on Front street. Dr. Massie's son and daughter and Miss Annie Anderson were in the cutter, and coming from the west, opposite Jos. Elmhirst's, when the front beam gave way; then the second, and lastly the hind beam. Of course, the runners spread and the bottom fell out of the cutter, while the terrified and unmanageable horse went down the street at a furious rate. The occupants of the wreck rolled themselves out as best they could and escaped without injury, but the cutter and the doctor's kit, which was under the seat, became a sad wreck. The terrified brute dashed in between the telegraph pole and the fence and through English's stoop, between the posts and the shop front, then up North street and finally came to a halt opposite H. Crikebank's blacksmith shop.

The first carnival of the season came off on the 28th Jan. Although the day and evening were unfavorable, yet there was a fine turn-out of masqueraders, of which the following is a list :—

The Raw Cutting Winds

of winter bring to the surface every latent pain. It is one of the strange things associated with our physical well being that the very air, without which we could not exist, is heavily laden with germs of disease, Rheumatism, neuralgia, lumbago, and other complaints of a similar character hold revel at this season of the year amongst human nerves and human muscles. There was a time when fortitude alone could make life tolerable, but now with the advent of powerful, penetrating and nerve soothing remedies pain becomes a thing of the moment. The best, the most powerful and most certain pain cure is Polson's Nerviline. Nothing equals Nerviline for penetrating power. Nerviline is beyond comparison the grandest discovery for the relief of pain offered to the public. Druggists sell a ample bottle for 10 cents; large bottles only 25 cents at any drug store. 6dw5

Peterborough Markets.

Reported by W. H. Wrighton, Grain and Produce Dealer & General Grocer, George St.

FEBRUARY 2nd, 1887.

There has been a fair amount of grain offering. Wheat has had another drop, now selling at 80c. for spring and 76c. for fall, but owing to the uncertainty of this market it is advisable to buy when a day may bring forth. Barley is still bringing good prices, when compared with our side markets, the bulk of the barley sells from 50 to 52c. There has been a good deal offering lately. Peas are quiet from 52 to 55c. Oats taken freely 28c. Rye 45c., little offering.

On the market—not much doing. Beef seems to be the most plentiful article offering, and is selling from 3½ to 5c., mutton 6 to 8c. Roll and print butter 20 to 23c. Eggs, few offering, worth 18 to 20c. Turkeys, geese and chickens still in fair supply, prices unchanged. Potatoes selling 70 to 75c. per bag, apples 75c. to $1.25, fair demand.

If anything clogs the waste-pipes in the house we become alarmed, for sewer-gas is apt to generate disease. The children, then, are removed to their grand parents' or kept out of doors as much as possible, until the defect is remedied. But the waste-pipes of the human system are often allowed to clog, and the sufferer, who cannot get away from the poison, becomes unfit for work or pleasure. In such cases Dr. Pierce's "Pleasant Purgative Pellets" will gently remove the cause, and the effect will vanish of itself. By druggists. 6dw5

Smith.

From a Correspondent.)

On Wednesday last, Jan. 24th, an interesting ceremony took place at the residence of Mr. S. Cullen, being the marriage of his daughter Ellen and Mr. W. J. McKee. All weddings are supposed to be pleasant affairs and the above was no exception to the rule. Both of the happy couple are residents of Smith and favorably known in their respective communities. There were about twenty-five guests present and each one vied with the other in a harmonious rivalry to make the the occasion one of pleasant memory. Several gifts, both ornamental and useful, were given to the young couple. Our wish and prayer is that their truest and noblest desires may be realized in the journey of life, and that the kind Father above may guide their feet into peaceful paths.

Astonishing Success.

CONSUMPTION,

which is Scrofulous Disease of the Lungs, is promptly and certainly arrested and cured by this God-given remedy, if taken before the last stages of the disease are reached. From its wonderful power over this terrible fatal disease, when first offering this now celebrated remedy to the public, Dr. Pierce thought seriously of calling it his "Consumption Cure," but abandoned that name as too limited for a medicine which, from its wonderful combination of tonic, or strengthening, alterative, or blood-cleansing, anti-bilious, pectoral, and nutritive properties, is unequaled, not only as a remedy for consumption of the lungs, but for all

CHRONIC DISEASES OF THE

Liver, Blood, and Lungs.

If you feel dull, drowsy, debilitated, have yellow color of skin, or yellowish-brown spots on face or body, frequent headache or dizziness, bad taste in mouth, internal heat or chills, alternating with hot flashes, low spirits and gloomy forebodings, irregular appetite, and coated tongue, you are suffering from Indigestion, Dyspepsia, and Torpid Liver or "Biliousness." In many cases only part of these symptoms are experienced. As a remedy for all such cases, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has no equal.

For Weak Lungs, Spitting of Blood, Shortness of Breath, Bronchitis, Severe Coughs, Consumption, and kindred affections, it is a sovereign remedy. Send ten cents in stamps for Dr. Pierce's book on Consumption. Sold by Druggists.

sectionmen had given notice that on the following Monday they would quit work if their wages were not paid. The first thing I had to do was to raise, on my own personal credit, some $30,000 to pay these men. The next thing I had to do was to raise the money to pay the arrears of the tenionmen and sectionmen. The credit of the company was completely exhausted; the owners and proprietors of the road were unwilling to advance another dollar. The company had a floating debt of some seven or eight hundred thousand dollars. The creditors were very impatient, and in every shape the road was in an exceeding difficult position. I called the creditors together—and a very much larger number of creditors met me on that occasion than there are in this hall to-night. (Laughter.) I explained to them very frankly and very fully just what the position of the line was. I said, "Now, we are unable to pay you at present. Every dollar that we can raise will be necessary to put into the improvement of the road. All its earnings will have to be used to get it into running order. Everything is in a dilapidated condition. But there is full value in the property for every dollar that is against it, and we want time to develop and carry on the road so that we can pay you off. There is a mortgage debt on the road of $2,500,000. Of that there are about enough bonds unsold to equal the floating debt of the road. I propose, and have obtained permission from the shareholders and bondholders to do so, to place you upon the very same footing as they are—that is, to give you a first mortgage on the railway, and to hold that until these bonds become, as they will undoubtedly become in four or five years, at least par. That is all we have to give you, and unless you accept or unless you wait patiently for your money, we can't do anything." That was a fair, bold, frank statement to the creditors. It placed them in the very same position as the gentlemen who advanced the money to build the road. I tried to impress upon the men that it was to their advantage to hold the bonds, and that they would not lose a cent if they would do that. And a great many of them did do it. As I predicted, the bonds have come up, and to-day they are worth 100 cents on the dollar. (Applause.) I told these gentlemen if they wanted to sell the bonds I would arrange it so they could do so at the price at which they were then quoted on the London markets, namely, 22½c. on the dollar, but I strongly advised them not to sell. Much the larger proportion of the creditors took my advice and retained their bonds, but others sold. It may not be out of place to mention in this connection (in order to show how difficult it was to realize on the bonds at that time) that the Bank of Montreal offered £13,000 stg. of the bonds and $65,000 of the capital stock of the road for $13,000. I asked Mr. Stevenson to take a half interest in the purchase with me, but after careful consideration he thought it was not safe to do so. I took the risk alone and held them until I cleared over $50,000 out of that one transaction. Under the circumstances, I don't think there was any wrong in taking the bonds from those persons who were determined to sell them, who hadn't the confidence to hold them. I advised every person unequivocally and unmistakeably to hold them, and as soon as we could we would pay them. And I said particularly to the working men who were paid by what was known as wage-warrants, "Don't you take anything less than par value for your warrants. Your claims will be paid the very first thing. The ordinary creditors will have to wait." I impressed upon all of them that all we wanted was an extension of time, that there was ample value in the property to pay off all debts. Every workingman was paid in full every cent with interest. Every ordinary creditor who waited for his pay or who held his bonds until they were worth par value, was paid in full. I am charged in the face of these facts with having defrauded the Midland Railway Creditors. (Applause.) I'll leave that charge with you.

THE LOCK WORKS.

Now, I am charged with "Despicable Tactics," in connection with the Lock Works, because of an article which appeared in the EXAMINER. It was very currently reported around town that Mr. Stevenson was providing the Lock Works with a building free of rent. It was very industriously circulated, and Mr. Stevenson was gaining what I believe a great deal of unfair popularity on that ground. When the EXAMINER asked me if that was true I said "no, the Lock Company are paying $1,000 a year; and the steam power is not worth more than $200 or $250 a year." And the Company are, as I say, paying $1,000 a year for the same now. The EXAMINER in putting in the remarks said that "Mr. Stevenson is getting that amount." To that extent the EXAMINER was wrong. There was just this error in it, that the company are paying $1,000 a year to Mr. Law. They are paying full value for their privilege. I don't think it right when we are paying a full outside rent that Mr. Stevenson should get credit for providing the premises free of rent. (Applause). It is true that Mr. Stevenson claims that for the second and third flat in that building he gets nothing, but I don't care whether he gets anything for that or not. We pay Mr. Law the full value and fair rent, for all the accomodation we have. When we first occupied Mr. Law's premises we paid $300 a year, and now it has in some mysterious way crept up to $1,000 a year, so from that I infer we are paying full value. I have every respect for Mr. Stevenson, and I don't think it is fair to charge me with misrepresenting Mr. Stevenson when I stated the simple facts. The Wilson woolen mill only pays $500 a year for more space and more power; and Lindsay & Seldon only pay $300 a year, and they have more power and more room; Mr. Forsyth only pays $560 a year for much more space and power. Taken altogether, the comparison will show that we are paying outside rent. I don't think we are paying more than we ought, but we are paying full rent. It is said I claim credit for bringing the Lock Works here. I don't. It is my friend, Mr. Stevenson that claims it. But he is not any more entitled to it than I am. The works came here when I was mayor. I communicated with Mr. Brooke and took what steps I could to induce the location of the works here. Mr. Stevenson assisted me in trying to get the stock taken up. We got very little encouragement indeed, and succeeded only in getting some $3,000 stock subscribed at that time. In the meantime Mr. Brooks had gone away with the assurance from me that I would take every means to have the stock taken up. After we had made some unsuccessful efforts to get the stock subscribed, Mr. Stevenson asked me to write to Mr. Brooks and get him not to come. I said I had assured him of having the stock subscribed and I would go on with it. We finally succeeded. It was with $5,000 for myself, $2,000 for Mr. Stevenson, and $7,000 among four other gentlemen, and with $15,000 stock subscribed by Mr. Brooks, that the Works started. That was the commencement of the Works.

THE STOVE WORKS.

At the same time we had gone into negotiations for the Stove Works, but having had so much trouble in getting stock for the Lock Works, I said there was no use of trying to get stock for the Stove Works here. However, I subscribed $20,000, Mr. Stevenson $2,000, and Purcell & Jones $10,000. So we started the Works with $32,000 capital. After a little time it was found that the Lock Works would be a success. It became evident that a much larger capital would be required for the Stove Works, a much greater risk, and more delay would occur before the works could be successful. But I was anxious to make it a success. I said to Mr. Stevenson, "I have taken $20,000 in the Works and I want you to take a larger amount." I proposed that he should take some of my stock in the Lock Works and I would transfer my capital to the Stove Works. This was done, and I claim, therefore, that I have done just as much for the Works here and am entitled to as much credit, if it is due anyone, as Mr. Stevenson. (Cries of "more" and applause). I rejoice in the success of these Works just as much as Mr. Stevenson and I give him all credit for doing what he could to assist me in all of these undertakings. The Stove Works was a difficult one to establish, on account of so much outside competition. The Lock Works had no competition of that kind to contend with. As I said before, it is my determination to make the Stove Works a success. Although at the present time it may seem in the eyes of the public comparatively unimportant, although the "Review says it don't know anything about it, I say the Stove Works is paying out more money, and has been right from the commencement, than the Lock Works Company. It may not be out of place to mention that the Lock Company are competing with another lock establishment in this Province, where Sir John Macdonald's government provides the company with rent, light and fuel free, where it provides them with labor at 40c. a day. (Applause). And this is the Government that claims to be the workingmen's friend. They ask our men employed here to compete with prison labor that they are hiring to the manufacturers at 40c. a day with free light, rent and fuel. (Applause.) They will tell you, I think it has been so stated, that they are simply working out a contract made by the Mackenzie Government, and that as soon as this contract expires, the government will discontinue it. I know that is not correct. I know that the original contract expired a little before the Mackenzie Government went out of power. The Macdonald Government came into power and again renewed the contract for five years, and that contract expired on the first of June last, and it has not been discontinued yet, or was not last week. (Applause.) Now, these are facts, and if you will send me to Parliament, if you have any doubt about them, if they are denied, I will move to have the contract laid on the table, and if it is not as I tell you I'll put in my resignation. (Loud cheering.) There are a number of other charges laid against me, and no doubt will be a large number laid before election day. I am just going to appeal to you upon my own record in your midst in the last 29 years. (Applause.) If I have so conducted myself, if I have so tried to work for the prosperity of this town, if I have so tried to promote her manufacturing, commercial and other interests, then give me your support. If I have not, mark your ballots against me. (Cheers.) I am not going to appeal to you upon any hollow professions of friendship for the workingman, nor insult you by the free distribution of charity, or anything of this kind—(hear, hear)—I feel I am entitled to your support. If you believe I can fairly, honestly and successfully represent you at Ottawa, send me there to do so. I will do my best to promote the welfare of this town where I am so largely interested. If you will entrust me with your confidence, I have done everything I could in the past, and I will do everything I can in the future. (Loud and prolonged cheering and applause.)

A report of the speeches of Messrs. Bertram and Patterson will appear to-morrow.

The Ontario Tankard.

The district bonspiel was concluded yesterday, Whitby securing first place in Group 3. Score:—

Majority for Peterborough, 1.

Turnbull has already received an immense shipment of French dress goods for the spring trade in all the latest shades described in the latest ladies journals Those looking for something new should see them.

Sad Bereavement.

Mr. Thos. Brooks, manager of the Peterborough Lock Works, has received a telegram announcing that his daughter, Lottie, Mrs. H. B. Beach, of Bridgeport Conn., died this morning. Mr. Brooks leaves by the 6.42 C.P.R. express this evening for Bridgeport. Miss Brooks, who it will be remembered was married here last summer, had made very many warm friends in Peterborough, who will mourn her early demise and who will sympathise with the deeply bereaved family in the loss of a beloved daughter—a loss made more keenly felt by the fact that just a month ago Mrs. Brooks lost her father by death.

Other "Hits and Misses."

The "Boot-black Orator," lectured on "Hits and Misses" in the George street church and as some thought thoroughly dealt with the subject. While there is no desire to harshly criticise Mr. Clarke, it must be pointed out that he made some very grave and pertinent omissions. Allusion might have been made to the "hits and misses," which make or mar the happiness of home. If Mr. Clarke had known the circumstances he would have pointed out that the householders make the happiest "hits" possible when they buy their furniture of Bellegham the Famous Furniture Factor, and most lamentable misses when they neglect to do so. He might have truthfully told his hearers that they always make a "hit" and never a "miss" when they patronize Bellegham, who keeps the largest completest and cheapest stock of all kinds of furniture in the Midland district.

Case after case of cottonades and shirtings have been arriving at Turnbull's. All the new patterns now in stock at his old well known low prices.

Examiner Bindery.

Merchants and business men, now is the time to call at the EXAMINER bindery and leave your orders for journals, day books, ledgers, invoice books, cheque books, and all blank books used in business. Don't wait till the moment you want to use them. All blank books last longer for not being used immediately after being finished.

Personal.

Mr. John McKee and wife went to Toronto yesterday to attend the conversazione in connection with the opening of the new Pharmaceutical College at Toronto to day.

Harvey.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

DROWNED.

On Saturday last Mr. Abram Northey lost a fine team of horses in the Indian river. It appears that Mr. Northey was coming up Pigeon Lake to the village and not knowing the course to take he came straight up the river. Opposite the lime kiln his horses fell through the ice, and on account of the heavy current, were borne under in spite of the efforts of Mr. Northey and his brother. The ice at this point is never safe, even when Jack Frost reigns supreme.

FIRE.

Mrs. Jas. Tate came nearly losing her home on Friday night last. The wind was blowing a terrific gale at the time, and only by her persistent efforts did she manage to subdue the destroyer. The fire originated from the stove-pipes.

SCHOOL FURNITURE.

The trustees of school No. 2 have supplied their school with five new maps, obtained from the Grip Publishing Co. They are of a fine material, well varnished, and the locations are plain and easily noticed. The Canada Publishing Co. deserve credit for turning out such fine maps.

Dominion Elections!
Nomination Day: February 15th.
Polling Day: February 22nd.
A NEW! CANDIDATE IN THE FIELD!
HIS PLATFORM:
GENTLEMEN,
I have no desire to tamper with the votes of that noble army of our citizens who freely exercise the Franchise on behalf of their favorite political leaders. But, in order to take a hand in the present political struggle for supremacy between Grit and Tory, I have decided to come out and offer such tempting
BRIBES TO THE ELECTORS
as cannot fail to place me at the head of the polls.
I would scorn, like all other candidates for parliamentary honors, to buy up votes, or do aught that might be construed as a violation of our Election laws. My object is a far more patriotic one, namely—that of making a CLEAN SWEEP of all my Winter Clothing and Tweeds before Election day.
Nor will the secrecy of the Ballot be infringed by asking purchasers whether they will vote for LEBRUN, COX, or STEVENSON. No, not by a home rule scuttle full! But every elector is expected to attend this exciting Political-Winter-Clothing-Sale, and to hurrah for LEBRUN, so as to elect him by an overwhelming majority as the Workingman's Favourite Candidate.
SAMPLES OF THE BRIBES:
SUITS, made to Order - - $12
Formerly sold for $15.
SUITS, made to Order - - $14
Formerly sold for $17.
SUITS, Ready-made, for $5 and upwards.
PANTS made to Order for $3.00——$4.00——$4.50.
If the Electors will only ponder over these facts and see and handle these Bribes for themselves, I feel certain that the 22nd will be a cold day for the other candidates.
H. LeBRUN

WHY
Will people pay rent when houses and lots can be purchased on such easy terms as are offered by the undesigned. Come and inspect our work and see for yourselves how we construct our houses. Our chief aim and study is to build substantial, warm, frost and damp proof houses. I am offering good building lots, and will build solid brick houses, nine-inch walls, strapped and lathed, two stories, for less money than you can buy frame or rescored buildings. We cordially invite those who anticipate renting or buying to inspect our work and prove for themselves that our houses are not merely built to sell. Every house I've sold gives first-class satisfaction, and I am determined that every house I build shall be a standing testimony to honest building. THE EAST RIDING LIBERAL CANDIDATE.

The East Riding of Peterborough is almost entirely a rural constituency and the farmers have now an opportunity of giving the riding such representation as its character deserves. Farmers, as a class, are not at all fairly represented in the House of Commons. The farming community comprises seven-tenths of Canada, while the representatives in the House are less than one-tenth. There are enough of lawyers in the House now, who make laws for themselves and in their own interests, which the farmers have to pay for. Now, the farmers of East Peterborough have a splendid chance of being represented at Ottawa, and by a member of their class who will do them credit, Mr. John Lang. Mr. Lang is a practical and successful farmer, who knows every want of the farmer and possesses the ability to stand up manfully and successfully for the farmers' interests. Among other reasons that he should have the support of the farmers is that he has proved himself astonishingly successful and satisfactory as a representative of his township, Otonabee. He has been representative of Otonabee for over fourteen years. He was elected councillor at the head of the poll till nine years ago, when he became deputy-reeve—by acclamation. This post he held repeatedly by acclamation, till six years ago, when he was elected reeve by acclamation, and has since been returned in the same manner as regularly as the year came round. With a record like this, there is no room for doubt that Mr. Lang enjoys the full confidence of the township of Otonabee, and that his record has proven him worthy of the trust. Apart from his personal and other merits, this fact gives him a strong claim upon the confidence of the electors of the riding. If he has served one township faithfully and in a manner to disarm criticism and defy opposition for fifteen years, it is morally certain that he will make an equally faithful representative of the county in the Dominion Parliament. The electors of East Peterborough have now the best opportunity for years of sending one of their class to represent them in parliament, and there is little doubt but they will improve the occasion and place Mr. John Lang at the head of the poll on February 22nd.

A JUG HANDLED ARRANGEMENT.

The Conservative party is exceedingly anxious about the interests of working men, especially while an election is pending—and only at that time. At other times their whole policy is directed against the interests of this class. Especial point is given this contention by the recent action of Sir John Macdonald, in tapping the manufacturing capitalists for money for election purposes, and, that this money will be used corruptly is a foregone conclusion. Now, Sir John must give the manufacturers an equivalent. The tariff is no longer in dispute. No one purposes a change in that. There is no moral doubt that in return for the boodle they contribute, the capitalists will demand special favours for their class, and they will ask Sir John to oppose the reforms demanded by the labour party. The Conservatives have been playing pitch and toss with Factory Legislation for several sessions. The capitalists are opposed to factory legislation. It is not in their interests, however much it may be for the benefit of the working classes. Here their interests directly clash, and which class will Sir John sacrifice? It will not be the capitalists, because they are in a position to demand a return for the money they contributed in Toronto on Tuesday. He will surely sacrifice the workingmen and their families, for the latter have no money to pour into the coffers of Sir John's corruption fund. The capitalists have bought Sir John and he is bound to do as they desire in their interests. Wherever the rights of labor come into conflict with capital, the demands of capital will be granted and the workingmen will, of course, be sacrificed. The manufacturers will naturally demand a continuation of the present Government's Immigration Policy, because the more mechanics and artisans there are imported from abroad, the greater the competition, the lower the rate of wages, and the greater their profits. The manufacturers have not contributed their thousands for nothing, and whatever they demand from Sir John, no matter how much it conflicts with the workingman's interests, must be granted. All favors for the few rich and nothing but neglect for the toiling millions. This is the Dominion Government policy, and they are carrying it out before the very eyes of the workingmen, whom they insult with the assurance that they are the workingman's friend.

VERY UNEASY SPIRIT

STILL HOVERING OVER FRANCE AND GERMANY.

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—A London despatch to the Times says:

"Although Tuesday's scare was quite the worst we have had since the war rumors began to circulate, it is not comparable, probably, with the panic in store for the country next week, when the German reserves in the seven western divisions, numbering 72,000 men, will join their colors. It was not generally known that the movement was so imminent, and it is believed it will create a most painful impression in France. Despite all the pacific assurances from Paris, arms, men and munitions of war are being shoved eastward.

"This renders more substantial the floating suspicion that Gen. Boulanger is getting ready a coup of his own—suspicions engendered by things his own friends are mysteriously saying. It is proverbially unsafe to predict Parisian happenings, but I have very much misread a lot of concurrent signs if a sensation is not on the tapis there. The belief in war has become such a universal thing that from a very craving for novelty, one of the evening papers has an editorial saying there will be peace, and everybody talks about the article as a singular thing. Paris now, for the first time, really believes that war is inevitable, and private letters from Berlin and Hanover report general preparations among army officers to provide for the safety of their families in the early spring."

Austrian Views.

VIENNA, Feb. 3.—A majority of the newspapers here praise France for the coberness with which she treats German alarms, and express impatience at what they term Bismarck's wanton provocation. The Neue Freie Presse exhorts France not to fall into the trap that has been set for her, but to keep Bismarck to his word, which binds him before the world.

The Tagblatt says it is dangerous to other countries also for one man to have power to make war without reason.

The official press is more reserved, but expresses faith in Germany's prudence and love of peace.

Rumors of a German Loan.

BERLIN, Feb. 3.—The rumor of the raising of a German loan was based on the fact that a conference between the Secretary of the Treasury and Prince Bismarck was held today. It has transpired that the Government has available nearly 100,000,000 marks, which was voted for home purposes but not used. This will probably be used for military purposes.

THE NEW YORK STRIKE.

The Police Taking Every Precaution to Prevent Disorder.

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—The Erie road put on a few men in place of the strikers and opened their piers for the receipt of freight, but very little was received. On the steamship piers there was much improvement. Freight was being moved mostly by new men. There is an abundance of unskilled workmen to be had, and the superintendents of the docks have more men than they have places for. The trouble is that these men have had no experience at freight handling.

The Superintendent of Police has taken vigorous measures to suppress outrages. The river points are practically in a stage of siege. One thousand police have been massed at four points. Patrol wagons have been stationed at each place, so that the whole force can be concentrated at any given point in a short time. One thousand more police are in reserve at Police Headquarters. In case of a riot the whole force can reach the scene inside of an hour. In addition fully 100 detectives have been detailed for duty along the shore, wearing plain clothes. All the river stations report half-hourly to Supt Murray.

ITALY'S CAMPAIGN IN THE SOUDAN.

The Abyssinians Carrying Everything Before Them at Massowah.

PARIS, Feb. 3.—The Republique Francaise publishes a despatch from Suez which states that in the battles between the Abyssinians and Italians near Massowah, the Abyssinians captured all the guns possessed by the Italians. Of the 480 Italians who were engaged in the fights not more than fifty escaped. The Italians have evacuated all their advanced positions and the Abyssinians have already attacked and carried the first line of Italian entrenchments around Massowah. The latter success, it is stated, was achieved by the Abyssinians on Jan. 27, the day after the destruction of the Italian forces in the field, and the latest intelligence indicated that it was doubtful whether the Italians would be able to hold out at Massowah until the arrival of reinforcements.

The Spies-Van Zandt Marriage.

CHICAGO, Feb. 3.—Henry W. Spies, who married Miss Van Zandt as proxy for his brother August, the condemned Anarchist, was arrested last night on the charge of bigamy. Counsel for the Anarchists have interested themselves in the matter and they claim the proxy marriage is perfectly legal, that it binds August only and in no way affects the groom by proxy. Interviews with prominent lawyers yesterday, however, elicited the almost unanimous opinion that the proxy ceremony was a farce and without any legal effect whatever.

Another Long Island Mystery.

BRISTAL, L.I., Feb. 3.—A man and a woman, whose names have not yet been ascertained, were found murdered about a mile and a half from here. The man was lying in a pool of blood on the floor down stairs with his throat cut from ear to ear and the woman was upstairs in a bedroom with her head severed. The victims had evidently been dead five or six days. It is supposed they were robbed and murdered. The house is in the backwood

The Case of a Female Suffragist.

ALFRED CENTER, N.Y., Feb. 3.—Mrs. Lucy S. Barber, who swore in her vote here at the election last fall, was discharged from arrest yesterday at Wellsville by United States Commissioner Wilkes Angel. The commissioner gives the woman suffragist her freedom on the ground that the State courts, having jurisdiction of the matter charged, must be resorted to.

Fire in the Industrial Home, Rochester.

ROCHESTER, N.Y., Feb. 3.—Fire broke out in the steam laundry connected with the female department of the State Industrial Home at 1.20 o'clock this morning, and spread like wild-fire throughout the building, which is a fine structure four stories high. The inmates were all rescued safely. Loss $60,000. Miss Van Hoosen, one of the lady officers of the institution, lost her life while trying to escape from the burning building.

Discussing the Postal System.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—To-day's session of the Cabinet was mainly devoted to the consideration of a proposition to extend the postal system between this country and Canada, so as to permit the carrying in the mails of packages weighing not more than four pounds. The present system limits the weight of such mail matter to eight ounces.

QUARRELSOME CREDITORS.

The Pinkerton & Turner Failure—The Bank of Toronto Interested.

MONTREAL, Feb. 3.—At a largely attended meeting of the creditors of Pinkerton & Turner to-day, lively scenes ensued over the appointment of a curator. Messrs. A. W. Stevenson & S. C. Fatt were proposed by two different portions of the creditors, each of which appeared determined to have their choice confirmed by the court. Mr. E. Guerin, acting on behalf of certain creditors favorable to the nomination of Mr. Fatt, declared that the Bank of Toronto was not a creditor to the extent of $65,000 as pretended and that their claim only amounted to some $5000. Upon this, Mr. Atwater, representing the creditors favorable to the appointment of Mr. Stevenson, produced the bank's power of attorney showing their claim to be over $65,000. Mr. Guerin then called Mr. Smith, manager of the bank, whom he had summoned by subpœna, and on his making default asked that a rule be issued against him for contempt of court. Mr. Smith appeared in the afternoon and was examined at some length, but his evidence did not bring to light any new facts. The attempt to appoint a curator failed and proceedings were adjourned until to-morrow.

FRESH FROM OTTAWA.

No Printing Bureau Until After Elections—The Oldest Living Civil Service Officer.

OTTAWA, Feb. 3.—It is understood that the Government will take no action in connection with the proposed printing bureau here until after elections.

The oldest living official in the Government service has just resigned, namely, Dr. Gustavus W. Wicksteed, Chief Law Clerk of the House of Commons. Dr. Wicksteed, who is 87 years old, entered the civil service in 1838. He is succeeded by Dr. Wm. Wilson, Assistant Law Clerk for some time past.

Tobin & O'Keefe, of this city, have been awarded the contract for constructing a fence around the Central Experimental Model Farm.

MONTREAL'S BIG CARNIVAL.

The Star's Carnival Number Creates Intense Excitement.

MONTREAL, Feb. 3.—There is great excitement in Montreal over the carnival number of the Montreal Star, which is just out and illustrates the carnival events to the very life with artistic effect never before approached on the continent. All day the Star office has been besieged by a vast crowd of anxious purchasers and scores of prominent citizens pressing forward to congratulate the publishers on the amazing beauty and wonderful success of the Carnival Star. Amongst the enthusiastic admirers are bank presidents, railway presidents, clergymen, artists, art critics and all the best classes of citizens. The first edition of 20,000 copies was exhausted in two hours, the largest sale in the time on record. In the number there are beautiful full figure group pictures of all the championship lacrosse teams of 1887.

A Victim of the Toy Pistol.

BUFFALO, Feb. 3.—Yesterday afternoon Percy Fullerton, the 11-year-old son of James C. Fullerton, the well-known lawyer, while playing with a lad named McAllister in his father's house in Niagara-street was killed by the accidental discharge of a toy pistol.

De Leon Gets Fifteen Years.

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—Professor John De Leon, the astrologer, who was convicted of inducing young girls to go to Panama for immoral purposes under the pretext of finding employment for them, was sentenced to fifteen years' imprisonment at hard labor.

The Hamilton Collectorship.

HAMILTON, Feb. 3.—Mr. F. E. Kilvert, ex-M.P. for this city, has been appointed to the customs collectorship at this port.

THE WEST RIDING CAMPAIGN

MR. COX'S MEETING IN THE OPERA HOUSE.

PROMISE vs. PERFORMANCE.

Mr. John Bertram, who was received with loud cheers, prefaced his address with a few remarks endorsing the explanations made by Mr. Cox in reference to the affairs of the Midland Railway Company and asserting that from his (Mr. Bertram's) personal knowledge Mr. Cox deserved far more credit than was conceded him by those who were not aware of the full facts. Mr. Cox's energy had been expended in such a way, that while it benefited himself it had largely benefited others. (Cheers.) Mr. Bertram then went on to contrast the

PAST PROFESSIONS OF THE PARTY

in power, with their performances—their opinions of 1878 and their practice since then. In 1878 Mr. Hillard in his address denounced the alleged extravagance of the Mackenzie Administration and asserted that unless there was rigid retrenchment in expenditure the country would be ruined. At the time Mr. Mackenzie took office the ordinary expenditure was $8,300,000 and in 1878 when he retired he had reduced it to $6,500,000. (Applause.) By contrast, in 1885 the ordinary expenditure had mounted up to over twelve millions or nearly double the last year of Mr. Mackenzie. In 1873 Mr. Mackenzie's total annual expenditure was twenty-three millions, and this had in 1878 been increased by only a few thousands of dollars, in spite of the fact that he had carried out heavy financial obligations imposed upon him by his predecessors. Under the present Government

THE EXPENDITURE HAD INCREASED to thirty-nine millions. In view of the country rushing so rapidly on the down grade, it was time to put on the brakes, and that was why it was proposed to send Mr. Cox, an old railway man, to Parliament. (Cheers and laughter.) Mr. Bertram contrasted the deficits under the two governments. In 1885 and 1886 there were deficits amounting to eight millions of dollars—double the sum of the whole deficits of the Mackenzie Administration. In the matter of ordinary expenditure there was a large increase—the civil service expenditure had increased about fifty per cent. since 1878. Canada's position placed her in

COMPETITION WITH THE UNITED STATES, and looking to the future, if our expenditure increased in the next ten years as rapidly as it had done in the past, we would be the most highly taxed civilized nation on the earth. On the other hand the United States are wiping out their public debt so fast that in ten years it would disappear. Then, at the present ratio of increase, the debt of Canada would be enormously increased, involving increase of taxation, and that of the United States would be wiped out, involving, of course, in that regard, no taxation. Under these circumstances, Canada would find that the people who made the real wealth of the country would naturally seek the country where low taxation would prevail. This would be the inevitable result if an era of economy was not entered upon. The balance of trade theory of the Tories had been demolished in spite of the promises that their fiscal policy would maintain the balance of trade in favor of Canada. There had, it was true, been a temporary evenness of

THE BALANCE OF TRADE,

but in 1885 the imports largely exceeded the exports, even beyond the percentage in 1878. The Conservatives had claimed that their policy would lead to excess of imports from Great Britain as compared with the United States, but to-day there was a large excess of imports from the United States over those from England. Mr. Carnegie had prophesied an immense impetus to the milling industry as a result of their trade policy, but the facts are that the milling industry, instead of having been benefitted, was seriously injured. In 1878 Canada exported over 400,000 barrels of flour, ground by our own millers, but in 1885 the exports had dropped to 160,000 barrels. In 1878 Canada imported 300,000 barrels of flour, and in 1885 over 500,000 barrels of flour. We had been promised that we should exchange our flour for Nova Scotia coal. But the fact is that we imported in 1885 as we did in 1878, thus, in a proportionate degree, increasing the cost of the fuel used by the manufacturer, fifty cents duty being paid on every ton of anthracite coal and sixty cents on every ton of bituminous coal, the kind most largely used by manufacturers. Mr. Blake proposes to abolish this vexatious tax on what may be called a raw material of manufactures, and on what is a necessity to every consumer. The annual tax on coal amounted to about one million dollars per year, about double the tax paid on tea in Mr. Mackenzie's time, which the party in power are talking so much about. The C. P. R. company had obtained over 30 millions of dollars from the country, and Sir Charles Tupper had promised as a quid pro quo, immense returns from the sale of Northwest lands, but the receipts had fallen indefinitely short of his estimate. The colonization policy of the present Government had greatly retarded the settlement of the Northwest, and the returns for sales of lands had kept on decreasing till in 1886 all that was received for the sales of Northwest lands was a TRIFLE OVER A THOUSAND DOLLARS.

THREE TIMES AS MUCH COAL

Mr. Bertram dealt briefly with a couple of the bad faith of the Dominion Government in keeping specific contracts, as shown in their dealings with the selection of a post office site. Mr. E. Phelan's lot was purchased for the erection of the post office, and Mr. Bertram read a copy of the deed given by Mr. Phelan, which distinctly specified that the lot purchased was for a post office site. When confronted in Parliament with the fact that the Government had purchased two lots, Sir Hector Langevin explained that the Sawers site was bought for a post office and the Phelan site for a customs building—the consequence of the breach of faith of the Government being a perfectly useless expenditure of money and a disregard for the public convenience, since either site would have been large enough for both buildings under one roof. Mr. Bertram strongly denounced this as

A DISTINCT BREACH OF FAITH

and a sample of the untrust-worthiness of the Government, which would as likely prove recreant in a large as they had done in what they doubtless considered a "small matter." If they prove false in this, how could they be trusted in greater things. Mr. Bertram went on to point out that there was not now, and never had been, a question of free trade for Canada. The Canadian policy had always been one of incidental protection. The question that presented to-day was as to the amount of duty to be levied on the present position of the country, it was not possible to make any considerable tariff changes except in the incidence of taxation. He showed that the duties imposed on woolen goods were such as to discriminate

AGAINST THE POOR MAN.

The duty was as large on a yard of the poor man's tweed as on that of the rich man's broadcloth—7½c. per yard. The woolen industry had now more than ample protection, yet that had had not stopped the importation of woolen goods, the imports were a million greater now than in '78. On the tariff question the Liberal party would never take the ground of of doing injustice or injury to any manufacturing industry, but Mr. Blake's policy of removing the taxes from raw materials, used in manufactories, was more beneficial than the policy of the present administration.

Mr. Bertram concluded his address by appealing to the electors to support Mr. Cox and resumed his seat amidst loud applause.

MR. PATERSON'S SPEECH.

Mr. Wm. Paterson, of South Brant, was received with hearty enthusiasm. Mr. Paterson is a most effective speaker, clear, logical and earnest; he has a happy faculty of driving his points home with telling effect. He thoroughly understands the subjects he discusses and has his facts and figures ready on a convenient shelf in his memory. Though suffering from cold and hoarseness, he made a most effective and convincing address. He began his remarks by referring to the immense increase of the national debt and the claim made by the Conservatives that the country had value for the alarming increase, in the canals, public works and particularly

THE CANADIAN PACIFIC RAILWAY.

As to the charge that the Liberal party was opposed to the C. P. R., the speaker pointed out that Mr. Mackenzie was actually engaged in building it when relieved of office. Mr. Mackenzie had built an important part of the road which was being used to take settlers into the country. The speaker went on to show that the bargain with the C. P. R. Syndicate was an outrageous one from the standpoint of the country. The speaker mentioned the immense sums that had been given the road, immensely in excess of the estimate of Sir Charles Tupper of the cost of the road. It was shown that for the immense monetary concessions made the company, the country had no equivalent, the road and grants were handed over to the company

"FOR NOTHING AND FOREVER."

The Canada Pacific Railway Company not only got all the money and land grants and the completed line—the portions built with the people's money and the portion built by the Government, but by the monopoly clauses the company had a lien on the whole North-West. The Government and their friends had asserted in the House that these monopoly clauses would be subject to provincial authority, but after the solemn public assurance on this point, Sir John had outrageously vetoed the charters of local railways, whose construction would relieve the North-West of the grinding monopoly of rates imposed by the C. P. R. It was thus that a large portion of the public debt of Canada, 220,000,000 of dollars, had been piled up, a sum equivalent to a million dollars to each constituency, or two million dollars for East and West Peterborough. The interest on this immense debt had to be PAID BY TAXES ON THE PEOPLE, and the poor man paid more in proportion than the rich. The speaker happily illustrated the fact that this tax was paid, though the people did not feel it like they would a much lower sum of direct taxes. The speaker, in referring to the position of the Liberal party in respect to the National Policy, denied that the Mackenzie Government was the enemy of the manufacturers, for his tariff gave the Canadian manufacturers the benefit of 17½ per cent. advantage over foreign manufacturers, 2½ per cent. more than Hon. Thos. White in 1873, when he posed as a free trader, thought was necessary. The speaker combatted the claim of the Conservatives that the N. P. had brought numerous new industries into existence. With, perhaps, a single exception, there was no industry at present in Canada that did not exist before 1878. If his assertion was doubted the worshippers of the National Policy were invited to specify. The excessive and ill judged application of the principle of protection had resulted in over-production and stagnation in many branches of industry and in the necessity for the combination of manufactures to shorten production so as to keep up prices and of course this action led to a reduction of work and

REDUCTION OF WAGES,

and, of course, an increased price of these products to the consumer. A prominent cotton manufacturer had told the speaker that all the cotton mills, boomed into fictitious activity, and all their profits would not equal the original outlay. Under the Mackenzie regime there were cotton mills in a flourishing condition and there was year by year during his term, increasing importations of raw cotton showing that this industry was year by year gaining ground. The same remarks would apply with similar force to the woolen industry, there having been exported millions of dollars worth of woolens to thirty-two different countries, and yet the Conservatives had the assurance to claim that all the manufactures of the country were due to them. The

REFORM PARTY DID NOT DESIRE to destroy the manufacturing industries of Canada, and none but political manufacturers affected to believe that they did. In the speaker's city, Brantford, the most extensive manufacturing city for its size in Canada, the majority of the manufacturers were working heartily in the interests of Edward Blake and for his (Mr. Paterson's) return. Sir John would find Brantford a poor place to come for subscriptions to his campaign corruption fund. Mr. Paterson contended that the Government had no right to look after the interests of the workingman as the manufacturer. The cabin of the foreign producer, the opponent of home industry, were met at the doors of Canada with a high tariff imposed in the interests of the manufacturers, but the foreign laborer, the opponent of the workingman, walked boldly in and

THERE WAS NEITHER BOLT NOR BAR

to hinder him, but, on the other hand, the enormous sum of $800,000 per year of the people's money was spent to enable foreign workmen to come into Canada and be placed in a position to underbid and displace the Canadian workman. It was an outrage for any government to tax working men under such circumstances to enrich any class of the community. In spite of spending half a million dollars per year to encourage emmigration, the Government was unable to keep the natural increase of the country—for every immigrant who landed in Canada displaced a Canadian. When the speaker introduced a motion in the House of Commons against this expenditure for immigration,

EVERY REFORMER VOTED FOR IT

and every Tory voted against it. The tax on grains had not benefitted the farmer. The tax on wheat had no effect upon a crop of which the country produced a surplus, and the only effect it could have was to prevent the passage of United States grain through Canada, which gave employment to our canals, vessels and railways and the workmen incidental to such employment. The speaker pronounced the alleged protective duty on wool an insult to the intelligence of the farmer. Fine wool, of which the country imported millions of pounds every year, was placed on the free list, while coarse wools, such as grown in Canada, was protected from outside competition, when not a single pound was ever imported into the country. Adverting to the principles of Liberalism, Mr. Patterson pointed out that Liberals advocated the independence and so grossly outraged under the rule of the present party in power. The Liberal party advocated the reform of the Senate by making it responsible to the people. The speaker combatted in a most humorous and effective manner the plea of Senate advocates, that it was necessary for the revision of "hasty legislation," showing that in one year for 150 hours' work the Senate cost the country $130,000. During the six months session of 1885 the Senate spent in revising the "hasty legislation" of the Commons 225 hours at a cost to the country of $250,000. Liberal members of the Senate were ashamed of the irresponsible position they occupied. The Liberal policy with reference to the settlement of our North-West lands was in Mr. Blake's words,

PURITY OF PARLIAMENT,

"THE LAND FOR THE PEOPLE,"

while the Tory policy, which had been carried out vigorously, was "the land for speculators." The speaker went on to contrast the spirit of Liberal and Tory principles, showing that no liberty had ever been granted to the people by the Tory party of their own free will—only as a matter of policy and to maintain power. The speaker pronounced emphatically in favor of manhood suffrage, claiming that every adult young man who was liable to bear arms and who had an interest in the state, was entitled to the ballot. The Franchise Bill was denounced as the embodiment of the worst spirit of Toryism—an attack on the principle of responsible government, whereby the revising barrister was made the arbitrator of the voters' list, deciding of who should and who should not vote. It was due to the persistent efforts of the small band of Liberals in Parliament that judges were substituted for lawyers as revising officers. The responsible government the people now enjoyed was an OUTGROWTH OF LIBERAL PRINCIPLES.

It, as well as the great boon of municipal institutions, was opposed by the Tory party. Briefly referring to the Northwest rebellion, the speaker held the Government responsible for it. They had denied that there were any grievances, but the fact was that immediately on the outbreak the government appointed a commission which adjusted over 1700 claims which the government insisted did not exist. If these claims were fradulent the government had no right to settle them. The speaker closed a most logical, effective and convincing speech by urging the young men who would exercise the ballot for the first time to study the history of both parties and to cast their ballots in favour of the Liberal party which has ever been the champion of civil and religious liberty, and this they would do by marking their ballots for Mr. Cox, the supporter of Hon. Edward Blake. Mr. Paterson resumed his seat amidst loud applause.

The meeting closed with cheers for the Queen, and Mr. Blake and for Mr. Cox and Mr. Paterson.

Quick Relief.

"One bottle of Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam cured me of a sore throat and loss of voice. One trial relieved me when all other medicine failed.", says Miss J. McLeod, Belfountain, Ont. 2w5d

It is a mistaken idea that all maiden ladies like cats. We have seen them refuse mincemeat more than once.

THE remedy for curing Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Croup, Diseases of the Throat, Bronchitis, Pains and Oppression of the Chest or Lungs, Difficult Breathing, and all the Diseases of the Pulmonary Organs. No better remedy for Whooping Cough can be found.

CAUTION.—Don't experiment with new and untried medicines, but always keep on hand this safe and sure remedy.—Allen's Lung Balsam.

MOTHERS, have you delicate, weakly children, who are always TAKING COLD, and subject to CROUP? Remember, there never was a case of CROUP which did not originate in a COLD.

ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM IS YOUR REMEDY.

Physicians who have failed to cure their patients should try this medicine before they give the case up, as we know many valuable lives have been saved by being persuaded to give it a trial.

DO NOT DESPAIR because all other remedies have failed, but try this remedy, and you will not be deceived. It will cure when all others fail.

Allen's Lung Balsam is now put up in Three Sizes.

Price 25c., 50c., and $1 per Bottle.

The 25c. bottles are put up for the accommodation of all who desire simply a Cough or Croup remedy. Those desiring a remedy for Consumption or any Lung Disease should procure the Large $1 Bottles.

Sold by all Medicine Dealers.

THE EVIL GENIUS.

By WILKIE COLLINS.

The evil genius of the family joined us in the cottage parlor when our consultation had come to an end. I had the honor of communicating the decision at which we had arrived. Mrs. Presty marched to the door, and, from that commanding position, addressed a few farewell remarks to her daughter:

"I have done with you, Catherine. You have reached the limits of my maternal endurance at last. I shall set up my own establishment and live again—in memory—with Mr. Ormond and Mr. Presty. May you be happy. I don't anticipate it."

She left the room—and came back again for a last word, addressed this time to Randal Linley.

"When you next see your friend, Capt. Bennydeck, give him my compliments, Mr. Randal, and say that I congratulate him on having been jilted by my daughter. It would have been a sad thing indeed if such a sensible man had married an idiot. Good morning."

She left the room again, and came back again for another last word, addressed on this occasion to me. Her better nature made an effort to express itself, not altogether without success.

"I think it quite likely, Mr. Sarrazin, that some dreadful misfortune will fall on my daughter as the punishment of her undutiful disregard of her mother's objections. In that case I shall feel it my duty to return and administer maternal consolation. When you write, address me at me bankers. I make allowances for a lawyer, sir; I don't blame you."

She opened the door for the third time—stepped out, and stepped back again into the room—suddenly gave her daughter a fierce kiss—returned to the door—shook her fist at Mrs. Linley with a theatrically threatening gesture—said: "Unnatural child!"—and, after this exhibition of her better nature, and her worse, left us at last. When you visit the remarried pair, my love, on their return from their second honeymoon, take Mrs. Presty with you.

2.—The Lawyer's Words.

"When you force this ridiculous and regrettable affair on my attention" (I think I hear Mrs. Sarrazin say), "the least you can do is to make your narrative complete. But perhaps you propose to tell me personally what has become of Kitty and what well-deserved retribution has overtaken Miss Westerfield."

"No; I propose, in this case also, to communicate my information in writing—at the safe distance from home of my office in Lincoln's Inn Fields.

Kitty accompanies her father and mother to the continent, of course. But she insisted on first saying good-by to the dear friend, once the dear governess, whom she loves. Randal and I volunteered to take her (with her mother's ready permission) to see Miss Westerfield. Try not to be angry. Try not to tear me up.

We found Capt. Bennydeck and his pretty secretary enjoying a little rest and refreshment after a long morning's work for the good of the house. The captain was carving the chicken; and Sydney, by his side, was making the salad. The house cat occupied a third chair, with her eye immovably fixed on the movements of the knife and fork. Perhaps I was thinking of sad past days. Anyway it seemed to me to be as pretty a domestic scene as a man could wish to look at. The arrival of Kitty made the picture complete.

Our visit was necessarily limited by a due remembrance of the hour of departure by an early tidal train. Kitty's last words to Sydney bade her bear their next meeting in mind, and not be melancholy at only saying good-by for a time. Like all children, she asks strange questions. When we were out in the street again she said to her uncle:

"Do you think my nice captain will marry Syd?"

Randal had noticed in Capt. Bennydeck's face signs which betrayed that the bitterest disappointment of his life was far from being a forgotten disappointment yet. If it had been put by any other person Kitty's question might have met with a bitter reply. As it was her uncle only said: "My dear child, that is no business of yours or mine."

Not in the least discouraged Kitty turned to me.

"What do you think, Samuel?"

I followed Randal's lead and answered: "How should I know?"

The child looked from one to the other of us.

"Shall I tell you what I think?" she said. "I think you are both of you humbugs."

THE END.

Note.—The sole right of adapting "The Evil Genius" for performance on the stage has been legally secured by the author.

If anything clogs the waste-pipes in the house we become alarmed, for sewer-gas is apt to generate disease. The children, then, are removed to their grand parents' or kept out of doors as much as possible, until the defect is remedied. But the waste-pipes of the human system are often allowed to clog, and the sufferer, who cannot get away from the poison, becomes unfit for work or pleasure. In such cases Dr. Pierce's "Pleasant Purgative Pellets" will gently remove the cause, and the effect will vanish of itself. By druggists. 6dw5

The Heartbreaking Winds

of winter bring to the surface every latent pain. It is one of the strange things associated with our physical well being that the very air, without which we could not exist, is heavily laden with germs of disease. Rheumatism, neuralgia, lumbago, and other complaints of a similar character hold revel at this season of the year amongst human nerves and human muscles. There was a time when fortitude alone could make life tolerable, but now with the advent of powerful, penetrating and nerve soothing remedies pain becomes a thing of the past most certain pain cure is Polson's Nervoline. Nothing equals Nervoline for penetrating power. Nervoline is beyond comparison the grandest discovery for the relief of pain offered to the public. Druggists sell a sample bottle for 10 cents; large bottles only 25 cents at any drug store. 6dw5

Enjoy Life.

What a truly beautiful world we live in! Nature gives us grandeur of mountains, glens and oceans, and thousands of means of enjoyment. We can desire no better when in perfect health; but how often do the majority of people feel like giving it up disheartened, discouraged and worn out with disease, when there is no occasion for this feeling, as every sufferer can easily obtain satisfactory proof, that Green's August Flower, will make them free from disease, as when born. Dyspepsia and Liver Complaint are the direct causes of seventy-five per cent, of such maladies as Biliousness, Indigestion, Sick Headache, Costiveness, Nervous Prostration, Dizziness of the head, Palpitation of the Heart, and other distressing symtoms. Three doses of August Flower will prove its wonderful effect. Sample bottle, 10 cents. Try it. eodw6

Safe, Sure, and Painless.

What a world of meaning this statement embodies. Just what you are looking for, is it not? Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor—the great sure-pop corn cure—acts in this way. It makes no sore spots; safe acts speedy and with certainty; surely and mildly, without inflaming the parts; painless. Do not be imposed upon by immotations or substitutes. 6dw5

A Dutiful Wife.

Joyful News.

It is certainly glad tidings to the poor invalid to be informed of a remedy that will give prompt and sure relief in case of painful suffering. Such a remedy is Hagyard's Yellow Oil adapted for internal and external use in all aches, pains, lameness and soreness It cures rheumatism, neuralgia, sore throat, croup and all inflammatory pains. 2w5d

Dominion Elections!

Nomination Day: February 15th.

Polling Day: February 22nd.

A NEW CANDIDATE IN THE FIELD!

HIS PLATFORM:

GENTLEMEN,

I have no desire to tamper with the votes of that noble army of our citizens who freely exercise the Franchise on behalf of their favorite political leaders. But, in order to take a hand in the present political struggle for supremacy between Grit and Tory, I have decided to come out and offer such tempting

BRIBES TO THE ELECTORS

as cannot fail to place me at the head of the polls.

I would scorn, like all other candidates for parliamentary honors, to buy up votes, or do aught that might be construed as a violation of our Election laws. My object is a far more patriotic one, namely—that of making a CLEAN SWEEP of all my Winter Clothing and Tweeds before Election day.

Nor will the secrecy of the Ballot be infringed by asking purchasers whether they will vote for LEBRUN, COX, or STEVENSON. No, not by a home rule scuttle full! But every elector is expected to attend this exciting Political-Winter-Clothing-Sale, and to hurrah for LEBRUN, so as to elect him by an overwhelming majority as the Workingman's Favourite Candidate.

LIFE ASSURANCE CO. OF CANADA.

Gross Life Business for 1886, - - - $3,540,000.

EXTRACT FROM MONTREAL WITNESS, DATED DECEMBER 31st, 1886:—

THE LATE MR. McLACHLAN.

AN INSURANCE COMPANY PROMPT SETTLEMENT.

We have been asked by Mr. McLachlan to publish the following, and do so in view of the exceptional public interest taken in the case mentioned:—

To R. Macaulay, Esq., Managing Director of the Sun Life Assurance Company:—

DEAR SIR,—I have much pleasure in acknowledging the payment by you of $17,130.70, being the amount due under the policies held by your Company on the life of my brother, the late John S. McLachlan. A company's character is tested when an opportunity arises in which it has the power to take advantage of a technicality or inability (as in the present case) to comply with every condition and requirement, so as to occasion delay and expense, and perhaps finally defeat a just and honest claim. There is no doubt in the mind of any reasonable man that my brother and Mr. Sumner were unhappily drowned, and the affidavit s produced abundantly support this; but although a careful search has been made, the bodies may never be recovered owing to the swiftness of the current and the low temperature of the water. It would, indeed, be a hardship if any company were, under the circumstances, to demand technical proofs which, from the very nature of the case, it is impossible to furnish. I have great pleasure in certifying to the honorable and liberal manner in which your Company has acted in regard to the claim. As soon as your board of directors was aware that the accident had really happened, you gave every facility for a prompt settlement. You have been the first of the companies interested to pay, and I thank you for the kind and satisfactory manner in which you have met me.

W. McLACHLAN.

The Dominion Safety fund, we understand, has also paid its policy of $2,000. The Sun Life has taken from the executors of Mr. McLachlan a personal bond to refund the amount of insurance with six per cent per annum compound interest, should he ever turn up alive. Mr. J. S. McLachlan had in all $42,130.70 insurance on his life, and other companies resist the claims.

BANKERS—Bank of Toronto and Canadian Bank of Commerce.
SOLICITOR—D. W. Dumble.

TO DEPOSITORS—Deposits are received by this Company both on current account and for periods of one year or longer. The rate of interest paid on amounts deposited on current account and which may be withdrawn by check in such sums as the depositor may from time to time require, is FOUR per cent., either paid or compounded half-yearly, and the rate on yearly deposits is FIVE per cent.

TO INVESTORS—The five and ten year FIVE PER CENT DEBENTURES of this Company which are issued in denominations of $100, $200, $400 and $1000 each, transferable by endorsement, with half-yearly interest Coupons attached, payable at the Head Office of the Company in Peterborough, or at any Branch of the Bank of Toronto in Canada, afford a safe and convenient mode of investment.

The funds of the Company being invested in first mortgages on Real Estate, no better security can be offered to depositors or debenture-holders, they having a first claim or mortgage on the whole Assets of the Company, the shareholders having the second. The annual statement shows that the amount so invested was over $800,000, and on the security of real estate at least double that value.

By the laws of Ontario, Trustees, Executors and Administrators may deposit Trust Funds of the estates which they control in this Company, and are free from all further liability, a privilege of which many have largely availed themselves.

TO BORROWERS—Money is obtainable from this Company on approved Real Estate security at the Lowest Current Rates of Interest.

The Mortgage may be repaid by yearly instalments, or otherwise as may be agreed upon, the interest ceasing at once on all amounts paid on account of the sum borrowed.

Applications may be made either to the Head Office, or to any of the Agents.

GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY

CURES ALL HUMORS,

from a common Blotch, or Eruption, to the worst Scrofula. Salt-rheum, "Fever-sores," Scaly or Rough Skin, in short, all diseases caused by bad blood are conquered by this powerful, purifying, and invigorating medicine. Great Eating Ulcers rapidly heal under its benign influence. Especially has it manifested its potency in curing Tetter, Rose Rash, Boils, Carbuncles, Sore Eyes, Scrofulous Sores and Swellings, Hip-joint Disease, White Swellings, Goitre, or Thick Neck, and Enlarged Glands. Send ten cents in stamps for a large treatise, with colored plates, on Skin Diseases, or the same amount for a treatise on Scrofulous Affections. "THE BLOOD IS THE LIFE." Thoroughly cleanse it by using Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and good digestion, a fair skin, buoyant spirits, vital strength, and soundness of constitution, will be established.

CONSUMPTION,

which is Scrofulous Disease of the Lungs, is promptly and certainly arrested and cured by this God-given remedy, if taken before the last stages of the disease are reached. From its wonderful power over this terribly fatal disease, when first offering this now celebrated remedy to the public, Dr. PIERCE thought seriously of calling it his "Consumption Cure," but abandoned that name as too limited for a medicine which, from its wonderful combination of tonic, or strengthening, alterative, or blood-cleansing, anti-bilious, pectoral, and nutritive properties, is unequaled, not only as a remedy for consumption of the lungs, but for all

CHRONIC DISEASES OF THE

Liver, Blood, and Lungs.

If you feel dull, drowsy, debilitated, have sallow color of skin, or yellowish-brown spots on face or body, frequent headache or dizziness, bad taste in mouth, internal heat or chills, alternating with hot flashes, low spirits and gloomy forebodings, irregular appetite, and coated tongue, you are suffering from Indigestion, Dyspepsia, and Torpid Liver, or "Biliousness." In many cases only part of these symptoms are experienced. As a remedy for all such cases, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has no equal.

For Weak Lungs, Spitting of Blood, Shortness of Breath, Bronchitis, Severe Coughs, Consumption, and kindred affections, it is a sovereign remedy. Send ten cents in stamps for Dr. Pierce's book on Consumption. Sold by Druggists.

An Apron Social.

The Ladies' Aid of Charlotte street Methodist Church will give an Apron Social at the residence of Mrs. Geo. A. Cox, Friday evening, Feb. 4th, at 8 o'clock. A highly instructive and interesting programme has been provided. Admission 25 cents. 3d

Turnbull's cellar is filled with piles of white and grey cottons which he is offering by the piece at prices which please everyone that sees them.

Read This and Call.

The hair on the head is not intended alone for ornament, but to protect the scalp as well; but it often happens that the head becomes bald, which, of course, leaves the scalp exposed, which is very uncomfortable and unsightly besides. Everyone who becomes bald should procure an artificial covering of hair in order to protect the scalp from the severe weather and to improve their looks. Prof. Dorenwend's fine styles of Gents' Wigs and Toupees, Ladies' Bangs, Wigs, Waves, etc., are just the things required in such cases. It is impossible to detect any false look about his pieces when put on the head. Everyone should call and see the Professor, as he will not be here again this season. He will be at Phelan's hotel on Saturday and Monday, February 5th and 7th. 3w3-5d

A South Ward Episode.

Last Sunday a young man in the South Ward went down cellar, lamp in hand, to look at the condition of things in general. On the treacherous steps he slipped, and lo! he fell, (and great was the fall of him), into three feet of ice-cold water. Securing a grip on the apple barrel he floated towards the steps and emerged from the darkness with teeth chattering, dripping garments, and the lamp chimney in his hand. What a pretty spectacle for the Firemen's Carnival Friday evening, 11th inst. The costume, though cold and perhaps uncomfortable, would be decidedly original, and would be sure to take the prize. The firemen are determined to make their carnival a success, and offer big prizes for costumes and skaters. It will be held Friday evening, 11th inst.

Another lot of Ladies' Ribbed Overstockings to hand at the Golden Lion. R. FAIR.

Turnbull has already received an immense shipment of French dress goods for the spring trade in all the latest shades described in the latest ladies journals. Those looking for something new should see them.

A Rare Opportunity.

Prof. Dorenwend, the well known hair goods manufacturer, is coming with an entirely new stock, special styles of Ladies' Bangs, Waves, Wigs, Switches and other kinds of ladies' head dresses; also Gents' Wigs and Toupees of best and latest improved patterns. This will be the only visit to Peterborough this season. He will be at Phelan's hotel on Saturday and Monday, Feb. 5th and 7th, and every one who is bald or whose hair is thin or turning gray should call at his show rooms and try on one of the Professor's artistic headdresses, manufactured from the very best human hair. They are so perfectly natural looking that when placed on the head not the slightest falseness is perceptible. Be sure to call, as this is the only visit this season. 3w3-5d

Two Annual Meetings.

Peterborough Bible Society and St. Paul's Congregation.

There was a small attendance at the annual meeting of the Peterborough branch of the Bible Society in the George street church Wednesday evening. Dr. Bell, President of the Society, presided; proceedings were opened by Rev. I. Tovell, with singing and prayer. Several local ministers of the Gospel were present.

Mr. J. D. Collins, Secretary, then read the report of the committee, which, among other things, stated that this year collectors would be dispensed with, and the different ministers would be requested to ask their congregations for special collections on Feb. 5th; that a number of Bibles and Testaments had been forwarded the North-West volunteers, distributed among the inmates of the gaol, and despatched to Apsley mission; regretting the small attendance at this and other meetings of the Society, judging from which and the small amount subscribed, it would appear that the Christian community do not yet realise the importance of this work. The Depository report comprised a financial statement of the Depository and an account of the books, which showed that there had been issued from the Depository during the year 354 Bibles and 126 Testaments. The report of the committee further recommended the appointment of the following officers for the year:—

PRESIDENT—Jno. Stratton.

VICE-PRESIDENTS—All the ministers of the Protestant churches in town.

SECRETARY—J. D. Collins.

TREASURER—J. H. Roper.

DEPOSITORY—Messrs. Consal & Co.

COMMITTEE—Messrs. John Lockhart, Dr. Fife, Wm. Yelland, John Carnegie, R. Kingan, John Wright, W. W. Johnston, R. W. Bell, A. L. Davis, J. L. Hughes, I. Richardson, R. Tully, John Walton, S. Curtis, W. Aldridge, W. Wand and John Smith.

On motion the report was adopted.

Rev. Mr. Burton, of Toronto, delivered an eloquent address, recounting the work of the Bible Society at home and abroad, and setting up a powerful plea for the cause of the Society.

The meeting closed with singing and prayer.

St. Paul's Congregation.

The annual congregational meeting of St. Paul's was held in the school room Thursday evening. At 6.30 o'clock about 100 members of the church and congregation assembled and partook of an excellent tea prepared by the ladies of the church. At eight o'clock proceedings were by Mr. J. H. Roper taking the chair. The school room was filled. After a chorus by the choir, reports of the Deacon's Court, Treasurer, Sunday School, Missionary Society, and the various committees were read and adopted. The affairs of the church were shown to be in a prosperous condition. Rev. Mr. Torrance took occasion to thank Mrs. Walsh for her gift of a baptismal font to the church. On the resignation of the Court of Deacons, it was decided to elect a Board of Management, and an adjourned meeting will be held next Wednesday evening for the purpose of selecting members for the new Board and settling other details in connection therewith. The Ladies' Aid Society handed in a check for $100 to the treasurer of the Building Fund, which was received amidst general applause.

Working of the Scott Act.

To the Editor of the Examiner.

DEAR SIR,—The accompanying slip gives an idea of the workings of the Scott Act in New Brunswick. Will you kindly reproduce it for the encouragement of the friends of the cause in this county and elsewhere. The report is the report of the Inspector of Woodstock, N. B., to the County Council in January last. I am

Yours truly,
A SUBSCRIBER.

Uriah R. Hanson, inspector under the Scott Act, made a full and explicit report of his work for the six months past. Forty-eight cases have been tried, of which ten were dismissed for lack of evidence. Thirty convictions were made, two of the convicted serving their sentences in jail; parties who had left the country and whose cases are pending are six; the number who have gone out of business by reason of prosecutions are ten. The fines collected and paid secretary-treasurer, $1,200; cost of 23 cases from which nothing was received, $234; S. B. Appleby's costs as counsel in 48 cases, $240; jail fees, $13; salary inspector, half year, $150; net amount to credit of the county, $582: with one conviction to be collected. The convictions held over parties for good behaviour, five. Jailer Sam. Jones very materially aided the inspector in enforcing the Act.

Case after case of cottonades and shirtings have been arriving at Turnbull's. All the new patterns now in stock at his old well known low prices.

"Van the Virginian."

Bartley Campbell's famous play "Van the Virginian" was played by the Wilson Day Dramatic Co., last evening to a very appreciative audience. The drama deals with the peculiar situation of a blacksmith who marries the widow of a man supposed to have been killed in the American war of the rebellion, and the widow is sustained in this belief by the news that is brought to her of her husband's death after the battle by one of her husband's comrades in arms. After five years of unalloyed wedded bliss as Van's wife, the supposed dead husband turns up and enters upon the scene and claims his wife. The plot is well worked out and gives scope for ample dramatic situations. Mr. Day, as Vandyke Vernon, the honorable though suffering second husband, gave a finished and masterly portrayal of a very difficult role, and carried the feelings of his audience with him throughout the play. Miss Osborne as Kate Calvert, proved herself to be an emotional actress of the highest order, and was especially strong in the last three acts. Miss Willis as Louie and Mr. Summers as Charley Knox were excellent; while the Jingle of Mr. Henderson was warmly received. The balance of the support was good. Little Annie Bird appeared during the play and sang to the great delight of the audience. To night the popular manager and actor, Mr. Day, has been tendered a testimonial benefit, when the famous comedy of "The Honeymoon," will be presented, with its rich costumes of the 14th century. Every lady attending will receive a handsome satin programme as souvenir.

A Great Event.

This year's Carnival in Montreal, now opening, is attracting thousands of prominent people from all parts of the world. Lord Lansdowne is to be in attendance, while many members of President Cleveland's Cabinet have signified their intention to be there. With truly wonderful enterprise the publishers of the Montreal Star have every year published a Carnival number of the Star, which has astonished the world and made the publishers of other great illustrated papers look aghast. This year—the Queen's Jubilee Year, the year of the greatest Carnival—is likewise the year of the greatest Carnival Star yet produced—a paper that will be preserved as an historical work and descend as an heirloom from generation to generation. It is impossible to describe the attractions of the Carnival Star this year. It marks an era of progress in illustrated papers perfectly amazing in its possibilities. The Carnival number of the Star has forty mammoth pages with five exquisite plate supplements, the most artistic and the most interesting ever produced with any paper on this continent.

The paper looks as if it could not be sold for less than two dollars and yet the price is only forty cents, which can be sent to the publishers, Montreal. It is sure to be in demand at a high premium. To bring out ideas on the subject of illustrated papers, the publishers of the Star are giving $1,000 in cash prizes as follows:—

$1,000.00 CASH PRIZES.

The publishers of the Montreal Star offer the sum of one thousand dollars for the best letters containing sufficient ideas for a Carnival Star to exceed in popular interest the present issue, and that can be sold at the same price.

RUPTURE CURED

IN FROM 30 TO 90 DAYS BY WEARING

EGAN'S IMPERIAL TRUSS.

Read the following extract from a letter of a well-known citizen of St. Catharines,—hundreds like it:

ST. CATHARINES, Sept. 30th, 1885.

GENTLEMEN,—Being over 70 years of age, and over 30 years ruptured, I looked upon my case as hopeless, especially as I tried various appliances without success, among others, recently, two springless trusses made in New York State, costing me $40. Nothing would retain my Hernia. I have worn your truss over four months, night and day, with great satisfaction and comfort; even to bathe in it the rupture has never come down, it holds me perfectly secure under all circumstances. You may publish it for the benefit of other sufferers. Yours truly, CAPT. B. KING.

This new Spiral Spring Pad Truss has taken ten years to make it perfect; is guaranteed to hold the very worst case during the hardest work or severest strain. It will cure every child and 80 out of every 100 of adults. Be warned—don't waste your money on useless appliances, but send stamp for our treatise; it contains full information, your neighbors' testimony, price list and questions for you to answer. When writing please mention this paper. Address,

WHY
Will people pay rent when houses and lots can be purchased on such easy terms as are offered by the undersigned. Come and inspect our work and see for yourselves how we construct our houses. Our chief aim and study is to build substantial, warm, frost and damp proof houses. I am offering good building lots, and will build solid brick houses, nine-inch walls, strapped and lathed, two stories, for less money than you can buy frame or veneered buildings. We cordially invite those who anticipate renting or buying to inspect our work and prove for themselves that our houses are not merely built to sell. Every house I've sold gives first-class satisfaction, and I am determined that every house I build shall be a standing testimony to honest building. MONTREAL CARNIVAL

EVERYTHING IN READINESS FOR THE OPENING ON MONDAY.

MONTREAL, Feb. 4.—Capt. Streatfield, Private Secretary of His Excellency the Governor-General, is in the city preparing the arrangements necessary for the stay here of the Governor-General and suite, who will arrive in the city on Monday and take up their abode in the residence of Mr. Baumgarten.

On Wednesday of the carnival week it is intended to have a grand spectacular drive, which shall include various trades and manufactures, provided a sufficient number participate in the display. The other preparations are all well nigh completed. The Maze and the Jacques Cartier-square slide are now finished, the ice castle is receiving the last touches, and everything will be ready in time for the formal opening on Monday.

New York's Distinguished Contribution.

NEW YORK, Feb. 4.—Robert Garrett, President of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company, has secured a large house in Montreal for his party, composed of twelve ladies and gentlemen from Baltimore and Washington, who are to reach there Tuesday morning for the carnival week. Among other guests who are to leave here Monday are Surrogate Rollins of New York, C. A. Dana of the Sun, ex-District Attorney George Bliss, ex-Treasurer Thomas C. Austin, George W. Lynn and ex-Assemblyman Walter Howe, all of New York City.

The special guests of Erastus Wiman are the Governor of the State, with Col. Rice, Private Secretary, who hope to join the party on Wednesday, and the following caricature artists from New York: Thos. Nast of Harper's Weekly, Thos. Nast, jr., Baron De Grimm of the Evening Telegram, Bernard Gillam and W. J. Arkell of Judge, and W. H. Macdougall of the New York World. The attendance at the carnival promises to be very large and will include an unusual number of distinguished people.

THE CONDITION OF TRADE.

Rumors of War Have Depressed Stocks and Lifted Grain.

NEW YORK, Feb. 4.—Dun, Wiman & Co.'s weekly review of trade says: Panics abroad and strikes at home have tested the strength of all markets during the past week. Overhastily it is inferred that the panics on foreign exchanges mean war; they may mean only a collapse of the universal speculation which has prevailed of late, especially at Berlin, and thus may get rid of the strong incentive to circulate warlike rumors. The news in the strict sense, does not afford much evidence that war impends, but rumor and apprehension have depressed stocks and lifted grain. Thus tested the markets have shown unexpected steadiness. The foreign unloading of American stocks has caused but a moderate decline in prices, while even in the grain market the advance has been conservative and limited, and other markets have changed but little. Probably grain would have risen more had not the great strikes exerted a restraining influence. The dry goods trade, though affected by the uncertainty as to transportation, still improves with respect to cottons, while the hesitation in woollens increases. China's demand for brown cottons is excellent, the South American better and the domestic demand steady and strong at a recent advance in prices. But woollens are disturbed afresh by treasury decisions and by large auction sales. Large job lots of dress goods have been sold at Boston at little more than half last year's prices and heavy woollens are not sought at any advance.

The business failures occurring throughout the country during the last seven days, as reported to-day, Friday, by telegraph number for the United States 220 and for Canada 22, or a total of 251 last week, 301 the week previous to the last and 287 for the corresponding week last year. The failures in Canada are numerous and important, in New York City few and insignificant, in the other sections of the country about up to the average.

GEN. MIDDLETON WOUNDED.

An Incident of a Foil Contest—Various Ottawa Matters.

OTTAWA, Feb. 4.—Whilst a spirited contest was in progress last night at an exhibition of the fencing club, the foil of one of the competitors snapped and a bit of the steel flew across the room, grazing the chin of Major-General Fred Middleton in no gentle manner. The cut bled freely and a little excitement followed until the exact extent of the wound was learned and the bleeding stopped. Sir Frederick sat out the entertainment.

The Canadian Militia Gazette of this week contains an editorial pressing the claims of Adjutant-General Powel for recognition of services in connection with the late Northwest Rebellion.

The Government has just decided to make extensive improvement to the illuminating apparatus of Cape Race Lighthouse, which was taken over from the Imperial authorities on July 1 last. The light is located on the southwest coast of Newfoundland.

Deputy-Sheriff Sherwood left this morning for Kingston with ex-Detective Macpherson, who was recently committed for two years and six months at hard labor for robbing the till at the ticket office of the Canada Atlantic.

The Hamilton Bonspiel.

HAMILTON, Feb. 4.—The bonspiel was continued to-day, eight rinks from the east playing against eight from the west for eight pairs of curling stones. The victors were: Thamesville, Woodstock, Georgetown, Simcoe, Hamilton Thistles, Hamilton Caledonians and St. Mary's.

In the finish the contest narrowed down to four rinks. The winners of the prizes were: Thamesville, J. Graves skip, beat Woodstock, D. C. Whitehead skip, by 18 points to 6; and the St. Marys, S. Sparling skip, beat the Georgetowns, H. H. Spears skip, by 14 points to 3.

IT LOOKS LIKE WAR.

BUT THE EMPEROR SAYS GERMANY WILL NOT ATTACK FRANCE.

PARIS, Feb. 4.—The Journal des Debats has a telegram from St. Petersburg saying that the Emperor William, in reply to a message from the Czar, has stated that Germany has no intention of attacking France, and that Prince Bismarck has sent a similar despatch to M. DeGiers, Russian Minister of Foreign Affairs. The contents of both despatches, the Journal correspondent says, were communicated to M. Laboulleraye, the French ambassador at St. Petersburg.

The French Government Questioned.

PARIS, Feb. 4.—M. Lecroix intimated in the lobby of the Chamber of Deputies that he intended to put a question to Premier Goblet in order to give him a chance to make a public statement regarding the political situation.

M. Goblet, on receiving the notice from M. Lecroix, replied that he considered a discussion on that subject unnecessary after the repeated declaration by himself and M. De Freycinet that the sentiments and policy of France were pacific, and that if fresh declarations were unnecessary from a political point of view, they were equally so in the financial world. He added that he had convictions, supported by undoubted evidence, that the Bourse panic was exclusively the work of speculators.

On receiving this reply M. Lecroix renounced his intention of questioning the Premier.

An Important Denial.

BERLIN, Feb. 4.—The Berlin Post denies that the Emperor William, in recently announcing at a reception that the reserves were to be called out for rifle drill, declared there would be war. All that the Emperor said, according to the Post, was that it was necessary for the reserves to learn to handle the new repeating rifles.

Boulanger Visits the Frontier.

BERLIN, Feb. 4.—Berlin papers report that Gen. Boulanger, French War Minister, made a flying visit to the frontier town of Verdun to-day, and that he rode as far as Ananweiler, on the German frontier,, making a strategic reconnaissance.

HAMILTON MATTERS.

The Hamilton, Guelph and Buffalo Railway—No Crimes During the Carnival.

HAMILTON, Feb. 4.—The Committee of the Provisional Board of the Hamilton, Guelph and Buffalo Railway met this morning and conferred with the Citizens' Committee, of which Mayor McKay is Chairman. Mr. Jennings, Chief Engineer of the Canadian Pacific Railway, was present, he having previously, with the Mayor and Mr. Sanford, driven about the city to inspect the possible routes and the topography of the neighborhood. Those present talked over the situation, and it became evident that the desire of the Canadian Pacific to gain access to Hamilton was sincere, and that the intention of that company was to make this city a principal point on their main line.

Mr. John S. Meredith, manager of the Hamilton branch of the Merchants' Bank, has been appointed manager of the Montreal branch in place of Mr. Crombie, who has resigned to take a similar position in the Bank of Commerce.

Not a single case of pocket-picking, larceny or robbery occurred during the Carnival. The detectives and police when they met a suspicious looking person advised him to leave town. Three or four were treated in this way and though they protested that they had just come to town for the Carnival, they took the hint and got out.

A PRISONER RESCUED.

A Murderous Encounter on a Railway Train Near Cleveland.

CLEVELAND, O., Feb. 4.—Early this morning as Captain of Police Hoehn and Detective Hulligan were returning on the Cleveland and Pittsburg Railroad from Pittsburg with one of the prisoners suspected of being implicated in the recent fur robbery in this city, they were assaulted, nearly killed, and their man taken from them. It was noticed by some of the trainmen that four strangers boarded the express at Ravenna, Portage County, Ohio. Shortly after the train started a scuffle and several shots were heard in the front car. Running in, the brakeman found Captain Hoehn lying on the floor with a bullet hole in his shoulder, another in his thigh, and his head badly cut from blows inflicted by some blunt instrument. Hulligan was lying insensible, his head being literally smashed open. The two officers were brought to this city at 6 a.m. Captain Hoehn was taken to the City Hospital and Hulligan to his home. The extent of their injuries is not definitely known.

SERVICE AT LAMBETH PALACE.

The Consecration of the First American Bishop Commemorated.

LONDON, Feb. 4.—The service in Lambeth Palace to commemorate the consecration therein in 1787 of the first bishop of the Episcopal Church in America was held to-day. Among those who took part were the Archbishop of Canterbury, the Bishop of London and Winchester, and Bishops Potter and Lyman of America. The Dean of Windsor performed the service. Instead of a sermon Bishop Potter delivered an eloquent address, sketching the history of the Church in America and its connection with the English Church. The Archbishop of Canterbury celebrated the communion. Minister Phelps and many other Americans attended the service.

Over Two Hundred Thousand Americans Visit It.

MONTREAL, Feb. 4.—After a journey in the States lasting over three months the Canadian Pacific Railway's exhibition car, under charge of Capt. C. W. Allen, has just returned to Canada. The car, which left Newport on Oct. 27, traveled as far south in the States as Springfield and Worcester, Mass., west as far as Troy and Albany, N.Y., and as far east as Lowell, Mass. The car was visited by upwards of 200,000 people of all classes of society, and the exhibition was well received and much appreciated. After some necessary repairs the car will go west to exhibit in Ontario, leaving Guelph on Monday next.

THE NEW YORK STRIKE.

The Strikers Have Many Additions to Their Ranks.

NEW YORK, Feb. 4.—The strikers on the pier of the New Haven and Hartford Railroad, East River, were admitted to the Union to-day. This makes over 400 admitted this week. The caulkers and joiners at work repairing an Old Dominion steamer struck to-day. They had no grievance. The coopers employed along the piers, with the millwrights, joined the strike to-day, as did also the painters and mechanics on the Union line.

THE OCCUPATION OF EGYPT.

Sir Wilfred Lawson Makes Some Unpalatable Remarks Thereon.

LONDON, Feb. 4.—In the House of Commons this afternoon, Mr. Cremore, Radical, moved an amendment to the address in reply to the Queen's Speech demanding the immediate recall of all British forces in Egypt.

Sir Wilfred Lawson, Radical, in seconding the motion, said: "We have raised the funded debt of Egypt from £80,000,000 to £100,000,000, slaughtered many thousands of the natives, crippled the national resources, bombarded the principal city of the country under circumstances of the greatest horror, increased taxation, promoted barrible debauchery in the capital, sown dissensions between the Khedive and the people, and crushed out the first little spark of independence that had been seen in Eastern nations for ages past."

Sir Charles Ferguson, Parliamentary Secretary to the Foreign Office, condemned this "over-drawn picture" of the English occupation of Egypt. He said the occupation was tolerated at the instance and under the mandate of Europe, to prevent Egypt from falling to pieces on account of internal troubles. The Government, he declared, was doing what they could to reduce the force in Egypt, and it would shortly be limited to 6000 men.

Propositions From Hanlan.
From Turf, Field and Farm.

Under date of Jan. 31, Edward Hanlan writes to us from Toronto:

"I have written Mr. St. John that I will meet him at the office of the Turf, Field and Farm on Thursday, Feb. 24, to make arrangements for the coming race with Gaudaur. I have seen a lot of newspaper talk about Beach. Will know definitely in a month what he intends to do. I think that I shall be myself again next summer, for I am wonderfully well and strong this winter. I shall have a new boat from Davis, of Portland, and another from Maslin, of Cambridge, and shall, of course, test the speed of both over a 2-mile course."

The ex-champion adds:

"There seems to be some doubt regarding my three-mile record at Lake Quinsigamond on August 14, 1885. I am prepared to wager $1000 that I can make the same, or better time, next summer over the Chautauqua Lake course during the regatta of the National Association of Amateur Oarsmen. I name this date because all the best critics will be there to see what is done. Anyone accepting my offer will please make a deposit of $500 with the Turf, Field and Farm, to be held by you as a forfeit."

The three-mile time of Hanlan at Lake Quinsigamond was 19 min. 20 sec., and we have published certificates as to the correctness of the course.

A Brakeman Killed.

ST. THOMAS, Feb. 4.—A brakeman named Albert Cutler fell from a freight train this morning near St. Clair Junction on the Michigan Central Railway and was instantly killed. He formerly lived in Windham, where his father now resides.

The stakes were to be $250 a side, and $100 a side additional to be paid if both horses were driven to a mark. [illegible] Mills [illegible] Wheeler was entitled to the money. [illegible] Mills appealed to the Divisional Court.

LIBERALS, RALLY To-Night!

Dominion Elections.

A Grand Rally of every working Liberal in Town is called for THIS EVENING, in the Liberal Club Rooms, to perfect organization for the coming Dominion Elections.

The Daily Examiner.

SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 5, 1887.

THE OUTLOOK.

The outlook for the success of the Liberal cause in the present contest is growing more favorable day by day. The results of the recent by-elections is a cheering feature to begin with. In New Brunswick, at the provincial elections, thirty Liberals were returned to ten Conservatives; in Nova Scotia the thirty Liberals are opposed by eight Tories. In Prince Edward Island there were recently returned seven Liberals and one Conservative. The local elections in Quebec resulted in the conversion of a Conservative majority of thirty into a Liberal majority of nine. In Ontario a Liberal Administration has a majority of twenty-eight. The Conservative majority in the provincial elections in Manitoba was reduced from seventeen to six. Giving the Government the whole of British Columbia and ten majority in Manitoba, and counting Prince Edward Island even, (though there is every probability that it will give a majority for Mr. Blake) we have, according to the trend of Liberal opinion, as shown by the local elections, a majority of over sixty in favor of the Liberals. Assuming that the influence of the Government from the exercise of its patronage and the use of pecuniary persuasion, will reduce the figures founded on the basis of the result of the Provincial elections, by fifty per cent., we have still a clear majority of thirty throughout the Dominion for Mr. Blake. That the result will be something like this there is every reason to hope and believe. Hon. Mr. Blake's progress throughout the Province is like a triumphal progress. He is received everywhere with the greatest enthusiasm. The people are beginning to break loose from the thraldom of boodle rule, and to regard the political situation from a patriotic point of view, and deciding that it is time to call a halt of the reckless, unreasoning and headlong extravagance that is plunging the country into ruin. Hosts of Liberals who, heretofore, deluded by false cries and false promises, have temporarily acted with the Conservatives, are returning to their proper place. Many of the previous supporters of Sir John are actively in the field against him either as Opposition candidates or active campaign workers. The Tory camp is torn with discord, and the harmony of the Conservative family is broken by faction. Altogether the outlook for the Liberal cause and for the country is cheering. In these ridings the prospect is good of redeeming them. In the East Mr. Lang promises to give a good account of himself on polling day and in the West the indications are excellent. This encouraging view of the probable result is not given by way of boast but to show that the struggle is not a hopeless one and to furnish an incentive to action. It must however, be remembered that the dominant party is fighting for life. The most desperate means will be employed to save the bacon of the government candidates. The Liberals are called upon to work with all their energy. The slightest apathy, the least cessation of effort may prove fatal to the cause of Liberalism in either riding. Let every member of the party do his work, let him not be content with finding out what work he has to do, but let him do it. If he knows a neighbor he can influence, let him set about it at once. Every vote secured counts, and no individual effort should be counted too great that secures an advantage. Though the Conservatives drew a large majority in parliament for Ontario at the last election, the popular majority was very small, therefore the change of a few votes in every riding will have an important result in reducing their late majority into a minority. Let every elector remember that he is not working for the Liberal candidate, he is working on his own behalf—and that of the country. Two weeks of hard, well-directed, unceasing work and the victory is secured.

THE local Conservative sheet asserts that at Young's Point Mr. J. R. Stratton said that "the islands in Stony Lake had been conveyed to Conservatives at an insufficient price and without a chance being given to Reformers, through the secrecy observed." Mr. Stratton said nothing of the kind; he simply denounced the Government for placing these islands in the hands of private parties, thus depriving visitors and tourists of these beautiful fishing and camping grounds—looking up in private hands a pleasure resort that should be free to the public.

FRIENDSHIP.

SERMON BY LAYMAN.

(Written for The Examiner.)

How little true friendship there is in the world, but how much of what is not true. It is so easy to make professions but so hard to carry them out. A friend in need is a friend indeed. When everything is prosperous and successful there are plenty of pretended friends. But let poverty and trouble come and these pretended friends disappear and are seen no more, and the poor unfortunate is left alone in his misery. No help is proffered and not one word of sympathy or kindness heard. True friendship is quiet and modest. It is charitable and kind. It seeks not to offend but it strives to smooth the rough places and to make others glad and joyful. It does not let the left hand know what the right hand doeth. It helps those who deserve help and comforts those who are in trouble. The poor widow, with her family of helpless children, is not forgotten. She receives in gratitude, and thanks God for the benefits conferred upon her. Her weary days and nights become brighter, the laugh of the children is heard again and she goes to her bed with peace and with thanksgiving and rises in the morning with a joyful heart. The sun shines brighter and warmer and her toilsome life is relieved of its heaviest burdens. A worthy man has got into trouble, not so much through his own fault as through the fault of others. He sees the fruits of his many years labour about to be taken from him. His wife and family will be turned out of the old home where they laboured so hard and enjoyed so much comfort. Their future looks dark and dreary. The father looses hope and becomes disheartened. He does not know what to do and he sees the approach of the flood which is to perfect his ruin. He wonders if among all his acquaintances there will be one to help him. But the darkest hour is just before daylight. In his dire extremity a friend appears, and another heavy load of sorrow is removed. Peace and joy come once more into that household, and they render grateful thanks to the good friend who stood by them and helped them in their time of need. Nobody knew of his kind offices but the giver and receiver. Now, look at the reward to this giver. Many years passed by and then sore trouble came upon him. He was far away from the person whom he befriended. He did not know whether he was living or not, or whether he had prospered or not. He knew not which way to turn to help himself, or where to find a friend. But kindness does not always go unrewarded. The man whom he once saved, by mere chance, heard of his misfortune and at once hastened to his relief. He found his old friend prostrated, lying on a bed of sickness, brought on by trouble and grief. He had prospered largely in the meantime and now he laid all he was worth at the feet of him who once rescued him from a similar position. His efforts were successful and he went back to his old home a happier and a better man. Thus it is that, sometimes, kindness brings its sure reward. A man was discharged from prison and was seen coming out of the gates by a passer-by. He saw the man stop and look around bewildered, apparently not knowing where to go. The passer-by spoke to him kindly; the man told him his history, and he said that he was friendless and wished they had kept him in prison. The friend, for he proved himself a friend, encouraged him to have courage and to persevere and all would yet be well. The friend told him to come with him and said he thought he knew a person, who was a large employer of labor, who would take him and give him work. They went there together, told the poor man's story, and he was asked to return again the next day. He went, as desired, and then the employer took him into the shop where his workmen were and he there told the men the poor fellow's story and said he wished to employ him, and asked any one objecting to say so. Only one person did so. The man then said to him that he would pay him his wages and he need not stay any longer. He left and the poor prisoner remained. Years after this man became the proprietor of that establishment, and gave employment to the very man who had formerly refused to work with him. There were two kind people here, the one who rescued the prisoner at the gate and the one who employed him. And see what good these little acts of kindness did. Verily, they had their reward. One cold, stormy night a poor little helpless, ragged boy was trying to secure shelter for himself near a fine dwelling. He could see the bright lights within and hear the merry voices of the children. After a little time a fine carriage drove up to the door and a lady and two children got out and went into the house. The little hungry, half-frozen boy took a look into the carriage, and it looked so warm and comfortable he thought he would just creep in and stay a short time out of the storm and get out before the lady and children returned. He covered himself up in a corner of the carriage and went to sleep, and did not hear the lady when she entered, and did not wake up for some little time after, nor did the lady discover him. But as soon as he did awake he arose and looked so frightened and asked the lady to let him out. She was too kind-hearted to do so, and after a time succeeded in gaining the boy's confidence and obtaining his history. She expressed her sorrow for the poor little fellow and took him home with her, warmed him, fed him and then placed him in a warm bed. In the morning she clothed him and asked him to stay with her. He did so, and years after, when she became old and he had grown to be a fine strong young man, he might be seen accompanying her and she looking to him for help. And so she was being repaid for the acts of kindness and friendship which she had shewed to him in his time of need. In a small cabin by the roadside once lived an aged, poor and worthy woman. She had seen better days but she had experienced many troubles. She was now comparatively helpless. She was all alone in the world and had no one to look for help and comfort. Her only companion was a little dog which never left her, day or night. One time it was cold and stormy and the snow lay deep upon the ground. She could not go out to look for help. Her small store of wood was gone and there was no fire and she was forced to lie in bed to keep warm. Her little faithful dog lay beside her. Some time after dark she heard approaching footsteps. A knock came to the door asking for admittance. A man had come to bring her help. A load of wood followed with some necessary provisions. All was brought into the house and then the man departed. Her heavy load of care and trouble was thus removed and she thanked God for sending her this friend. This was friendship indeed. It was a friend in need. And she was grateful for it. There are plenty of cases just like this in the world. Some are the result of carelessness and waste and some arise from accident or misfortune. But along side of these may be seen pride and intolerance which show no mercy, and which but serve to increase the troubles of the unfortunates, the sorrowing of the poor. Of friendship there is none. No sympathy and no offer to smooth the rugged way, but plenty of harsh words and fault finding. It would never do to try to give comfort and relief. Even where relief is given it is often ungraciously and in given grudgingly and with a cold hand. There is no kindness or friendship and no self-denial, and everything is done to make the person befriended feel humiliated and unhappy. There is so much condescension in what is done, and it is done with such patronizing airs on the part of the giver that all the good intended is lost. There is no kindness or friendship in such conduct as this, and it had been better left alone than to degrade the receiver in his own estimations and to destroy his better feelings and his self-respect. There are many ways in which to show sympathy and friendship. At the sick bed as well as after death, during the inexperience of youth and the incapacity of old age, in adversity and trouble, to encourage the weary and to give hope to those who have no hope, and to make lighter and easier our daily troubles, and to bring light and comfort into the discordant and discouraged household. A kind word, even from a stranger, goes a great way. It smoothes away many a trouble and alleviates many a pain. It makes the heart lighter and better. It is like sunshine after a storm. It relieves the weary, tired mother, and enables her to bear up all the better under the cares and burdens of the household. It is hard to over-estimate the good effects of a kind word or a kind action. It cheers up under disappointment or misfortune. It dries up many a tear. It heals many a sorrow. It encourages the lonely and destitute. It brings hope and joy to the deceived, and it enables the poor castaway to turn the eye homeward, looking for forgiveness and mercy.

Dominion Elections!

Nomination Day: February 15th.
Polling Day: February 22nd.

A NEW CANDIDATE IN THE FIELD!

HIS PLATFORM:

GENTLEMEN,

I have no desire to tamper with the votes of that noble army of our citizens who freely exercise the Franchise on behalf of their favorite political leaders. But, in order to take a hand in the present political struggle for supremacy between Grit and Tory, I have decided to come out and offer such tempting

BRIBES TO THE ELECTORS

as cannot fail to place me at the head of the polls.

I would scorn, like all other candidates for parliamentary honors, to buy up votes, or do aught that might be construed as a violation of our Election laws. My object is a far more patriotic one, namely—that of making a CLEAN SWEEP of all my Winter Clothing and Tweeds before Election day.

Nor will the secrecy of the Ballot be infringed by asking purchasers whether they will vote for LEBRUN, COX, or STEVENSON. No, not by a home rule scuttle full! But every elector is expected to attend this exciting Political-Winter-Clothing-Sale, and to hurrah for LEBRUN, so as to elect him by an overwhelming majority as the Workingman's Favourite Candidate.

SAMPLES OF THE BRIBES:

SUITS, made to Order - - $12
Formerly sold for $15.

SUITS, made to Order - - $14
Formerly sold for $17.

SUITS, Ready-made, for $5
and upwards.

PANTS made to Order for
$3.00——$4.00——$4.50.

If the Electors will only ponder over these facts and see and handle these Bribes for themselves, I feel certain that the 22nd will be a cold day for the other candidates.

CAUTION.—Don't experiment with new and untried medicines, but always keep on hand this safe and sure remedy.—Allen's Lung Balsam.

MOTHERS, have you delicate, weakly children, who are always TAKING COLD, and subject to CROUP? Remember, there never was a case of CROUP which did not originate in a COLD.

ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM IS YOUR REMEDY.

Physicians who have failed to cure their patients should try this medicine before they give the case up, as we know many valuable lives have been saved by being persuaded to give it a trial.

DO NOT DESPAIR because all other remedies have failed, but try this remedy, and you will not be deceived. It will cure unless all others fail. Allen's Lung Balsam is only put up in Three Sizes.

Price 25c., 50c., and $1 per Bottle.

The 25c. bottles are put up for the accommodation of all who desire simply a Cough or Croup remedy. Those desiring a remedy for Consumption or any Lung Disease should secure the Large $1 Bottle.

LUMINOUS

ALARM CLOCKS.

The Handiest thing in the World Can be seen as well in the Dark as the Light.

EVERYBODY should have One.

R. W. MUNGASTER.

Anniversary Tribute to the Memory of Robert Burns.

By DR. MASSIE, Keene.

READ AT ST. ANDREW'S BURNS ANNIVERSARY FESTIVAL, PETERBOROUGH.

Now, auld and wrinkled, ripe and gray,
Gaid EIGHTY-SEVEN, frae's clay;
And EIGHTY-SEVEN is on the way,
Since frae the new-year's—
This, is his five-and-twentieth day,
And we are here;

And we're here, a' throng thegither,
In mem'ry o' an elder brither;
Like Burns, we never shall see anither,
At rhyme or ditty;
Frae a' the airts, then gather! gather!
In this young city.

For on this night, a' Scotsmen true,
Frae Russia's isles, to far Peru,
The wide world roun', wi' reverence due,
And deep regard,
Still pledge in crystal mountain dew,
Their sin loved bard.

Ontario's shores,—each stream and bay,
Ontario's cities—fair and gay—
Shall hail our poet's natal day,
We pride and pleasure;
Shall sing our bard's immortal clay,
In matchless measure.

And we shall tell, and ye shall hear,
How, in the seventeen hundredth year
And fifty-nine, o' Christian cheer,
And right good-will,
A canaie wife o' cantrip fear,
Cam' ower the hill.

That time, his wintry natal day,
This canny gossip passed that way;
A gipsy kimmer, auld and gray,
Nor blate, nor slow;
She saw the bleezin theek'd wi' straw,
Wi' light aglow.

She tirled the sneck, cam' steppin' ben—
"Guid e'enin to ye—fairies ken
"Your bonnie mak, frae deils an' men
"Wad dae ye ill!—
"What has ye here!—a cook or hen,
"Wlse bairn or fule?"

Then glow'rin ower the howdie's knee—
"By a' the powers the spirits ste
"To auld spae wives! I plainly see,
"Whase'er bedide—
This walie chiel is gaun to be
"His country's pride."

With weird-like, wild, prophetic eye,
She gazed upon the infant boy;
Then stood erect—wi' deep-drawn sigh,
Took twa steps back,
Syne raised her wrisond hand on high,
And further spak:—

"I see by like score and line,
"This bud will e'en the nurses nine;
"Will sing our lads and lasses fine,
"In burning lays,
"And round auld Scotia's bows entwine
"Immortal bays."

"I see, by a' the seeing art,
"This chiel will pilly a manly carte;
"Of things oppress will tak the part,
"Baith great and sma';
"And wind his universal heart
"Around them a'."

"There's nae a glen where gowans grow,
"There's nae a bonnie heather knowe;
"There's nae a burn in haugh or howe,
"Rins to the sea,
"But yet shall kindle up the lowe
"O's minstrelsie."

"When wintry tempests blust'ring blaw,
"And madly drive the swirling snaw,
"And cow'rin creatures cruige awa,
"To cave or bield,
"His sympathising heart will a'
"Their mis'ry feel."

"The hirplin' hare, poor, hapless thing!
"Wee shiv'rin birds, on cow'rin wing,
"The tim'rous mousie, waiting spring
"Wi' anxious e'e;—
"Of a' life's moving things, the king,
"This lad will be."

"And oh, my dear immortal bairn!
"What time thy manly form, forbairn,
"Maun bow to fortune, hard and stern,—
"Oh, my poor eyes!!
"I'll say nae mair,—the marble cairn
"Looms to the skies."

She ceased, and record fails to tell
What further on that night befell;
But down Time's chambers, like a bell,
Clear, loud and strong,
Reverberates the paean swell
Of deathless song.

Still blooms the "Daisy" on the lea;
Love sparkles still in "Jessy's" e'e;
The aged ochtar, reverentie,
Still reads and prays,
And to his God, pours ferventie,
A heart-felt praise.

Here, tender passion's melting sang,
There, strains heroic sweep along;
And patriot fire, and martial clang,
Of "Scots wha hae"
Come doun the ages with a bang,
Fleet wing for aye.

And all he ever sang or said
In by a nation cherished:—
Though broke his lyre, and with the dead
Lies that deft hand,
His spirit, still, with royal tread,
Stalks o'er the land.

A'l hail! great king of Scottish song!
Thou poured the rulastrel numbers strong.
Auld Scotland's hills and vales along,
Warm, gushing, free;
Till man, of every land and tongue,
Bow down to thee.

Where Ganges rolls, or Jordan raves,
Or where the stately palm tree waves;
Where British valor nobly braves
The raging Nile;
Or where the vast Pacific laves,
Each sea-girt isle.

From every land, wide o'er the earth;
From princely hall, from humble hearth;
This day, the voice of Love swells forth,
And mankind learns,
The sterling, independent worth,
Of Robert Burns.

O bard, of satire strong and keen!
The hated foe, of spirits mean;
While ages roll, shall glisten green
Thy lonely bay;
Till Time, itself, shall sink unseen,
In Night's long day.

If anything clogs the waste-pipes in the house we become alarmed, for sewer-gas is apt to generate disease. The children, then, are removed to their grand parents' or kept out of doors as much as possible, until the poison is remedied. But the waste-pipes of the human system are often allowed to clog, and the sufferer, who cannot get away from the poison, becomes unfit for work or pleasure. In such cases Dr. Pierce's "Pleasant Purgative Pellets" will gently remove the cause, and the effect will vanish of itself. By druggists. 6dw5

"The American Analyst"

Says of Pomeroy's Petroline Plaster: "A very careful examination has failed to find any deleterious substance' but the ingredients are calculated to produce the very beneficial effects claimed." Sold by druggists and Ormond & Walsh. 6dw5

The Rawl Chilling Winds

of winter bring to the surface every latent pain. In is one of the chiefest things associated with our physical well being that the very air, without which we could not exist, is heavily laden with germs of disease, Rheumatism, neuralgia, lumbago, and other complaints of a similar character hold revel at this season of the year amongst human nerves and human muscles. There was a time when fortitude alone could make life tolerable, but now with the advent of powerful penetrating and nerve soothing remedies pain becomes a thing of the moment. The best, the most powerful and most certain pain cure is Putnam's Nerviline. Nothing equals Nerviline for penetrating power. Nerviline is beyond comparison the grandest discovery for the relief of pain offered to the public. Druggists sell a sample bottle for 10 cents; large bottles only 25 cents at any drug store. 6dw5

Astonishing Success.

It is the duty of every person who has used Boschee's German Syrup to let its wonderful qualities be known to their friends in curing Consumption, severe Coughs, Croup, Asthma, Pneumonia, and in fact all throat and lung disease. No person can use it without immediate relief. Three doses will relieve any case, and we consider it the duty of all Druggists to recommend it to the poor, dying consumptive, at least to try one bottle, as 20,000 dozen bottles were sold last year, and no one case where it failed was reported. Such a medicine as the German Syrup cannot be too widely known. Ask your druggist about it. sample bottles to try, only 10 cents. Regular size,75 cents. Sold by all Druggists and dealers, in the United States and Canada. eodw6

A Terrible Weapon.

"What is a boomerang, pap?" "A woman, I reckon," grimly replied the pap, whose wife had just been lecturing him.

Safe, Sure, and Painless.

What a world of meaning this statement embodies. Just what you are looking for, is it not? Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor—the great sure-pop corn cure—acts in this way. It makes no sore spots; safe acts speedy and with certinty; surely and mildly, without inflaming the parts; painless. Do not be imposed upon by immotations or substitutes. 6dw5

A Marriageable Maiden.

"I could just live on that air," said a young lady, rapturously, at the opera the other night. "If you can live on air I'll marry you," said her companion, who was an editor.

Joyful News.

It is certainly glad tidings to the poor invalid to be informed of a remedy that will give prompt and sure relief in case of painful suffering. Such a remedy is Hagyard's Yellow Oil adapted for internal and external use in all aches, pains, lameness and soreness It cures rheumatism, neuralgia, sore throat, croup and all inflammatory pains. 2w5d

Tempus Fugit.

Tramp—I am in need of a little money, Gent—Why don't you shovel snow? "I haven't got time." "How so." "All my time is taken up in begging."

An Obstinate Case.

"In the spring of 83 I was nearly dead, as everybody around my neighborhood knows. My trouble was caused by obstinate constipation. One bottle of Burdock Blood Bitters cured me entirely." This statment is made by Walter Stinson, of Gorrie, Ont. 2w5d

---

A Grave Joke.

There are some men who think themselves so important that at a funeral they even envy the corpse the attention paid it.

Quick Relief.

"One bottle of Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam cured me of a sore throat and loss of voice. One trial relieved me when all other medicine failed.' says Miss J. McLeod, Belfountain, Ont. 2w5d

GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY

CURES ALL HUMORS,

from a common Blotch, or Eruption, to the worst Scrofula. Salt-rheum, "Fever-sores," Scaly or Rough Skin, in short, all diseases caused by bad blood are conquered by this powerful, purifying, and invigorating medicine. Great Eating Ulcers rapidly heal under its benign influence. Especially has it manifested its potency in curing Tetter, Rose Rash, Boils, Carbuncles, Sore Eyes, Scrofulous Sores and Swellings, Hip-Joint Disease, White Swellings, Tumors, or Thick Neck, and Enlarged Glands. Send ten cents in stamps for a large treatise, with colored plates, on Skin Diseases, or the same amount for a treatise on Scrofulous Affections of THE BLOOD IS THE LIFE. Thoroughly cleanse it by using Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and good digestion, a fair skin, buoyant spirits, strength, and soundness of constitution, will be established.

CONSUMPTION,

which is Scrofulous Disease of the Lungs, is promptly and certainly arrested and cured by this God-given remedy, if taken before the last stages of the disease are reached. From its wonderful power over this terribly fatal disease, when first offering this now celebrated remedy to the public, Dr. Pierce thought seriously of calling it his "Consumption Cure," but abandoned that name as too limited for a medicine which, from its wonderful combination of tonic, or strengthening, alterative, or blood-cleansing, anti-bilious, pectoral, and nutritive properties, is unequaled, not only as a remedy for consumption of the lungs, but for all

CHRONIC DISEASES OF THE

Liver, Blood, and Lungs.

If you feel dull, drowsy, debilitated, have sallow color of skin, or yellowish-brown spots on face or body, frequent headache or dizziness, bad taste in mouth, internal heat or chills, alternating with hot flashes, low spirits and gloomy forebodings, irregular appetite, and coated tongue, you are suffering from Indigestion, Dyspepsia, and Torpid Liver, or "Biliousness." In many cases only part of these symptoms are experienced. As a remedy for all such cases, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has no equal.

For Weak Lungs, Spitting of Blood, Shortness of Breath, Bronchitis, Severe Coughs, Consumption, and kindred affections, it is a sovereign remedy.

LOCAL NEWS.

School Board.

An adjourned meeting of the Board of Education will be held in the Board room at 8 o'clock this evening.

Fun at Lakefield.

Monday evening, Feb. 7th, is the date of the Lakefield carnival. Big prizes are offered and a large number of skaters have promised to attend.

Curling and Skating.

The curling and skating rink is open every afternoon and evening for both skaters and curlers. Tickets can be procured at the bookstores and at Miss Jenkins' shop, George street. d

The ladies will be pleased to hear that Turnbull has accepted the agency of the Domestic Paper Patterns. A complete assortment now in stock.

Carnival Blankets, Toques and Sashes at the Golden Lion. R. FAIR.

Arrived at Phelan's Hotel.

The well known hair goods manufacturer, Prof. Dorenwend of Paris Hair Works, Toronto, has arrived. He has some very handsome and new styles with him in ladies bangs, wigs, switches, waves, etc., also gent's toupees and wigs. This will be the only opportunity for those that are bald to procure the Prof's. fine goods this season. He will have his show room open this evening until 10 o'clock and will remain here until Monday evening. Remember, Phelan's Hotel, room 20. Don't miss this chance.

Called Back.

Said the "Offus Kat," with a smirk and smile, this morning:—There were quite a number of young people tobogganing Friday night. They were practicing, and preparing for a big slide at the Montreal carnival next week. One young man loaded his toboggan with a couple of ladies, but before he could take a "back seat" the curved board started down the chute. It stopped with a jerk. The young man had retained his grip on the toboggan with one hand, and after being dragged 5 feet 9 inches down the slide, his toes caught on the top board and brought everything to a stand-still. There he lay stretched out at full length, straining every muscle, not daring to let go with either hands or feet, and in this position was found by the ever-faithful Joe, who pulled the man and tobog back and gave them a safe start.

Robin Red-Breast.

A reliable citizen is the authority for the statement that during the "thaw" of last week he heard and saw a robin on a leafless tree-top in the north ward. This robin is either playing a practical joke, or is entirely astray in his weather predictions. This mistake would not have occurred had he read the announcement that a grand carnival was to be held in the skating rink on Friday evening, Feb. 11th. Prizes are offered for best lady and gent in costume, character and comic, ditto for boys and girls, with prize also for best skater. The band 24 strong will supply music, while refreshments can be had at the rink lunch room at a reasonable rate. It will be a grand affair. Prepare for it.

Turnbull's cellar is filled with piles o white and grey cottons which he is offering by the piece at prices which please everyone that sees them.

Read This and Call.

The hair on the head is not intended alone for ornament, but to protect the scalp as well; but it often happens that the head becomes bald, which, of course, leaves the scalp exposed, which is very uncomfortable and unsightly besides. Everyone who becomes bald should procure an artificial covering of hair in order to protect the scalp from the severe weather and to improve their looks. Prof. Dorenwend's fine styles of Gents' Wigs and Toupees, Ladies' Bangs, Wigs, Waves, etc., are just the things required in such cases. It is impossible to detect any false look about his pieces when put on the head. Everyone should call and see the Professor, as he will not be here again this season. He will be at Phelan's hotel on Saturday and Monday, February 5th and 7th. 3w3-5d

Another lot of Ladies' Ribbed Overstockings to hand at the Golden Lion. R. FAIR.

Turnbull has already received an immense shipment of French dress goods for the spring trade in all the latest shades described in the latest ladies journals. Those looking for something new should see them.

A Rare Opportunity.

Prof. Dorenwend, the well known hair goods manufacturer, is coming with an entirely new stock, special styles of Ladies' Bangs, Waves, Wigs, Switches and other kinds of ladies' head dresses; also Gents' Wigs and Toupees of best and latest improved patterns. This will be the only visit to Peterborough this season. He will be at Phelan's hotel on Saturday and Monday, Feb. 5th and 7th, and every one who is bald or whose hair is thin or turning gray should call at his show rooms and try on one of the Professor's artistic headdresses, manufactured from the very best human hair. They are so perfectly natural looking that when placed on the head not the slightest falseness is perceptible. Be sure to call, as this is the only visit this season. 3w3-5d

Campaign Meetings.

Friday night Mr. Cox and Mr. Bertram addressed the electors of Smith at Selwyn. Mr. Carnegie appeared on behalf of Mr. Stevenson. One feature of the meeting was Mr. Bertram's challenge to Mr. Carnegie to make good his statement that he (Mr. Bertram) was bribed by favors from the Ontario Government to give his support to the Government at the last election, and to produce his evidence. Mr. Carnegie contented himself with repeating the charge in the form of false insinuations. Mr. Bertram called upon him to retract the statement, to furnish the evidence the next time they met, or be branded as a vile and malicious slanderer.

Mr. Cox, Mr. Bertram and Mr. Stratton addressed the electors at Young's Point Thursday night, and on Friday evening Mr. Stevenson, Mr. Pogsette and Mr. Hilliard spoke at the same place. Mr. Stratton appeared on behalf of Mr. Cox. There was a large attendance at both meetings.

"Disgraceful."

In the local columns of Mr. Stevenson's organ, appears a scurrilous and untruthful paragraph accusing Mr. Cox's sons of disturbing Mr. Stevenson's meeting in Eastmore on Thursday night. Those present at the meeting deny that Mr. Cox's sons had in any way acted as the falsifier misrepresents. They took no "crowd" with them, they went together in their own conveyance and Mr. Stevenson himself absolved Mr. Fred Cox, who was present at Young's Point on Friday night, from the malicious accusation of the local organ. There were interruptions consisting of denials of the monstrous misrepresentations made, and these came promiscuously from different parties, and the insinuation that a deliberate attempt at interruption was organized by Mr. Cox's sons, is a slander. It ill becomes the editor of a newspaper, who coarsely interrupted and assailed the Liberal candidate at the Liberal nominations, to publish such a slander, and the president of the Liberal Conservative Association could be better employed than in staffing a credulous reporter with factitious misrepresentations.

Curling Notes.

The second draw of the 13-point game is being played off.

Two rinks of Lindsay played two of Bobcaygeon on Thursday, and won by 38 to 31.

The annual excursion of the Peterborough Curling Club to Toronto takes place next week. Six rinks will play friendly matches with the city clubs.

Friday next Toronto and Lindsay curlers meet at the Charlotte street rink and try conclusions for the Caledonian medal. It will be a roarin' game.

The point game for the club cup will be played by the home curlers Monday afternoon and evening. It is particularly requested that as many as can will attend in the afternoon, so as not to keep up play too late at night.

To-day a rink of juvenile curlers left for Lakefield to play a return match with the juniors of that village. They were: W. F. Hamilton, skip; V. Halliday, Geo. Boucher and K. Kincaid.

The Apron Social.

The splendid, spacious parlors of Mr. Geo. A. Cox's handsome residence were thronged Friday night with scores of smiling, joyous people, who had assembled to spend a social evening together. There were about 150 present. A fine programme was rendered, but as all could not get into one room, an impromptu entertainment was provided by several ladies and gentlemen, who kindly played and sang in another room. Around a long table in the dining room clustered groups of busy saleladies, who mulcted the gentlemen for handsome sums of money for aprons. A nice sum was realized in this way. Everything passed off smoothly, all seeming to have thoroughly enjoyed the social. Mrs. Cox did everything she could to make the social both pleasant and successful, and her efforts were crowned with success. In this she was ably assisted by several other ladies. Following is the programme, every number of which was well taken, particularly the vocal quartette and instrumental trios:—

Part I.

Instrumental duet....Mrs. Davis and Miss Cox
Quartette....Misses Johnston and Cox, Messrs. Hill and Hutchins.
Vocal solo.....Mr. A. L. Davis
Trio—flute, violin and piano...Messrs. Butcher, Doucet and Sarder
Reading.....Mr. Duff

Part II.

Instrumental solo.....Miss Fairweather
Vocal solo.....Miss Johnston
Vocal duet.....Mrs. Davis and Miss E. Cox
Vocal solo.....Mr. Hutchins
Vocal solo.....Mrs. Mein
Piano duet, with flute obligato.....Mrs. Davis, (Miss Cox and Mr. Butcher.

A Double Benefit.

Last night was a double benefit night at Bradburn's Opera House. Mr. Wilson Day the popular manager of Day's theatre company, was greeted with a bumper house and the audience had the benefit of listening to and witnessing the most sparkling, best-put on and most capitally played dramatic programme that has been presented this season. The brilliant comedy the "Honeymoon" adapted from an old play by Charles Matthews, was put on in splendid style, the stage settings, the scenery and unusually brilliant costumes, filling the spectacular condition capitally. The acting of the play corresponded in every particular, every member of the cast, leading or subordinate, filling his or her respective role with great credit. Mr. Wilson Day of course took the leading character, the "Duke Aranza," in a perfect manner. To a full conception of the character he added natural life-like acting, such as, to do him justice, he has shown on every occasion during the present engagement. Miss Rose Osborne's "Juliana" was a fitting compliment to Mr. Day's capital playing, and all the other characters bore themselves as if they had been put on their mettle by the example of their manager. It is not out of place however to specially note the splendid burlesque sustained by Mr. Wm. Henderson as the "Mock Duke." Annie Bird's entr'acte singing was, as usual, enthusiastically encored. The entertainment throughout was a refined, amusing and delightful one, and the public appreciation of Mr. Day and his excellent company, as shown by the packed house that witnessed his benefit performance, must be very gratifying to him, and a guarantee that wherever he and his company appear here again they will be welcomed by thousands of friends, won during the past fortnight's engagement. The present season concludes with Boucicault's "After Dark in London," a most delightful play, put on with entire special scenery. Prices, 10 and 25 cents; reserved seats at Hartley's.

Hasty and Injudicious.

To the Editor of the Daily Examiner.

SIR,—I was present at the annual congregational meeting of St. Paul's Church on Thursday evening, when the question of doing away with the Deacon's Court and electing Managers instead was brought up. As a member of St. Paul's, I desire to enter my protest against the hasty action then taken in reopening this question at so late an hour, when so many of the members had left and were continually leaving, that not more than thirty or forty male adults remained. Under such circumstances, it was unwise to bring on so important a matter, involving as it did in the minds of many of the oldest and most respected members of the congregation, changes in the temporal government of the church so different to that which they had long been accustomed to, and which they have revered all their lives. I do not like to drag these matters into the public print, but believe I am justified in doing so on this occasion, if for no other reason than respect for the feelings of many members who were absent, and who may have no other means of knowing,—some of whom, while not opposed to the change, are anxious to avoid any friction that will be caused if this matter is allowed to come into effect in so hurried a manner. I am sure too, that there were many present at this congregational meeting, as there always are at meetings of the kind, who had strong enough views on the question, but refrained from expressing them from a diffidence in speaking or voting. Why not let the sense of the congregation be taken on this question by ballot, as has been done before in the case of other important questions that of late years have come before our church, and which have been so amicably settled in this way, and so permit every member recording their votes free from any restraint whatever.

Yours truly,
MEMBER OF ST. PAUL'S.

Peterborough, Feb. 4th, 1887.

Church Chimes.

George street Church, to-morrow, 9.45 a.m., praise and testimony service; 11 a.m., sermon by Rev. I. Tovell; 7 p.m., preaching by Rev. I. Tovell; 8.15, sacrament of the Lord's Supper. Special quarterly collections to-morrow.

The Rev. W. M. Walker, B.A., of Barrie, is expected to occupy the pulpit of the Murray street Baptist church to-morrow, Feb. 6th.

At the Charlotte street Church to-morrow the services will be conducted by the pastor, Rev. F. H. Wallace, M.A., B.D. In the morning at 9.30, quarterly love feast; after the public service the sacrament of the Lord's supper. The evening sermon will be on "The Canon of Holy Scripture."

Personal.

Mr. H. S. Griffin was elected fifth vice-president and Mr. E. Williams a member of the committee on organization at the Y. M. C. A. convention at Kingston.

Mr. C. K. Mortimer, the business manager of Day's Theatre Company, has during his fortnight's citizenship, made himself hosts of friends. Affable, obliging and expert in his business, his attention to the wants of the public, have been marked by unfailing courtesy, while at the same time he has been firm in the preservation of good order at the performances—concealing the iron hand with the velvet glove. The press have especial reason to be grateful to him for favours and courtesies, which none but an old newspaper man knows how to render. Mr. Mortimer's engagements may bring him to Peterborough again, in which case he will be warmly welcomed.

TOWN LOTS!
Parties desiring to buy Town Lots can buy to advantage from
D. W. DUMBLE.

WHY
Will people pay rent when houses and lots can be purchased on such easy terms as are offered by the undersigned. Come and inspect our work and see for yourselves how we construct our houses. Our chief aim and study is to build substantial, warm, frost and damp proof houses. I am offering good building lots, and will build solid brick houses, nine-inch walls, strapped and lath and two stories, for less money than you can buy frame or veneered buildings. We cordially invite those who contemplate renting or buying to inspect our work and prove for themselves that our houses are not merely built to sell. Every house I've sold gives first-class satisfaction, and I am determined that every house I build shall be a standing testimony to honest building. DR. McGLYNN'S CASE.

His Former Parishioners Make a Report Sustaining Him.

NEW YORK, Feb. 5.—The committee of the parish of St. Stephen's, appointed to consider the matter of the suspension of Rev. Father McGlynn from the priesthood, made public a long report, the gist of which is that in advocating Henry George's land theories, Father McGlynn did not violate any canon of the Church of Rome; that he merely followed the teachings of many other Catholic ecclesiastics; that the interference of the church with political opinions must not be submitted to, and that a fund for the support of Dr. McGlynn be raised. The committee is divided on the subject of further withholding contributions from St. Stephen's, now that Father Donnelly has gone from it. Six of them favor raising the boycott and the others oppose it. The factions held separate meetings to-night. In answer to the charge that Dr. McGlynn mismanaged the affairs of the parish, a financial report of the church is made public to-night. It shows that during the past four years indebtedness to the amount of $142,500 has been paid; total remaining indebtedness, $127,189; value of church property over all indebtedness, $436,334.

A FRENCH BOARD OF TRADE.

The French Merchants of Montreal Form a Chamber of Commerce.

MONTREAL, Feb. 6.—At a meeting yesterday afternoon of French gentlemen interested in establishing a French Board of Trade, the constitution was adopted and it was decided to call it The Chamber of Commerce of the District of Montreal and to fit up a reading room and exchange for the members. Le Monsteur Du Commerce was made the official newspaper organ of the chamber. Ald. Jacques Grenier was elected President and Mr. Dufresne Vice-President. Resolutions demanding that canal tolls on grain be reduced to 2½ cents per ton, and demanding the deepening of the channel and the widening of the canals were adopted

DISORDER IN BELFAST.

A Youthful Rioter Wounded by the Fire of the Police.

BELFAST, Feb. 6.—Large crowds of people assembled in the Shank Hill district yesterday, but there was no disorder, owing to the presence of a strong force of police. At midnight, the people having retired to their houses, the police were withdrawn. About noon to-day two prisoners were arrested on Servia-street for rioting. A mob tried to rescue the prisoners and the police were compelled to fire. A youth was wounded in the neck and was taken to an hospital. The district has since been quiet.

Big Bear to be Liberated.

WINNIPEG, Feb. 5.—The last of the Indians sentenced to the Penitentiary for complicity in the recent rebellion will be released to-morrow. Big Bear, Chief of the rebellious Crees, who sacked Fort Pitt and massacred ten white people at Frog Lake, with three of his braves will be released from Stony Mountain Prison, after serving about eighteen months of a ten years' sentence. All the other prisoners have been pardoned previously.

The Irish Difficulty.

LONDON, Feb. 4.—The Marquis of Salisbury to-day received a deputation of gentlemen who called upon him to urge that the Government apply principles of colonization in the work of relieving Ireland of poverty.

The Prime Minister in reply expressed himself in favor of a sound, healthy scheme of colonization directed by the state, but said he feared the promoters of such scheme would find themselves unable to overcome the difficulties connected therewith, especially those of a financial nature.

The Ottawa Liar Again.

OTTAWA, Feb. 4.—An official denial is given to the story appearing in the United States press as a dispatch from Ottawa, stating that pressure is being brought to bear on the Imperial Government by the Dominion authorities at Ottawa with the view of having the British minister at Washington recalled, and to secure the appointment in his stead of one who would be more equal to the arduous duties to be expected from such an officer at such a time as the present.

A Hamilton Planing Mill Burned.

HAMILTON, Feb. 4.—Last night fire broke out in William Addison & Son's planing mill, on the corner of Wellington and Young streets. The entire building was consumed. The loss is estimated at from $8000 to $9000, while the insurance is only $1400.

WAR TALK ABATING.

THE SITUATION EXAGGERATED BY STOCK SPECULATORS.

LONDON, Feb. 5.—The Stock Exchange panic, after the unexpected and violent recrudescence of Thursday, spent its force, and yesterday prices rallied. The French Prime Minister told the truth when he declared yesterday that no prospects of war, but bourse manœuvres were responsible for the collapse of prices. All over Europe every rumor has been magnified. The German loan, announced weeks ago to balance the budget, was announced as a novelty and the amount enlarged from perhaps $4,000,000 to $75,000,000. The Rothschilds are alleged to have been operating for a fall, and the people jumped from this doubtful premise to the more doubtful conclusion that the Rothschilds believed there would soon be war. The Bank of England gave proof of its confidence in the situation by lowering its rate from five to four per cent. Instantly it was said that this only showed the Continent was remitting money to England for security. The securities of countries which, like Spain, must be far outside of any possible theatre of war, have been run down, while Russians have fallen but slightly because Berlin supports them.

But, although the pacific assurances from Paris are intended to restore confidence, they want directness of expression and bear the stamp of official temporising. They are contradicted by the actual facts of the situation which are apparent to any impartial observer. The constant movements of troops and other active preparations for war, information of which is daily transpiring, it is impossible to wholly conceal in spite of the strong efforts of the French Government to keep up an appearance of pacific intent.

A marked instance of this attitude of affairs is the fact that, although Gen. Boulanger allows the denial to be semi-officially made that any reinforcement of troops is going to the German frontier, letters from Nancy, Chalons-sur-Marne and other places in the east mention trains filled with troops passing eastward toward the border.

The regular service eastward has been sometimes disturbed and even very seriously deranged during the past week and this is unhesitatingly attributed to war preparations and is generally believed to be due to hurrying forward Government trains bearing troops and munitions of war to the frontier. One result of the war panic is that the personal popularity of Boulanger has been enormously enhanced. His activity is incessant and he works fifteen hours a day in the war office. Boulanger has just ordered the immediate construction of a new shell factory at Verdun, in which 200,000 shells are to be made. During his recent visit to Verdun he expedited the erection of new barracks and forts. He started the men working day and night, the electric light being utilized during the dark hours. There is now no cessation of work during any time of the twenty-four hours, relays of men relieving each other at regular intervals.

Reserves to Join their Corps.

BERLIN, Feb. 5.—Although the decree calling out the reserves mentions twelve days' drill, an Alsace journal says that the reserves of Strasburg who have been ordered to join their corps on Monday find that the route order does not mention the period for which they will be under arms. The military authorities appealed to explain that each reserve is liable to be retained until he is perfected in the handling of the new rifle recently adopted. Practically, the period which the reserves will be compelled to serve is indefinite. The Ministry of War have issued a decree providing that velocipedes shall be used by despatch bearers between fortresses and outposts.

Bismarck Told to Take a Rest.

MOSCOW, Feb. 5.—The Viedomosti says: "Prince Bismarck should not encourage Austria to adopt an aggressive policy in the East, whose sooner or later she must come into collision with Russia. Prince Bismarck has achieved during his life great deeds. It is now time for him to take a rest. He should be satisfied to conclude his career by consolidating what he has acquired. This he can best do by relinquishing all further designs and renouncing all propositions for a world-wide dictatorship. Such pretensions caused the first Napoleon's downfall."

Talk of a Coalition Against Russia.

PARIS, Feb. 5.—A dispatch from Vienna to the Temps says: "Prince Bismarck has succeeded in establishing a coalition between Austria, England and Italy against Russia. Germany will join the coalition if France supports Russia."

HAMILTON AFFAIRS.

A Young Man Stabbed During a Drunken Brawl—Toll-Gate Cases.

HAMILTON, Feb. 5.—William Wade, who lives at 280 Cannon-street, was stabbed last night while with some drunken companions on Rebecca-street. The crowd got into a dispute, and in a scuffle Wade was stabbed in the side. What the result will be it is impossible to say. The police are looking for his assailant.

A great many summonses have been issued against persons who have refused to pay toll at the York-street gate.

James Read was convicted to-day of the larceny of an overcoat from Gordon's hotel and sent to jail for a month.

The Work of Cutthroats.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Feb. 5.—Henry Harpold, a wealthy citizen of this place, was garroted and robbed at 8.30 last night within half a block of the Galt House. As he passed by an alley-way two men jumped out. As Harpold turned to see who they were one struck him on the head with a slungshot, which felled him to the ground. The two men then dragged him about twenty feet into the alley and cut his throat, two deep gashes being made. They then rifled his pockets, but got only a small sum. Harpold sank into unconsciousness, from which he was only aroused at 6.30 this morning. He staggered across the street to the McCormick Reaper Company's warehouse, where, after telling the salesman, Clarence Bache, where he lived, he swooned. He was taken home and will recover.

A Wife Murderer's Suicide.

PITTSBURG, Feb. 5.—John Ingham, who shot his wife the other day at Boston, Pa., because she had sued him for support, and who was sent to jail, committed suicide to-night in his cell. He somehow got hold of a spike about four inches long, having a ragged end. He plunged this instrument into his throat and tore his windpipe. The noise he made attracted the notice of the jail wardens. Going to Ingham's cell door they saw him sitting on the side of his bed. Entering hastily they seized him, but he showed fight and wounded Deputy Warden Gang on the hand with the spike. He was finally overpowered and a physician sent for, but he had accomplished his purpose and was dead before the doctor got to him.

Charges Against a Clergyman.

CHICAGO, Feb. 5.—The Rev. John Hedman, rector of St. Ansgarius Protestant Episcopal Church, has been given until March 15 to resign his pastorate and withdraw from the ministry, and it is stated officially that if he refuses to obey he will be officially deposed PARNELL'S HEALTH.

His Friends Deny That It is Permanently Impaired.

NEW YORK, Feb. 5.—Rumors have been frequent of late from Europe regarding Mr. Parnell's reticence and invisibility, and these reports have at length shaped themselves into definite reports—some of hereditary consumption, others of impending insanity. The repetition of these stories has caused much comment in this city among the friends of the Irish cause and in some quarters positive alarm. The best informed, however, smash up these at the head of the Parliamentary fund, scout the idea of disability and credit Mr. Parnell with positive statesmanship in his every action, never losing sight of the goal for which he has been striving so long.

LIBERALS, RALLY To-Night!

Dominion Elections.

A Grand Rally of every working Liberal in Town is called for THIS EVENING, in the Liberal Club Rooms, to perfect organization for the coming Dominion Elections.

The Daily Examiner.

MONDAY, FEBRUARY 7, 1887.

[illegible] TREATMENT.

The friends of the Dominion government, are loud in their praises of a paternal administration, whose fiscal policy, it is asserted, has for ever dispelled hard times. To judge from the way in which they talk, one would be led to think that there was not an idle hand in the Dominion and that laboring men were in receipt of constant work at high wages, that they were rolling in wealth as the result of the fiscal policy of Sir John's administration. The working men themselves, however, should know if any body knows, what their condition is, and, their own testimony—equivalent to expert testimony—should be accepted as evidence of the most convincing character. Read what the Legislation Committee of the Toronto Trades and Labour Council reported on Friday night last. The report of this committee says:

The large number of idle men seeking employment at the beginning of the winter had recently been greatly augmented by the fact that the cold weather made outdoor work almost impossible. The committee regretted that the work on the Don had been taken advantage of by rascals, who induced immigration from England on the ground that there was plenty of work in the city. There was not sufficient work of a public or private character going on now in any place in Canada that would provide employment for one-half the unemployed now in this country. The prospects in the near future for these unemployed were no better than the present condition of things.

The parliamentary records also show that the government's course has been and still is such as to aggravate the condition complained of by working men. When Parliament was besought to grant such enormous concessions to the C. P. R. Company, it was urged in argument that if these concessions were made, the necessity for aiding immigrants to land in Canada would be removed, the people would be relieved of that expenditure and the C. P. R. company would assume the duty of providing the means of filling up the North-west with immigrants. So far back as 1880, when the bargain with the Syndicate was under discussion, this was the position taken by the Government. How have Government assurances been carried out? The departmental Blue Books show that the Macdonald Administration has spent the following sums for assisted immigration:

In 1880	$183,204 00
In 1881	250,812 00
In 1882	353,561 00
In 1883	373,987 71
In 1884	511,386 52
In 1885	328,089 76
Total	$1,809,273 39

What was the position of the Liberal party on this question? They strenuously opposed it, and have placed on record their attempt to secure the removal of this great injustice to the workingmen of Canada. In the House of Commons Mr. William Paterson, of South Brant, moved, seconded by Mr. Charlton, of North Norfolk, the following amendment to the Dominion Government proposition to expend in that year, 1884, over half a million dollars of the people's money for assisting immigrants to Canada:

"That the whole question of immigration into Canada and emigration from Canada requires the serious consideration of this House; and that, in the opinion of this House, under present circumstances, no public money should be expended towards defraying the travelling expenses of mechanics, artizans, clerks or laborers, excepting agricultural laborers emigrating to Canada."

Hon. Mr. Blake spoke strongly in favor of this resolution, as well as other Liberal members, while Hon. Thomas White and other ministers spoke strongly against it. Of course, it was defeated, every Conservative voting against, and every Liberal for, discontinuing state-aided immigration. Fifty Liberals lifted their voices against the flagrant injustice to workingmen, and one hundred and one Conservatives voted for its continuance. The amendment gathered greater force from the fact that, while in 1883 there was great depression in trade and tens of thousands of people were idle in Canada, the Government actually provided enough of the workingmen's money to pay the passage to Canada of 16,000 laborers and 2,000 skilled mechanics. There seems to be abundant reason for the laboring classes of Canada to complain of the unjust treatment they receive from the present Government, and there is little difficulty in deciding which of the two parties is most solicitous for the interests of the workingmen of Canada.

"Chemong Matters"

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Sir,—In your issue of the 26th ult., there appears an article under the above heading and signed by "Neighbour," which calls for a little comment. It is quite evident that "Neighbour" has had his mental equilibrium very badly disturbed by the changes introduced by the good "New England Co.," in the management of their Chemong Estate on the 1st of July last, and I think one may be excused for entertaining feelings akin to a good friend of mine, who, on reading said article said, "he must be deeply dyed in secret work," who can advance so boldly with "mask and dagger" under the cloak of an assumed name, and when next he goes abroad to discourse on moral topics, I would commend for his consideration the following text. "Be sure your sins will find you out." But Mr. Editor, who is this "Neighbour?" I will tell you. (1.) He is not the individual who went down the channel to Peterborough, on the morning after the Council meeting at Chemong, so fearful, lest the name of either the writer or the promoter of the article should "get out." He is only the "cats-paw" in the matter. (2.) He is not a "Neighbour" in the true sense of that term, as set forth in that good book, of which he is such an able (?) expounder. (3.) He is one of those specimens for which the speech of a Briton provides no name. We will call him "Neighbour." But why such new-born zeal on his part? Has he some local, personal end to serve? Or does he hope that by throwing up such a front, he can hide a darker back-ground? No one knows better than "Neighbour," that even if his assertions were true, the public has nothing whatever to do with the matter, and if he is as anxious, as he is pretentious for the well-being of the Indians of Chemong, why does he not write the "good New England Co.," and place the matter before them and thus confer an everlasting benefit on those for whose well-being he is so solicitous (?) and toward whom he has many good reasons for feelings of gratitude? Or does he fear that by pursuing such a course, he might, (like the prophets of Baal), call in vain, or only be cutting sticks to beat his own back.

He says I have "bought about 20 head of cattle which have to find pasturage on the reserve." Here "Neighbor" is only 7 beyond the truth, (i. e.) 35 per cent. of this statement is a bare faced falsehood, but that is pretty accurate, for "Neighbor." But, Mr. Editor, I am not sufficiently gifted with the "second sight" to be able to see how this comes to be any business of his. Let me assure him, however, that both the pasturage and final disposition of the said cattle will be an honest transaction and quite within my rights, etc. Can "Neighbor" say as much of all similar matters within his knowledge? "Neighbor" says I have "lost already quite a number of teaching days getting goods to sell to the Indians," and "I experience considerable difficulty, etc." These statements are as false as they are malicious, but even if they were true, in what way does it concern "Neighbor." Does he not find such ready sale for his surplus flour, etc., as formerly, or what is the trouble? He says "the Indians are longing for an agent like the Rev. Mr. Roberts, who was one of the best agents to look after the schooling of the young Indians, etc." Ay! Mr. Editor, "there's the rub" and the "hub" of the whole matter. "Neighbor" here draws a comparison which I hardly know how to deal with, inasmuch as, under Mr. Roberts' "regime," it is hard to find out just what the "young Indians" did study. When I took charge of Chemong Mission in July, I found the school almost entirely destitute of books, tablet cards, slates, pens, ink, and all those things which are absolutely necessary to the proper conducting of any school, and before I could open school or even proceed with the work of a single class, I had to procure supplies, and since then have spent about $25 in supplying bare necessities. Again, I find that my average attendance for the last half of 1886 is about half as high again as the average attendance under Mr. Roberts for the first half of the same year, and that, too, while I was doing "two men's work," as "Neighbor" says, "devoting much time to farming, etc." He says the "good New England Company sent a school teacher, etc.," "a teacher who requires another to look after him," and who is "required to act as agent also." I have been informed before that "Neighbor" says I am "not the agent of the New England Company." Does this reveal a hidden sore? Does "Neighbor" cling to the hope that he may yet be known by that familiar name? or why such reluctance to acknowledge an accomplished fact? In regard to his twaddle about the "longing of the Indians" and other matters affecting them, the declaration signed by the Indians and printed in your last week's issue is a sufficient answer. In conclusion, Mr. Editor, permit me to add I have neither the time nor the disposition to enter into a newspaper discussion, particularly one not in any way affecting the public. But, if "Neighbor" is desirous of entering into investigations or making comparisons, I am quite prepared to gratify him, and have no fear of the result, and when "Neighbor" has any more "sid-bits" to offer to the public affecting the character or work of his neighbors, it is to be hoped he will have the manliness to do so over his own signature. Meantime, I would recommend as a more creditable, if not a more congenial, occupation, that, instead of wasting his precious time "looking after me," he mind his own business, or deal more with facts and get his information from a more reliable source. I am

Dominion Elections!

Nomination Day: February 15th.
Polling Day: February 22nd.

A NEW CANDIDATE IN THE FIELD!

HIS PLATFORM:

GENTLEMEN,

I have no desire to tamper with the votes of that noble army of our citizens who freely exercise the Franchise on behalf of their favorite political leaders. But, in order to take a hand in the present political struggle for supremacy between Grit and Tory, I have decided to come out and offer such tempting

BRIBES TO THE ELECTORS

as cannot fail to place me at the head of the polls.

I would scorn, like all other candidates for parliamentary honors, to buy up votes, or do aught that might be construed as a violation of our Election laws. My object is a far more patriotic one, namely—that of making a CLEAN SWEEP of all my Winter Clothing and Tweeds before Election day.

Nor will the secrecy of the Ballot be infringed by asking purchasers whether they will vote for LEBRUN, COX, or STEVENSON. No, not by a home rule scuttle full! But every elector is expected to attend this exciting Political-Winter-Clothing-Sale, and to hurrah for LEBRUN, so as to elect him by an overwhelming majority as the Workingman's Favourite Candidate.

SAMPLES OF THE BRIBES:

SUITS, made to Order - - $12
Formerly sold for $15.

SUITS, made to Order - - $14
Formerly sold for $17.

SUITS, Ready-made, for $5
and upwards.

PANTS made to Order for
$3.00——$4.00——$4.50.

If the Electors will only ponder over these facts and see and handle these Bribes for themselves, I feel certain that the 22nd will be a cold day for the other candidates.

THE remedy for curing Coughs, Colds, Asthma, A Croup, Diseases of the Throat, Bronchitis, Pains and Oppression of the Chest or Lungs, Difficult Breathing, and all the Diseases of the Pulmonary Organs. No better remedy for Whooping Cough can be found.

CAUTION.—Don't experiment with new and untried medicines, but always keep on hand this safe and sure remedy.—Allen's Lung Balsam.

MOTHERS, have you delicate, weakly children, who are always TAKING COLD, and subject to CROUP? Remember, there never was a case of CROUP which did not originate in a COLD.

ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM IS YOUR FRIEND.

Physicians who have failed to cure their patients should try this medicine before they give the case up, as we know many valuable lives have been saved by being persuaded to give it a trial.

DO NOT DESPAIR because all other remedies have failed, but try this remedy, and you will not be deceived. It will cure when all others fail.

Allen's Lung Balsam is now put up in Three Sizes,
Price 25c., 50c., and $1 per Bottle.

The 25c. bottles are put up for the accommodation of all who desire simply a Cough or Croup remedy. Those desiring a remedy for Consumption or any Lung Disease should secure the Large $1 Bottle.

A SHORT STORY.

A DEADWOOD INCIDENT.

In Deadwood in the heart of winter, when the snow buries the miners in the cabins, or the wind and ice slay them on the road, all that is best and all that is worst in these isolated men come to the surface. Bill Ragsdale, desperado, gambler, crack shot, the most unscrupulous claim-jumper in the diggings, found himself, much to his own surprise, converted by force of circumstances into a sick-nurse. He had shot several men and been dred at at odd times himself, and through all maintained a feeling of comparative indifference. Therefore to watch, and work, and hope for the life of a man to whom he had not spoken more than a dozen times was enough to surprise Bill Ragsdale or anybody who knew him. The event had come about in this way:

One night, when the darkness had nearly worn itself threadbare and the gray of the morning was peeping through, Bill and a dozen companions were seised with a desire to wind up their noisy carousal with a dance. In the corner, sleeping, with her head on a bench, was a woman whose occupation it was to assist the barkeeper in ministering to the bibulous desires of the miners and to play the hurdy-gurdy when these ferocious bacchanals wished to limber their joints with their clumsy dance. One of the men went to the woman and kicked her roughly with his boot.

"See here, Col. Molly, give us a tune out of that old music-box of yours," he cried.

Liquor and fatigue made the wretched creature insensible even to this rudeness. Seeing she did not move the man gave her an impatient shake, then twisted his hand in her hair and by it lifted her to her feet. The men laughed uproariously as she screamed and struck out wildly at her persecutor, but Bill, in whom some latent spark of chivalry seemed suddenly awakened, sprang to her assistance with an oath and a menace. Every man in the crowd naturally considered this interference an infringement upon his established liberties, and the indomitable Bill was surrounded by his late companions, who had suddenly converted themselves into executioners, each determined to defend his code of lawlessness. A dozen revolvers in the hands of as many blear-eyed, brutish men were aimed more or less unsteadily at Magsdale, who caught his breath, made a movement towards his belt, found his revolver missing, and threw up his hands with an instinctive gesture—a protest of helplessness—when the door burst suddenly open and a man bounded in. As he did so a bullet carried off his high felt hat, two others buried themselves in the woodwork of the door, and the rest whistled past him into the air. A second later the man who had struck the woman dropped dead on the floor. Then the smoke rose and showed Bill in possession of the dead man's revolver. "I've got the drop on ye," said Bill, covering the nearest two with his weapon. "Put up yer guns an' take Big Jim out o' here." Then he grasped the stranger's hand, which still held the smoking revolver. "Say stranger, put it ther," he said. "I don't know who you be, but there's nuthin' ye can't have if ye want it. Let's go, Moll, an' get up," he said roughly to the woman, who still crouched on the sawdust floor clutching his leg. Several of the men had carried Big Jim into a back room which the barkeeper grumblingly prepared for them. The newcomer picked up his perforated hat.

"I don't know who was in the right," he said. "I only saw an unarmed man defending a woman against a dozen men. I was directly in the line of their fire, and I don't know that I helped you any more than I helped myself."

The young stranger settled down to the diggings, and from that day out he and Bill were friends. They saw but little of each other, for "Boston," as Bill had christened the newcomer, seldom entered Ragsdale's haunts, but now and then the burly gambler took occasion to give his protege a warning word when he saw the young man was likely to be bitten by prospectors more experienced than he. Gradually there sprang up between them a sort of rough comradery, which existed without much demonstration, and which, perhaps, they both would have been a little ashamed to confess to. The rigors of the winter proved more than Boston's nurture could stand. Bill Ragsdale, on his way through the gulch, had heard, as he passed the little cabin which Boston had built near his claim, a man crying out and groaning, and, entering, found the young stranger delirious, no fire to keep out the freezing cold, and no food on the shelf. This exigency resolved itself into prime amusement for Bill. He kept house, cooked for the sick man (for, like all pioneers, he had some skill in border cuisine), and, though rather skeptical as to the efficacy of medicine, got one of the several doctors that flourished in the town. The sixth day of his illness Boston recovered his right mind and recognized Bill, who was filled with precipitate rejoicings. "I guess you ain't feelin' very smart," Boston smiled feebly and shook his head. "You've been sick a long spell," volunteered the nurse cheerfully. "You about like to died." The sick man nodded feebly, then asked;

"Am I going to get well?"

"Well, I calc'late that's a chance if ye don't get no setback—an' ye ain't again' to, ye know," continued Bill brightly. Boston said nothing, but lay watching the other with that glassy stare the sick have.

"I s'pose you ain't got no folks around yar, have ye?" Bill asked in a solicitous tone.

Boston shook his head impatiently. He thought for a long time with his eyes fixed on the ceiling; then he aroused himself suddenly and motioned Bill to his side. When his companion had seated himself on the bed Boston laid one thin hand on his and said, while the tears of gratitude and feebleness gathered in his eyes;

"I knew I would have died here alone if it hadn't been for you."

"Get out!" cried Bill indignantly. "Ain't we even? I guess I'd be out ther with my toes on if it hadn't been for you."

"I don't know that I care particularly about getting well, but if I do we're partners in all good luck."

Bill flushed and said: "I guess you'd better dry up now."

Boston lay perfectly still after this, and Bill thought he was sleeping, but after a time he saw his lips move, and bent down to hear what he was trying to say.

"Bill," he whispered, "if the worst comes, I'd like my father to know. His name is Edward Payson of No. 1223 Beacon street. My name is George. I haven't made the most of my life, and the poor old man is put out with me now. Then there were others——"

But Boston's voice sank and he fell again into a lethargic slumber.

Bill lit a pipe and quassed himself by frequent stirrings and pokings at the fire, which the wind tried to suck up and out. The sick man's fleeting reminiscence of his heathen past had suggested to Bill's wavering mind his own bitter retrospections. Presently he became conscious that the silence had in some way deepened—that hitherto unnoticed noise had ceased (so the ear will become conscious of the passage of a clock by the cessation of its ticking). Bill went to the bed. It was Boston's breathing that had stopped! A sudden terror took possession of the watcher. He felt he could not remain alone with that dead man and listen to the hideous wind. He threw his coat about him, pulled his hat over his ears, and then fled from the place.

The drifts were terrible, and the sleet that beat upon his face was like the touch of death. The light of the railroad station shone through the storm, and toward this he struggled. The sleepy operator in the telegraph room started up in astonishment at the huge, snow-covered figure that staggered into the room.

"My pardner is dead. I wanter send a telegraf to Boston. What'll it take?"

"How many words?"

"I don't know," said Bill. "I'm not up to this lay-out of yourn. What's the limit?"

"Just write out——"

"Write out?" said Bill, grimly. "O, no. I'm no parfessor in a college. Just you write exactly what I tell you."

"All right."

"Just say," began Bill, "'Edward Payson, No. 1223 Beacon street, Boston.' Got that down?"

"Beacon street, Boston, yes," said the operator.

Bill continued: "I take my pen in hand ——"

"No," said the other. "Cut all that."

"To see," said Bill, apologetically, "I wanter to break the news to the old gent. However, you know best. Just say that his George died here to-night of newmony. Kin ye send that word by telegraf?"

The operator read:

Deadwood, Feb. 2, 1878.—To Edward Payson, 1223 Beacon street, Boston, Mass.: Your son George died here to-night of pneumonia. Will bury him here and await your orders.

Bill Ragsdale.

"That's right. I'll have him buried here till the old man comes. Now, young feller, I'm dead broke, but I tell you what I'll do. Here's my gun. I'll leave it in hock with you till I make a raise. Is it a bargain?" The operator was glad to oblige Mr. Ragsdale, and told him that the arrangement was entirely satisfactory. Bill stood by the stove a moment.

"Poor Boston," he muttered, "poor Boston. A man can't tell when his turn's comin'." Then he passed out into the storm and the wind clanged the door after him.

Enjoy Life.

What a truly beautiful world we live in! Nature gives us grandeur of mountains, glens and oceans, and thousands of means of enjoyment. We can desire no better when in perfect health; but how often do the majority of people feel like giving it up disheartened, discouraged and worn out with disease, when there is no occasion for this feeling, as every sufferer can easily obtain satisfactory proof, that Green's August Flower, will make them free from disease, as when born. Dyspepsia and Liver Complaint are the direct causes of seventy-five per cent, of such maladies as Biliousness, Indigestion, Sick Headache, Constiveness, Nervous Prostration, Dizziness of the head, Palpitation of the Heart, and other distressing symtoms. Three doses of August Flower will prove its wonderful effect. Sample bottle, 10 cents. Try it. eodw4

LIFE ASSURANCE CO. OF CANADA.

Gross Life Business for 1886, - - - $3,540,000.

EXTRACT FROM MONTREAL WITNESS, DATED DECEMBER 31st, 1886:—

THE LATE MR. McLACHLAN.

AN INSURANCE COMPANY PROMPT SETTLEMENT.

We have been asked by Mr. McLachlan to publish the following, and do so in view of the exceptional public interest taken in the case mentioned:—

To R. Macaulay, Esq., Managing Director of the Sun Life Assurance Company:—

DEAR SIR,—I have much pleasure in acknowledging the payment by you of $17,120.70, being the amount due under the policies held by your Company on the life of my brother, the late John S. McLachlan. A company's character is tested when an opportunity arises in which it has the power to take advantage of a technicality or inability (as in the present case) to comply with every condition and requirement, so as to occasion delay and expense, and perhaps finally defeat a just and honest claim. There is no doubt in the mind of any reasonable man that my brother and Mr. Kenner were unhappily drowned, and the affidavit produced abundantly support this; but although a careful search has been made, the bodies may never be recovered owing to the swiftness of the current and the low temperature of the water. It would, indeed, be a hardship if any company were, under the circumstances, to demand technical proofs which, from the very nature of the case, it is impossible to furnish. I have great pleasure in certifying to the honorable and liberal manner in which your Company has acted in regard to the claim. As soon as your board of directors was aware that the accident had really happened, you gave every facility for a prompt settlement. You have been the first of the companies interested to pay, and I thank you for the kind and satisfactory manner in which you have met me.

W. McLACHLAN.

The Dominion Safety fund, we understand, has also paid its policy of $2,000. The Sun Life has taken from the executors of Mr. McLachlan a personal bond to refund the amount of insurance with six per cent. per annum compound interest, should he ever turn up alive. Mr. J. S. McLachlan had in all $42,120.70 insurance on his life, and other companies resist the claims.

Fun on George Street.

A remarkably strange procession on George street Saturday night created great amusement. It was a sort of tandem arrangement, and the most doleful sounds emerged from the canvass-covered "chariot." It advertised in glowing colors the Firemen's carnival on Friday evening, 11th inst. This will be a big affair. Valuable prizes are offered, for particulars of which see posters.

Among Turnbull's new French Dress Goods will be found beautiful tints of Peacock Blue also the new Gobelin shade in several qualities with trimmings to match.

Leaden After Dark.

The Day Dramatic Co. closed a successful two weeks' engagement Saturday night with the above play. During their stay in town their performances have been liberally patronized, and they have succeeded always in pleasing their audiences. Mr. Day, himself a first-class actor, has surrounded himself with a company whose dramatic talents as all-round actors it would be hard to beat. We can recommend them to the Canadian public as a company deserving of every encouragement.

Curling Notes.

Word has been received in town that the Peterborough club has tied with Winnipeg for first place in Ontario in the competition for the Governor-General's medal, each club averaging 10½. The tie will be played off at an early date. Truro leads in Quebec and the Lower Provinces.

The junior curlers were beaten by 15 points at Lakefield Saturday. The return match takes places here next Saturday.

Play is going on this afternoon and evening for the club silver cup. It becomes the property of the member winning it three times. It has been won successfully so far by Messrs. W. G. Ferguson, M. Millar, G. Dunsford, R. S. Davidson and J. B. Pentland. The contest will be interesting.

Turnbull is showing a fine assortment of new Grey Dress Goods from the Light Silver to the Dark Oxford shades.

How Shall We Dress?

Rev. Mr. Tovell Speaks Briefly on the Subject of "Dress."

Rev. Mr. Tovell addressed a large congregation in the George street Methodist Church Sunday morning. He read as a lesson the 14th chapter of Romans, and in commenting upon it, remarked in these days much was heard upon the subject of dress. In this matter, as in the eating of herbs and meats, perfect freedom should be allowed. Some men carried the idea of herb-eating to such an extent that they made themselves ridiculous. Because one man chose only to eat herbs, was no reason why those who ate meat were in the wrong. So in the matter of dress. Because one man dressed more humbly than another, it could not be said that he was a better Christian. The speaker rejoiced that many men were able to dress better, live in finer houses, surround themselves with more beautiful homes than he could himself. The subject of dress was one upon which he had never spoken, and probably never would, but he would preach against the habit of dressing to make oneself conspicuous on account of the dress. There was where the sin lay. Who are we that judge of another man's dress? He would be very sorry to see anyone in Peterborough "setting the fashion." Better let that be done in Paris. He advised an humble dress as more befitting the Christian character, and in this the Quaker brethren came nearer the work than any, but if any preferred to dress more richly, they were at perfect liberty to do so, and no one could say them nay. As in the matter of eating and drinking, every freedom should be exercised—"Let every man be persuaded in his own mind." Continuing the Rev. gentleman proclaimed against the false interpretation oftimes put on the 21st verse of that chapter:—"It is good neither to eat flesh or to drink wine, nor anything whereby thy brother stumbleth, or is offended or is made weak." It was interpreted to mean that if our brother ate only herbs, and we ate meat, therefore on his account we were to give up eating flesh. That was a false idea. The passage meant only that we should not force the meat on our brother, that we should not endeavor to make him partake of it, because his conscience would be troubled and he would feel guilty—"to him that esteemeth anything unclean, it is unclean." We would not feel guilty in eating the meat, but our brother would esteem it a sin.

The Rev. gentleman chose for his text the 28th verse of the 1st chapter of Colossians: "Whom we preach, warning every man, and teaching every man in all his doings that we may present every man perfect in Christ Jesus." Everything in nature pointed to a higher, nobler, purer life—to a perfect life. Was there such a thing as perfect love? He would ask rather the question, was there such a thing as life with only pure brotherly love in our hearts? He was glad to see among the members of his own church an intense yearning after perfect faith, and advised those hungering for happiness to read the beautiful writings of Miss Frances Havergall on the subject of Christian sanctification. Rev. Mr. Tovell concluded by warning his hearers, especially the young, against indifference and error in interpretation of Biblical passages.

The Canon of Holy Scripture.

Rev. F. H. Wallace, M.A., B.D., on the Subject.

At the Charlotte street church Sunday night Rev. Mr. Wallace preached on "The Canon of Holy Scripture" to a large and attentive congregation. He chose for his text the 44th verse of the last chapter of the Gospel of St. Luke. On previous occasions he had spoken of the gradual process by which God was pleased to reveal himself to men, and also of those books in which we have the faithful record of the acts and transactions of the Divine redemption and revelation, constituting for us the rule of faith and life. What reason have we to suppose that that record concerning the process of revelation is confined to these books bound up in our authenticated Bibles? You will find a list which purports to give you the names of all the books of the Bible and their order, and the list comprises 39 of the Old Testament and 27 of the New. In view of the facts that, in the early Christian church, we have indubitable evidence that other books than those of the New Testament were by many, at least of the fathers of the early church, regarded as of almost equal authority with the books of our New Testament, and that the Roman Catholic and Eastern churches to-day bind up with it the Apocryphal, the question becomes a very interesting one. What authority has this list or canon, which is at the beginning of our printed Bibles? "Canon" is a Greek word, which means a rule or a measure. Then lately we have the word applied to these books, which are supposed to contain only the rule of faith and life. In these books of our canon we have all the fundamental and essential facts of our Christian faith. This is a question of intense interest to the Christian believer. How are we to settle a question like this? If you go to the Roman Catholic Church it is settled for you by the authority of the church, but we must settle the question by historical inquiry, and the simple fact which historical investigation reveals is this, that the formation of the canon was a very gradual process, that just as God at no time gave to any one man a final declaration of his will, so God at no time gave a full and perfect list of the books in which his revelation, that gradual process of revelation, was recorded.

The rev. gentleman then went on to describe the gradual process of formation of the canon from the time of Christ until the year 397, when the canon was definitely fixed, and has so remained right on through the middle ages. Various ancient writers on the subject did not all agree on the books which should be included in the canon. We have in Josephus a three-fold division, which is included in the text, working out doubtless, although it is impossible to go back into all the details, the history and progress of the formation of the canon of the Old Testament. First you have the first five books of the Bible, and the common consent of antiquity is that Ezra had more to do with the formation of the canon than anyone. And then we have the Prophets. Later still there was compiled gradually the three divisions of the canon—the Law, the Prophets and the Psalms. Now before the time of Christ we have these works one by one asserting their authority among the people, recognized by the people as records of God's will, and being put one by one into place in the list of those canonical or authoritative writings, Christ recognized these writings, the three divisions comprising the whole of the Old Testament, and nothing more. Mark that. The Law, the Prophets and the Psalms meant definitely and distinctly just what we have in the Bible to-day.

Then as regarded the New Testament, Rev. Mr. Wallace went on to say that several writers cast doubt upon several of the books included in it, such as first and second John and James, Jude, Hebrew, Peter, Revelation and Colossians, etc., but all were unanimous in condemning the Apocryphal, which was to-day rejected by Protestants, but accepted by Roman Catholics. Not one, however, threw the least doubt on the four Gospels. It was quite evident that while the Apostles lived there was no need, felt among the early Christians of any Canon of divine or authoritative laws of worship; but only when they were dead did questions arise as to what were the authoritative documentary records of their teaching and rule of faith, and so it was that the Canon was formed. Books which could be counted as coming from the Apostles and men who were under the influence of the Gospel were recorded as part of the New Testament. The result may be summed up in a few words. In these parts of the canon concerning which there has never been any doubt or question, we have all that is essential to our Christian faith. No man who knows the facts concerning the canon will have his faith shaken by these facts. Concerning those works about which there was doubt, if we did bind them up with the New Testament it would be very little benefitted and would result in no new doctrines being propounded. The old saying "The Bible, nothing but the Bible for Protestants," was true and false. The Bible is the proper rule of faith for all Christians, but the object of Christianity was "Christ, the whole Christ, nothing but Christ."

THE WHITE RIVER HORROR

Thirty-two Men and women Roasted to Death.

BOSTON, Feb. 5.—No disaster more appalling in its happenings, more awful in its consequences, is recorded in the annals of New England railroading than the one which occurred on the Central Vermont Railway at White River bridge in the town of Endon, about four miles north-west of this place, and half a mile this side of East Hartford, at 2.30 o'clock this morning. At that hour four passenger coaches of the Montreal express, heavily freighted with pleasure seekers bound for scenes of carnival and fun, were hurled from the edge of an open Howe bridge, 600 feet in length, and while the train was running at full speed, were precipitated with the bridge itself down one of the wildest gorges of the Green Mountain State seventy feet on to the icy surface of the White River, and they were burned to ashes, cremating nearly forty human beings, killing a dozen more and seriously, if not fatally, burning and maiming a score of others.

A broken rail 200 feet this side of the bridge is all that is left to tell the cause. In an instant there was a jar, a bumping of trucks over the railroad ties; the coupling between the forward sleeper and the four following cars broke, the engine baggage and smoking cars passed on to the bridge and over in safety, but the other four cars jumped along over the ties to the end of the bridge, knocked out the heavy timbers which rested on the abutments and then toppled over—bridge, cars and human freight, fully eighty souls, all told, falling with a tremendous crash down the jagged precipice seventy feet, striking upon the frozen surface of the river. Then followed a scene which beggars all power of human description. Fortunately the agony was brief. The flames speedily finished what the crush of the falling cars failed to accomplish, and in a short time, nothing but a charred mass of cinders and red-hot iron work marked the spot.

WHITE RIVER JUNCTION, Feb. 6.—The ruins have been minutely searched and probably all the bodies recovered that can be. They report it to be up to this morning just twenty-seven, which, with the five found to-day makes thirty-two recovered thus far.

Personal.

Mr. A. Rutherford and wife went to Boyne Falls, Mich., this morning.

The following persons left for Montreal this morning by C. P. R.: H. LeBrun, Jno. Hackett, —. Sherwood, E. Brown, H. Winch, R. Neill, Jas. Fairweather, Fred. Stenson, Geo. EGAN'S IMPERIAL TRUSS.

Read the following extract from a letter of a well-known citizen of St. Catharines,—hundreds like it:

ST. CATHARINES, Sept. 30th, 1885.

GENTLEMEN,—Being over 70 years of age, and over 30 years ruptured, I looked upon my case as hopeless, especially as I tried various appliances without success among others, recently, two springless trusses made in New York State, costing me $40. Nothing would retain my Hernia. I have worn your truss over four months, night and day, with great satisfaction and comfort; even to bathe in it the rupture has never come down, it holds me perfectly secure under all circumstances. You may publish it for the benefit of other sufferers. Yours truly, CAPT. B. KING.

This new Spiral Spring Pad Truss has taken ten years to make it perfect; is guaranteed to hold the very worst case during the hardest work or severest strain. It will cure every child sure; and 80 out of every 100 of adults. Be warned—don't waste your money on useless appliances, but send stamp for our treatise; it contains full information, your neighbors' testimony, price list and questions for you to answer. When writing please mention this paper. WHY
Will people pay rent when houses and lots can be purchased on such easy terms as are offered by the undersigned. Come and inspect our work and see for yourselves how we construct our houses. Our chief aim and study is to build substantial, warm, frost and damp proof houses. I am offering good building lots, and will build solid brick houses, nine-inch walls, strapped and lathed, two stories, for less money than you can buy frame or rendered buildings. We cordially invite those who anticipate renting or buying to inspect our work and prove for themselves that our houses are not merely built to sell. Every house I've sold gives satisfaction, and I am determined that every house I build shall be a standing testimony to honest building. VERMONT DISASTER.

THIRTY-TWO VICTIMS RECORDED SO FAR.

WHITE RIVER JUNCTION, Feb. 7.—The civil authorities of Hartford, Vt., have now assumed charge of the remains of the victims and their personal effects, so far as found. It is now learned that a Mrs. William Deance, of Winooski, Vt., was lost.

A peculiar case has arisen over the matter of the identification of a body claimed by two parties, one alleging that it is the body of a female and the other that it is that of a male. Even the doctors are equally divided on the question, on account of the charred condition of the corpse. The clothing, watches, keys, etc., belonging to each of the victims were found on the remains in such a manner as to indicate that the two persons died together and that one body was completely consumed. There is nothing left of the other but a portion of the trunk, minus the head, arms and legs.

Isaac Gales, undertaker, says thirty-two bodies have been brought to his care, seven of which have been identified and removed, and perhaps five more can be identified.

At a small farm house near the bridge lie two injured men, who were presumably overlooked previously. They are Mr. Wilcox of Bangor, N.Y., and Mr. Barlote from Nashua, whose head is badly cut. It is feared Mr. Wilcox's skull is fractured. At a farm house on the south side of the river is a woman who was rescued from a sleeper without clothing. Becoming crazed with fright and cold she started away, crawling on her hands and knees on the ice. She was found some time after a quarter of a mile from the wreck. A mattress was procured and she was placed on it. The parties went for a sled to draw her back, and when they returned it was found the mattress was on fire under her, having been smoldering unknown to the rescuers when it was taken from the wreck. The woman was unable to move and was terribly burned. She was badly frozen when found crawling on the ice.

It is just reported that Mrs. Horace Fairbanks, wife of ex-Governor Fairbanks of St. Johnsbury, Vt., is among the lost. She was to have been on the train, and it is stated that her cloak and watch have been found. Mr. Fairbanks is here looking for the body.

Charles B. Hebbard of Cambridge, Mass., who is reported to have been wounded in the accident is wanted in Boston for the embezzlement of $900. He was on his way to Canada. The following is an additional list of persons found to be missing and supposed to be lost:
H. E. HAZEN, of Hartford, Vt.
HOMER RIGGS, of Middlebury, Vt.
D. BROOKS, of Cornwall, Ont.
FRED BLAIS, of Springfield, Mass.

LACONIA, N. H., Feb. 7.—It is thought that Dr. C. F. Clark, a well-known French physician of this town, was killed in the accident on the Vermont Central railway. He was en route for Montreal.

SUNDAY POLITICAL MEETINGS.

Archbishop Fabre Issues a Circular Condemning Them.

MONTREAL, Feb. 7.—Archbishop Fabre has addressed to his clergy another circular upon Sunday political meetings. After stating that the importance of the subject explains referring to it once more, the Bishop says: "All well thinking citizens, to whatever political party they may belong, will understand the grave inconvenience involved in this custom of taking advantage of Sundays and holy days to hold political meetings. All feel that there is therein a source of disorder and that no blessing from Heaven is to be expected on such meetings held on days which the Lord has reserved for Himself, and which should be devoted to His service. We may, perhaps, meet with a few persons who will oppose us on this point, proclaim themselves free from all restraint and all law. Their opposition to our desire to maintain the respect due to the Lord's Day is the most self-evident and palpable condemnation which they can possibly give of their bad principles. You will declare with firmness to the populations entrusted to your care that it is a solemn duty to abstain from political meetings on Sundays and holy days of obligation.

A PLUCKY ENGINE DRIVER.

He Kicks Three Would-be Express Robbers off his Engine.

TOLONO, Ill., Feb. 7.—While the Wabash through express from Philadelphia to Tolono was passing the Embarras Bottoms Saturday night three men crowded into the locomotive from their hiding-place on the front end of the express car and ordered Engineer Tyrrell to stop the train that they might rob the express car, to which access could only be gained through a side door. Tyrrell agreed to stop, but found an excuse to open his tool-box, and, taking out his revolver, turned it on the men, who surrendered immediately. The engineer then kicked them one by one from the train as it rushed along toward this place. The robbers are believed to be the same men who attempted to wreck the Central passenger train at Savoy on Jan. 28.

The Sault Ste. Marie Railway.

MONTREAL, Feb. 7.—The contract for the construction of the Sault Ste. Marie branch of the Canadian Pacific Railway, which will connect with the railroad system of the northwestern states and put our port in direct route between St. Paul and Minneapolis and Great Britain, has been let to James Reid, contractor of the new Lachine bridge over the St. Lawrence. The length of the line to be constructed is about fifty-one miles. Reid has sublet the work on twenty-one miles to Mr. Brown.

MONTREAL'S BIG DAY.

THE FOURTH WINTER CARNIVAL NOW IN FULL BLAST.

MONTREAL, Feb. 7.—The fourth winter carnival was inaugurated to-day with great success, and the fears expressed that last year's lapse would prove disastrous to the fete have been proved unfounded. The weather was magnificent, a typical Canadian winter day, just cold enough to give a zest to out-door enjoyment, and not too mild to mar the success of the celebration. The citizens have taken a hint from St. Paul and have decorated their residences and shops much more than on previous occasions, and the city tonight is a mass of bunting, evergreens and light.

A large number of visitors have already arrived, the contingent from the States putting in an appearance to-day in great force, while Toronto and the West are well represented. The hotels are full to overflowing, the corridors of the Windsor resembling the New York Stock Exchange on a panic day, but the excellent arrangements made by the Executive Committee with private housekeepers have rendered it easy to find comfortable quarters.

The ice palace was of course the great attraction of the day and was visited by thousands, all of whom were most enthusiastic over its appearance, particularly in the evening, when it was lit up for the first time with electricity. It is generally admitted to be the chef-d'œuvre of carnivals, surpassing in beauty of design and clearness of effect all its predecessors. In the forenoon the various toboggan slides were opened, and were thronged with visitors, who were well attended to by the members and initiated into the mysteries of tobogganing.

The hunters' camp, an exact imitation of a lumberman's shanty in the backwoods, with pea soup, pork and beans and other luxuries of pioneer life for sale, which has been erected by the members of the Fish and Game Club, attracted thousands, who were more than surprised at the rough comfort with which it is provided. A striking feature about the camp is that it is lit by electricity, which rather mars the effect of an otherwise truthful example of backwoods life.

The ice imitation of the famous Maze of Hampton Court, opposite the French church, was the down-town attraction, vying with the snowshoers' jubilee arch in popular interest. The latter is really the prettiest thing of the kind ever erected in Canada and is well worthy of its object, marking the Queen's jubilee.

The mammoth toboggan slide in Jacques Cartier Square was crowded with visitors all day, but here the only regrettable incidents of the day occurred, several small accidents happening, owing to its crowded state and the bad arrangements.

In the evening the Governor-General, Lady Lansdowne and suite arrived from Ottawa by the Canada Atlantic and were welcomed by an immense crowd. The Montreal Snowshoe Club and Garrison Artillery acted as guard of honor, and escorted the party to the ice palace, which was then formally inaugurated by His Excellency in a witty speech. A few fireworks were set off and then the route was taken for Mr. Baumgarten's house, which has been leased for vice-regal residence.

All the toboggan hills were crowded this evening and were a mass of illuminations. Everything passed off well, and all are looking forward to to-morrow, when the Governor-General will be formally welcomed by the City Council, and will then inaugurate officially the Jacques Cartier slide. The trotting races also begin to-morrow, and in the evening the first masquerade will take place at the Victoria Rink. This, in addition to the ladies' day at the Lumberman's Camp, all the toboggan slides and the championship skating races will keep the visitors pretty busy.

Thursday has been proclaimed a holiday and it is likely the drive that day will surpass anything ever done in Canada.

THE FISHERY QUESTION.

A Statement Regarding It in the British House of Commons.

LONDON, Feb. 7.—Sir James Ferguson stated in the Commons this evening that the correspondence between Great Britain and the United States relative to the Canadian fisheries question would in a short time be laid before Parliament. The correspondence, he said, contains full information about the history of the whole affair down to a very recent date. A despatch from the Dominion Government containing suggestions as to a modus vivendi between Canada and the United States was now on its way to London, and the Imperial Government could not therefore send proposals to Washington until the Canadian despatch was received and considered.

Killed for a Girl.

PARKERSBURG, W. Va. Feb. 7.—T. J. Boyce and F. M. Hopkins were fatally wounded in a melee which occurred near the Wirt county line Saturday. A worthless person named Miller had circulated slanderous stories about one of Hopkins' girls, and her father and two brothers met Miller and four brothers named Boice at a shoemaker's shop near the mouth of West Fork creek. A pitched battle ensued, in which the two men were killed and the elder Hopkins and another of the Boice boys were badly hurt.

CANADA'S COAST DEFENCES.

The Batteries at Victoria and Esquimault in a Discreditable Condition.

OTTAWA, Feb. 7.—Some mistake appears to have been made in the recent announcement that the British Government are sending out a number of eighty-ton guns for the coast defence of Esquimault and Victoria. Twelve sixty-four pounders have been sent out from England, not for the armament of the forts, but to be placed on board the British ships-of-war belonging to the Pacific squadron, or to go into the naval reserves. Some time ago the British Minister of War made application to the Canadian Pacific Railway folks to know if they could transport one or more eighty-ton guns over their roads.

An estimate of the cost was given, with the model of a car composed of three trucks, which it was proposed to use if the shipment was made. Since then nothing has been heard of the eighty-ton guns. The officer in command of the British Columbia district does not speak very creditably of the condition of the armament at that point. The artillery arm is described as old, the carriages and timbers are reported to be rotten, and falling to pieces, while the guns are without sights. The batteries at Victoria and Esquimault are in a discreditable condition.

PARNELL'S MOTION.

THE IRISH LEADER ATTACKS THE GOVERNMENT'S POLICY.

LONDON, Feb. 7.—Mr. Parnell moved his amendment to the address in reply to the Queen's speech. The amendment is as follows: "The relations between the owners and the occupiers of land in Ireland have not been seriously disturbed in the cases of those who granted to their tenants such abatements as were demanded by the prices of agricultural and pastoral produce. The remedy for the crisis in Irish agrarian affairs will be found, not in an increased stringency of criminal procedure or in the pursuit of such novel, doubtful and unconstitutional measures as those recently taken by Her Majesty's Government, but in such reform of the law and the system of Government as will satisfy the needs and secure the confidence of the Irish people."

Mr. Parnell maintained that if the bill for the stopping of evictions, which he introduced last session, had been passed the condition of Ireland would have been greatly improved. The operations of the measure would have effectually prevented the present disturbed relations between the landlords and the tenants in Ireland. The blame for the present serious position of Irish domestic affairs rested with the Government. The Government, despite this, seemed about to renew the mistake of attempting coercion in Ireland. The speaker solemnly warned the Government that if they again tried coercion they would again fail, as they always had failed, when trying that policy. Coercion would never bring about a better state of affairs in Ireland or assist in establishing peaceful relations between the two countries. [Cries of "oh! oh!" and cheers from Irish members.] If the Government's proposed alteration of the Criminal Procedure Acts meant an attack on the rights of Irishmen, the immediate result would be that Sir Michael Hicks-Beach, Chief Secretary for Ireland, and the Marquis of Londonderry, the Viceroy, would find themselves rapidly descending an inclined plane and they would soon come asking Parliament for more coercion. Sir Michael Hicks-Beach wished to attack the authors of the plan of campaign. He thought to crush the plan by muzzling his opponents and putting them into jail.

Mr. Parnell went on to condemn coercion as an incitement to conspiracy. Even now at the eleventh hour if the Government refrained from the policy of exasperation, if they would give Ireland power to do for herself what England seemed to have neither a wish nor power to do, Ireland would show by her tranquility and prosperity how unfairly she had been dealt with.

GREAT LOSS TO THE C.P.R.

RALLY

To-Night!

Dominion Elections.

A Grand Rally of every working Liberal in Town is called for THIS EVENING, in the Liberal Club Rooms, to perfect organization for the coming Dominion Elections.

The Daily Examiner.

TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 8, 1887.

THE OPERA HOUSE SPEECHES.

The meeting held in the Opera House last night in Mr. Stevenson's interests, was, in point of attendance, fairly successful, but the speeches, as a whole, were below the average standard, and the enthusiasm they evoked, as far as this is an indication of the feeling of the auditors, was nothing to boast of. Mr. Stevenson's address was a wonderful medley of National Policy platitudes, personal explanations, and attempts to injure Mr. Cox, in fact his desires in this direction were so intense that he knocked his own argument on the head. After virtually stating that no industry established under the N. P. could do anything but flourish like a green bay tree, the Conservative candidate asserted that the Stove Works were at so low an ebb that he (Mr. Stevenson) would be glad to sell his stock therein at half price. This is patriotism towards the town! For the sake of attempting to make a weak point against Mr. Cox the Conservative candidate does not hesitate to decry and injure a local industry, when according to his professions of a moment before, he should do all in his power to assist and encourage it. His Lock Works explanations only served to emphasize the fact that that corporation, instead of getting free rent, etc., was paying a thousand dollars a year for the privileges they enjoy, and that Mr. Cox was entitled to equal credit with Mr. Stevenson for their establishment in town. The speech of Mr. Murphy, the "great Irish orator," requires only a very few words. If the Conservative Association paid his expenses, there is, as far as his speech is concerned, that account to be placed in the profit and loss account. Hon. Mr. White was in good trim and said his say well. Judging by his effort last night he would make his mark as a special pleader.

Mr. White's eloquence—which is frankly conceded—was largely wasted in setting up a man of straw for the pleasure of knocking him down. The burden of his speech was the N. P. which he declared was the only issue in the contest. Hon. Mr. Blake declares now, as he did in 1882 that the N. P. could not be disturbed, and he has no intention if returned to power to disturb the present fiscal conditions excepting in the way of rearranging the tariff so that its burdens will fall less heavily on the poor man, and so that manufactures will be encouraged by cheapening the cost of raw material. Therefore Mr. White's elaborate special plea for the National Policy on the ground that it was in danger from Mr. Blake, was without pretext. Hundreds of prominent manufacturers are supporting Mr. Blake in this contest and it is not reasonable to suppose that they would, if Mr. White were to be believed, pursue a course, equivalent to business suicide. There is no fear except in the minds of those who fear for their places, of any injury to our industrial interests Two of the most influential commercial journals in Canada, representing respectively the west and the east, make the following statements. The Monetary Times, Toronto, of Feb. 4th, says:

"Any great change in the tariff, as a result of the elections, is improbable; and any great disturbance to business from this cause, we think, need not be feared."

The Montreal Journal of Commerce, of Feb. 4th, asserts:

"The tariff has doubtless some faults of construction as well as of administration, but these are minor differences, and may be adjusted by one Government as well as another."

Mr. White referred to Mr. Cox's pronouncing in favor of the present trade policy, but he accused him of insincerity, asserting incorrectly that immediately after Mr. Cox's speech both Mr. Bertram and Mr. Paterson denounced it, when the fact is that they simply indicated its weak points and showed that it was receiving credit for what it had not accomplished. Mr. White, while professing to answer Mr. Patterson, failed to accept the challenge to point out a single new kind of industry that was not established in Mr. Mackenzie's regime. That he failed to do this, when he devoted so much attention to Mr. Paterson, was conclusive proof that he could not do so. Mr. White claimed that the present liberal leaders, had no honesty in their intentions not to disturb the present fiscal policy, because they had previously denounced it. The Hon. gentleman forgot to mention, that not very long ago he was an equally strong opponent. In a speech in Montreal, Mr. White declared that an industry that could not thrive on a 15 per cent tariff has no right to exist, and that 15 per cent was sufficient for any industry suited to the country. If he upholds the doctrine that a man who changes his views is untrustworthy, Mr. White is in a position to unanimously vote want of confidence in himself.

Mr. White's argument to show that high tariff produced less revenue than a lower tariff, was very ingenious, but he destroyed whatever force there was in his argument, by asserting that under a 17½ per cent. duty in Mr. Cartwright's time, the revenue was insufficient to meet the expenditure, though the expenditure was then something like fifteen millions less than at the present time. The speaker was particularly emphatic in declaring, what he must have known, if he was not intentionally ignorant, was not the fact, that the fate of the N. P. depended upon the result of the present election. In 1882, when Mr. Blake took the same position on the tariff he does now, there was no outcry that the N. P. was in danger, the Government party felt confident of their ability to defeat him, but at that time their record was not quite as black as it is now. The experince of the years since 1882 has been an experience of depression in trade, of rebellion, of indefensible and ruinous extravagance, of unbridled corruption, of grabbing and unprofitable speculation. Many of the men who supported Government candidates at that time are ashamed of the record they now have, in virtue of that action, to answer for as participes criminis, and are acting in accordance with that feeling. It is the Government, not the N. P., that is in danger, and this cry is raised to divert public attention from the record and course of the Macdonald Administration. But it will not work; the record of the Government with all its repellant features is the true issue before the people at the present time—the monstrous and alarming increase of the public debt is enough to condemn them.

How airily Mr. White talked of our 220 millions of public debt. It was a mere bagatelle "Debt" he asserted "is not a bad thing." That may be Mr. White's view, but people who pay their own debts do not readily agree with his free and easy optimism. It is no wonder that the debt-producing government should make light of the monstrous debt they have piled up, with a view of lessening the enormity of their guilt. During 14 years of Tory Administration the debt of Canada has been increased by $177,537,000 a yearly increase of $12,609,900, while under a Liberal government the increase was less than a million and a half a year.

Increase from 1867 to 1873, under Sir John Macdonald	$ 37,733,800
Increase from 1873 to 1878 the public works placed under construction before Sir John resigned in 1873	31,447,000
Increase from 1873 to 1878 under Mr. Mackenzie's control	7,232,000
Increase from 1878 to March, 1886, by Sir John's administration	105,307,000

And the debt is still increasing, the expenditure mounting up while the deficits are a regular and luxurious crop. In 1885 there was a deficit of $2,240,000, in 1886 a deficit of $5,865,000, and in 1887, with only a part of the year expired there is already an enormous deficit which before the fiscal year closes will amount to a deficit of between three and four millions. No wonder that Hon. Mr. White seeks to make little of our enormous public debt. No wonder that he does not wish comparisons with the debt of the United States, which is being rapidly paid off, while ours is being as rapidly added to. He tries to off-set our debt with the cost of the Intercolonial Railway, which, he says, does not pay running expenses, and with the 80-million-dollar C. P. R. which we do not own. The electors are too intelligent to be caught with such electioneering clap-trap.

Mr. White sought to show that the debt of Canada was a public benefit inasmuch as it was expended for useful public works, railways, etc. He did not go into details of the immense sums voted for wild cat railway schemes, and out of which members of parliament made money, to recoup them for their slavish support of the government. He even had the hardihood to instance the Trent Valley Canal as a public work whose construction would be of benefit to Canada and especially to this district. But he had not one word of explanation of the Government's shameful trifling with the work, nor did he give a single encouragement that the work would be prosecuted. In fact he discouraged the idea, for he mentioned three or five millions as the sum that "is absolutely necessary"—or as he quickly corrected himself—"may be absolutely necessary to complete the work."

Mr. White handled the Riel question very gingerly, though he denounced Riel as a coward who did not deserve any sympathy, but he did not say one word in defence of the criminal neglect of the government which provoked the rebellion. Riel was, he asserted, hanged, not because it would be the most paying course politically but "for the safety of the North West. If Mr. White advocates hanging as a means of salvation for the North West, he will have to begin with Cabinet Ministers and go on with the long roll of boodling members of parliament whom the government in spite of Mr. White's assertion to the contrary, have permitted to spoil the northwest by their land grant and timber limit grabs. He zealously defended the granting of timber limits to Government supporters and friends with monetary influence, by pointing out that timber limits were granted only to the highest bidder, when "there was more than one applicant." But the grabbers managed so that there was "only one applicant," and that a favorite of the Government. Over 300 orders-in-council have been passed by the Government, distributing about 16 million acres of the public domain amongst Tory members of Parliament and political parasites. "When there is only one applicant" is a happy idea and greatly simplifies the distribution of the public domain among the friends of the Government.

Hon. Mr. White ventured the elegant opinion that if the Riel question were removed from the present contest, there would be "not a corporal's guard" for the Tory party in the Province never logged it into politics, and Mr. White has either suddenly dragged it, and removed Riel from the catalogue of "new Catholic saints," as he eloquently described a portrait of Riel with a rope round his neck—Haldimand rather sat on Mr. White's efforts make the Riel question a paying political issue. Mr. White betrayed the ineffectiveness of his efforts to convince the electors and discounted the chance of the success of the party in the pending elections, by asserting that if the government couldn't stand on its merits, the members thereof did not want office. There is no doubt that they will be judged by their merits and that on the 22nd of February they won't hold office, however much they may want it.

Dominion Elections!

Nomination Day: February 15th.

Polling Day: February 22nd.

A NEW CANDIDATE IN THE FIELD!

HIS PLATFORM:

GENTLEMEN,

I have no desire to tamper with the votes of that noble army of our citizens who freely exercise the Franchise on behalf of their favorite political leaders. But, in order to take a hand in the present political struggle for supremacy between Grit and Tory, I have decided to come out and offer such tempting

BRIBES TO THE ELECTORS

as cannot fail to place me at the head of the polls.

I would scorn, like all other candidates for parliamentary honors, to buy up votes, or do aught that might be construed as a violation of our Election laws. My object is a far more patriotic one, namely—that of making a CLEAN SWEEP of all my Winter Clothing and Tweeds before Election day.

Nor will the secrecy of the Ballot be infringed by asking purchasers whether they will vote for LeBRUN, COX, or STEVENSON. No, not by a home rule scuttle full! But every elector is expected to attend this exciting Political-Winter-Clothing-Sale, and to hurrah for LeBRUN, so as to elect him by an overwhelming majority as the Workingman's Favourite Candidate.

SAMPLES OF THE BRIBES:

SUITS, made to Order - - $12
Formerly sold for $15.

SUITS, made to Order - - $14
Formerly sold for $17.

SUITS, Ready-made, for $5 and upwards.

PANTS made to Order for $3.00——$4.00——$4.50.

If the Electors will only ponder over these facts and see and handle these Bribes for themselves, I feel certain that the 22nd will be a cold day for the other candidates.

H. LeBRUN

A SHORT STORY.

THE DEADWOOD INCIDENT.

By 6 o'clock in the morning the storm had ceased, and a party of miners, passing along the railroad track, found not 100 yards from the station the dead body of Bill Ragsdale. It was frozen stiff, but two rough holes in his forehead showed that he had not died from exposure. A few hours later Dr. Morgan rode a stalwart broncho as far up the gulch as he could, then dismounted, and, after great difficulty, reached the door of Boston's cabin. He entered and found Boston the only occupant. There were only few embers on the hearth. He uttered an exclamation and turned to the bed. Boston made a slight motion with his head and asked feebly:

"Where's Bill?"

"I don't know," said the doctor. "How do you feel to-day?"

"Better, but I was very bad last night." The doctor blew up the embers, put on more wood, tucked the blankets about Boston, and began looking for something to cook. "How's the chest and back?" he asked.

"Very little pain," said Boston. "I wonder where Bill is." The doctor was busy in the manufacture of broth and did not hear him. He administered some medicine and gave the patient two applications. "The turning point is passed," he said to his patient, "you're bound to get well now!" Then he returned to town, but came back in the afternoon with Col. Molly and a supply of provisions. "Don't tell him about Bill," he cautioned. The next day he called again. Col. Molly was sleeping in a corner and Boston was sitting up in bed. In two days more Molly came back to town and Boston, pale and very weak, was walking about the cabin. He had heard of Bill's death, and turned down another sombre leaf in his book of memories. The terrible storm had swept down the telegraph wires, and among the delayed messages received by the operator about a week after Bill's death was the following:

Boston, Feb. 5, 1873.—Bill Ragsdale, Deadwood: George Payson's father is dead. All bills will be paid. Will come in the spring.

Henry Scranton.

All the operator could do was to return word to Mr. Scranton that Bill Ragsdale was dead. In the meantime George Payson recovered from his convalescence and began a more earnest and systematic life. He left the town and secured a position in a stamp-mill, a short distance away, and the spring found him there, graver, with a few premature gray threads in his beard. Some secret hope seemed to buoy him up, and some recollection, which could not have been all a pain, lived with him and kept a fire in his eye and a vivacity in his speech.

One raw April day, when the snow lay in irregular patches over the ground and the mist rolled slowly up the sides of the mountains, the stage, lumbering along the muddy street, had in it two travelers of an unwonted type. The loafers smoking on the veranda of the hotel held their breaths with amazement as they saw a comely old gentleman descend and hand out, with all the unctuous grace of the old school, a lady so beautiful, so pensive and young, that she seemed like one of the pale flowers pushing its head up through the snow in the barren woods. But the rapid inquiries as to their identity left natives no wiser, and they were obliged to sleep on the mystery. The next morning, however, the keeper of the hotel came on the veranda with a piece of gossip. The old gentleman had sent for him and made special inquiries after one George Payson, who died in February.

No one knew of such a man, and this information, or rather lack of it, was conveyed to the old stranger, who gave his name as Henry Scranton. He seemed greatly astonished and disappointed, and later in the day hired a team of mountain ponies and the only wagon there was in the place and drove out towards the mining camps. On the way he renewed his inquiries without success. At last, however, he happened to mention that Payson came from Boston.

"That's a chap at Stevens' Mill they call 'Boston,'" said the man he addressed. "I reckon he'll know about the man you're after."

The wagon was driven to Stevens' stamp-mill, and just as the old gentleman was assisting the young lady to alight his eye caught sight of a familiar figure directing some workmen a hundred feet away. He started a little, took a long look at the man who had attracted his attention, and then turned to the young lady with an assumed expression of nonchalance.

"My dear," he said, "I'm afraid we haven't been rightly informed about this man."

"Why?" she asked, dejectedly. "What makes you think so?"

"Well, the fact is," he replied, "it has just occurred to me that there might be some mistake about those telegrams we received last winter."

"Do you mean about the date?" she asked, "or the place?"

The old man was trembling and he moved so that his tall form shielded her from the group of workingmen.

"Not the date nor the place," he returned, laying one hand impressively on her shoulder, "but the man."

She let her cheek fall on the hand upon her shoulder with the quiet patience of a dumb animal.

"I'm sorry, father, if you have had all this trip for nothing, but as for the rest I don't know that it matters much. We might as well go back to the hotel."

"Well, no," said the old gentleman, "I don't think that would be the best thing to do." He drew her mantle about her and held it closed in a caressing manner. "Now, if you will just try to remember, Eunice, how everything works together for good, and how out sorrow is to turn into joy——" She burst the mantle apart and hid her head upon his arm.

"Father!" she cried, "what joy could come to us now?"

He stepped aside and pointed to the central figure of the group of men. Whatever the emotion she experienced, it swept over her like a flood and carried away on its tide the dejection and the misery that had made her face remarkable. She made no sound, but stood like one entranced, while her mind and her heart adjusted themselves to such circumstances. Then she walked quickly up to the group of men and laid her hand upon the arm of the tall, fair one who was directing the others.

"You see, I've found you, George," she said, softly.

Then, as he turned toward her and showed his recognition in a quick flash of joyous incredulity, the cry that could be restrained no longer broke from her lips, and, throwing herself upon a hospital drift branches on the ground, clung to it as if she had found her life's counsel instead of its joy.

Smith.

From a Correspondent.)

On Wednesday last, Jan. 26th, an interesting ceremony took place at the residence of Mr. S. Cullen, being the marriage of his daughter Emma Jane and Mr. W. J. McKee. All weddings are supposed to be pleasant affairs and the above was no exception to the rule. Both of the happy couple are residents Smith and favorably known in their respective communities. There were about twenty-five guests present and each one vied with the other in a harmonious rivalry to make the the occasion one of pleasant memory. Several gifts, both ornamental and useful, were given to the young couple. Our wish and prayer is that their truest and noblest desires may be realized in the journey of life, and that the kind Father above may guide their feet into peaceful paths.

"Of earthly goods, the best is a good wife; A bad, the bitterest curse of earthly life."

How many wives who to-day are almost distracted because of their many ailments, all tending to make home unhappy, would become the best of all earthly goods if they got rid of their troubles by using Dr. Pierce's "Favorite Prescription," which is an unfailing remedy for those diseases and weaknesses which afflict the female sex. Send ten cents in stamps for Dr. Pierce's complete treatise on these diseases, illustrated by numerous wood-cuts and colored plates. Address, World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Provincial Convention.

The monthly meeting of the members of the Young Men's Christian Association was held on Monday evening. The delegates to the recent Provincial Convention, Messrs. Miller, Stephens, Cooper and Williams, reported the Convention was the best yet held.

"Glimpses of Other Worlds."

Mr. Long, of the Collegiate Institute, will give his lecture on "The Stars," or "Glimpses of Other Worlds," in St. John's Church school house, this Tuesday evening There will be, in addition to the lecture, vocal and instrumental music. Admission, 20c.; children, 10c.

Among Turnbull's new French Dress Goods will be found beautiful tints of Peacock Blue also the new Gobelin shade in several qualities with trimmings to match.

Recovered His Robe.

Mr. J. R. Fuller, of Colborne, last night notified the police that a buffalo robe had been stolen from his cutter, which had been left standing in a yard on George street, near Macdonald. P. C. Adams discovered the missing article in an old well close by, where it had been concealed by the thief.

Evangelistic Meetings.

The meetings for men to be held by Mr. Geo. H. Marsh, Evangelist, will begin to-night at 8 o'clock, in the rooms of the Young Men's Christian Association. Mr. Marsh has been meeting with great success in his labours this winter, and it is to be hoped that much blessing will result from his work here. All men will be cordially welcomed. A prayer meeting will be held every afternoon to which ladies are specially invited.

A commercial tester, we are at the top, but our prices are at the bottom. See what Turnbull is showing this week in new Bedroom Chints and Cretonnes.

A Gold-headed Cane.

At the carnival Friday evening next, there will be a competition for a handsome gold-headed cane between Messrs. Cox and Stevenson. Every ticket-holder will be presented with a ballot, and additional ballots can be secured at 5c. each. The voting arrangements will be in the hands of four ladies—two Reformers and two Conservatives—who will act as returning officers, poll clerks, scrutineers, etc. Valuable prizes are also offered for best fancy and comic costumes.

Turnbull is showing a fine assortment of new Grey Dress Goods from the Light Silver to the Dark Oxford shades.

ELECTION ELOQUENCE.

Mr. Stevenson's Meeting in the Opera House.

Hon. Thomas White and Mr. Nicholas Murphy Address the Electors—Mr. Stevenson on Local Matters—The National Policy Raised as the Chief Issue—The C. P. R. Rebuffed as Usual.

The opera house was filled last night on the occasion of the political meeting in the interest of the Conservative candidate, Mr. James Stevenson. On the platform were a number of prominent Conservatives.

Mr. W. H. Moore, the Chairman, after announcing the order of speaking for the evening, in a rather long-drawn-out speech poked a little fun at Mr. Cox and Mr. Peter Ryan for the political "barometer," which he said they carried about through the country, and which was adapted to suit all sorts of weather. Mr. Moore closed by introducing Mr. Stevenson, who, according to all indications would be elected by a good round majority—(a long pause for the cheers which came not)—to represent this riding in parliament.

MR. STEVENSON,

who was received with cheers, made an exceedingly laudatory speech in reference to the N. P., and stated that Canada should stick to it especially as the United States refused to give them reciprocity. They stated they had prospered under protection and didn't want any reciprocity, and the Conservative party in Canada felt in the same way; they had Protection and they were bound to stick to it. He then went into personal explanations in reference to the origin of the Lock Works, stating that he had subscribed $3,500, and Mr. Cox $2,500, and other parties, smaller sums to make up the stock. Mr. Stevenson asserted that he had put up the buildings now occupied by the Lock Works, at a cost of $9,000, and he didn't get a cent of interest from it. (Cheers.) He went on with explanations which brought out the fact that the Lock Works Company paid a thousand dollars for rent, light, heating and power. He (Mr. Stevenson) had paid out $9,600 for buildings for the Lock Works and Law's Iron Bridge Works for which he was receiving not one cent interest. (Cheers). The Works were flourishing and would succeed, and employed a large number of hands. Now he did not know how many hands the employed, but lately they were at a pretty low ebb. He had some stock in them, but (in spite of his faith in the N. P.) he would be glad, he asserted, to sell it at half price, an anti-N. P. heresy which was heartily applauded by his hearers. Mr. Stevenson concluded his address by appealing for the support of the audience at the coming elections.

STOVE WORKS

MR. NICHOLAS MURPHY, of Toronto, on rising, remarked that it was pleasant to a wanderer on a cold stormy night to find such warmth as he found here. The Government of Sir John Macdonald had come before the people ready to give an account of their stewardship. He was not in the secrets of the Government, but he could assure them that if Sir John was returned to power, they would not have a deficit even now. A great deal was being said about the debt of the country, which the speaker wiped away by saddling it upon the financial "failure," so called, of Sir Richard Cartwright. Mr. Murphy next touched upon the National Policy and the C. P. R. This road, he stated, was built for the purpose of preserving British connection. Following this came a lengthy debate on the hanging of "Mr." Riel (who has hitherto been known as "Louis" Riel) who, he said, had met his death not through his bravery, but his cowardice. If the Conservative Government must take any blame in the matter, they have done it and can do it again. Regarding the alleged mal-administration of affairs in the North-west, he hinted of snow-bound trains, delayed letters, unknown correspondents, etc., as reasons for the apparent neglect in the North-west.

HON. THOMAS WHITE

was warmly received, and began the battle by referring to the on-coming elections, in which the new Franchise Act, which added probably 20 per cent. to the electorate of the country, would for the first time come into force. It was deemed advisable to hold the elections so that the newly-enfranchised electors might exercise their suffrage. But the Dominion Government acted "honestly" in this matter, as the Provincial Government had not done. It had been asked why had the Government appealed to the country at this critical moment, when the local elections were going against them. The answer was that they did not want to stay in office one hour without the confidence of the public, and he felt sure that the verdict in 1887 would be the same as in '82 and '78. And why? Because the Conservative party came before the electors with a clear record, without a blot on its escutcheon. The principal issue in this election was the question of the National Policy, which their political opponents were

ANXIOUS TO ESCAPE FROM.

Only last Wednesday evening they had had an illustration of how impossible it was to do so. Mr. Cox read a declaration of faith from the platform, which, if he goes to Parliament, he will support. Then Mr. Patterson coming after denounced emphatically the National Policy. It was said that Mr. Blake had changed his mind on this subject. If this policy was what they had described it in the past, it was their duty to oppose it to the bitter end. The Hon. Thos. White read Mr. Blake's statement at Malvern, in which Mr. Blake had expressed his opinion that duty should be levied on those articles which are manufactured or can be manufactured in Canada. Mr. White then tackled Mr. Blake's statements, which he attempted to controvert, but before he got through the gentle tinkle of a "chestnut bell" and the general wearied aspect of the audience, which commenced to leave the hall in large numbers, showed that this style of tactics was not entirely approved of. Mr. White quoted other expressions of prominent Liberals, such as "outrageous," "barbarous," and "monstrous," "wretched nostrum," etc., in reference to protection. The question of the National Policy was not, he said, a question of taxation at all,—giving as his authority Sir Richard Cartwright. If a new financier were placed on the benches at Ottawa—that would likely be Sir Richard—he could easily increase the revenue, but it would be at the

EXPENSE OF THE INDUSTRIES

of which Canada was so proud. Then as regards the duty on sugar—a most troublesome one—the speaker denied Mr. Blake's comparison between the prices of sugar in Canada and England, as showing the price Canadians were compelled to pay to suit a few refining monopolists. The speaker went heavily into figures to prove that Canadians were really getting their sugar cheaper than if it had been imported from England. As a result of protection, an East Indian, West Indian and South American trade has been built up, the refineries had given employment to our working-men, our own coal has been mined and other forms of general profit have resulted. Touching upon the duty on cotton, he said it was well known that cotton was cheaper now than in 1878. But in all fairness he would say it was not due to the National Policy, but rather to the general depreciation in value the world over. Again! studies of figures were produced to show the progress and development of the cotton trade in Canada. Mr. White also touched upon the question of woollen goods. At this juncture a disturbance arose near the door and Mr. White was obliged to desist until the offender had been ejected. By the way, the gentleman making the disturbance was a white haired rural Conservative who plainly demonstrated that he could not be stuffed with cotton. Continuing, Mr. White summed up the National Policy and the object of the government to be the promotion of industry in Canada. Next the

PUBLIC DEBT

was dealt with. Debt, said Mr. White, was not altogether a bad thing unless the debt was incurred in profitless and extravagant expenditure. In Bobcaygeon to-night he ventured to say that Sir Richard Cartwright was making comparisons between the debts of Canada and the United States, a comparison which was most unfair, inasmuch as the underlying conditions of the two countries were entirely different. The debt of Canada had been incurred in building railways—in making the bond of union between the different Provinces more binding than if it were a mere bond of paper. Mr. White expounded the government's position on the Fishery question, stating that they were determined to uphold their rights. In the event of trouble with the United States, what would Canada be without the C. P. R. She would practically be doomed to non-commercial intercourse between her own Provinces, and the country should reward the foresight of the men who had pushed the line to a rapid completion. The speaker would not like to see the road managed by the Government instead of a private company. The result would be demoralizing to the country. As it was now, they had all the control and none of the responsibility. Again recurring to the national debt, Mr. White requested the audience not to consider that he treated the debt lightly. It was

A WEIGHTY MATTER.

During the last 7 years of the Conservative reign an increase of 5c. per capita for interest has been imposed, but it had resulted in the completion of those public works which were the pride of Canadians. Mr. White created a little "diversion" by stating that the electors had all these things for an increase per family of interest as would scarcely "set 'em up" in this Scott Act town. He instanced amidst chilling silence the Trent Valley Canal, remarking that it was not a question of the expense, but profit resulting after its completion. The Hon. Thomas waxed eloquent on the subject of general development and civilization of the North West Territories under the genial influences of the governments' policy, and spoke feelingly of the "days of yore" when he lived in Peterborough and managed the Review. Next, taking up the charge of mal-administration of affairs in the North-west (not in connection with the rebellion), Mr. White defended the Government's policy re timber limits, and challenged his political opponents to name the man who had ever received any partizan grants of timber limits from the Government. Then referring to the race and religion cry, which he said was being raised in this campaign, the speaker denounced it as entirely unwarranted by the facts of the case. The Government, said Mr. White, were almost certain of election on this one question alone. But he did not want votes simply because Riel was punished. If the Government had not the confidence of the country, they based their hopes on no dead issues. They appealed especially to the electorate recently enfranchised by the new Act for support, and left the issue in their hands. Mr. White closed by soliciting their undivided support for the Conservative candidate for West Peterborough—though he said "West Hastings" a possibly prophetic lapsus linguæ, suggesting that he is as likely to be returned for West Hastings as West Peterborough.

The meeting closed with cheers for the speakers, Sir John Macdonald and—by a happy afterthought of Hon. Mr. White, after the others had forgotten it—the Queen.

St. Catharines, Sept. 30th, 1885.

Gentlemen,—Being over 70 years of age, and over 30 years ruptured, I looked upon my case as hopeless, especially as I tried various appliances without success, among others, recently, two springless trusses made in New York State, costing me $40. Nothing would retain my Hernia. I have worn your truss over four months, night and day, with great satisfaction and comfort; even to bathe in it the rupture has never come down. It holds me perfectly secure under all circumstances. You may publish it for the benefit of other sufferers. Yours truly, Capt. B. King.

This new Spiral Spring Pad Truss has taken ten years to make it perfect; is guaranteed to hold the very worst case during the hardest work or severest strain. It will cure every child sure; and 98 out of every 100 of adults. Be warned—don't waste your money on useless appliances, but send stamp for our treatise; it contains full information, your neighbors' testimony, price list and questions for you to answer. WHY
Will people pay rent when houses and lots can be purchased on such easy terms as are offered by the undersigned. Come and inspect our work and see for yourselves how we construct our houses. Our chief aim and study is to build substantial, warm, frost and damp proof houses. I am offering good building lots, and will build solid brick houses, nine-inch walls, strapped and lathed, two stories, for less money than you can buy frame or veneered buildings. We cordially invite those who anticipate renting or buying to inspect our work and prove for themselves that our houses are not merely built to sell. Every house I've sold gives first-class satisfaction, and I am determined that every house I build shall be a standing testimony to honest building. SALISBURY TROUBLED

THE BATTLES OF THE PARTIES IN GREAT BRITAIN.

LONDON, Feb. 8.—The debate on the address for the first time since the opening of the session took a definite and practical form last night, the House of Commons having an important issue in the Parnell Amendment. Parnell in his speech was moderate and judicious in tone. He purposely avoided absolute approval of the principle of the Plan of Campaign in order not to offend a number of Gladstonian members who disapproved the Plan, but are inclined to condone it as a desperate temporary expedient. Parnell's criticism of the successful results of the plan and his comparison of its effect in modifying the relation between landlord and tenant with what he called the better sheriff, harum scarum proceedure of Government's agents, which had intensified the disorder, was cheered by the whole Opposition side. The speech was not able more for diplomatic calmness and finesse than for fervor or brilliancy.

The Debate Resumed.

LONDON, Feb. 8.—John Morley resumed the debate on Parnell's amendment to the address in reply to the Queen's speech. He said he agreed with that part of the amendment which affirmed that the remedy for the existing crisis in Irish affairs was to be found in such reform of the law and system of government as would satisfy the needs and secure the confidence of the Irish people. There was, in fact, Mr. Morley declared, no remedy short of granting the Irish self-government.

The Scotch Radical Leadership.

LONDON, Feb. 8.—Mr. Chamberlain, in an interview yesterday with the delegates from the Scotch crofters, offered, in event of the Scotch members approving his taking the lead of the party, to introduce a Crofter bill in Parliament. The Gladstonian Radicals, jealous of Chamberlain's interference, oppose his assumption of the leadership of the Scotch Radicals. Mr. Morley declares in favor of Chamberlain on the ground that his advocacy of the crofters' cause is a step toward complete reunion of the Liberal party. The Parnellites are incensed and predict that the influence of Chamberlain in the land question will grow and that there will be a further division of the Gladstonian party, while the Home Rule Question will be thrown into the background. The Scotch members will hold a formal conference before deciding the leadership question.

Irish Loyalists Ruined by the League.

LONDON, Feb. 8.—The Lord Mayor received a deputation of gentlemen representing the organization known as the Irish Association for the Defence of the Union. Among the spokesmen for the deputation were the Duke of Abercorn and the Earl of Pembroke. The former's speech was an appeal for funds to aid the Irish Loyalists who were deprived, the Duke said, of their means of livelihood through the action of the Irish National League, which, by intimidation, deterred tenants from paying their rents.

The Earl of Pembroke referred to the terrible effects of the policy pursued by the National League throughout Ireland, and said the fund sought to be raised by the deputation was to be devoted to the work of helping those whom the tyranny of the league had ruined.

The Lord Mayor said he did not consider the deputation's appeal a party question and he could therefore give it a cordial and sympathetic approval, and besides, could recommend it to the consideration of all parties in the country.

Parnell Misunderstood.

NEW YORK, Feb. 8.—The Post's London special says with reference to Parnell's speech, that his allusion to the results of the policy of coercion is gravely misunderstood. This misunderstanding he foresaw and expressly repudiated, but late last night, in the political clubs not less than in the precincts of the House, the Unionists were saying that Parnell had concluded his speech by threatening dynamite unless the Government granted Home Rule. What he really said was that he wondered the Government, in restoring coercion, was not warned by the past as shown by the constant accumulation of Mr. Forster's demands. The conspiracies of that time, including that against Mr. Forster's life, were, Mr. Parnell claimed, brought into existence by his career of coercion. The appeal of the cabinet for increased powers was followed by the Phœnix Park tragedy, that by the passing of the Crimes Act, and that again was answered from America by dynamite. "Dynamite," said Parnell, excitedly shaking his hand at the Government benches, "was repeatedly exploding in the crowded streets of your city. Your public buildings were also threatened and attempts were made to destroy them. Even in this house ministers were not safe from violent attacks and attempts at assassination. After all these terrible events, after all this loss of life, some upon the scaffold and many more victims of the wild justice of revenge; after all this peril to your citizens pursuing their lawful occupations on the streets; after all this danger to your most distinguished ministers what was the result? The Tory Government came into office and abandoned coercion." This was the most successful point of the speech and was received by the Liberals and Parnellites with prolonged cheers.

Mr. Gladstone will probably speak on Parnell's amendment.

Susan B. Anthony is quoted as saying that Abraham Lincoln is the only man she could have loved.

RAIN AND CARNIVAL

VISITORS STREAMING INTO THE CITY FROM ALL DIRECTIONS.

MONTREAL, Feb. 8.—The Weatherman, who has his headquarters in your city, did his best to-day to mar the success of the carnival and in consequence had many an objurgation hurled at his devoted head by members of the Carnival Committee and the thousands of visitors, not to speak of enthusiastic snowshoers and tobogganers belonging to the city. Folks who went to bed last night congratulating themselves on the success of the first day of the fete and the delightful weather, this morning woke to find the sky clouded over and a heavy down-pour of rain in progress. From about 4 a.m. to 8 p.m. it never stopped, and in consequence all the outdoor events, except the inspection of the ice castle and the Maze, were knocked on the head. The streets were knee deep in slush and water and the majority of people remained indoors, or, if they did go out, used covered sleighs, a limited supply of which were in active demand. It is an ill wind that blows nobody good, and even if the carnival program had to be dropped and the retail trade was ruined, the Jehus of the city reaped fine profit from the bad weather.

The ice trotting races were, of course, postponed until to-morrow, and as tobogganing was out of the question the Governor-General's inauguration of the Jacques Cartier and Taque Bleu slides was abandoned. One thing rain was unable to stop was the advent of visitors, who came in by thousands and, though all trains were late, every one was in good humor, hoping for the best to-morrow. Several Yankee visitors, who appeared to think that the border line had a magical effect on the weather, donned their blanket costumes, though it was raining all the way, hoping that at Montreal at least the weather would be propitious, and all they got for their pains was a good bouncing from friends in the depot.

A large number of Oddfellows from Providence, R. I., arrived at 2 p.m., six hours late, and were welcomed by the local brethren as well as by Mayor Beaugrand on behalf of the party, which includes the mayors of Providence, Boston and Hartford, Connecticut. In the evening they were tendered a grand reception and ball in Queen's Hall, which was crowded. The Governor-General was present and welcomed them to the Dominion.

Lord Lansdowne had a busy day, though not quite so bad as had been planned. In the afternoon he, accompanied by Lady Lansdowne and suite, was welcomed in the City Council Chamber by the Mayor and the aldermen, who presented a complimentary address, to which the Viceroy responded in a peculiarly happy manner. This done, a resolution of congratulation to the Queen on her jubilee year was passed and directed to be forwarded by cable, and she brilliant gathering was presented to Their Excellencies.

In the evening, after attending the Oddfellows' reception, the viceregal party attended a masquerade at Victoria Rink which surpassed everything of the kind ever seen there, which is saying a good deal. The Governor-General himself and several members of his party took part in the skating revels.

The first match of the hockey tournament to have taken place in the ice palace was among the events knocked on the head and will probably be played on Thursday.

The Lumbermen's Camp was thronged throughout the day by ladies, to whom it was confined, and everyone of the thousands who inspected the shanty and partook of the feed expressed their satisfaction. Evening attractions which vied most strongly with the Victoria Rink carnival were the interprovincial championship skating races in the Crystal and Jubilee rinks. In the latter Gordon of Montreal beat Stephen O'Brien of New York five miles in nineteen minutes, while in the Crystal Frank Dowd again proved his superiority in defeating all comers, including Chas. McCormack of St. John, N.B. Both contests were witnessed by immense crowds.

Among the Ontario people who took part in the Victoria rink masquerade were C. Swabey and H. Vernon of Toronto, as Cowboys; Miss L. Camp of St. Catharines, as Carmel; Miss B. Curzon of Toronto, Liberty; Mrs. W. Callahan of Toronto, Titus; Miss Alice Milligan of Toronto, Equestrienne of the Eighteenth Century, and Miss Swabey of Toronto, Lady Undergraduate.

To-morrow, weather permitting, the carnival snowshoe races will be held on the Shamrock grounds, the trotting races will be begun and in the evening, the event of the festivities, the attack and defence of the ice palace will take place. Over 2000 snowshoers will take part, and every precaution has been taken to prevent accidents.

To-night the members of the Carnival Committee and citizens generally are talking weather and hoping for the best that Mr. Carpmael can send them. Even with its drawbacks, to-day has not been unsuccessful, and if a cold snap will only set in the carnival may yet surpass its predecessors.

SONS OF ENGLAND.

Opening of the Grand Lodge Yesterday at Barrie.

BARRIE, Feb. 8.—The Grand Lodge of the Sons of England Benevolent Society met here to-day. There was a large number of delegates present from all parts of the Dominion. An address of welcome was read to the visitors at the Court House, where the Grand Lodge session will be held. The session opened at 2 o'clock, and the first move towards business was a motion to cable the congratulations of the Grand Lodge to Queen Victoria. Amidst a scene of the wildest enthusiasm the motion was carried, the members rising in a body and cheering again and again. The applause lasted several minutes and wound up by the singing of "God Save the Queen." The officers present were: Most Worthy Grand President John Clayton, Hamilton; Rt. Wor. H. Pres. Thos. Skippon, Toronto; R.W.G. Treas. Benj. Hinchcliffe, Toronto; R.W.G. Secy. W. Carter, Toronto; G. Chap. Rev. W. Sibbald, Belleville; Rt. J. Boswell, Montreal; Ald. Swait, Toronto; Past. G. Pres. R. Caddyick; Dr. Pollard, Toronto; P.G.V.P. Edmet, Port Perry; P.G. Pres. J. Lomas, Toronto; J. Pullan, President, Barrie; John R. Hooper, Ottawa; R. C. Smith, Port Hope; A. Williams, Cornwall, and the other principal officers.

The different reports were read, which showed the order to be in a very flourishing condition. There will be a grand banquet tendered to the visiting delegates to-morrow evening, which promises to be the grandest event of the season. Following is a copy of the cablegram:

To Her Most Gracious Majesty, Queen Victoria:

The congratulations, gratitude, loyal obedience and prayers on the jubilee of your reign by the Grand Lodge S.O.E. in session assembled.
(Signed)
REV. W. SIBBALD, G.C., on behalf of S.O.E.

SWACKED BY A FLOOD.

Fears that the London Disaster of 1883 will be Repeated.

LONDON, Ont., Feb. 8.—For the last thirty-six hours throughout Middlesex rain has been steadily falling, with the exception of a lull now and then of a few minutes. The consequence is a great flood through all the low-lying districts. Never since the July flood of 1883 has the quantity of water running through the country and city been so great. Carling's Creek has been transformed into a veritable mill race, while each sewer is full carrying water to the river. Engineer Tracy says if the water from the north and south branches comes down before the jam moves away from the forks the consequences will be fraught with terrible disaster

DEAD AT WHITE RIVER

FRIENDS INDEBTED IN THE WORK OF IDENTIFICATION.

WHITE RIVER JUNCTION, Feb. 8.—There were three more identifications to-day—George J. Bell of Bellows Falls, Francis Flynn of Worcester, Mass., and Lewis B. James of New Haven, Conn. All the bodies were removed. The total number of persons on the train as yet learned from any source was 84, including the employes. Thirty-four are known to be dead and 12 are known to have gone to their homes, which, with the 36 wounded, leaves to-day only two missing. Up to noon there were 15 bodies identified.

Persons who have come to Hartford in search of lost friends and relatives complain that they are treated with marked neglect and indifference by those who have charge of the morgue in that place, that they are put off with various excuses, and overcome for entitlement for damages are urged upon them prior to their being able to accomplish their mission, and the injured survivors are being persistently annoyed with importunities for the settlement of their claims. Some of the survivors say a lawyer in the interests of the company, who is in charge of the injured at Prentis Hotel, Hartford, has urged upon them in his charge the propriety of at once adjusting their legal claims for damages. Many have peremptorily rejected all propositions for settlement and will put their claims in the hands of legal advisers.

Among those who are here to-day in search of missing relatives is Peter Myatt, of Holyoke, whose father-in-law, Peter McLane, of Hackton, Que., is known to have been killed, and Joseph D. Maignel, of Holyoke, whose father was with McLane in the rear passenger coach and was with the latter burned to death. Alex. Shepard, of Springfield, Mass., is also here searching for his father-in-law, Chas. Darene, of Rockville, Conn., who was en route to Sorel, Que., and who was in the car with Polly Artel, one of the survivors, and was doubtless killed.

THE NEW YORK STRIKE.

A Conference, But All Information About It is Refused.

NEW YORK, Feb. 8.—Along the North River front there is a decided improvement in the business of the railway and steamship companies, and freight is more easily handled to-day. The Pennsylvania agents are turning applicants away. The Italians are being gradually discharged as better help is hired. At Pennsylvania Pier No. 39 fifty of the old men went back to-day. The conference called for to-day at Austin Corbin's office was attended by J. R. Maxwell in his place, Mr. Corbin having gone to Philadelphia. T. J. Putnam represented the K. of L. All information was refused as to the result. The conference adjourned until to-morrow.

Sunday racing was inaugurated at New Orleans on Sunday last. The first race, a mile and a quarter over five hurdles, was won by April Fool. The second, five furlongs, was captured by Whisky Jack. Peacock, 19 to 1 chance, won the third race at three-quarters of a mile. In the last event, seven and a half furlongs, Ascola came out victorious.

It is reported in New York that several yachtsmen, believing that the Thistle will be ninety or more feet in length, thus giving the Scotchman advantages over the Puritan and Mayflower, are forming an association to build a large centreboard sloop, after Burgess' design, to compete with the new rival. No one will say anything about the project as yet, but if, when the authentic plans of the Thistle are made known, she proves to be ninety feet in length, a yacht to contend with her will be started at once, for Boston yachtsmen will spare no money to keep the champion craft in the Eastern Yacht Club.

In Austria-Hungary the racing season commences on April 11 and ends on Oct. 23. In this period there are forty-five race days, with 205 races, of which twenty-seven days will be held in the capital of Austria, Vienna, and eighteen days in the capital of Hungary, Buda-Pesth. On May 22 the Austrian Derby will be run for in Vienna. The stakes are worth about £150. The most wanted for this race in the betting are: Abonnent, 3 to 1 against; Petrus, 6 to 1 against, and Bulgar 6 to 1 against; Zuipan, 15 to 2 against. On last year's running Abonnent has got the most chances to win this race.

The officers of the American Jockey Club announce several stakes to be run at Jerome Park spring meeting, to close March 1. Owing to the uncertainty of any amendment being made to the betting laws by the Legislature, and the declared hostility of the police authorities to the racing at Jerome Park, the list of stakes is limited. There are but five stakes announced, which include the Juvenile at half a mile and the Sequence at five furlongs for 2-year olds. The remaining three events are handicaps and include the Croton at a mile, the Fordham at a mile and a quarter, and the Westchester at a mile and three furlongs.

President Stromberg says: "The St. Louis Maroons have determined to remain in the National League. A few days ago all the clubs of the country were bidding for and demoralizing our players. Boston offered $7,000 for Glasscock's release and New York offered $7,000 for Denny's release. Besides that they had been tampering with those players, who, as a result, wanted to go to the ends of creation. Under such circumstances I deemed it the right policy to accept the $11,500 offered. But as soon as I accepted they declined, showing that their action only playing a game of bluff, and at the same time trying to demoralize our players. On account of the action of New York and Boston I have concluded to pay no more attention to those offers. I will keep Glasscock, Denny and all the rest, and will open the season of 1887 with the strongest club St. Louis has ever yet in the League."

LIBERALS, RALLY To-Night!

Dominion Elections.

A Grand Rally of every working Liberal in Town is called for THIS EVENING, in the Liberal Club Rooms, to perfect organization for the coming Dominion Elections.

The Daily Examiner.

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 9, 1887.

THE LIBERAL CANDIDATE.

A few days ago we took occasion to refer to the merits of Mr. Geo. A. Cox the Liberal candidate for the representation of West Peterborough in the House of Commons, and his claims upon the town for the suffrages of the citizens. That the points we then emphasized were of no inconsiderable weight was manifest by the bitter abuse and misrepresentation they called forth from Mr. Cox's political opponents, whose vindictiveness and rancour were exhibited in proportion as the truth of our remarks stung them. Throughout this contest the EXAMINER has endeavoured, and successfully, to adhere to the determination, not to indulge in personal attacks upon the Conservative candidate, no matter how much it might condemn him as the champion of the most extravagant corrupt and mischevious Administration that ever misguided the affairs of any country.

Reference was made to the prominent position taken by Peterborough, as the most thriving town in Canada and it was shown that to Mr. Cox this state of things was chiefly due—to him more than to any one man. Peterborough is one of the handsomest and best built towns in Canada. And this fact is attributable—when not directly due to Mr. Cox's taste and enterprise—to the example set by him. Strangers visiting the town are struck with the beauty and city-like appearance of George street. Mr. Cox inaugurated the work of building and rebuilding which has made this thoroughfare what it is, that is by the erection of that handsome pile at the corner of George and Brock streets; and all along the street at frequent intervals there stand in the shape of beautiful business blocks, monuments of the enterprise and faith in the future of the town of Mr. Geo. A. Cox. The present appearance of George street with its neatly built and well kept buildings, plate glass fronts and general air of thrift, is owing to the action and example of the Liberal Candidate. The finest rows of first class tenement residences and some of the finest residences in town are also the work of his hands, and, whatever of distinguishing beauty of buildings, both public and private, the town is able to boast, is directly or indirectly, chiefly due to Mr. Cox. To secure this a very large amount of money has been invested and remunerative employment has been afforded to hundreds of mechanics and labourers, and if Mr. Cox remains a citizen of Peterborough, no doubt the improvements and their accompanying advantages will continue to be made.

Not only in promoting the merely material prosperity of the town have Mr. Cox's energies been spent. He is a public spirited citizen, loyal to the town in all its interests. He is liberal in his gifts to deserving objects and his name always appears, when a call is made, with substantial figures opposite it. Whenever any enterprise is mooted, whose promotion can benefit the town, Mr. Cox is on hand with his aid. When the proposition was being considered of the removal of Victoria College from Cobourg, Mr. Cox, remembering Peterborough, offered to secure $100,000 if the buildings were placed in Peterborough, and if the church authorities had decided in favor of the removal to this town, the funds would have been forthcoming. It is a public-spirited man of this character whom the people should delight to support. If all his life in town has been successfully passed in promoting the growth, development and interests of the town, can there be any doubt that, in a representative capacity, he would serve the interests of this town and riding at Ottawa, with universal acceptability?

Everything to benefit the town, has been the motto of Mr. Cox's life. Having this object in view, he has been the principal factor in establishing in Peterborough two solid and creditable financial institutions, the Central Canada Loan and Savings Company and the Toronto Real Estate Investment Company. The former is an institution which, with a savings bank department, is a great boon to those having money to save. A higher rate of interest is paid depositors than by any of the banks or the Government savings banks, and those desiring to borrow money can do so at the most favorable terms, from a home company, and the profits of the institution are distributed amongst the local shareholders and expended in the town, or invested on improvements in real estate. A man of this stamp the town can ill afford to lose, and the people will be sadly lacking in discrimination as to their own interests if they fail to embrace the present opportunity of showing their gratitude and appreciation.

Let any honest-minded man ponder seriously over the facts we have submitted, and he can come to no other conclusion than this, that the town of Peterborough would never have reached the leading position it occupies to-day, in every respect, had it not been for the presence in our midst of a citizen, with the enterprise, energy, foresight and loyalty to the town's interests, like Mr. Geo. A. Cox. Peterborough, doubtless, owes its present position to him; he has been faithful to her interests, and now, when he seeks to serve the town in another sphere, while at the same time he will preserve the relations to the town he has held for the past quarter of a century, and considering all he has done for the town, a failure on the part of the citizens to extend Mr. Cox their confidence at this time would strongly savour of ingratitude.

Mr. Cox, the Liberal candidate, in the present contest, holds an unassailable position on all the leading questions of the day, has proper conceptions of the duties and responsibilities incumbent upon the representative of one of the most important constituencies in the Dominion, and possesses the energy and perseverance to give them effect. In the present deplorable condition of the finances of the country Mr. Cox's exceptional financial abilities will make him a most valuable assistant to the Finance Minister of the day, and when, by experience he becomes more familiar with public routine and parliamentary usage, a worse choice than Mr. Cox might be made for Finance Minister. We appeal confidently to the electorate to place Mr. Cox at the head of the poll on the 22nd of this month. The town owes it to him to give him its support and confidence, and no man in the riding can be found more worthy of the trust, and more able and willing to discharge it faithfully.

HON. MR. BLAKE is not hostile to the present tariff system, but he recognizes that it is so applied that the taxation falls unevenly, pressing unduly in some instances on the poor and unduly favoring the rich. For instance, diamonds are on the free list—not taxed a cent—while the dusky diamonds—coal—bears a heavy tax. Very few poor people indulge in diamonds, but millions of poor men have to buy coal. Thus the rich are favored at the expense of the poor man. It is a change in the administration of the present tariff policy which Mr. Blake proposes to make—to distribute the burdens equally. The specific duty on woolen cloths is another discrimination against the ordinary citizen in favor of the wealthy. This does not seem fair, but the local Conservative organ defends it, on the ground that if a change were made, "a few"—the rich—would have to pay more to the revenue than the many—the poor. What a tender yearning the Conservatives have toward the workingmen at election time, yet so strong in the instinct of giving all favors to the privileged classes, that the man who proposes not to deprive the privileged classes of any privilege, but simply to place them on an equality, in the matter of taxes they have to pay, with the less wealthy classes, is denounced as an enemy to the country. The laboring classes get nothing from their Conservative rulers as a right. The latter ignore the working classes altogether, as far as legislation in their behalf is concerned.

THE FISHERY QUESTION.

The United States Senate Bill Not Acceptable to the Committee.

WASHINGTON, D.C., Feb. 8.—The Senate Fishery Bill is found not acceptable by the House sub-Committee on Foreign Affairs, which regards it as ambiguous, and objectionable also because of its failure to include specifically railroads and all means of communication as well as vessels within its prohibition. The sub-committee's bill is similar to that introduced by Mr. Belmont, and includes also certain provisions contained in the draft submitted by Secretary Manning, and other details suggested by the State Department. Probable it will not be called up in the House until next week.

He Belonged to Dundas, Canada.

BRIGHTON, Mich., Feb. 8.—George Cox, once a prosperous merchant at Dundas, Canada, moved here about a year ago, having lost all his property. It preyed on his mind so he was irrational at times and he was yesterday adjudged hopelessly insane. He was taken by a deputy sheriff to Pontiac Asylum to-day. He has a family of ten small children who are left destitute.

A Meeting at Edinburgh.

EDINBURGH, Feb. 8.—At the conference of the Scotch Liberal Association held here today, resolutions were adopted declaring in favor of reform in the land laws, in favor of local self-government, the disestablishment of the Church, and state control of the liquor traffic. The conference voted confidence in Mr. Gladstone as leader of the Liberal party.

A NEW CANDIDATE IN THE FIELD!

HIS PLATFORM:

GENTLEMEN,

I have no desire to tamper with the votes of that noble army of our citizens who freely exercise the Franchise on behalf of their favorite political leaders. But, in order to take a hand in the present political struggle for supremacy between Grit and Tory, I have decided to come out and offer such tempting

BRIBES TO THE ELECTORS

as cannot fail to place me at the head of the polls.

I would scorn, like all other candidates for parliamentary honors, to buy up votes, or do aught that might be construed as a violation of our Election laws. My object is a far more patriotic one, namely—that of making a CLEAN SWEEP of all my Winter Clothing and Tweeds before Election day.

Nor will the secrecy of the Ballot be infringed by asking purchasers whether they will vote for LEBRUN, COX, or STEVENSON. No, not by a home rule scuttle full! But every elector is expected to attend this exciting Political-Winter-Clothing-Sale, and to hurrah for LEBRUN, so as to elect him by an overwhelming majority as the Workingman's Favourite Candidate.

If the Electors will only ponder over these facts and see and handle these Bribes for themselves, I feel certain that the 22nd will be a cold day for the other candidates.

Snowshoeing.

Snowshoeing is an Indian custom of long standing. The aborigines found themselves, long before the advent of the white man to the American continent, unable to traverse the snow-covered earth, which snow, then as now, drifted into the smaller valleys and gullies, rendering traveling over its surface dangerous and at times impossible. This condition of affairs was most characteristic of the extreme northern portion of the northern continent. The snow fell early in the fall and remained till late in the spring. The moccasined feet of the braves sank deep into the drifts, and even the snowshoed eyes of the denizens of the forests were unable to pick out the scantily-covered earth from the equally inviting surface of snow that covered up a small gulley. As a result they formed at first rude bark coverings for their feet, which, by extending the surface of their weight over a larger area, enabled them to scurry over the surface of the snow-clad earth. By degrees they perfected the snowshoe, similar in construction, if not in shape, to the racquet used in lawn-tennis and the lacrosse club used in the game of that name. The snowshoe conformed to the shape of the foot, and in addition was extremely light. It was easily carried, and when on the feet did not materially interfere with locomotion. They became very popular with the Indian tribes located in the territory now known as the Hudson bay country and the Northwestern territory as well as Canada.

Many of the Indians became most proficient in using the snowshoes, and instead of proving an impediment to locomotion they increased the natural gait so that those accustomed to using the winter shoes could cover from sixty to seventy-five miles from the dawning to the going down of a sun. They wore them during the entire winter season, and found them not only an assistance in traveling, but also a source of warmness, as the feet were in a measure separated from the snow, and the natural heat of the lower extremities was thus not neutralized by close contact with the cold snow. It was soon found that the wearer was not obliged to assume any unnatural step or motion in moving over the snow, but that the natural step was all that was essential in making the best time with the snowshoes. A few Indians in each tribe became most expert in the use of the snowshoes, and as a result the winter sports or games came to include snowshoeing as an essential feature. The aspiring braves and the young men of each village began to consider it an accomplishment worth the while and dignity of every Indian, and many contests and games were arranged to show their skill and proficiency in this particular. The snowshoes were made of the best material that could be found. The finest workmanship was expended in their manufacture, and the greatest amount of decoration was not only permitted, but invited in their general make-up.—St. Paul Pioneer-Press.

Bronze Gates for Vanderbilt's Tomb.

Shortly before the death of William H. Vanderbilt he signed a contract with the Henry Bonnard Bronze Company for $50,000 or $60,000 worth of bronze work for the Vanderbilt mausoleum in the Moravian Cemetery at New Dorp, planned by the late Commodore. There are to be twenty-two double and two single gates, six of the former being each 9 feet 8 inches tall, 6 feet 4 inches wide, and sixteen 8 feet 6 inches square. The two single gates will be 7 feet 8 inches by 3 feet 4 inches. In addition to these there are sixteen lantern guards and frames with glass work 7 feet high and 4 feet wide. Upward of 38,000 or 40,000 pounds, or nearly twenty tons of standard bronze and phosphor bronze will be used in their construction, including heavy sockets and bolts by which they will be hung and rivited in position. A separate mold is required for each piece, both large and small, no matter how many times reproduced. Although the workmen were all imported from Europe for this class of work, and were selected from the celebrated bronze foundries of Barbedienne and Thiebaut Freres, of Paris, the utmost care must be taken with every casting, as they are required to be free from crack or blemish of any kind. Richard M. Hunt, the architect who made the designs—which are the old wrought hinges of the thirteenth and fourteenth centuries—personally inspects each piece as soon as cast, and his approval after such examination is necessary before it can be sent to the finishing room.

The first of the sixteen double gates has just been cast. It is the largest single bronze casting of that character ever made in this country, and probably in the world, and is a marvel of workmanship. It will require the services of a dozen men at least a month after the masonry of the mausoleum is finished to put up the bronze work. After it is completed it is claimed that so far as this part is concerned the mausoleum will be needlessly burglar proof.—N. Y. World.

ST. CATHARINES, Sept. 20th, 1886.

GENTLEMEN.—Being over 70 years of age, and over 30 years ruptured, I tested upon my case as a last resource, especially as I tried various appliances without success, among others, recently, two particulars trusses sold in York Street, costing me $25. Nothing would retain my hernia. I have worn your truss over four months, night and day, with great satisfaction and comfort; even to bathe in it the rupture has never come down, it holds me perfectly secure under all circumstances. You may publish it for the benefit of other sufferers. Yours truly, CAPT. R. H. ING.

This new Spiral Spring Pad Truss has taken ten years to make it perfect; is guaranteed to hold the very worst case during the hardest work or severest strain. It will cure every child here; and 95 out of every 100 of adults. Be warned—don't waste your money on useless appliances, but send stamp for our treatise; it contains full information, your neighbors' testimony, price list and questions for you to answer. The Big Iron Case.

Chief Justice Cameron on Tuesday delivered his judgment in the famous iron case of Bertram v. Massey tried before him at the Fall Assizes. On the findings of the jury he directs that judgment be entered for the plaintiffs for the sum of $5,523.68, with costs, and that judgment be entered for the defendants on their counter-claim for $200, with full costs, and that the action be dismissed as against the defendant, Massey, without costs.

A Matter of Much Moment.

St. Valentine's Day is approaching and the bookstores are flooded with gaudy "red and yellar" productions, ranging from the repulsive one-center representing a hissing serpent with a woman's head, to the artistic and fairy-like combination of hearts and silk fringe which the love-sick swain delights to send in large numbers to "his Jemima." This, however, has nothing to do with the grand carnival to be held in the skating rink Friday evening, 11th inst., under the auspices of the Fire Brigade, which is a matter of much more moment. It will outshine all previous efforts. Good prizes, good music, good refreshments, etc.

A commercial tester, we are at the top, but our prices are at the bottom. See what Turnbull is showing this week in new Bedroom Chints and Cretonnes.

Evangelistic Meetings.

The series of evangelistic meetings in connection with the young men's Christian Association was begun last night. Mr. Marsh, the evangelist, gave a very earnest and practical address on Prov. 18, 13. "He that covereth his sins shall not prosper, but whoso confesseth and forsaketh them shall have mercy." The audience composed entirely of men, was very good, considering the bad state of the walking. All men are invited to the evening meetings, and at the prayer meetings at four o'clock each afternoon all will be welcome. It is thought the rooms will be too small to hold the meetings in after to-day, and that some larger place will have to be secured.

Turnbull deals exclusively in the Extremes—the the best and the Cheapest. See his new stock of Prints, Shirtings, Seersuckers, White and Grey Cottons, Cottonades and Tweeds.

Entertainment.

A very successful entertainment was held at St. Luke's School Rooms on Monday evening, February 7th.

PROGRAMME.

Instrumental Duets	Mrs. Orde, & Miss McNab

Glee	A Wonderful House — The School
A Thousand Wants	Clara Woods
Song	Mrs. Stapleton
Reading	Miss Grundy
Song	The Busy Bee — The School
Grandmama	John Woods
Song	Ninety and Nine — Miss Ida Hill
A Parable	The Fish — Edith Byah
Glee	Star of the Twilight — 16 Girls
Song	Mrs. Stapleton
The Neglected Doll	Louis Butcher
Glee	Home Sweet Home — 16 Girls

The last number on the programme was entitled "Building the Cross." Eleven boys and eleven girls each held a block. They came forward one by one, each reciting a couplet as they laid the blocks on the rising cross. When it was finally built letters were to be seen on the face forming the words "No Cross no Crown" and "Jesus our Refuge." The cross was afterwards crowned, and a garland was placed on top. "All hail the power of Jesus' name," was sung, the concert concluding with "God save the Queen." The wreath was made by Miss Beetwitherick and kindly lent by the firm of Messrs. Griffin & Co.

The Heavens Above Us.

Mr. J. H. Long, M. A., Headmaster of the Collegiate Institute, Lectures on "Stars."

A very small audience assembled in the school room of St. John's church last night, but this is fully accounted for by the unpleasant weather which prevailed. Mr. Long's lecture was interesting and instructive throughout, and those who attended were amply repaid for their trouble.

Rev. Mr. Beck in a few well chosen remarks introduced the lecturer of the evening.

Mr. Long began by announcing a most incontestable fact, that the two most beautiful works of nature, the flowers and the stars, were regarded with general indifference by the inhabitants of the earth. The study of the stars was interesting and sublime. Mr. Long followed the science of astronomy from the time of the Chaldeans, who led the ancient world in astronomical investigation, down to the time when by researches the solar system was completely established. Astronomy said Mr. Long, was the basis of all sciences. The continual contemplation of the heavens led the ancients i.to different forms of solar worship, the sun, moon and stars being reverenced as gods, and the speaker quoted copiously from various authors relative to "fire worship" among the Peruvians, Mexicans, Persians and Hindoos, with all its revolting details of cruelty and superstition. To give an idea of the vastness and power of the sun, Mr. Long states that the earth receives only one billionth part of its light and heat, and that it was capable of melting every day a layer of ice on its surface 10½ miles thick. The various theories regarding the sun were touched upon, from the supposition that it was a

BURNING BALL OF FIRE,

to the atmospheric theory. Then the different theories advanced regarding the source of heat in the sun were mentioned, viz., the cometic and contractile, the latter of which was more generally accepted. This theory was that the gravitation of the sun's mass towards the centre and its consequent condensation produced heat. Next he referred to the material of the heavenly bodies. A few years ago the idea of discovering the material constituting the sun and stars was thought impossible. Yet by means of the spectroscope this has been accomplished. Mr. Lang enumerated the constituent parts of a few of the principal stars. This subject brought up the question of whether the stars were inhabited. This would probably never be ascertained, though telescopes might be able to determine whether there were cities and nations on the face of the moon. Was it a reasonable supposition that so many heavenly bodies had been constructed merely to give light to the world? In this matter, though, it must be remembered that our way was not God's way, and to Infinite power there was no effort. Of our own solar system we know much; of others, little. The planets seemed to be living bodies, and if they were inhabited, the inhabitants from various specific causes must be entirely different from those of the earth. Out of astronomy and the worship of the heavenly bodies, there arose that other science, astrology, or the forecasting of fate by the stars, which flourished for a long time, until true science demonstrated its fallacy. Even now in remote parts of the earth astrologists plied their vocation, and amidst civilization the great stars still retain the designating titles given them by the superstitious people of the middle ages. Eclipses, comets and meteors were regarded as harbingers of disaster. Mr. Long went into the details on the composition of comets, their length, rapidity of evolution and length of their return. Probably the

MOST STARTLING OF ALL these heavenly bodies were the shooting stars, aerolites and meteors, which were long ago believed to be stars descended from their first estate. Present belief is divided, one theory being that in the atmosphere there are numbers of floating fragments which become ignited by their own velocity; another is that the particles circle around a centre, and coming in contact with the earth, are ignited as explained by the other theory. It has been supposed that the star of the East was a comet, but we should be careful in accepting the supposition. In these days the tendency was to account for all spiritual manifestations on rational principles, but it should be remembered that the greatest power of Christianity was the mystery with which God surrounds his handiwork. There were numerous beautiful myths attached to the star constellations. Books were written on the stars, and three of the greatest books in English literature—the Bible, Shakespeare and Milton—abounded with beautiful references to the stars, a few passages of which Mr. Long quoted. After all, immensity was the one overpowering thought of the universe. Even with the most powerful telescopes there were myriads of stars which could not be discerned. Then the limitless space of the entire solar system! To our eyes the stars are apparently touching each other, yet in reality they are thousands and millions of miles apart. The nearest fixed star is so distant that its light requires 3½ years to reach us—and let it be remembered that light travels 200,000 miles a second, that a ray of light encircles the earth eight times in a second. We see the stars not as they are now, but as they were when man was created 6,000 years ago. Incredible as it may seem, the time of passage of the light of some stars to our eyes is 50 years, and nothing could give us a grander idea of the

ABSOLUTE ENDLESSNESS

of the universe than the fact that our system stretches across the heavens for a distance of 570,000,000 of miles and that our system is but one out of millions of others. No watch man ever made can equal the clock-work of the skies, moving noiselessly and incessantly until the heavens shall be rolled up in a scroll. Could we discern clearly, we should know that all these myriads of systems move in rythmic cadence around the centre of the universe, the very God himself. At last, our eyes, wearied with the sight, we would ask, is there no end? and afar off, like a bell on the evening breeze, there would come the reply, "As there is no beginning, so there is no end to the Divine power."

A duet, "Good Night," by Misses Morgan and Strickland, and a solo by Mr. Morris closed the evening's entertainment.

Police Court.

WEDNESDAY, Feb. 9th.

Richard McBride was arrested last night by P. C. Adams and arraigned this morning on a charge of profane swearing in a public place. He was discharged and ordered to leave town immediately.

George Lipsett was fined $10 and costs for assaulting James Begley about a month ago, and $100 and costs for a second breach of the Canada Temprance Act. He was tried for a third offence, but in view of the fact that he may have to have his arm amputated from the effects of blood-poisoning, it was deemed advisable to not convict him for a third offence, in order to allow him the advantage of proper medical attendance at his own home.

Peterborough Insurance Rate.

A Letter on the Subject from the Secretary of the C. F. U. Association.

In view of the efforts being made by the Fire, Water and Light Committee to have Peterborough placed in Class B of the Canada Fire Underwriters' Association tariff, the following correspondence may be of some interest to the public generally:

E. R. Hennessey, Esq., Insurance Agent, Peterborough.

DEAR SIR.—In reply to your favor of this date, I beg to state that the classification at places is not in my hands. It is left to the Fire Appliance Committee of the Association. In regard to the difference between the rates in Classes B and C, I enclose or rather send you a B tariff and you can make the calculation for yourself. I am

Yours truly,
R. McLEAN.
Secretary.

Toronto, Feb. 7th, 1887.

From the tariff above mentioned a few comparisons have been extracted, which will at once show the advantage to be gained by the movement.

For retail dry goods, in a first-class building, the present rate is in class C. 85c., in class B. 80c. Retail groceries under the same conditions have the same rates. For retail hardware the rate is in C. $1.05; in B. $1.00

Mr. Henderson is of opinion that the qualifications possessed by the town as stated so far do not entitle it to be classed in B. as one of the requirements of that class is a regularly paid fire brigade. He suggests, though, that the Fire, Water and Light Committee make a formal application to the association to ascertain just what the necessary requirements are, and then have the Fire Appliance Committee of the Association assemble here.

Mr. A. McNeil, chairman of the Fire, Water and Light committee, has written to the association requesting that the town of Peterborough be raised to class B. in insurance rates, and laying before them a detailed statement of the fire appliances and qualifications of the town, to which no answer has yet been received.

Among Turnbull's new French Dress Goods will be found beautiful tints of Peacock Blue also the new Gobelin shade in several qualities with trimmings to match.

A Country Drive.

Last night a sleighing party "did" the country in a big bus. There were 17 of them. They met with a train of trials and tribulations. "It never rains but pours." First, before they got out of town, the bolt fell out, the tongue dropped and there came near being a runaway. A drive back to the livery stable and everything was ready for a fresh start. All went "merry as a wedding bell" for a while, until again the blanketty blanked bolt dropped out. A farm house was near, but its occupants were in the arms of "Murphy," so to speak, and refused to entertain the visitors. After a long search in the dark through the drive-house a bolt was found. It was adjusted, but there was no nut to secure it. Pockets were ransacked and enough twine disgorged to cover the thread and reader things ship-shape. Proceeding a little farther it was discovered that a buffalo robe had been irrevocably lost, and to crown all, when the boys came to settle up for the rig, it is said several of the ladies had to "chip in" their chewing gum, thimbles, etc.; to make up a small deficit. Verily, the way of the pleasure seeker is strewn with thorns.

For the Governor-General's Medal.

This morning the curlers played off the tie with Winnipeg for the representation of Ontario in the contest between the Provinces for the Governor-General's medal. They played at wick-and-curl-in, with the following result, which is not as good as was expected or what the curlers are really capable of:—

Drowned at Orono.

(By Telephone to the Examiner).

ORONO, Feb. 9.—This morning Mary, an 11 year old daughter of Mr. F. Andrews, of this place, while on her way to school, slipped into the creek, which was unusually high, and was carried off by the strong current. Her body was not recovered for fully an hour afterwards. Deceased was a sister of Mr. Guy Andrews, a teacher in Port Hope high school.

Turnbull is showing a fine assortment of new Grey Dress Goods from the Light Silver to the Dark Oxford shades.

The Domestic Fashion sheet for February, has arrived at Turnbull's. Call and get one.

ONTARIO LEGISLATURE.

Opening of the First Session of the Sixth Legislature.

SPEECH FROM THE THRONE.

Special to Examiner, by G. N. W. Telegraph

TORONTO, Feb. 10, 1887.

The first session of the Sixth Legislature of Ontario was opened this afternoon with the usual ceremonies.

The following is the

SPEECH FROM THE THRONE.

Mr. Speaker and Gentlemen of the Legislative Assembly:—

I have great pleasure in welcoming you for the first time to your legislative duties as members of a new parliament.

The year of which we have passed has been one of special interest throughout the British Empire as being the Jubilee Year of the reign of Her Most Gracious Majesty, who for half a century has so fulfilled the duties of her exalted station as to secure the devoted loyalty and affection of her people.

BOUNDARY QUESTION.

I regret that I am unable to announce to you any progress towards the final settlement of the boundaries of the Province. The legislation advised by their Lordships of the Imperial Privy Council for the confirmation of their decision, has not yet received the concurrence of the Dominion Government, and my dispatches of 1894 on the subject, and on the subject of our northern boundary, are still unanswered. Soon after the last session of the Provincial Legislature the Court of Appeal unanimously affirmed the judgment of the Chancellor of Ontario, negativing the claim of the Dominion Government to the lands and timber in the territory within our boundaries, as determined by her Majesty in council, but litigation has, notwithstanding, proceeded against the Province at the public expense, and an appeal to the Supreme Court has been brought, which has been argued, and now stands for judgment. There has been some recent correspondence between the two governments which will be laid before you.

FACTORY LEGISLATION.

The Dominion Government having declined to agree to any method of placing beyond question the proper jurisdiction to deal with the subjects embodied in the Provincial Factory Act of 1884, I thought it right to assume the jurisdiction without further delay and to issue a proclamation calling the Act into effect. Some further legislation is found to be needed for the effectual and reasonably safe working of the Act, and will be brought to your attention.

COLONIAL EXHIBITION.

I am pleased to note the prominent place taken by this province at the Indian and Colonial Exposition last year by means of the magnificent display there made of the manufactures and natural products of the Province, as also by the attractive and much commended exhibit of the Education Department, evidencing the advanced position which the Province holds in education, science and appliances.

AGRICULTURAL PRODUCTS.

Amongst our agricultural products the exhibit of cheese and butter forwarded by the Ontario Department of Agriculture attracted much attention, and cannot fail to be of great value to this growing and already important department of agricultural industry. For the success of this exhibit much credit is due to the zealous assistance of the officers of the Provincial Dairy Association.

The splendid exhibit of

ONTARIO FRUIT,

collected mainly by the officers of the Fruit Growers Association, will do much to remove erroneous impressions in the Motherland in regard to the severity of our Canadian climate. The Provincial Bee Keepers' Association also was enabled through the liberal assistance voted last session to make a honey exhibit which reflects credit upon the Province.

MINERAL RESOURCES.

I am glad to learn that the mineral resources of the Province are being steadily developed, that new and valuable discoveries have been made during the past year, especially in the northern and north-western districts, and that mining operations have made hopeful progress.

CONSOLIDATING THE STATUTES.

The commissioners for consolidating and revising the public statutes of the last ten years have nearly completed their work, embodying the same in two volumes, the first of which will be laid before you at once and the second on an early day. These volumes embrace amendments which the judicial or professional experience of the respective commissioners has enabled the commission to suggest and I trust you will find it practicable to adopt at this session the legislation necessary to give to the public the benefit of the work during the present year.

HIGHER EDUCATION.

For several years there has been much discussion as to the best means of promoting the higher education of the people, particularly in the department occupied by the Universities of the Province, and it is gratifying to observe that notwithstanding some differences of opinion as to the methods of attaining this end there is no such difference as to the placing within the reach of every citizen who may wish to avail himself of its facilities a course of University education equal to that furnished by the best Universities of Europe or the United States. A bill having this object in view will be laid before you.

LAND TITLES ACT.

Amongst the measures to be submitted to you is a bill for the gradual extension of the land titles act to the whole province as the public exigencies may render expedient and the local authorities desire. The report of the Master of Titles on the operations of the act in the County of York and City of Toronto, will be laid before you.

POLICE MAGISTRATES ETC.

Measures will also be submitted for your consideration respecting the appointment and jurisdiction of Police Magistrates and to provide amongst other things for instruction in the public and high schools of the province as to the nature of alcohol and its effects upon the human system.

PRISON LABOUR.

Your attention is invited to the important subject of Prison Labour and thereon to the question whether the present system of letting out the labour of prisoners confined in the Central Prison to companies or private persons by contract, may not with advantage to the discipline and reformatory influences of the prison and without disadvantage to the public, be abolished by law to take effect upon the expiration of existing contracts.

PARLIAMENT BUILDINGS.

Since the last session of the Provincial Legislature, tenders were advertised for, and received for the erection of the new Departmental and Parliament buildings, and it was found that the needed accomodation will require a somewhat greater expenditure than was expected. To avoid injurious delay, a contract has been entered into for certain parts of the work, subject to a condition requiring your approval of the contract. Papers relating to the subject will be laid before you.

NATIONAL PARK AT NIAGARA FALLS.

With the view of giving effect to the patriotic sentiment of our people, and following in this respect the example of the neighboring State of New York, the proceedings authorized by the statute of a former session for ascertaining the cost of expropriating the land in the neighborhood of the falls of Niagara, have been taken and are nearly completed, and a measure will be submitted for your consideration, dedicating to the public in permanence the land on the Ontario side of the great world wonder, containing provisions for securing the object without material cost to the Provincial Treasury. A report from the commissioners will contain all useful information bearing on what is proposed.

MORE SURPLUS.

The public accounts for the past year will be promptly laid before you and you will be pleased to learn from them that the expenditure has been less than was provided for by the estimates, and the receipts have exceeded the amounts anticipated.

THE ESTIMATES.

The estimates for the current year will at an early date be submitted for your approval. They will be found to have been prepared with all the economy consistent with the demands of the public service. I trust that the legislative labors of this first session of the new parliament may be characterized by the same patriotic care and intelligence as in the case of previous parliaments.

THE FLOOD AT LONDON.

The River Running Rapidly and Falling, and the Danger Abated.

LONDON, Feb. 9.—The damage caused by the flood in London West is greater than was at first supposed. The water covered Dundas-street a foot deep in places, the sidewalks being impassable, and almost every street in the south end of the village being flooded, the water reaching about half way to Blackfriars-street. The houses were nearly all flooded. The Sulphur Springs buildings were struck by the floating ice and a part of the wall enclosing the swimming pond carried away. The sides of the river are lined with large slices of ice, heaped up in confusion, and the weight and size of these illustrate well the force of the water. In one place, between Kensington and Blackfriars bridges, a piece of the breakwater wall has been stove in by the ice, but the rest of it appears to stand firm. The river is running rapidly, free of ice, and every hour shows a fall in the water and an abatement of the danger.

SONS OF ENGLAND.

Further Proceedings of the Grand Lodge in Session at Barrie.

BARRIE, Feb. 9.—The Grand Lodge of the Sons of England resumed business this morning. The following officers for the year were chosen: Worthy Grand President, Thos. R. Skippen, Toronto; W. G. Vice-President, H. J. Boswell, Montreal; W. G. Secretary, John W. Carter (re-elected by acclamation), Toronto; G. Treasurer, Benj. Hinchcliffe, Toronto; Grand Chaplain, Rev. E. W. Sibbald, Belleville; Deputy Grand Officer for South Africa, M. H. Spence, Port Natal; Deputy-Grand Chaplains, Revs. H. Pollard, Ottawa; A. W. Cooke, Kingston; W. Ockley, Port Perry; M. Hobson, Toronto; Jas. Boydell, Bracebridge.

The following cablegram was received from Her Majesty in answer to the resolution of congratulation sent yesterday:

OSBORNE, Isle of Wight, Feb. 9.—To Worthy Grand President Clayton, Sons of England Grand Lodge, Barrie: The Queen thanks your Grand Lodge for their kind congratulations. (Signed) PONSONBY.

The royal message was received with hearty British cheers, the whole Grand body standing during the reading.

Mr. Gladstone Undecided.

LONDON, Feb. 9.—The pressure which Sir Wm. Vernon Harcourt and other Liberals have exerted to induce Mr. Gladstone to refrain from committing himself to the approval of the plan of campaign counteracts the Parnellite's appeal to him to come and speak in favor of Parnell's amendment. Although it is probable a division will be taken on Friday, Mr. Gladstone is still undecided. If he continues absent the Government whips are confident of 100 majority. They expect to have the support of all the Unionists, and they believe that, Mr. Gladstone himself abstaining, many of his followers will not vote.

Hartington and Chamberlain Confer.

LONDON, Feb. 9.—Lord Hartington and Mr. Chamberlain conferred for two hours this afternoon. It is believed they decided to support the Irish proposals indicated in the Queen's speech.

LONDON, Feb. 9.—The debate on Parnell's amendment was resumed in the House to-day. Mr. McLaren (Radical) defended the plan of campaign, and Sir Edward Clarke denounced it as a conspiracy. Mr. Redmond adjourned the debate.

Goschen Gets There This Time.

LONDON, Feb. 9.—Mr. Goschen, Chancellor of the Exchequer, was to-day elected member of Parliament for St. George's, Hanover Square. The vote stood: Goschen, 5702; Haysman (Gladstonian), 1565. At the last election in this district Lord Algernon Perry, who resigned in order to allow Goschen to run, was returned without opposition.

Rumors of Cabinet Dissensions.

LONDON, Feb. 9.—The Cabinet had a session of three hours duration to-day. Rumors are current that dissensions have developed among the Ministers.

Lord Dunraven Resigns.

LONDON, Feb. 9.—Lord Salisbury has accepted the resignation of Lord Dunraven as Under Colonial Secretary. Lord Dunraven was discontented because he was superseded by Sir Henry Holland as Colonial Secretary.

ICE CASTLE STORMED

THE CROWNING FEATURE OF THE MONTREAL CARNIVAL.

MONTREAL, Feb. 9.—The clerk of the weather was more kind to-day and the morning dawned brightly, raising the hopes of visitors and citizens alike. The air was bracing, yet not too cold, and the only drawback to perfect enjoyment was the abominable state of the sidewalks, which render pedestrianism very difficult and caused many mishaps. Visitors continued to arrive every hour, the rival road from Ottawa running special trains which were crammed to overflowing. The fine weather made outing agreeable, and the streets were filled from morn to eve with laughing, joyous crowds, who lost no opportunity of enjoyment.

The crowning event of the carnival was the attack and defence of the ice castle this evening, which transcended in splendor everything ever seen on the continent. Dominion-square and all the streets in its vicinity, even up to the Mountain Side, were packed with humanity, and every nook of advantage was made use of. The evening was a glorious one, the moon shining brightly, and when the 2000 snowshoers assembled on the Mountain boulevard, each bearing a lighted torch and a supply of lighted candles, the effect was grand in the extreme. The field battery guns, stationed on the Mountain, at 8.30 began the firing of the volley which was the signal for the march to the ice palace to begin. Then the fireworks on the Mountain top were set off and the snowshoers commenced their walk of a mile and a half, setting off as they went fireworks of every description. Bands were interspersed in the procession, and what with their musical strains and the club songs of the snowshoers, the effect was lively in the extreme. Arrived at the ice palace the bugle was sounded for the attack and then was seen what was probably the grandest spectacle ever seen anywhere in the world. For nearly an hour the attack on the palace by fireworks and its defence by the same weapons went on, until at last the ammunition was exhausted and the garrison capitulated. All the vast mass of humanity were loud in expressions of delight, and the affair may confidently be stated to have been a grand success. After this the Montreal Club gave an impromptu supper in the Queen's Hall, and those who could not get in there enjoyed themselves in various other ways.

This morning a so-called championship fancy skating tournament took place in Victoria Rink, but as only the three Rubenstein Bros. put in an appearance the affair was somewhat of a farce. However, they went through the list, revised edition, before a large crowd, including the Governor-General and Lady Lansdowne, and the medal was awarded to Louis Rubenstein, who is anxious to meet Robinson again.

During the forenoon the Viceroy and party paid a visit to the Hunters' Camp, and in the afternoon attended the snowshoe races at the Shamrock Lacrosse Grounds and the tobogganing races behind the Mountain. In the evening they witnessed an attack on the ice castle from the Windsor. The carnival snowshoe races in the afternoon were a great success. The first races of the trotting meeting, postponed from yesterday, also came off and were quite an event. Several thousand people were there and were evidently pleased.

An unusual feature of the day, and one not on the programme, was a procession of quarrymen from Cote St. Louis, with $1000 worth of stone, which they presented to the Archbishop for the new Roman Catholic Cathedral. The teams were prettily decorated and their passage through the city caused quite a sensation.

Quite a number of American newspaper men, in addition to railroad and society magnates, are in town, the most prominent probably being Dana of the New York Sun, and Nast of Harper's Weekly.

To-morrow the great carnival drive will take place, as well as the open Mountain steeplechase and another masquerade carnival in Victoria Rink, and a host of minor attractions. The drive will be of a three-fold nature, social, carnival and trades. The former will be represented by the fashionables of the city, assisted by the Governor-General; the second by the snowshoe clubs and the third by the trades, who are expected to make a grand turnout. Half the week is now past and the success of the carnival has surpassed all expectations. The hotels are filled, shop keepers and cabbies are doing an immense business, the visitors are more than satisfied and everybody is happy and looking forward for to-morrow.

CARDINAL JACOBINI'S LETTER.

The Centre Party in Germany Urged to Support the Septennate Bill.

BERLIN, Feb. 8.—The Munich Allgemeine Zeitung publishes Cardinal Jacobini's letter to the Nuncio at Munich. It is dated Jan. 2. The Cardinal says that in view of the impending revision of the church laws the Pope desires the Centre to support the Septennate Bill in every possible way and concludes: "It is well known that the Government attaches the greatest importance to the passage of the bill. If, by its adoption, it should be found possible to avert the danger of war in the near future, the Centre would render a great service to the Fatherland and to the cause of humanity in Europe by supporting the bill. In the contrary case the hostile attitude of the Centre would be considered unpatriotic, and the dissolution of the Reichstag would cause embarrassments and uncertainties to the Centre party."

Cardinal Jacobini instructs the Nuncio to urge the leaders of the Centre to influence their colleagues in favor of the septennate and to assure them that such a course would greatly satisfy the Holy Father.

BOULANGER'S PLANS.

He is Preparing for a Movement of Troops to the Frontier.

BERLIN, Feb. 9.—The Berliner Nachrichten says it has authentic information that General Boulanger, French Minister of War, is preparing for the movement of troops to the eastern frontier. Four battalions of infantry are to go to Verdun and Toul, and quarters are being prepared to receive them. A brigade of cavalry will also go to Verdun and provision trains to Toul. Four battalions in Algiers have been ordered to France. Gen. Boulanger has instructed the Military Railway Committee to remain in permanent session. The Nachrichten adds: Paris anxious state that owing to urgent representations by his colleagues, Gen. Boulanger has postponed issuing the orders for those movements until Feb. 21.

LIBERALS, RALLY To-Night!

Dominion Elections.

A Grand Rally of every working Liberal in Town is called for THIS EVENING, in the Liberal Club Rooms, to perfect organization for the coming Dominion Elections.

The Daily Examiner.

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 10, 1887.

FALSE FRIENDS.

The back door edition of the Toronto Mail, the Standard, seeks to show that the Dominion Government have particular claims on the suffrages of the farmers because of their proposal to establish an Experimental Farm for the benefit of the farmers, and one of the points emphasized is that one of the departments will by devoted to testing seed grain. Why, bless you, this is nothing but what the farmers of Ontario have now. In 1880 the Ontario Government established such an institution at Guelph, and there is now distributed throughout the country from that college a bulletin, giving plain and simple directions for the testing of seed grain—a process which may be performed by the farmer in his own kitchen. What claim has Sir John for the gratitude of the farmers for a promised experimental farm, which exists only on paper and that paper Sir John's, which the farmers know to their cost, is subject to a very heavy discount. The farmers have been long fooled by Sir John's promises and it will take more than the promise of a test of seed grain to erase from the farmers minds the memory of a course of misgovernment which has so seriously injured the country, of which the farmers are the back-bone. A Frontenac farmer thus tersely puts on record the items of indebtedness of his fellow farmers to Sir John and those who read it can not but admit its truth, and admit also that a promise to test their seed grain is but a poor offset to so serious an obligation. Mr. Wm. Staley of Wolfe Island thus addresses his fellow farmers:

"Gentlemen,—You have now arrayed against you the Conservative Government, Conservative members, Government officials, manufactureres, railway companies, merchants and mechanics, all biting the hand that feeds them. All these leeches have combined to make you poor. You sell produce at starvation prices, owing in great measure to arbitrary and offensive laws as regards our trade with the United States. Your land is mortgaged to money lenders with English capital for more than half its value, the interest goes into the pockets of English landlords and capitalists, making you tenants as much as the Irish tenants—mere slaves. You pay from ten to fifty per cent. more for what you buy than you would under a well regulated tariff. Farmers, if you wish to save yourselves from ruin and make your children independent men and women, vote for some Government that will deal more fairly with every class of people in the Dominion."

A WISE CHANGE.

The Dominion Government has at last yielded to the justice of the demands of the Examiner for the removal of Mr. T. S. Rubidge and the placing of Mr. D. Starke, C. E., in his place. There is no doubt the appointment is for the better—it could hardly be for the worse. In spite of the lukewarm support of Conservatives, given to the important work of Trent Valley Canal construction there is reason to believe that it will be prosecuted.

The Montreal Herald, for the benefit of the Gazette, Hon. Mr. White's organ, thus defines "freebooter": "A "freebooter" is a pillager, one who wanders about for plunder; so says the dictionary. Had that work been published in Canada the definition would have been something in this wise: "A grabber of timber limits to which he is not entitled; a member of Parliament who absorbs the public money for his private railway; a charger of many prices for one printing job; a person who procures acts of Parliament giving himself moneys belonging to the public; a boodler; a broker for Government favors; a Parliamentary supporter of Sir John Macdonald," etc.

The administration of public affairs by the party of Sir John Macdonald has not made the farmers so prosperous but that many of them have had to mortgage their farms. Until recently the money borrowed was British gold and the interest paid went out of the country. But Mr. Geo. A. Cox established the Central Canada Loan and Savings Company, and now Canadian money can be borrowed, at low rates, and the interest is kept at home and spent among the people of this town, and it thus returns to the pockets of the farmers through the sale of their produce to the people of Peterborough.

Farewell at the Barracks.

Grand Farewell of the Salvation Army Officers An Immense Procession Escorts Them to the Station.

Long before 8 o'clock last night the barracks on Aylmer street was filled to overflowing. Every seat was taken, many were standing throughout the whole service, while large numbers were unable to obtain admittance.

After singing and prayer, Captain Pople announced that Cadet Parsis leaves for Lindsay, and Cadet Cornell, who has only been here two weeks, goes to Millbrook.

Captain Pople then made a farewell address, saying it was now about six months ago since he came to Peterborough. When he came his determination was to do what he could for Christ and to save souls, and he was pleased to say his labors had not been in vain. Notwithstanding their opposition and what men had said, God had blessed their labors even more than he had expected. This has been his sixth station since he had been in the Army work. He had been in good stations and had seen hundreds converted to God, but the last six months he had spent in Peterborough were the best six months he had spent in his life. He then referred to his volunteering for Canada. He said he was taking tea one evening with Commissioner Coombs at Newcastle-on-Tyne last summer, and asked him if his services would be accepted in Canada. Another young man, his companion in the Army work, agreed to come on condition that they should be allowed to work together. The Commissioner was pleased to accept their services, but his companion was now at the Home of Rest in Toronto, and thought his work would soon be finished on earth. Some thought the Capt. too lively, some said he made too much noise, and he was too excitable, that he would soon wear himself out, that he went too fast. Well, he tried to go steady. The General when here gave him good fatherly counsel, but he felt when in the meeting he could not keep back. He had tried for 3 years, but in vain. He could not rest, but must throw body and soul into the work to try and save the lost. Since he came to Peterborough he had learnt to love many, and had many friends he could never forget. During the 6 months he had been here, nearly 200 had been converted. The Army was now double the number than when he came 6 months ago. Then their number was 51, and there have been added 51 in the past 6 months. They had some of conversion. The corps was in a good condition. Then would soon be arrangements made to have a larger building erected, as the one now occupied was too small to hold all the people He announced that he would leave that night at 10.30, by C. P. R. for Montreal. This he said was a large station, and he felt his responsibility was great, as they all knew of the sin and crime in a place like Montreal, They were erecting a large temple, as large as the one in Toronto, capable of holding 3000 people, and his instructions were to get the building completed while he was stationed there. There were two corps in Montreal, and they were about opening up a French corps. Cadet Carrell was going with him to Montreal, but he could not say how long he would stay there, as he expected soon to be sent to the Northwest. Capt. Pople then spoke to the Christians who had so nobly assisted them and stood by them, who had helped them by their prayers, kind words and means. The police of Peterborough had given them fair pro ec ion, but in some places the Salvation Army had to fight for its

REMARKABLE CASES

RIGHTS AND RELIGIOUS LIBERTIES.

Us in very strong terms denounced the authorities at Lindsay for their treatment of the Army, remarking that it was a very good place for the breaking-in of S. A. officers.

The Captain announced that Captain Williamson and wife would take charge of the station on Thursday, and turning to the soldiers he urged them to stand by the officers at all times, never to draw back, but do their duty, and God would bless them. With an earnest appeal he urged all to seek Christ for Salvation, and to seek him at once, saying that he would perhaps never have the opportunity of again addressing them.

At the close of the service the soldiers and nearly all the audience crowded around the officers to make their adieus, and it was fully half an hour before the last person had received a hearty hand-shake from the Captain and Cadets. Afterwards a procession about 200 strong formed in line and escorted them to the station, where final farewells were said and the Captain went on his way bearing with him the prayers and best wishes of many friends.

Dominion Elections!

Nomination Day: February 15th.
Polling Day: February 22nd.

A NEW CANDIDATE IN THE FIELD!

HIS PLATFORM:

Gentlemen,

I have no desire to tamper with the votes of that noble army of our citizens who freely exercise the Franchise on behalf of their favorite political leaders. But, in order to take a hand in the present political struggle for supremacy between Grit and Tory, I have decided to come out and offer such tempting

as cannot fail to place me at the head of the polls.

I would scorn, like all other candidates for parliamentary honors, to buy up votes, or do aught that might be construed as a violation of our Election laws. My object is a far more patriotic one, namely—that of making a CLEAN SWEEP of all my Winter Clothing and Tweeds before Election day.

Nor will the secrecy of the Ballot be infringed by asking purchasers whether they will vote for LeBRUN, COX, or STEVENSON. No, not by a home rule scuttle full! But every elector is expected to attend this exciting Political-Winter-Clothing-Sale, and to hurrah for LeBRUN, so as to elect him by an overwhelming majority as the Workingman's Favourite Candidate.

If the Electors will only ponder over these facts and see and handle these Bribes for themselves, I feel certain that the 22nd will be a cold day for the other candidates.

HELLO! BROWN,

"What are you looking so mad about, this morning?"

"Well, I'll tell you, Jones. I bought a very fine Tent from TURNER, and one of my friends wanted to borrow it."

"And did you lend it?"

"Well, I guess not. The last Tent I had got used up by lending. I told him to go to J. J. TURNER, the great Tent maker, and he would rent or sell him a tent."

COUNCIL MEETING.

A special meeting of the Village Council was held in the Council chamber on Monday evening Jan 31st.

Present—the Reeve in the chair, Councillors Cox, Moore, Henderson, and Watson.

Applications from Messrs. Griffin and Alex Richardson for the Assessorship was received.

The Auditors presented their report. Moved by Coun. Cox, seconded by Coun. Watson, that the Auditors report be adopted and that the Clerk be instructed to have 200 copies printed—Carried.

By-laws appointing Mr. Jonathan Griffin Assessor, Lease Watson Road Master and Health Inspector, Messrs. T. J. Bird, C. J. Blomfield, and Wm. M. Graham, a Board of Health; and one to borrow $900 for current expenditure, received their several readings.

Moved by Coun. Henderson, seconded by Coun. Moore, that Mr. Harrigan be instructed to deliver 100 yards more gravel where required by the road master—Carried Moved by Coun. Henderson, seconded by Coun. Moore, that the Clerk get the printing done at the Lakefield Chronicle office, if given at Peterborough rates.—Carried.

Moved by Coun. Moore, seconded by Coun. Henderson, that this Council do now adjourn to meet at the call of the Reeve.—Carried DEAD.

George Hamblin, who I mentioned in my correspondence last week as having been brought home from the Nicholls Hospital, died on Monday morning and was buried Tuesday.

POSTPONED.

The thaw last week prevented the return match between the Lakefield and Peterborough juvenile curlers being played, as the rink was covered with water on the date fixed for play.

COLD.

Owing to some mismanagement on the part of the Managing Committee of the School Board there was no wood at the school on Wednesday, one of the most cold and stormy days this winter. Wood had to be borrowed from the caretaker while the scholars sat and shivered in their outside wraps. The School Board wants an overhauling worse than the Council. Notwithstanding the boasted surplus, the Council at least provide wood and sitting room for the ratepayers—more than can be said for the ratepayers children.

BAND CONCERT.

The band concert held in the P. C. A. Hall on Thursday evening was a grand success, standing room being at a discount, and the "bill of fare" provided was said to be above any offered at a similar entertainment ever held in Lakefield. The "boys" are to be congratulated on their success, as they deserve it, and we hope to hear from them again before the winter is over. Another big house awaits them.

Keene.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Election matters are gradually rising considerably above the freezing point.

Some parties in Keene intend visiting the carnival at Peterborough this week.

Our rink here seems to have fallen asleep this week. What is the matter?

Mrs. Wm. Lane and daughter have left Keene and gone to live on the farm with the old lady's son, who was so unfortunate as to lose his wife last fall.

Mr. Robert McIntyre, our esteemed rinkmaster here, has rented Mrs. Lane's premises and intends occupying them soon.

The attendance of the school is quite large at present

The passenger car that is to be attached to the 5 p.m. way freight, from Peterborough to Keene and Hastings, will be a great boon to folks east here, as there was not time between the forenoon and the half-past one afternoon train for business.

Notwithstanding the late great thaw, the roads are still good here.

We learn that the Burnham mills of Keene are sold, or are about being sold, to a Mr. Rose for $5,000.

Mount Pleasant.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

On Wednesday of last week Mr. Robert Boyd and Miss M. Wilson, both of this vicinity, were united in marriage by the Rev. Mr. Allen, of Millbrook.

We regret to have to announce the death of another young man, the eldest son of Mr. G. Maddis. The family have the heartfelt sympathies of the whole community.

Another of our bachelor friends has decided to desert the ranks. Particulars later.

A short time ago a gentleman received a telegram here stating that his son was dying in Toronto. He hurried to the station but was too late to catch the train, and as the next train did not stop regularly at that station, the agent would not trouble himself to have it stop on that occasion (which was possible for him to do.) The gentleman was obliged to walk to the next station, a distance of nine miles, through a pelting rain storm, where he arrived about midnight, but in time for the train. The action of the agent under these circumstances was what we call heartless and should be made known to the public. We withhold the name at present, but do not promise to do so if he allows the like to happen in future.

Miss Walsh, of Fairmount, died on Monday last after a few hours' illness. We offer our heartfelt sympathies to the bereaved family.

Benefort.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Weddings presents are the topics of the day. On Wednesday evening last Mr. Walter Fisher & Miss Mary Flavin were united in matrimony. The gentlemen referred to is a resident of South Monaghan in circumstances well to do, the young lady is a daughter of Mr. A. Flavin also of South Monaghan. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. James Cameron of Millbrook and rumor says that he will have to come back in about two weeks to go through a similar performance.

The Rev. I. Towell of Peterborough preached a missionary sermon here last Sunday. Subscriptions were taken up at the close of the sermon amounting to thirty-two dollars.

The Rev. B. Greatrix intends holding special services in the Methodist church here during the coming week.

"Of earthly goods, the best is a good wife:
A bad, the bitterest curse of earthly life."

How many wives who to-day are almost distracted because of their many ailments, all tending to make home unhappy, would become the best of all earthly goods if they got rid of their troubles by using Dr. Pierce's "Favorite Prescription," which is an unfailing remedy for those diseases and weaknesses which afflict the female sex. COMFORT.

At all seasons of the year, and under all circumstances, the ordinary mortal desires to have COMFORT. One of the first essentials is the Popular Boot and Shoe Maker, is constantly turning out. Every customer is pleased when an opportunity arises in which it has the power to take advantage of a technicality or inability (as in the present case) to comply with every condition and requirement, so as to occasion delay and exposure, and perhaps finally defeat a just and honest claim. There is no doubt in the mind of any reasonable man that my brother and Mr. Sunner were unhappily drowned, and the affidavit produced abundantly support this; but although a careful search has been made, the bodies may never be recovered owing to the swiftness of the current and the low temperature of the water. It would, indeed, be a hardship if any company were, under the circumstances, to demand technical proofs which, from the very nature of the case, it is impossible to furnish. I have great pleasure in certifying to the honorable and liberal manner in which your Company has acted in regard to the claim. As soon as your board of directors was aware that the accident had really happened, you gave every facility for a prompt settlement. You have been the first of the companies interested to pay, and I thank you for the kind and satisfactory manner in which you have met me.

A COMFORTABLE, WELL FITTING PAIR OF BOOTS,

SUCH AS

S. KEMP

W. McLACHLAN.

The Dominion Safety fund, we understand, has also paid its policy of $2,000. The Sun Life has taken from the executors of Mr. McLachlan a personal bond to refund the amount of insurance with six per cent. per annum compound interest, should he ever turn up alive. Mr. J. S. McLachlan had in all $42,130.70 insurance on his life, and other companies resist the claims.

TO INVESTORS—The five and ten year FIVE PER CENT DEBENTURES of this Company which are issued in denominations of $100, $200, $400 and $1000 each, transferable by endorsement, with half-yearly interest Coupons attached, payable at the Head Office of the Company in Peterborough, or at any Branch of the Bank of Toronto in Canada, afford a safe and convenient mode of investment.

The funds of the Company being invested in first mortgages on Real Estate, no better security can be offered to depositors or debenture-holders, they having a first claim or mortgage on the whole Assets of the Company, the shareholders having the second. The annual statement shows that the amount so invested was over $800,000, and on the security of real estate at least double that value.

By the laws of Ontario, Trustees, Executors and Administrators may deposit Trust Funds of the estates which they control in this Company, and are free from all further liability, a privilege of which many have largely availed themselves.

TO BORROWERS—Money is obtainable from this Company on approved Real Estate security at the Lowest Current Rates of Interest.

The Mortgage may be repaid by yearly instalments, or otherwise as may be agreed upon, the interest ceasing at once on all amounts paid on account of the sum borrowed.

Applications may be made either to the Head Office, or to any of the Agents.

THE LATE MR. McLACHLAN.

AN INSURANCE COMPANY PROMPT SETTLEMENT.

We have been asked by Mr. McLachlan to publish the following, and do so in view of the exceptional public interest taken in the case mentioned:—

To R. Macaulay, Esq., Managing Director of the Sun Life Assurance Company:—

DEAR SIR,—I have much pleasure in acknowledging the payment by you of $17,130.70, being the amount due under the policies held by your Company on the life of my brother, the late John S. McLachlan. A company's character is tested when an opportunity arises in which it has the power to take advantage of a technicality or inability (as in the present case) to comply with every condition and requirement, so as to occasion delay and exposure, and perhaps finally defeat a just and honest claim. There is no doubt in the mind of any reasonable man that my brother and Mr. Sunner were unhappily drowned, and the affidavit produced abundantly support this; but although a careful search has been

IN FROM 30 TO 90 DAYS BY WEARING
EGAN'S IMPERIAL TRUSS.

This Cut Shows one Side only.

Read the following extract from a letter of a well-known citizen of Ft. Catharines,—hundreds like it:

ST. CATHARINES, Sept. 20th, 1886.

GENTLEMEN,—Being over 70 years of age, and over 30 years, spurious, I looked upon my case as hopeless, especially as I tried various so-called remedies without success, among others, recently, two spring trusses from New York States, costing me $30. Nothing would retain my Rupture. I have worn your truss over four months, night and day, with perfect satisfaction and comfort; even to bathe in it the rupture has never come down. It holds me perfectly secure under all circumstances. You may publish it for the benefit of other sufferers. Yours truly, CAPT. R. KING.

This new Spiral Spring Pad Truss has taken ten years to make it perfect; is guaranteed to hold the very worst case during the hardest work or severest strain. It will cure every child born; and 95 out of every 100 of adults. Be warned—don't waste your money on so-called cheap trusses, but send stamps for our treatise; it contains full information, your neighbor's testimony, price list and questions for you to answer. When writing please mention this paper. Address

The Daily Examiner.

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 10, 1887.

THE LAST RESORT.

It is generally understood, though there is at this writing no official information to that effect, that a petition has been entered against the election of Mr. Stratton as representative of West Peterborough in the Ontario Legislature. It is quite evident that the petitioner or petitioners do not hope to void the election, but they may succeed in their evident intention of prosecuting Mr. Stratton, to cover the chagrin of their defeat, and in embarrassing him, for they know that he is not financially able to stand the large expense involved in a contested election. A few Conservatives have pursued Mr. Stratton with singular vindictiveness and malignity, and the entering of a petition against his return is the culmination of their efforts to satisfy their animosity by putting him to the expense of an election trial—the last act in the drama of persecution. The recent election, so far as we know, was won after a straightforward, honest contest, and the closest scrutiny is awaited with no fear of the result, as affecting the representation of this riding; and Mr. Stratton does not propose to be "bluffed" by a protest into resigning a responsibility, which has been placed upon him by the ballots of the electors of West Peterborough, and though he may not, commands so much and so easily-come-at financial means as the local camp-followers of the Boodle Brigade, he will resent the persecution of his opponents as implied in their attempts to annoy and put him to cost, and to nullify the will of the electors. Of course, a counter petition will be filed and the public may expect some startling revelations respecting the methods of the party of the unsuccessful candidate in the recent and previous contests. The attempt made by this protest to injure the prospects of Mr. Cox in the present contest must be met by renewed efforts on his behalf by his friends to secure his triumphant return, undeterred by the tactics of the enemies of good government, to obstruct its course, by gratuitously harassing the chosen representative of this riding and supporter of the Mowat Administration. The most decided feeling the respondent has in reference to the protest arises from the fact that whatever be the result—win or loose, and he has no fear of the latter contingency—the expense will be one which he is not anxious to incur at the present moment. Recently his action in considerably enlarging and expanding his business has involved a large outlay, and this, added to the disarrangement of his business by personal participation in an election campaign, does not make him anxious for further outlay to meet, what with his knowledge of the manner in which the contest on his behalf was conducted, he considers a vexatious charge.

The Work of Assessment.

To the Editor of the Examiner.

DEAR SIR,—I am continually asked by rate-payers why the assessors are not at work. The answer is simple—because the assessors are not appointed. The work of assessing a town like this is an important one and the assessor should be early at work so that they will not be compelled, when they begin work, to hurry it over and thus do it in a hasty and incorrect manner. I would call the attention of the Mayor to the necessity of calling a meeting to appoint the assessors for the current year. I may take this opportunity to correct a wrong impression which has got abroad, namely, that I am in favor of three assessors. The fact is I think that two are better than three, and that there is no use of throwing away $200 when two good men can do the work better than three.

JOHN MCNAUGHTON.

Peterborough, Feb. 11th, 1886.

[At the session of the Council, held Jan. 31st, Messrs. Wm. Aldridge, Cornelius McGrath and Thomas McKee were appointed assessors by motion; but Mr. McNaughton holds the appointment invalid since it should be made by by-law.]

New Embroideries, beautiful patterns, prices very low, at the Golden Lion.

LOCAL NEWS.

Will Arrive To-night.

Capt. Williamson and wife, the new Salvation Army officers, are expected to arrive in town at 9 o'clock this evening.

Gent's White Unlaundried Shirts, silk sizes, 45c. at the Golden Lion. R. FAIR.

The Rink.

On account of the mild weather and the carnival coming on there will be no skating on the rink to-night.

Spring Assizes and Chancery Sittings.

The Spring Assizes, before Justice O'Connor, will be held at Peterborough on Monday, May 2; Chancery Spring Sittings, before Justice Ferguson, Wednesday, April 13th.

Curling To-day.

Four rinks of Peterborough curlers went to Toronto last night to play a friendly match to-day with the Caledonians and Grahites of that city. The skips were Messrs. T. Rutherford, W. G. Ferguson, G. Brown and A. Hall.

Among Turnbull's new French Dress Goods will be found beautiful tints of Peacock Blue also the new Gobelin shade in several qualities with trimmings to match.

St. Paul's Church.

At the adjourned congregational meeting of St. Paul's Church last night, nominations for a Board of Management were made to the number of 26. Balloting will take place in the usual way, and will be closed on Sunday, 20th inst. A constitution for the Board was read, discussed and adopted. Mr. J. H. Roper occupied the chair, and Mr. M. Millar acted as Secretary.

Mr. Munro's Lecture.

The Rev. A. H. Munro has delivered in St. Thomas the lecture on "The Tower of London," which we had the pleasure of listening to here in Peterborough a few weeks since. The Evening Journal, St. Thomas, gives an extended report upon it, and concludes by saying that the lecture was one of the most successful ever given in that city and will realize in the neighborhood of $100. It is to be regretted that the Y. M. C. A., in the interests of which society this lecture was delivered here, had not some such a sum to their credit resulting therefrom.

A commercial tester, we are at the top, but our prices are at the bottom. See what Turnbull is showing this week in new Bedroom Chints and Cretonnes.

Mr. Marsh's Meetings.

Mr. Marsh gave a very able and very searching address last evening on the passage in the 13th chapter of Acts, "Through this man is preached unto you the forgiveness of sin; and by Him, all who believe are justified from all things." The singing, conducted by a male choir, is very good. Ladies are reminded that they are welcome at the meetings in the afternoon at 4 o'clock. The evening services begin at 8. All meetings for the present are held in the Young Men's Christian Association hall.

Peterborough's Fine Timber.

Few people living in this neighborhood have any idea that there is within six miles of the town of Peterborough, pine timber growing of the value here shown. A sale was completed a short time since by Mr. Donald Campbell of the village of Colborne to Messrs. Thomas P. Pearce of the city of Belleville and Joseph B. Pearce of Norwood of the pine only upon 100 acres of land in the 11th Concession of Otonabee near the Otonabee River, the price paid therefor being $10,000. Messrs. Pearce are now busily at work taking out this pine as square timber for the Montreal market. But to those engaged in this business we understand this block of timber has been a desiderative for many years.

Have you seen Turnbull's 6½ cent Fancy Check Winsey, if not you are missing a bargain.

Its Normal Condition.

"On Tuesday evening Messrs. Stevenson, Carnegie and Hilliard addressed a well attended meeting at Bridgenorth. Messrs. Stone and Stratton appeared for Mr. Cox. The latter spoke for about ten minutes and then read Globe flysheets to the audience."—Review. The foregoing is in keeping with the usual run of unmitigated political lies that appears in the Review and is a bare faced falsehood. Mr. Stratton appeared on behalf of Mr. Cox and out of the hour allotted to him, addressed the electors a little over 45 minutes, and Mr. Stone filled the balance of the hour. The Globe has never issued any flysheets in connection with the election and there was not a flysheet read on the occasion. Mr. Carnegie had better try to approach the truth, even if he is hopeless of quite reaching it.

The Great Political Question.

The Great political question of the hour is whether Sir John Macdonald or Hon. Edward Blake is to be the ruler of Canada for the next five years. Of course, there is great differences of opinion as to the result, the Conservatives claiming that Sir John will be returned to power with a largely reduced following, and the Liberals claiming that Hon. Edward Blake will be sustained by a fair majority. But, whatever the outcome it is absolutely certain that in these ridings and, in fact, in the Midland District, the vote will be solid, and Belleghem the Famous Furniture Factor will be sustained by a large majority. The people will in the future as they have in the past, sustain Belleghem because he carries the largest and best stock of furniture in Central Canada, and his prices are such as to give the buyer the highest value for his money. The people should not let political hustlers poison their minds; let the people keep steadily in view the fact, that the place where they can get the best and most furniture of all kinds for the least money is at Belleghem's warerooms, Hunter street Peterborough.

Peterborough Markets.

[Supplied by W. H. Wrighton, Grain and Produce Dealer & General Grocer, George St.]

FEBRUARY 9th, 1887.

Since Saturday there has been little doing in grain. Wheat has been on the down turn and is selling now as follows. Spring wheat 78 to 79c. with fall about the same. It looks as if prices may go lower. English and American markets are dull. The quantity in sight in the United States is over 62 million bushels and unless under war excitement there seems to be no good reason for any material advance. The prospects of the coming crop in the United States will also effect the market. There has been a good deal of barley offering for this season of the year, prices continuing fairly steady although outside markets are again very dull. It is selling here from 45 to 58c. as to colour. Peas are weaker and low in outside markets, paying here 50 to 53c. In rye nothing doing, nominal at 45c. Oats selling at 29c.

On the market there is little change—For new butter 20 to 22c. as asked, eggs (fresh) 18 to 20c., other commodities unchanged.

Astonishing Success.

It is the duty of every person who has used Boschee's German Syrup to let its wonderful qualities be known to their friends in curing Consumption, severe Coughs, Croup, Asthma, Pneumonia, and in fact all throat and lung diseases. No person can use it without immediate relief. Three doses will relieve any case, and we consider it the duty of all Druggists to recommend it to the poor, dying consumptive, at least to try one bottle, as 80,000 dozen bottles were sold last year, and no one case where it failed was reported. Such a medicine as the German Syrup cannot be too widely known. Ask your druggist about it. sample bottles to try, only 10 cents. Regular size, 75 cents. D. W. DUMBLE.

WHY

Will people pay rent when houses and lots can be purchased on such easy terms as are offered by the undesigned. Come and inspect our work and see for yourselves how we construct our houses. Our chief aim and study is to build substantial, warm, frost and damp proof houses. I am offering good building lots, and will build solid brick houses, nine-inch walls, strapped and lathed, two stories, for less money than you can buy frame or veneered buildings. We cordially invite those who anticipate renting or buying to inspect our work and prove for themselves that our houses are not merely built to sell. Every house I've sold gives first-class satisfaction, and I am determined that every house I build shall be a standing testimony to honest building. ONTARIO LEGISLATURE.

Dr. Baxter Elected Speaker of the House.

TORONTO, Feb. 10.

DR. BAXTER, who has been in the House as representative of Haldimand continuously since Confederation, was elected Speaker of the Sixth Parliament of Ontario. He and Hon. Mr. Pardee are the only members that enjoy the distinction of being members of the legislature since Confederation.

At 4.15, after the retirement of the Lieut.-Governor and of those guests who had seats on the floor, excepting the ladies of Government House, the House was called to order and the members took their seats.

The first business was a motion by Mr. Mowat introducing a bill respecting the administration of oaths of office to justices of the peace. This was read a first time, and then Mr. Mowat moved that when the House adjourned it should stand adjourned till Tuesday, March 1, because of the approaching Dominion elections. Mr. Meredith concurred in this, and took occasion to congratulate the new Speaker and promise him the assistance of the Opposition. After passing a motion providing for the discussion on March 1 of the speech from the throne and the moving of $150,000 for interim expenditure, the House adjourned.

THE NEW YORK STRIKE.

The Strikers Beat That Any Union Men Have Returned to Work.

NEW YORK, Feb. 10.—It is said that the question of calling out the Knights of Labor on the Reading road is still open, and may be ordered within two days, Mr. Corbin's offer of a compromise having been refused. The Knights of Labor insist on a general settlement, and intimate that new strikes will soon be ordered to bring it about. Another meeting will probably be held to-morrow. The striking longshoremen employed by the Ward Steamship Line returned to work yesterday at the old terms.

It was denied at the headquarters of the Longshoremen's Union last night that any Union men had applied for work on the piers affected by the strike, as was reported in the afternoon. Money was paid out by the Ocean Association to many strikers who had not hitherto applied for relief. The amounts paid to each ranged from $5 to $15, according to family circumstances. Notwithstanding the above denial, about fifty men applied to the foreman of the pier of the National Line for work on the Canada, which arrived yesterday. The foreman asserted that they were Union men.

Forty-Nine Makes Another Move.

NEW YORK, Feb. 10.—It was said late this afternoon that District Assembly 49 had decided to extend the strike by ordering out everybody in the beer, ale and porter breweries in this city, Yonkers, Jersey City, Brooklyn, Staten Island, Newark and Paterson, as well as the members of the Eccentric Association of Stationary Engineers employed in the different factories within its jurisdiction. The order is to go into effect to-morrow, and it is estimated that the number who will stop work in the breweries alone will amount to 12,000. The number of those who will be thrown out by the strike of engineers will run far into the thousands.

HAMILTON MATTERS.

The Strike at Orr & Co.'s—Sent to Jail—Masonic Jewels Missing.

HAMILTON, Feb. 10.—The strike at Messrs. Orr, Harvey & Co.'s continues, the firm refusing to meet a deputation from the Knights of Labor to discuss the situation, preferring to run their shop according to their own ideas.

At the Police Court to-day a boy named Henry Taylor was committed to jail for two months for embezzling $2 from Henry Hines.

The jewels of Bartou Lodge are missing from the vault where they are usually kept, and the members of the lodge do not know what has become of them. They are solid gold and very valuable. Search for them has been instituted.

IS FRANCE GETTING READY?

Troops in Algeria Ordered to be Prepared to Return Home.

BERLIN, Feb. 10.—Advices from Algiers published in the Kreuse Zeitung have caused much excitement here. The despatches say a number of generals and staff officers have left Algeria to assume commands in France, that four battalions of the Twelfth Army Corps stationed in Algeria have been ordered to hold themselves in readiness to embark, and that preparations are being made at the different ports to expedite the shipment of troops. Territorial troops, the despatches say, are to take the place of the battalions leaving Algeria.

An Oakville Sailor Found Drowned.

MARQUETTE, Mich., Feb. 10.—The body of an unknown seaman taken from the schooner Lecaene, which foundered off the entrance of Ashland Bay, Lake Superior, in November, was probably that of Patrick H. Madigan of Oakville, Ont. Mrs. Madigan has been making inquiries regarding the whereabouts of her husband, and from information she possesses there is left little doubt he was aboard the ill-fated craft.

An Attempt to Kill Patti.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 10.—Dr. James Hodges, described by the police as a crank, attempted to throw a lighted bomb on the stage of the Grand Opera House last night while Patti was singing. The bomb exploded in his hand shattering it. He is 71 years of age.

AN INDIANA TRAGEDY.

The Night a Party of Hunters Came Across Near Warsaw, Ind.

WARSAW, Ind., Feb. 9.—A party of hunters yesterday passed the farmhouse of Henry Dunham, in Tippecanoe Township, and came upon Dunham's mutilated remains in the lane near his residence. On entering the house they discovered a 2-year-old girl with her throat cut from ear to ear and Mrs. Dunham near by, alive, but so badly cut and injured as to render her insensible. Dunham's body had been badly torn by hogs. It is thought Mrs. Dunham will recover and throw light upon the tragedy. The general belief is that Dunham committed the deed in a fit of insanity.

THE PLAN ILLEGAL.

HARTINGTON SAYS IT MUST BE SUPPRESSED.

LONDON, Feb. 10.—Mr. Redmond, Nationalist, resumed the debate on Mr. Parnell's amendment this evening in the House of Commons. He said he spoke as one soon to undergo, in company with John Dillon and others, a trial which would probably end with imprisonment for assisting in the operations of the plan of campaign. So far as the plan had been applied Mr. Redmond said not more than twenty estates had, up to date, been brought under its operations, and in no case was it proposed to deprive the landlord of his rent, but the aim was simply to enable the tenants to bank their money for protection in cases where the landlords refused to make fair reductions. In every instance in which the plan of campaign had been tried the landlords were finding it advisable to make concessions. It was mainly due to the plan that this winter there had been fewer evictions than for several years previous, and an almost total absence of outrages.

The Marquis of Hartington said the plan of campaign was not the main question before the House. To vote for Mr. Parnell's amendment was to vote virtually want of confidence in the Government. The other questions raised, therefore, could not be discussed on their merits, but only with reference to the effect of the amendment on the fate of the Government. Admitting that the relations between the landlords and tenants in Ireland were far from satisfactory, it was no remedy to suspend or reduce or abolish the payment of rent. Such a plan would be found to be no boon to the poor tenants.

Continuing, Lord Hartington said the real remedies for the agrarian crisis were to be found in providing larger productive employment for the people or involuntary emigration, conducted and supported by the local authorities. [Cheers]. Still, where landlords existed the land laws must be enforced. It would never be possible to get rid of the ultimate resort of eviction. The course of the Government in prosecuting the authors of the plan of campaign was right and straightforward. It was the duty of the Government to attack men engaged in an illegal conspiracy and prevent their leading away tenants who were their dupes. Mr. Gladstone had declared that the plan of campaign resulted from the policy of the Government in refusing to adopt the Suspension of Evictions Bill. Could Parliament hold that, as a legitimate consequence, the rejection of any measure left the people morally entitled to take the law into their own hands and do what Parliament had refused to do? [Cheers.] If the plan of campaign was not illegal, if its enforcement was not stopped, there would be an end to all relations between landlord and tenant. It would cause an internecine war and result in the total destruction of the power of the landlord to obtain any rent excepting what the tenant chose to pay. The suppression of the plan was a necessity, if order was to be preserved. Mr. Parnell had referred to the probable recurrence of dynamite outrages. He admitted that Mr. Parnell was not in a position to control dynamite crimes, but he was in a position to disown them. [Cheers.] They were not disowned. Mr. Parnell contented himself with warning Parliament that if a certain course were pursued the dynamiters might resume operations. As to Home Rule, there remained a steadfast, solid barrier of a hundred votes against Mr. Gladstone's scheme. [Cheers.] It was idle and useless for the Home Rulers to present a vague resolution to the House on the ground that they had the confidence of the Irish people, knowing that they must secure the approval of the British nation.

Viscount Kilcoursie (Liberal), Samuel Storey (Radical) and Henry H. Fowler (Liberal) spoke in favor of the amendment. Mr. Sexton adjourned the debate.

BURNED IN THE RUINS.

Three Men Killed and Several Hurt at a St. Louis Fire.

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 10.—Fire broke out at 11.30 last night in the livery stable of Jesse Arnot, at the corner of Ninth and Chestnut streets. Eighty horses were burned to death. During the progress of the fire the west wall of the building fell, catching two firemen and four bystanders. One of the former, John McGraw, had an arm broken, while one of the bystanders was so seriously hurt that he will die. At 1 o'clock this morning two bodies were taken from the ruins. One was an employe. The other was Capt. Joseph Shimper, foreman of No. 6 Engine Company. He was married and about 40 years of age. Finnerty was taken out alive and will probably recover. The third body taken out at 3 o'clock is supposed to be Morris Linderman, an usher in Pope's Theatre. The fourth body has just been recovered. It proves to be that of John Gunsalus, a printer by trade, but recently employed as a street car conductor. Almost the entire stable, a building 100 feet wide and running to Chestnut-street, is now in ruins, only portions of the fronts being saved. The loss is estimated at fully $150,000.

THE GERMAN CHURCH BILL.

A Number of Conservatives Object to the Return of the Religious Orders.

BERLIN, Feb. 10.—The Prussian Ministerial Council has decided to postpone the submission of the Church Bill to the Landtag until after the Reichstag elections. The extent of the revision of the May laws depends upon the pliability of the Centre. A number of Conservatives in the Oberhaus are not willing to consent to the return of the religious orders and will require strong pressure and reasons to induce them to yield.

The Neutrality of Egypt.

LONDON, Feb. 10.—The proposal to neutralise Egypt, made by Sir Henry Wolff to the Porte, does not meet with favor in political circles. The Standard says: "The suggestion is so encumbered with manifest and insuperable objections that we shall require the most convincing proof that such a proposal has been made. A more lame and impotent conclusion of our dealings with Egypt cannot well be conceived."

Reported Suicide of a Russian Prince.

ST. PETERSBURG, Feb. 10.—It is rumored that a prince, a cadet in the military school in this city, committed suicide yesterday in consequence of the discovery that he was implicated in a Nihilist plot against the Government. Other students in the school, leaders in the conspiracy, and several naval officers, have been arrested.

SEVERE WEATHER ON THE RANGES.

Cattle Reported to be Dying by the Thousands from Exposure.

BUTTE, Mont., Feb. 10.—Reports from all over the territory show a deplorable state of affairs. The thermometer has been ranging from 40 to 60° below for the past ten days. Specials, from Ft. Assiniboine and Forts Shaw and Benton say cattle are now dying from exposure by the thousands. At Ft. Benton grave fears are entertained in regard to fuel, which is getting very scarce, many families being without enough to make a fire. All hope of saving the cattle has vanished. The last few days the relief parties of cowboys, who have been driving the cattle out of the lowlands and out of the cuts have been compelled to abandon them to their fate owing to the cold. The feed is covered with from two to three feet of snow or ice. Men who counted their herds by the thousands and who were rated by the millions will be worse than penniless. A great many lives have been lost by exposure this winter. Several stage coaches have been lost. Relief parties are out now after them, but fears are entertained that the drivers with several passengers are frozen to death.

The Indian commissioners who are now at Ft. Belknap had a very narrow escape. They were in a blizzard for twenty-six hours, having been lost on the prairie. Reports come from all parts of the territory that men have been frozen in such a manner that they must have their legs amputated below the knee joints. This winter is the severest that has been for ten years.

THE FLOOD AT LONDON.

The Iron Bridge on the North Branch of the Thames Carried Away.

LONDON, Ont., Feb. 10.—The iron bridge over the north branch, on the asylum side road, was overborne by the flood and floating ice yesterday. The iron superstructure was overturned into the river and the abutments considerably knocked about and shattered. The Vauxhall Bridge is also in great danger. The water is still running over the road and the approaches to the bridge are cut off, while the cakes of floating ice are borne with great force directly against the side of the spans. It is doubtful if the bridge will stand the strain.

Italy's New Cable.

ROME, Feb. 10.—The Chamber of Deputies to-day approved a credit for the construction of a cable line of telegraph from the Island of Perim, at the entrance to the Red Sea, to Massowah, and then adjourned sine die. This cable will secure direct connection with the cable now in the Red Sea, and places Rome in direct communication, via Alexandria, with the Italian forces in the Soudan.

LIBERALS, RALLY To-Night!

Dominion Elections.

A Grand Rally of every working Liberal in Town is called for THIS EVENING, in the Liberal Club Rooms, to perfect organization for the coming Dominion Elections.

The Daily Examiner.

FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 11, 1887.

REAL ESTATE BOODLERS.

In his opera house speech Hon. Thomas White attempted to clear the government of the charges of lavishing public lands upon political supporters. His remarks were intended to give the impression that the Dominion Government had managed the public domain in the most skilful and economical manner. He stated that the bonuses received included:

On yearly licenses	$46,730
On 21-year licenses	17,373
On orders in court, no license issuing	22,726
Total	86,787

This is a tremendous total when it is known that Mr. John Charles Rykert, M. P., got one timber limit in the North-west which he sold for nearly $100,000, a single sum, exceeding the amounts received by the Dominion Government for bonuses for 16 million acres, parcelled out by Orders in Council among members of parliament supporting the Government, and their friends. During the past fourteen years the Ontario Government has sold 2907 square miles for $1,160,000. The Dominion Government have passed over 500 Orders in Council giving away timber limits to members of parliament and political friends, and Mr. White gives the sum total of bonuses received for 25,000 square miles or 16,000,000 acres as $96,787, while all the government claims as receipts for these lands altogether is a little over half a million dollars. This is a sample of the way in which the public domain is parcelled out to members of parliament, friendly to the government as the price of their support in aiding the Government to accomplish their corrupt political schemes. Is it surprising that these members can see nothing wrong in anything the Dominion Government can do? Do these members of Parliament still hold these lands and are they cutting timber thereon? No; many of them realized at once; the boodle in hand was safer than limits in bush. These lands were granted without competition and at prices that involved great loss to the country. For instance, J. C. Rykert, M.P., obtained, his Cypress Hills limit for $2,500 and sold it out of hand for $100,000, an amount the Government might have secured if there had been competition, which Mr. White asserts the regulations provide for.—that is, however, when there is "more than one applicant." And, of course, mighty good care was taken that the only applicant should be a good Tory member whose quid pro quo for 50 square miles was "$1 and other valuable considerations," the "valuable considerations." doubtless, including the member's vote when called upon to support the Government through "thick and thin." This is one of the huge leaks in the public chest which only an honest administration, such as Hon. Mr. Blake will organize, can stop. Hon. Mr. White glossed over the subject very smoothly in his Opera House speech, and the local Tory organ devoted barely half a dozen lines to Mr. White's defence of one of the most corrupt systems of bribery and jobbery that have marked the corrupt course of the Macdonald Administration. The electors will not dismiss the subject so summarily.

EXTORTED PRAISE.

Hon. Mr. Mowat's exalted personal character, stainless reputation, great abilities as a statesman, and unprecedented success as an administrator, compel the admiration of his enemies. The Mail, finding that years of abuse and misrepresentation on its part have failed to shake the public confidence in Ontario's premier to make "Mowat go," has come to the conclusion that it has been fighting a losing battle, and at last devoted to Mr. Mowat the following tribute. The Mail of Thursday, the opening of the Sixth Legislature, says:

"Mr. Mowat meets the Legislature to-day under circumstances which must be, to say the least, satisfactory to himself. He has been Premier of the province for fifteen years, and the people have just entrusted him with their business for a fresh period of four years. The secret of his unexampled good fortune as a politician is to be found in the deep-seated and well-grounded conviction that personally he is an honest man, who under all circumstances tries to do what is right. That he is infallible or has made no mistakes, is a proposition which Mr. Mowat himself would probably be the first to dispute. But of his career as a whole, since he re-entered public life in 1872, the Premier has every reason to be proud; and friend and foe alike may congratulate him to-day, and wish him health and strength ad multos annos."

Quick Relief.

"One bottle of Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam cured me of a sore throat and loss of voice. One trial relieved me when all other medicine failed.', says Miss J. McLeod, Bathfountain, Ont. 2w5d

THE LIBERAL POLICY.

For a party accused of having no policy how do the following chief planks of the Liberal platform commend themselves to the electors.

An elective Senate.

Honest government.

Reciprocity with the United States.

Reform of the Superannuation system.

Economy and retrenchment in the public service.

Preservation of provincial autonomy and provincial rights.

Canada to have the right to negotiate commercial treaties.

Removal of grievances under which North-west settlers now labor;

Acceptance of the decision of Her Majesty in the Boundary case.

Manhood suffrage, with the repeal of the Franchise and Gerrymander acts;

The Northwest lands for the settler and not for the speculator and land grabber.

Aid to legitimate railway enterprise, but nothing for political jobbers or "Boys,"

No sale or lease of national property, except by public auction after advertisement;

Compulsory arbitration in labor disputes between corporate bodies and their employees.

An equitable readjustment of the present tariff, so that while it furnishes adequate protection to Canadian industries, it may afford no unfair discrimination, and will entail no burdensome incidence of taxation, upon any class.

The discontinuance of all assisted immigration. Protection of Canadian labor as well as capital;

Reform of administration of Northwest Indian affairs, and removal of incompetent, dishonest and immoral officials.

No member of parliament or senator to be interested personally in any contract with the government, under the penalty of disqualification.

Merited Words of Praise.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

SIR,—"Wilson Day's Dramatic Co." have come and gone again, after filling a two week's engagement with entire satisfaction to all those who relish a few hours of amusement, away from the dull cares of life. For many a day we will miss the genial, good-natured business manager, Mr. C. K. Mortimer. Indeed it is only justice to say that Mr. Day and every member of the company are highly appreciated by the theatre going people of Peterborough. The dignified social bearing, as well as the excellent dramatic performances of this company, have elicited feelings of respect and esteem which will not soon be forgotten. But without detracting from the merits of any member of this first-class company, it may truly be said that the chief attraction and the general favorite was "Little Annie Bird." This bright and gifted child of genius has no equal. Her youth, her innocence, her beauty, her marvellous intelligence, and the matchless gracefulness of all her movements, place her far beyond the reach of rivalry. Many a kind heart follows "Little Annie Bird" with fond wishes, that she may have a brilliant and a happy career in the profession which she has chosen.

Yours &c.,

CAMPBELL'S

TONIC ELIXIR

:o:

This agreeable yet potent preparation is especially adapted for the relief and cure of that class of disorders attendant upon a low or reduced state of the system, and usually accompanied by Pallor, Weakness and Palpitation of the Heart. Prompt results will follow its use in cases of Sudden Exhaustion arising from Loss of Blood, Acute or Chronic Diseases, and in the weakness that invariably accompanies the recovery from Wasting Fevers. No remedy will give more speedy relief in Dyspepsia or Indigestion, its action on the stomach being that of a gentle and harmless tonic, exciting the organs of digestion to action, and thus affording immediate and permanent relief. The carminative properties of the different aromatics which the Elixir contains render it useful in Flatulent Dyspepsia. It is a valuable remedy for Atonic Dyspepsia, which is apt to occur in persons of a gouty character.

For Impoverished Blood, Loss of Appetite, Despondency, and in all cases where an effective and certain stimulant is required, the Elixir will be found invaluable.

In Fevers of a Malarial Type, and the various evil results following exposure to the cold or wet weather, it will prove a valuable restorative, as the combination of Cinchona Calisaya and Serpentaria are universally recognized as specifics for the above-named disorders.

Dominion Elections!

Nomination Day: February 15th.
Polling Day: February 22nd.

A NEW CANDIDATE IN THE FIELD!

HIS PLATFORM:

GENTLEMEN,

I have no desire to tamper with the votes of that noble army of our citizens who freely exercise the Franchise on behalf of their favorite political leaders. But, in order to take a hand in the present political struggle for supremacy between Grit and Tory, I have decided to come out and offer such tempting

BRIBES TO THE ELECTORS

as cannot fail to place me at the head of the polls.

I would scorn, like all other candidates for parliamentary honors, to buy up votes, or do aught that might be construed as a violation of our Election laws. My object is a far more patriotic one, namely—that of making a CLEAN SWEEP of all my Winter Clothing and Tweeds before Election day.

Nor will the secrecy of the Ballot be infringed by asking purchasers whether they will vote for LEBRUN, COX, or STEVENSON. No, not by a home rule scuttle full! But every elector is expected to attend this exciting Political-Winter-Clothing-Sale, and to hurrah for LEBRUN, so as to elect him by an overwhelming majority as the Workingman's Favourite Candidate.

SUITS, Ready-made, for $5 and upwards.

If the Electors will only ponder over these facts and see and handle these Bribes for themselves, I feel certain that the 22nd will be a cold day for the other candidates.

GREAT SWELLS IN BRAZIL.

How the Nobles of Dom Pedro's Court Enjoy Their Dignity.

The Emperor and court have gone to Petropolis, and with them have gone the Barons, and Counts, and gentlemen of fortune whose palaces stand so thick in Botofogo. Every summer, and by this I mean the Brazilian summer of December, January and February, this exodus of the fashionable world takes place; and everybody who is "in the swim" goes to Petropolis, which is a summer city built up in the mountains, and is like Newport transported into the heart of the Adirondacks. The Brazilian nobility is a peculiar institution. The Emperor can create noblemen of all grades, but is extremely cautious in exercising that power. He contents himself at present with making an occasional Count or Baron, never a Duke or a Marquis. When he was young and strong he used occasionally to make somebody a Marquis or a Duke, but in his old age he seems to think the titles of Count and Baron are good enough for every day use, and has permanently retired from the "higher nobility" business.

Brazilian titles are not hereditary, but for three generations the descendants of noblemen are entitled to the appellation of "mosa fidalgo," or "young gentlemen," and enjoy the rights and privileges of their noble progenitors. These privileges consist mainly of being allowed by law to "put on more style" than ordinary individuals. If a "mosa fidalgo" wants to enter the army he can do so as a cadet, and is entitled to wear a star on his coat-sleeve. When he goes to the palace he can wear his hat until he comes into the presence of the Emperor, and while ordinary officers have to hitch up their swords before entering the imperial portals, he can go in with his weapon jangling and thumping along the marble floors. This privilege of wearing a hat in the house and making a racket in the Emperor's presence is highly prized by the youth of Brazil. Then, too, a "mosa fidalgo" cannot be arrested except by a special warrant from some high official—I have forgotten which one—and when he goes on a "racket" and breaks street lamps and windows the police cannot arrest him and the Police Justice does not give him a lecture with his fine the next morning. Instead of that he is arrested with solemn pomp and a long warrant, and is confined in the "place of honor" in the prison. When a "mosa fidalgo" leaves the country he goes to the palace and says "good-by" to the Emperor, and that monarch, awfully bored, graciously permits him to purchase a ticket by the first steamer. But in order to enjoy all these great privileges one must not only be a "mosa fidalgo," but must take out a patent as such. Then he can have the title printed on his visiting cards and is a recognized "swell."

The "mosa fidalgos" of Brazil are, as a rule, excellent young fellows, but most of them have been to Paris and most of them have met the Duc de Morny. The influence of that young idiot on the Brazilian youth is very perceptible. They talk about him and found themselves on him in a most ridiculous manner. It is only necessary to know that Morny does a thing or wears a thing to make it popular with the young gentlemen of Brazil. In the winter season the Princess Isabella gives most magnificent balls in her palace in Botofogo. All the world—that is, the fashionable world—goes, and the middle-aged Princess opens the dance. When a man has led the cotillon at one of the Princess' balls his position as a leader of fashion is assured.

Botofogo is that quarter of Rio in which are the palaces of the great and wealthy. And they are veritable palaces. There are galleries of paintings, immense salons, and elaborate banquet halls in these palaces, and a large retinue of slaves and servants to keep them in perfect order. But it is on his plantation or "facienda" that the wealthy Brazilian lives in the most baronial style. There he is an absolute autocrat, and over all the broad acres white with coffee blossoms he is the lord and seigneur. His hundreds of slaves regard the will of their master as paramount to everything, and when later on the Barons and Counts leave Petropolis to pay a visit to their estates in the country their retainers will welcome them with fireworks and feasting. Altogether the life of a Brazilian gentleman runs in pleasant channels, and, if he is not in debt to the coffee brokers of Rio or harassed by wondering what he shall do for labor on his plantation when slavery is finally ended, he is about as happy as it is possible for mortal to be.—Rio de Janeiro Letter to New York Tribune.

Ennismore.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

January was an exceedingly severe month. Not only in Canada and the neighboring republic, but throughout Europe, have they experienced fierce gales and heavy snow storms. The year commenced with a lowering temperature and on the morning of the 2nd at sunrise the thermometer stood 15 degrees below zero, and no time during the day did it rise higher than 9° below, and again at sunset it fell to 15° below, and on the morning of the 3rd at 10° below, when a little higher temperature continued till the 7th, when it again dropped to 5° below, and on the 8th to 8° below, and at sunset to 5°, when from then it ranged a little above zero till the 12th, again falling to 20° below and at night to 8°, and for three days continuing a little milder to the morning of the 17th, when another cold dip occurred, the mercury falling to 12° below, and on the morning of the 18th to 21°, and never rising higher than 16° below during the day and at sunset 19°, which has been the coldest day of the winter. A change took place for the better, but, on the 26th we had it again at 0, and on the 27th at 10° below, on and after noon of the 30th we had a regular nor'-wester with a fierce driving snow storm, and on the morning of the 31st, throwing on a parting kiss with the thermometer at 6° below zero. Our proverbial January thaw commenced on the 21st lasting 3 days with heavy rains, the highest temperature reached being 48° on the evening of the 22nd leaving the mean temperature of the month at 13°. Snow fell on 18 days to the depth of 19½ inches, rain fell on 4 days to the depth of 1 inch and 32-100ths of an inch. We had six severe gales during the month drifting up our roads and making travel very disagreeable. From the 22nd of December we had about five weeks of the severest weather experienced in Canada for many years extending to such a length of time. Auroral lights have again been as little seen as they were in December. The following was the different points from which the wind was blowing at sun-rise during the month respectively, namely: North 3 days, north-west 6 days, south-west 11 days, north-east 3 days, west 2 days, east 2 days, south-east 3 days, and south 1 day.

SUN LIFE ASSURANCE CO. OF CANADA.

Gross Life Business for 1886, - - - $3,540,000.

EXTRACT FROM MONTREAL WITNESS, DATED DECEMBER 31st, 1886:—

THE LATE MR. McLACHLAN.

AN INSURANCE COMPANY PROMPT SETTLEMENT.

We have been asked by Mr. McLachlan to publish the following, and do so in view of the exceptional public interest taken in the case mentioned:—

To R. Macaulay, Esq., Managing Director of the Sun Life Assurance Company:—

DEAR SIR,—I have much pleasure in acknowledging the payment by you of $17,130.70, being the amount due under the policies held by your Company on the life of my brother, the late John S. McLachlan. A company's character is tested when an opportunity arises in which it has the power to take advantage of a technicality or inability (as in the present case) to comply with every condition and requirement, so as to occasion delay and expense, and perhaps finally defeat a just and honest claim. There is no doubt in the mind of any reasonable man that my brother and Mr. Sumner were unhappily drowned, and the affidavit produced abundantly support this; but although a careful search has been made, the bodies may never be recovered owing to the swiftness of the current and the low temperature of the water. It would, indeed, be a hardship if any company were, under the circumstances, to demand technical proofs which, from the very nature of the case, it is impossible to furnish. I have great pleasure in certifying to the honorable and liberal manner in which your Company has acted in regard to the claim. As soon as your board of directors was aware that the accident had really happened, you gave every facility for a prompt settlement. You have been the first of the companies interested to pay, and I thank you for the kind and satisfactory manner in which you have met me.

W. McLACHLAN.

The Dominion Safety fund, we understand, has also paid its policy of $2,000. The Sun Life has taken from the executors of Mr. McLachlan a personal bond to refund the amount of insurance with six per cent per annum compound interest, should he ever turn up alive. Mr. J. S. McLachlan had in all $42,130.70 insurance on his life, and other companies resist the claims.

EGAN'S IMPERIAL TRUSS.

Read the following extract from a letter of a well-known citizen of St. Catharines,—hundreds like it:

ST. CATHARINES, Sept. 20th, 1885.

GENTLEMEN,—Being over 70 years of age, and over 30 years' standing, I feel bound to say my case is hopeless, especially as I tried various appliances without success, among others, recently, two spring-truss trusses sent to me from New York State, costing me $30. Nothing would retain my Hernia. I have worn your truss over four months, night and day, with great satisfaction and comfort; even to bathe in it the rupture has never come down, it holds me perfectly secure under all circumstances. You may publish it for the benefit of other sufferers. Yours truly, CAPT. S. KING.

This new Spiral Spring Pad Truss has taken ten years to make it perfect; is guaranteed to hold the very worst case during the hardest work or severest strain. It will cure every child sure; and 80 out of every 100 of adults. Be warned—don't waste your money on useless appliances, but send stamp for our treatise; it contains full information, your neighbors' testimony price list and questions for you to answer. When writing please mention this paper. Address

Fun at the Rink To-night.

Remember the grand carnival to-night. The ice is in prime condition, there having been no skating for a couple of days. In the rink gay decorations have taken the place of the bare white beams, and everything is in gala attire. Admission 25 cents, children half price. Visitors, it is expected, will be present from Lindsay, Lakefield, Keene and other surrounding villages. It will be the event on ice of the season.

Turnbull is showing a fine assortment of new Grey Dress Goods from the Light Silver to the Dark Oxford shades.

Making it Do Double Duty.

Mr. R. C. Strickland of Lakefield a partizan of partizans, founds a letter to the local Conservative organ on a false statement, and makes his assumed fact a ground for exposing the private affairs of citizens for the sake of securing a political point. Mr. Stratton at Young's Point did not state, as has falsely been asserted, that the islands in Stoney Lake had been conveyed to Conservatives "at insufficient price, and without a chance being given to Reformers through the secrecy observed." Mr. Strickland repeats the falsehood, though it has been authoritatively denied. Mr. Stratton did state his objection to selling the islands that should be reserved for the free use of the public. The sale of these islands is something like dividing the Court House park into building lots and selling them to private parties. This course would yield a large financile return, but the people who could not afford to buy lots would be deprived of their park, a fine pleasure resort. The principal involved in such a course as applied to Stoney Lake islands, is what Mr. Stratton objected to as wrong on the part of the government. The proverb advises the letting a falsehood "run its legs off," but Mr. Strickland evidently, believes in giving it a little help. The mere nominal amounts received for the islands referred to amount to nothing worth speaking of to the government, but their conveyance to private parties empowers the latter to enjoy a monopoly of them, and gives them power to order off tourists who, in search of pleasure, may happen to trespass upon property, now private, but which was and should ever remain the property of the public and accessible to all who choose to visit it.

A commercial tester, we are at the top, but our prices are at the bottom. See what Turnbull is showing this week in new Bedroom Chintz and Cretonnes.

Her Curlers "Do Up" the Granites and Caledonians of Toronto.

The four rinks of curlers who played in Toronto Thursday met with decided success. In the forenoon they played the Granites, winning by 9 points, and in the afternoon, on ice fairly covered with water, defeated the Caledonians by 24 shots. The home scopers were delighted with the hospitality of the Toronto curlers, whose rinks are supplied with every modern convenience and luxury. Following are the scores:—

CURLING NOTES.

Campbellford defeated Workworth yesterday at Campbellford by 11 shots.

The preliminary competitions for the Ontario Tankard have been completed in all of the eight groups, the winners being Listowel, St. Marys, Paris, Milton, Guelph, Orillia, Toronto Caledonians and Whitby. These clubs will meet at Toronto Wednesday next to settle the trouble.

A contest is going on this afternoon between four rinks each of Lindsay and Toronto curling clubs for a Caledonian medal. This evening a friendly match will be played between Peterborough and Toronto.

One Story Good Till the Other is Told.

Citizens' Insurance Company of Canada.

HEAD OFFICE, 179 St. James Street,
MONTREAL, 2nd February, 1887.

To the Agents of the Citizens' Insurance Company:—

GENTLEMEN,—Some agents have requested particulars of the singular statements made by the Sun Insurance Company, in the McLachlan case, to our detriment. The facts are simply these:

1st. Mr. John S. McLachlan, a Director of the Sun Life Insurance Company, had a $10,000 accident policy in that Company, which lapsed last August. One-half of this policy was re-insured in this Company.

2nd. Mr. McLachlan did not renew this policy.

3rd. On the 17th November, three months after its expiry, Mr. McLachlan asked for an accident insurance in the Sun Company, and was granted the renewal receipt for the policy, dated back to August.

4th. On the 18th November, the day following, Mr. McLachlan is alleged to be drowned while duck-shooting.

5th. No notice of the renewal or of the new risk being taken on the 17th November was sent to the Citizens', though our office is almost immediately opposite the Sun's; nor were we advised that the Sun considered we were on the risk until they had decided to pay the claim, some six weeks afterwards.

6th. They base their right to make the claim upon a letter passed betwen the two Companies in 1884, which, in our opinion, cannot possibly be construed to cover the present case with its attending circumstances.

7th. The facts of the case were submitted to two eminent Q.C.'s, who both maintain that the Sun have no claim whatever upon us, and as this simply confirms our own opinion, we hold that there is no insurance in the Company; but, in view of the friendly relations which have existed between the two Companies, we offered to submit the case to arbitration, which the Sun, however, has not accepted, preferring to sue. So far the writ has not been issued. We cannot prevent people or Companies suing, unless we say what they choose to ask, so, of course, have to submit; nor can we prevent their heedwinking the public by deceptive and one-sided statements, obtained by paying so much a line in the advertising or editorial columns of the press, the chief object of which is to convey an impression of liberality which, unfortunately for them, exists in this case by making "a virtue of necessity!" It is a pity they should spoil this overflow of generosity by seeking to recover part of the money from us under a trumped up claim.

8th. Mr. McLachlan had become an undesirable risk prior to August, so much so that another Accident Company cancelled its policy and returned him his premium.

Yours truly,
—Adv. GERALD E. HART,
General Manager.

Astonishing Success.

It is the duty of every person who has used Boschee's German Syrup to let its wonderful qualities be known to their friends in curing Consumption, severe Coughs, Croup, Asthma, Pneumonia, and in fact all throat and lung diseases. No person can use it without immediate relief. Three doses will relieve any case, and we consider it the duty of all Druggists to recommend it to the poor, dying consumptive, at least to try one bottle, as 80,000 dozen bottles were sold last year, and no one case where it failed was reported. Such a medicine as the German Syrup cannot be too widely known. Ask your druggist about it. sample bottles to try, only 10 cents. Regular size, 75 cents. Sold by all Druggists and dealers, in the United States and Canada. eodw4

D. W. DUMBLE.

WHY

Will people pay rent when houses and lots can be purchased on such easy terms as are offered by the undersigned. Come and inspect our work and see for yourselves how we construct our houses. Our chief aim and study is to build substantial, warm, frost and damp proof houses. I am offering good building lots, and will build solid brick houses, nine-inch walls, stumped and lathed, two stories, for less money than you can buy frame or veneered buildings. We cordially invite those who anticipate renting or buying to inspect our work and prove for themselves that our houses are not merely built to sell. Every house I've sold gives first-class satisfaction, and I am determined that every house I build shall be a standing testimony to honest building. JOHN CARLISLE, Hunter Street, 2nd block west of St. Andrew's Church. wd

SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 12, 1887.

BAD FAITH.

The Government at Ottawa has been charged again and again during the campaign with bad faith and dishonor and no local orator has offered a word of explanation or palliation of their conduct; they are all dumb. The Government is charged with having promised a deputation, who waited on them, to place a sum in the estimates of 1886 to go on with another section of the Trent Valley Canal and with having broken that promise. The Government is also charged with bad faith in buying a site for the new post office. A certified deed is produced from Mr. Edward Phelan to the Government conveying certain lots, and in the deed are these words: "For the purpose of erecting a post office for Peterborough." Sir Hector Langevin's words, as found in Hansard, assert that the Phelan lot was bought for a Custom House, and not a single word of explanation is offered. Messrs. Stevenson, Hilliard, Carnegie and Poussette are all dumb on these subjects, and yet they are willing to support a Government guilty of such contemptible conduct. It is not to be wondered at that the Government cheat the poor Indians and turn a deaf ear to the complaints of the Halfbreeds, when we have proof at our own doors of their double-dealing and duplicity.

DIFFERENCE OF OPINION.

THE Tories have been trying to make a little cheap capital for themselves out of the fact that Mr. Cox is more of a protectionist than are some other Reformers. We would invite their attention to the difference of opinion between Messrs. Hilliard and Carnegie on the flour duty. Mr. Hilliard at Beaufort, made a most labored attempt to show it was all right, while Mr. Carnegie at Baillieboro fairly gave it up and said it had hurt the milling business and coopering as well, and the vessels which he predicted in 1878 would be on the route between Nova Scotia and Ontario carrying coal and flour, had failed to put in an appearance. If the campaign continues long enough we are in hopes of hearing a few more contradictions.

DRONES.

Mr. Carnegie publicly expressed opinion of store-keepers and all middlemen is "that they are "Drones." Hear that ye hard-working anxious merchants.

A Word to the Sisters.

To the Editor of the Examiner.

SIR—Will you kindly allow me space in the columns of your valuable paper to ask my sisters in Christ to unite, between the hours of eight and nine p.m. in prayer, for the outpouring of the Holy Spirit on the evangelistic services now being held in connection with the Young Men's Christian Association.

To those ladies deprived of the pleasure of attending the afternoon meetings, who feel a deep sympathy in the work and who earnestly desire to see souls brought to rejoice in the Saviour so precious to their own souls, such concerted action will surely meet with their hearty acquiescence and cheerful approval, in fervently supplicating as a throne of grace for pentecostal showers to descend, emboldened and encouraged by the promise given by the Lord Jesus Himself in Matt. XVIII., 19. The time is short, laborers are few, and souls are perishing. "Let him know that he who converteth the sinner from the error of his way shall save a soul from death and shall hide a multitude of sins." James V. 20.

CONUNDRUM FOR MR. HILLIARD.—What are deathbed convictions?

PARNELL'S AMENDMENT REJECTED.

John Bright writes Another Letter Criticising Gladstone.

LONDON, Feb. 11.—Thomas Sexton, Parnellite, resuming the debate on the Parnell amendment, taunted the Government on their inability to rule Ireland without the assistance of an army as large as the one needed in India. Parnell's amendment, Sexton contended, raised questions of vital and practical importance. The whole policy of the Government in Ireland, whether it was called reform of the criminal procedure law or coercion, hinged upon the relations between the Irish landlords and their tenants. All offers on the part of the tenants to arbitrate the question of rents had been spurned, and the tenants now stood with their backs against the wall defying oppression, even the oppression of the law, because their position was morally impregnable. The tenants everywhere in Ireland were willing to pay fair rents, but the speaker believed if all the deposits banked under the plan of campaign by the small farmers (and which represented the utmost they were able to pay) were put into a common fund, the sum would not suffice to pay three months' rent on the basis demanded by the landlords.

The amendment was rejected by a vote of 352 to 246.

Another Letter From Bright.

LONDON, Feb. 11.—John Bright has written another letter in criticism of Gladstone's Irish policy. Mr. Bright says: "My views regarding Liberal reunion have remained unchanged since I spoke at Birmingham in July. What has happened since has confirmed the views I then expressed. I attribute the break in the Liberal party to the unwisdom of its leader and to the most deplorable abandonment by the bulk of the party of its position and policy at that leader's invitation or command. They talked and voted on measures few understood, accepting them from a popular minister. I dare not surrender the interests of the Irish people to a conspiracy bent on destroying the landowners of the country as a first step towards severing Ireland from England—a conspiracy to which so much of Ireland's present suffering and demoralization is due. I have been associated very intimately for twenty years with this popular minister. I have spoken for Ireland for thirty years. I have implored successive premiers to do the utmost legislation could do for Ireland. My sympathy for Ireland is now as warm and real as ever. I believe the majority of instructed and thoughtful Irishmen prefer the protection and justice of the Imperial Parliament to the rule of conspiracy under the Irish Parliament."

THE GRANTON POISONING CASE.

Strychnine Found in the Stomachs of the Dead Children.

LONDON, Feb. 11.—The inquest at the Rigney poisoning case was resumed Wednesday at Granton before Coroner Hossack. Dr. Ellis, the Toronto public analyst, was in attendance, and gave evidence that he analyzed the stomachs of both children and found sufficient strychnine in each to cause death. He had found traces of Epsom salts in the stomach of Sarah Jane, while in the stomach of the little boy he found ingredients of the worm powders, but not in that of the girl, thus confirming the evidence of the mother with reference to the medicine administered. He had also analyzed the medicines, and had found strychnine in the Epsom salts, from five to six parts of a grain in each teaspoonful. He stated this quantity would be enough to take the life of a child. He had found no strychnine in the worm powders. He had analyzed a quantity of salts procured subsequently from Dr. Lang's drug store out of the same drawer from which the salts administered to the girl had been taken, and also some worm powders taken subsequently from the store, and found no strychnine. The verdict found was that Thomas George and Sarah Jane Rigney came to their deaths by poisoning by strychnine; where the strychnine came from or how administered the jury has no evidence to determine. The case for the Crown was conducted by Mr. C. Hutchinson.

UNITED STATES DEFENCES.

A Bill Appropriating Nineteen Millions for Naval Purposes.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—In the Senate bills to increase the naval establishment and to provide for the increase of the naval establishment were introduced, the former by Cameron and the latter by Hale. Cameron's bill appropriates $19,900,000 for the construction and equipment of ten steel cruisers, $10,000,000 for armored vessels or floating batteries for coast defences, $1,200,000 for light draught gunboats for interior waters, $600,000 for torpedo boats and $600,000 for torpedoes and torpedo appliances. Mr. Stanford introduced a bill to provide mortars and heavy guns for the armament of the forts, coast defence and vessels of the United States.

DESTRUCTIVE WIND STORM.

Seven Houses and a Factory Blown Down at Louisville, Ohio.

PITTSBURG, Feb. 11.—Telegrams from Eastern Ohio state that a terrible wind storm passed over that section to-day. At Louisville seven houses and a woolen factory were blown down and a Catholic church and a seminary, two large and costly structures partially demolished. Not a chimney is left standing in town. The loss will reach over $100,000.

At Wooster, Ohio, the residence of M. K. Hard was wrecked and the tower of the Lutheran Church was blown through the roof of the new Methodist Church. Several houses were unroofed and trees and fences were blown down. The loss will be heavy.

Business Failures During the Week.

NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—The business failures occurring throughout the country during the last seven days, as reported to Dun & Wiman to-day: Number for the United States 231 and Canada 36, a total of 267, as compared with a total of 291 last week, 271 the week previous to the last, and 275 the corresponding week of last year. There are only three small assignments for the week in New York City. In different sections of the country the business casualties are about up to the average in number, while in Canada and the British Provinces they are considerably in excess of the usual figure.

Moroney Sustained.

DUBLIN, Feb. 11.—In the case of farmer Moroney, who at the beginning of the year sold his cattle at auction, turned part of the proceeds over to the trustees under the plan of campaign, and then went into bankruptcy to avoid the payment of what he called unjust rent, and whom Judge Boyd sent to Kilmainham Jail on a charge of fraud, the court to-day confirmed the declaration of bankruptcy on Moroney's appeal from Judge Boyd's decision.

Schein a Winner.

HAMILTON, Feb. 11.—At the trotting races on the bay to-day J. F. Scholes' (Toronto) Schein won the 2.40 trot for a purse of $300, divided, Ira Hall's Billy Parker being second and J. Dixon's (Toronto) Photographer third. A match race for $50 a side between W. Gowland's Lady Gowland and J. Connell's pacer Shamn Rhue was won by Lady Gowland.

Nominated in North Leeds.

MERRICKVILLE, Feb 11.—The Reform Convention here to-day nominated Angus Buchanan, of Kemptville, to contest North Leeds at the ensuing elections.

THE WINDSOR BALL.

A MOST BRILLIANT GATHERING WINDS UP THE CARNIVAL.

MONTREAL, Feb. 11.—The carnival week generally gives visitors a fair idea of Montreal winter weather, and this week has been no exception. Monday was fine and cold, Tuesday it rained steadily, Wednesday was fine and mild, Thursday was fine and milder, and to-day the worst snowstorm of the season, very blizzardy in its nature, has been raging since early morning and effectually stopping all outdoor amusements. The weather, however, did not have any effect on the attendance at the Vice-Regal reception this afternoon, over 2000 people paying their respects to Lord and Lady Lansdowne in the City Council Chamber, which had been prettily decorated for the occasion. A detachment of Victoria Rifles acted as a guard of honor, and the fine band of the same regiment was stationed in the corridor and enlivened the proceedings. The attendance included representatives of the Bench, the Bar, the mercantile, military and all classes of the city, as well as a large number of visitors, among whom were noticed the following Ontario people: Mr. and Mrs. Chadwick, Guelph; J. N. Fulton, Miss Fulton, Dr. Fulton and Joseph Pim, Mr. and Miss Baldwin, Mr. and Mrs. McKinley, F. W. Jarvis, Mrs. and Miss Blake, Mrs. William Bonnell, Miss Bull, Toronto; A. J. and Mrs. Corkindale, Picton; J. S. Coleman, Miss Cumberland, Mrs. John Duggan, Miss Good, Toronto; Miss Lewis, Hamilton; C. C. Lyman, Brockville; Alfred J. Mason, jr., Toronto; Mrs. D. A. McMartin, Cornwall; Mrs. W. B. McMurrich, Toronto; Mrs. Neelands, Lindsay; the Misses Ross, Toronto; Mrs. K. Macpherson Skae, W. and Miss Thompson, Toronto.

Bad weather again caused the postponement of the trotting races, and rendered the tobogan slides comparatively unworkable, preventing the contemplated vice-regal visit to Lansdowne slide.

Many visitors who intended to leave for home had to stay over owing to the majority of the trains being cancelled, on account of the storm, and consequently the attendance at the carnival ball at the Windsor to-night was unprecedented. At 7 o'clock over 1200 tickets had been sold and ridiculous prices were being offered for the refusal of tickets. The decorations were on the grandest scale ever seen in Canada, the ball room being a mass of natural flowers. Round each gasalier were gracefully twined large masses of waxy smilax from which hung flowers in endless variety and beauty. At all points were placed potted plants, begonias, fuchsias, geraniums, palms, delicate ferns and other rare exotics, the whole presenting a scene of floral delight and reminding one of summer days. On the left side of the room was a heavily and richly draped dais for the Vice-Regal party, a gem of floral beauty, from the midst of which hung a marquis coronet, composed of roses and camellias, and of majestic proportions, being nine feet in circumference. Potted plants in each window in endless profusion, added to the beauty of the room. The pieces montes prepared for the supper by the chef of The Windsor, were of marked beauty. There was a nougat representing a deer standing under a tree in the forest, another representing a ship under full sail, another with several small swans gracefully swimming on a miniature lake and others in the shape of baskets, cornucopias and innumerable other designs.

So many were present that great inconvenience was experienced, two extra rooms having to be provided for dancing, but for all that the affair was much enjoyed. The ladies' costumes were remarkably rich, and on the whole the scene in the ball-room has probably never been surpassed in the Dominion. The Vice-Royal party arrived about nine o'clock and dancing was at once begun and will be kept up until well on in the morning.

Probably the most pronounced feature of the week's festivities has been the carnival of crimes, the most daring street robberies being reported every day. The amount of property stolen by pickpockets has been unprecedented, and more than one case has occurred where the robbery was accomplished by assault. During the procession yesterday two young ladies from Toronto were standing close to the arch on Victoria square, when a hand tore from one a valuable diamond brooch. She had hardly time to tell her companion when another mysterious hand snatched her gold watch and disappeared with it, making her about $200 the poorer.

The Ontario people at the ball to-night were: Miss Archibald, of Cornwall; Mrs. A. Ansley, Miss G. Boulton, Toronto; Mrs. Brough, Goderich; Miss E. Burlinham, Bloomfield; Mrs. W. K., Miss and Miss Maud Beatty, Toronto; Mrs. C. Bixel, Strathroy; Mrs. J. E. Carner, Ottawa; Mrs. E. Strachan Cox, Toronto; Mrs. W. H. Callahan, Toronto; Mrs. Corbette, Belleville; Mrs. J. T. Dunn, Toronto; Miss Dickson, Pembroke; Mrs. Dietrich, Galt; Miss A. Fulton, Toronto; Mrs. and Miss Gartshore, Hamilton; Miss Julia and Miss Maggie Heenan, Pembroke; Mrs. W. and the Misses Heudrie, Hamilton; Miss Hamilton, Kingston; Miss Hogg, Guelph; Mrs. Langton and Miss Hattie Murphy, Brockville; Mrs. Rolt, Myles, Toronto; Mrs. C. J. and Miss Matrice, Cornwall; Miss McCallum, Cobourg; Mrs. Geo. McMurrich, Toronto; Miss McTavish and Mrs. Prince, Toronto; Miss Stearns, Windsor; Miss Spratt, Miss Thomson, Miss Vankaughnet, Mrs. H. Harcourt Vernon, Miss Virtue, Toronto; Mrs. Gordon Wilson, Windsor, Miss Wood, Toronto; Miss Ethel Young, Hamilton; W. H. and H. W. Beatty, Toronto; C. Bixel, Strathroy; E. Strachan Cox, P. J. Callaghan, E. Crawford, W. H. Callaghan, J. T. Dunn, Toronto; A. F. B. Evans, Windsor; Dr. Farley, Belleville; Judge Finkle, Woodstock; G. Ernest Gross, Whitby; Alex. Gartshore, Hamilton; A. Hutchinson, Toronto; W. Hendrie, sr. of Hamilton; H. C. Hammond, Toronto; G. Gordon Hutchinson, Brockville; W. C. Kent, Kingston; A. Levi, Windsor; W. L. Leslie, Welland; J. E. Lancaster, Toronto; F. Mathews, Windsor; R. Myles, G. S. McCrae, J. D. MacLennan, Toronto; T. D. McCullough, Brockville; W. P. Ryrie, R. J. Rattray, W. Thompson, Toronto; T. A. Woodrow, St. Catharines; A. K. and C. T. Whitney, Toronto.

At Crystal Rink this evening Frank Dowd won the 10 mile skating race in 37.47½. Brown was a good second. C. McCormick of St. John, N.B., who also competed, fell in the 8th lap and had to retire. Dowd is about to leave the amateur ranks and has arranged for a series of races with Hugh McCormack of St. John, to take place next week. The annual races and games took place this evening, the only important events being five miles, which was won by S. Lee in 19.10, with Gordon second, and one mile, won by Irwin in 13.34. Gordon was second.

The week's festivities will end to-morrow by the annual races of the Montreal Snowshoe Club.

The Three Mile Limit.

WASHINGTON, D.C., Feb. 11.—Almost without a dissenting voice the House Committee on Shipping to-day resolved to make a favorable report on Mr. Dingley's bill to protect the fisheries of the United States. The bill makes liable to seizure and forfeiture any foreign vessel found taking fish of any kind within three marine miles off the shores of the United States.

LIBERALS,

RALLY

To-Night!

Dominion Elections.

A Grand Rally of every working Liberal in Town is called for THIS EVENING, in the Liberal Club Rooms, to perfect organization for the coming Dominion Elections.

The Daily Examiner.

SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 12, 1887.

THE CHOICE MADE EASY.

The people will, in about ten days, be called upon to decide between the two candidates now soliciting their suffrages. As to the personal claims of the two gentlemen, the electors have no difficulty in deciding in favour of Mr. Cox. Upon the tariff question, which to conceal its political crimes, the government seeks to make the chief issue, Mr. Stevenson has no advantage over Mr. Cox. Mr. Stevenson is an out-and-out supporter of the present government and will condone the long course of misdeeds by which it has so signally forfeited its claims to the confidence of the people. The record of government wrong-doing is, if it were to be told in detail, a long and a black one, and Mr. Stevenson has never been known to condemn a single act of wrong doing, corruption or extravagance and corrupt squandering of the public funds. The annual expenditure has been increased from $23,590,000 in 1878 to $30,176,000 in 1886, and, though fabulous sums were raised by taxation there was in 1885 a deficit of $2,240,000, in 1886 a deficit of $6,865,000 and in 1887 the deficit is certain to be three millions, probably four millions and possibly five millions. All this ruinous extravagance and debt-increasing expenditure, Mr. Stevenson endorses, while Mr. Cox is pledged to a reduction of expenditure and the inauguration of an era of honest administration.

The Government of Sir John Macdonald has, with a view of destroying the Confederation and bringing about a Legislative Union, (which Sir John preferred so strongly to Confederation in 1866 that he and Sir George Cartier had serious disagreement till the latter won his way) made persistent and repeated attacks on Provincial rights. It has disallowed Provincial legislation, till the Privy Council stayed its hand; it has attempted to rob Ontario of 64 million acres of territory, and, beaten at that game, it is still trying to steal our timber and minerals. In this unrighteous endeavor the Government has wasted thousands of dollars of both Dominion and Provincial treasure. In all this Mr. Stevenson was an aider and abettor, and he now endeavors to enter Parliament that he may lend his support to other similar attacks on the rights and interests of Ontario, while Mr. Cox will support fair treatment of the Provinces and in justice to every member of the Confederation.

Sir John seized upon the licensing power, put the country to an expense of nearly half a million dollars, deranged the trade, and did untold injury to the temperance interests. Mr. Stevenson applauded and aided the scheme till justice stepped in and rebuked the usurper. Mr. Cox opposed and will oppose every attempt to invade Ontario rights.

All the infamous misdeeds of the Macdonald Government, the Oaderdonk scandal; the Section B robbery; the expenditure of over half a million derived from that source to bribe Ontario ridings in 1883; the wasteful appropriation of millions of dollars in sectional railway subsidies for purposes of wholesale bribery, to reward political supporters or to enrich ministers of the Crown; the distribution of 16 million acres of public lands at nominal figures among members of Parliament and political supporters; the increase of civil service employes; the iniquitous quid pro quo system, through which every member of Parliament, with few exceptions, demands and gets a substantial equivalent for his support of the Government; all the corrupt and corrupting expedients used by the present Government to retain power, all the cited acts of political iniquity have the full endoration of Mr. James Stevenson; he justifies all past misdeeds, and will vote in support of their repetition in other forms, which will be attempted if the party is returned to power, while Mr. Cox condemns them, and is opposed to the political depravity that suggested them.

The criminal neglect and odious maladministration of Northwest affairs; the disregard of the rights of the half breeds and the robbing them of their lands, the goading of them by injustice into a revolt that required a sacrifice of 2.0 lives and 8 millions of money to suppress, and which has set back the settlement of the Northwest a quarter of a century; the wasteful administration of Indian affairs absorbing over a million dollars of the public money yearly, the larger part of which sticks to the hands of rascally government agents, who, to robbery of the Indians, add their debauching of them by the grossest immorality. All this Mr. Stevenson heartily endorses and will vote for a continuance of. He thinks the government which removed the effect of the rebellion by hanging Riel should therefore be relieved from all responsibility for having been the cause of the rebellion.

The Dominion Franchise Act, which takes the preparation of the voters' lists out of the hands of the people and places them in the hands of revising officers, appointed by and in the interests of the government of the day; which is expensive—as it costs half a million a year; cumbrous, because accompanied by endless red tape and vexatious conditions; unconstitutional—because it gives government officers, and not the law of the land, power to decide who shall vote and thus strikes at the root of responsible government. This Mr. Stevenson will defend and uphold by his vote.

In direct disregard of the interests of the labouring classes the government spends half a million a year for immigration; retains as a member of the cabinet Hon. Frank Smith, who said the Knights of Labour were a "gang of thieves," wilfully refuses to pass a factory act and in every way disregards the rights of working men while toadying to capitalists to secure gifts of money to be used in bribery; protects capital to the highest notch and refuses to protect labour, all this Mr. Stevenson upholds and endorses; to continue all this he will vote every day in the week.

The whole ruinous record of the government might, if space permitted, be gone over and all its misdeeds pointed out, yet in no one instance would it be found that Mr. Stevenson failed to applaud and endorse, no matter how much the public interest had been injured, no matter how much political morality had been outraged, no matter how much the independence of parliament had been violated. Mr. Stevenson has stood by the government and excused all its misdeeds, all its official malfeasance, all its disregard of public interests in the mad scramble for boodle for many of its members and for its supporters. The Conservative candidate has never been known to condemn a single act of the Government, no matter how indefensible it might be. He shoulders the record of the Macdonald Administration determined to go, as western politicians would say, "the whole hog." This position may please the partizans and party heelers, but the mass of honest electors, who desire to see Canada, their native or adopted home, wrested from the clutches of the spoilers, who are not only squandering her magnificent resources and discounting her progress, but are familiarising the public with corrupt acts, till the public conscience is becoming deadened—the mass of the electors will prefer patriotism to party slavery, and denounce what the Conservative candidate not only does not denounce, but upholds. The election of the Conservative candidate means, so far as his vote and efforts avail, a perpetuation of the misgovernment under which the country groans, while the election of Mr. Cox means a decision by the people of West Peterborough in favor of honest and economical government.

SIR CHARLES TUPPER is the acknowledged successor of Sir John Macdonald as leader of the Conservative party. Sir John is making, as he says, his last appeal to the electors of Canada, and, of course, his mantle will fall on the shoulders of Sir Charles Tupper, the most corrupt public man in Canada of this generation, and a man whose disregard for truth has earned for him the fitting title of the "Great Stretcher." As a recent instance, a statement of Sir Charles that the Imperial Government had granted a subsidy of a hundred thousand pounds sterling per year as a subsidy to a Pacific mail service for Canada, was telegraphed to London. A despatch from London states that the statement is premature and will injure the project. Sir Charles made the statement for political purposes, and, therefore, the falsehood is considered by his admirers a venial offence. And this is the man, who will publicly give currency to a flat falsehood, who is selected as the leader of one of the great political parties of Canada. Can such a man be honored at home or respected abroad? Has Canadian self-respect sunk so low that such conduct in a public man can be overlooked?

Dominion Elections!

Nomination Day: February 15th.

Polling Day: February 22nd.

A NEW CANDIDATE IN THE FIELD!

HIS PLATFORM:

GENTLEMEN,

I have no desire to tamper with the votes of that noble army of our citizens who freely exercise the Franchise on behalf of their favorite political leaders. But, in order to take a hand in the present political struggle for supremacy between Grit and Tory, I have decided to come out and offer such tempting

BRIBES TO THE ELECTORS

as cannot fail to place me at the head of the polls.

I would scorn, like all other candidates for parliamentary honors, to buy up votes, or do aught that might be construed as a violation of our Election laws. My object is a far more patriotic one, namely—that of making a CLEAN SWEEP of all my Winter Clothing and Tweeds before Election day.

Nor will the secrecy of the Ballot be infringed by asking purchasers whether they will vote for LeBRUN, COX, or STEVENSON. No, not by a home rule scuttle full! But every elector is expected to attend this exciting Political-Winter-Clothing-Sale, and to hurrah for LeBRUN, so as to elect him by an overwhelming majority as the Workingman's Favourite Candidate.

SAMPLES OF THE BRIBES:

SUITS, made to Order - - $12
Formerly sold for $15.

SUITS, made to Order - - $14
Formerly sold for $17.

SUITS, Ready-made, for $5 and upwards.

PANTS made to Order for $3.00——$4.00——$4.50.

If the Electors will only ponder over these facts and see and handle these Bribes for themselves, I feel certain that the 22nd will be a cold day for the other candidates.

The Handiest thing in the World Can be seen as well in the Dark as the Light.

EVERYBODY should have One.

R. W. MUNCASTER.

A Philadelphia Crank.

Ernst Weiss, who speaks excellent English, despite his German name, and who was born in this country, thinks he has discovered the secret of the transmutation of metals. He is a private watchman by occupation, and has devoted his leisure time for years to the elucidation of intricate problems in alchemy. He is a bachelor, about 40 years of age, and occupies a large front room on the third floor of an old-fashioned brick house at Second street and Fairmount avenue. His room is a curiosity shop, and is so filled with books, pamphlets, and curios that there is barely space left for the bed, two chairs, and a table. He has been making this collection for twenty years, and has spent hundreds of dollars in the purchase of books and manuscripts. He has works in Greek, Hebrew, old German, and Latin, and his manuscripts date back hundreds of years. One of the most curious features of his collection is a case of pamphlets on socialistic subjects in the Russian, Polish, German, and French languages, which were issued by the Russian nihilists, but only given a limited circulation before they were suppressed by order of the czar. Hanging against one of the walls of his room is a rare and beautiful bit of tapestry, which was taken from a Turkish harem in the thirteenth century.

Of late years Mr. Weiss has interested himself very much in the subject of spiritualism, and claims to have experienced many wonderful manifestations of the truth of the doctrine. He is opposed to so-called spiritualistic mediums who practice trickery, and a few months ago appeared as a witness against a medium who was tried in this city for obtaining money by false pretenses. He has a large collection of pictures on various subjects drawn by spirit hands, and claims to be in constant communication with friends in the spirit world. Some years ago Mr. Weiss began the study of alchemy, and became so interested in the mystic science that he eagerly bought and read every book and manuscript he could find bearing upon the subject. One day in a junk store he picked up a manuscript written on parchment. The characters were old German black-letter. He carried it home with him. When slowly and laboriously he managed to transcribe the ancient writing, he discovered to his great joy, that it contained the secret for which he had been seeking. The manuscript was a record of a series of experiments made by a German professor of the black art.

Following out the directions contained in the writing, Mr. Weiss began experimenting, and after several attempts he succeeded in making from baser metals something which he believes to be pure gold. A single ingot was made, which is about three inches long, one inch wide, and an inch thick. The stuff resembles gold, and is heavy and ductile. In producing the little bar of precious metal the alchemist spent all his spare money, and when he came to figure up the cost discovered that at the present market price of bullion he had not much more than made expenses. He is confident that when he perfects his apparatus and makes several more experiments he will be able to manufacture gold out of base metal at a very trifling cost.

"It is to continue my experiments in alchemy," he said yesterday, that I am offering my priceless collection of books and manuscripts for sale. I must have money, for the secret that I possess will, with the help of a little capital, enable me to become the richest man in the world. I will be able to control men and to shape events to suit myself. I will be an autocrat greater than the czar of Russia, with power more absolute and undisputed."

Although of medium height, his high forehead and long, flowing beard give him a commanding appearance and he seems taller than he really is. He is of slender build, but his frame is well knit and wiry and his limbs are muscular.—Philadelphia Times.

Enjoy Life.

What a truly beautiful world we live in! Nature gives us grandeur of mountains, glens and oceans, and thousands of means of enjoyment. We can dance, we can sing when in perfect health; but how often do the majority of people feel like giving it up disheartened, discouraged and worn out with disease, when there is no occasion for this feeling, as every sufferer can easily obtain satisfactory proof, that Burdock August Flower, will make them free from disease, as when born. Dyspepsia and Liver Complaint are the direct causes of seventy-five per cent. of such maladies as Biliousness, Indigestion, Sick Headache, Costiveness, Nervous Prostration, Dizziness of the head, Palpitation of the Heart, and other distressing symtoms. Three doses of August Flower will prove its wonderful effect. Sample bottle, 10 cents. Try it. eodw6

EGAN'S IMPERIAL TRUSS.

Read the following extract from a letter of a well-known citizen of St. Catharines,—hundreds like it:

ST. CATHARINES, Sept. 30th, 1885.

GENTLEMEN,—Being over 70 years of age, and over 30 years ruptured, I looked upon my case as hopeless, especially as I tried various appliances without success, among others, recently, two spring-less trusses manufactured in York State, costing me $40. Nothing would retain my Hernia. I have worn your truss over four months, night and day, with great satisfaction and comfort; even to bathe in it the rupture has never come down, it holds me perfectly secure under all circumstances. You may publish it for the benefit of other sufferers. Yours truly, CAPT. H. KING.

This new Spiral Spring Pad Truss has taken ten years to make it perfect; is guaranteed to hold the very worst case during the hardest work or severest strain. It will cure every child sent; and 90 out of every 100 of adults. Be warned—don't waste your money on useless appliances, but send stamp for our treatise; it contains full information, your neighbors' testimony, price list and questions for you to answer. When writing please mention this paper. Address,

LOCAL NEWS.

Special Meeting.

A special meeting of the Town Council will be held on Monday, the 14th of February, 1887, at 10 o'clock, a.m.

Sweepers.

Just received at A. Clegg's, Grand, Gold Medal and Grand Bonspiel Sweepers. A. Clegg has the exclusive sale of the Gold Medal Sweeper for Peterborough. This is the best and newest sweeper in the market.

A Bad Little Boy.

Sammy Skillen is a 14-year-old boy who is already considered a hardened criminal. This morning he was arrested for trying to break open a safe in Hilliard's mill with an axe. He was remanded till Monday, when he will likely be sent to the Reformatory.

Won the Cane.

In the competition for the gold-headed cane last night Mr. Stevenson received 1023 votes and Mr. Cox 902. Supporters of both men bought up ballots in $10 and $5 quantities. Chief Cooper acted as returning officer.

Among Turnbull's new French Dress Goods will be found beautiful tints of Peacock Blue also the new Gobelin shade in several qualities with trimmings to match.

The Protest.

A reference to the advertising columns will show that a protest against the return of Mr. Stration as representative of West Peterborough, has been entered. We have no reason to fear the result. Mr. Carnegie has been beaten at the polls, beaten at the recount, and will be again beaten in the matter of the protest.

Watered with the dew of good intention, warmed by the sun shine of Fair dealing, the dollar you bring us will grow and expand to colossal proportions. R. FAIR.

Oregon Weather.

In a letter dated 21st Jany. 1887, from an old friend Mr. Nicholas Steele, of Oregon, (formerly of Lakefield), he thus describes the winter there. He says "we have had three slight white frosts, but everything is as green as in June in Canada, a great number of flowers are in full bloom in the garden, the fruit trees are budding, our stock are all out in pasture, fall wheat is 14 inches high and growing straight along. I have over 100 acres of it."

Have you seen Turnbull's 6¼ cent Fancy Check Winsey, if not you are missing a bargain.

Success Assured.

Mr. Cox has, with one or two exceptions, completed his series of meetings in the country, which have, without exception, been great successes. The general feeling is that Mr. Cox will be elected by a good majority; but to render this an absolute certainty, every member of the Liberal party must use his unremitting exertions from now until polling day, when a Liberal victory will be assured, and both ridings of Peterborough will be represented in both Parliaments by Liberals.

A commercial tester, we are at the top, but our prices are at the bottom. See what Turnbull is showing this week in new Bedroom Cloths and Cretonnes.

Missionary Meetings.

On Sunday the pulpit of the George street church, and also of the Charlotte street church will be occupied by Rev. L. N. Breudry, M. A., of Montreal, and Rev. J. B. Clarkson, M. A., of Port Hope. Both of these reverend gentlemen are excellent speakers. Mr. Beaudry is famed for his successful labors among the French of the lower province, and also as being a convert from the ranks of the Roman Catholic church. He will preach in the Charlotte street church in the morning, and George street church at night. Mr. Clarkson will be in George street church in the morning and in Charlotte street at night. Missionary sermons will be preached and collections taken.

The Domestic Fashion sheet for February, has arrived at Turnbull's. Call and get one.

Railway Smash-up.

Mr. A. E. Guttridge, town, informs the EXAMINER that on Tuesday afternoon a serious smash-up occured on the Grand Trunk line between Cobourg and Port Hope. He with about sixty other passengers was on the local train going east from Cobourg. The train was composed of freight cars and passenger coaches. When about two miles from Port Hope, an axle of one of the cars in the centre of the train broke, and the train parted. One of the cars was thrown from the track; the succeeding car, colliding with it, was smashed to fragments, the baggage car was dashed across the track and the passenger coaches rolled down the embankment. Meantime the engine before it was stopped went about a quarter of a mile, dragging two derailed cars, tearing up the track and strewing it with broken wheels, twisted rails, etc. Mr. Guttridge does not know if anyone was injured (he himself was badly shaken up) for he at once got on the engine and went to Port Hope. Auxiliary trains from Belleville and Port Hope went out to the scene of the wreck, and the Peterborough 3.55 train went down and brought the passengers to Port Hope.

Kaleidoscopic Karnival.

The First Carnival of the Season a Great Success—List of Prize-winners and Costumers.

A blaze of brilliancy, sweet strains of music, shouts of merry laughter, and crowds of spectators filled the skating rink last night. The grand carnival went off with a bang that will resound throughout the Midland district. Every pains had been taken by the firemen to render this initial carnival the event of the season, and their efforts were crowned with success. At an early hour the rink began to swell with gay professors of the skatorial art and large numbers of spectators, the latter taking possession of the gallery, and looking down upon a scene of glory which amply compensated for the loss of the quarter which had been deposited at the door. Gorgeous streamers and banners floated midway between the ceiling and the floor, relieved along the sides by evergreens, while the ice below was covered with a flitting mass of gaudily dressed humanity, who passed before the eye, in kaleidoscopic confusion, an endless procession of every conceivable color and variety, of costume. During the evening the Fire Brigade Band rendered choice selections of band music. The lunch room, presided over by Mr. S. Ray, was in good running order and supplied refreshments to the needy at a reasonable rate. In a little bower beside the ice sat the judges, Mr. and Mrs. (Dr.) Burnham and Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Lundy, who awarded the prizes. Unfortunately during the giving out of the prizes the structure gave way with a crash that startled everyone, but the occupants were not hurt. Mr. T. Rutherford, chief of the Brigade, acted efficiently as "floor manager."

Appended is a list of the costumers, though a good many failed to hand in their cards and hence are not included below:—

Best Dressed Boy in costume,—L. King, "Prince Arthur."

RACES.—Mile race (4 entries), Mr. Wm. Shevlin; boys race, Master King.

The Carnival proceedings terminated about 10:30, everybody expressing greatest satisfaction with the whole affair. The firemen are to be congratulated on the success of their first carnival, which should warrant them in holding another at an early date. There were not quite so many from a distance as expected, the snowstorm having delayed all traffic.

The Two-Stools Candidate.

To the Editor of the Examiner.

DEAR SIR,—I assume that when a political candidate comes before the people soliciting their suffrages, he is open to criticism of his acts as affecting his fitness for the position he seeks. In addition to the complete sympathy of Mr. James Stevenson the Conservative candidate, with a corrupt and extravagant government, some of his acts are not such as to give the electors confidence in his uprightness and straightforwardness. I beg to submit a sample action of the Conservative candidate, which shows his double dealing and duplicity and his readiness to sacrifice public interests to his own advantage. The facts are as follows. Early in or previous to May, Mr. Yelland and other gentlemen were soliciting contributions to a fund for the enforcement of the Scott Act. Among others Mr. Stevenson was approached, and asked to contribute. He objected saying he could not afford it, but assured the gentlemen that his sympathy was with the enforcement of the Scott Act. On being pressed, however, Mr. Stevenson promised that if the Town Council could be got to grant him a sum of money ostensibly for charity purposes, he (Mr. Stevenson) would see that $100 of it would be devoted to the fund for the enforcement of the Scott Act. Accordingly on May 17th 1886, the following resolution was passed in the Town Council.

Moved by Mr. Yelland, seconded by Mr. Moore,—That the treasurer is hereby instructed to place to the Bank to the credit of, the Mayor at his disposal for charity, the sum of two hundred dollars.—Carried.

The cheque for $200 was accordingly issued by the Town Treasurer in favor of Mr. Stevenson, the exact condition being that $100 of this sum should be paid by the Mayor into the funds of the Scott Act Association for the enforcement of the Scott Act, and at the meeting in the Opera House when subscriptions to the Scott Act fund were being received and announced, Mr. Stevenson's subscription, under the guise of "A Friend," was included in the amount totalling the $5,000.

I am at a loss to fittingly characterize so outrageous a breach of trust on the part of the Mayor, and as flagrant an example of double-dealing, for the sake of satisfying the Scott Act Association, that he (Mr. Stevenson) was in sympathy with their attempts to enforce an Act of which he was, before its adoption, and has been since its enforcement, the most bitter enemy and the recognized champion of its opponents. While he was courting the friendship of the opponents of the Scott Act as their bradest and most influential co-worker, he was actually, secretly conniving to defeat the aims of his friends, and to secretly promote the success of the Scott Act. And then, the means employed to court the friendship of the Scott Act party! It is bad enough for any honorable man to play a double part—the part of a traitor—but that he should dare to dream of using the public funds intrusted to his care—the hard-earned money of the taxpayer—to pay which, more than one household was sold up—that he should have the hardihood of thinking of taking the bread out of the mouths of the starving poor to use it for gaining popularity for himself is simply astounding. It seems to me to be a corrupt act, worthy of a supporter of a corrupt government. The Conservative candidate's course in this matter is an outrage on the town on the part of its Mayor, and an outrage on the hotel keepers, who have heretofore relied on Mr. Stevenson's professed friendship to them. A man who will prove false to one set of friends cannot be trusted by another, and a man who will betray his trust will not need much urging to betray his trust as a member of parliament. Mr. Stevenson's sole object was to make himself solid with the Scott Act party at the expense of the town treasury, and at the expense of the liquor interests. Mr. Stevenson has worked up a considerable reputation for charitable acts, but the main object has been the advantage of James Stevenson "first, last and finally." Turn up the town accounts and see who has had to pay for all the coal, gas and wood, in connection with which the present Mayor has won so much reputation for charitable actions and intentions. The example I have given of the means employed to gain popularity and reputation for liberal giving, furnishes a key to the methods Mr. Stevenson employs to gain his personal ends and secure the suffrages of the people of Peterborough. If the Conservative candidate's attitude in respect to the great public questions, were, as it is in many respects entirely in accord with my own, he has in the regard treated of in the above letter, forfeited my confidence beyond redemption, and I fancy that in trying to sit on two stools at once, he will come to the ground in a very cold place on Feb. 22nd.

I remain your obedient servant,
ELECTOR.

The Controverted Election Act

OF ONTARIO.

ELECTION FOR THE ELECTORAL DISTRICT OF THE WEST RIDING OF THE COUNTY OF PETERBOROUGH, HOLDEN ON THE TWENTY-FIRST AND TWENTY-EIGHTH DAYS OF DECEMBER, A. D., 1886.

THE PETITIONER NAMES WILLIAM HENRY MOORE, of the Town of Peterborough, in the County of Peterborough, a practising Solicitor, whom the Petitioner authorises to act as his Agent. Notices addressed to the said Petitioner, may be left at the office of Maclaren, Macdonald, Merritt & Shepley, at Number 28 and 30, Toronto Street, in the City of Toronto.

JOHN CARNEGIE,

Agents for W. H. Moore.
Peterborough, Solicitor.

In the Court of Appeal for Ontario,

The Controverted Elections Acts of Ontario.

Election for the Electoral District of the West Riding of the County of Peterborough, holden on the Twenty-First and Twenty-Eighth days of December, A.D., 1886.

The Petition of JOHN CARNEGIE, of the Township of Smith, in the County of Peterborough and Province of Ontario, Publisher, whose name is subscribed hereto, showeth as follows:—

1. Your Petitioner is a person who was a candidate at the above Election, and who had a right to vote and did vote thereat.

2. Your Petitioner states that the said Election was holden on the Twenty-First and Twenty-Eighth days of December, A.D., 1886, (the former day being the day of Nomination, and the latter the day of Polling), when JAMES R. STRATTON, of the Town of Peterborough, in the County of Peterborough, Publisher, and your Petitioner were candidates, and the Returning Officer has returned the said JAMES R. STRATTON as being duly elected.

3. And your Petitioner states that the said JAMES R. STRATTON was both personally and by his agents, and by other persons on his behalf, before, during and after the said Election, guilty of "Corrupt Practices" as that term is defined in and by the Election Act of Ontario and the Controverted Elections Act of Ontario and by Section Four of the "Election Law Amendment Act of 1881," whereby the said JAMES R. STRATTON was and is and has become incapable of being elected or returned at the said Election or to serve in the Legislative Assembly for Ontario, and the said Election and return of the said JAMES R. STRATTON was and is wholly null and void.

4. That such Corrupt Practices and other illegal acts and practices affected the result of the said Election, and the said Election is, in fact and in law, a void Election

5. That the majority of votes and ballots, counted in favor of the said JAMES R. STRATTON, is only an apparent and colorable majority.

Wherefore your Petitioner prays:

1. That it may be determined that the said JAMES R. STRATTON was not duly elected and returned, and the said Election was and is null and void.

2. And that the said JAMES R. STRATTON was personally guilty of Corrupt Practices, within the meaning of or as defined by the said Election Acts and Controverted Elections Acts of Ontario, and by the said Section Four of the said Election Law Amendment Act of 1881, and that Corrupt Practices, as defined by the said Statutes, were committed by the agents of and other persons on behalf of the said JAMES R. STRATTON, by and with his actual knowledge and consent.

Dated the Eighteenth day of February, A.D., 1887.
(Signed) JOHN CARNEGIE.

This Petition is filed by Messrs. Maclaren, Macdonald & Shepley, of the City of Toronto, in the County of York, Solicitors, agents for William Henry Moore, of the Town of Peterborough, in the County of Peterborough, Solicitor for the above-named Petitioner.

MONDAY, FEBRUARY 14, 1887.

BISMARCK WORKS IT.

THE POWER OF THE VATICAN ON THE GOVERNMENT SIDE.

BERLIN, Feb. 13.—Adhesions of the Centre candidates to the Septennate are announced daily. In a number of districts where former deputies adhere to the Triennate the Catholic vote is becoming divided. Many candidates are trying to avoid pledging themselves definitely. The attitude of the party on the whole promises an ultimate submission to the instructions of the Vatican. There will probably be returned to the Reichstag as many Catholics as there were in the last House, but they will be divided, a large minority voting for the Septennate. The Progressists are losing heart, and admit the triumph of the Government. It is now estimated that they will lose twenty seats to the Conservatives. The Socialists maintain an unbroken front and hold their own. The prospect is that there will be slight gains for the Government candidates in the six Berlin circles. It is reported that Prince Bismarck is not inclined to favor the Emperor's issuing an electoral manifesto, trusting that success is assured without the Emperor being pledged to assurances of peace or threatenings of war.

The North German Gazette says that since Gen. Boulanger assumed charge of the French War Office not a day has passed without measures being taken to augment the offensive strength of the French army. The patriotic attitude of the French Chamber of Deputies and the French press toward the credits Boulanger considers necessary ought to cover with shame the Progressist and Catholic parties in Germany which, when the glorious creator of German unity declares that the sacrifice he asks from the nation has no other aim than peace, refuse him the necessary means to defend the frontiers of the Fatherland.

Baden advices report increasing arrivals of reinforcements. At Saarbruck a regiment of calvary has been billeted upon the inhabitants, and at Bisech four batteries of artillery have been stationed. There is a constant movement of troops between Metz and posts on the frontier of Luxemburg.

BOULANGER CALLS A HALT.

He Will Order No More War Preparations Without Consulting His Colleagues.

BERLIN, Feb. 12.—The Nachrichten says: "It has been decided at Paris to discontinue the despatch of reinforcements to the frontier until the 21st inst. Gen. Boulanger has promised his colleagues that he will order no more war preparations without their approval."

Kreuz Zeitung, commenting on the war rumors, says: "The danger of war will not cease to be acute until stable conditions have been established in France, and the further development of the military measures of Gen. Boulanger have been stayed. The peaceful assurances of the French Government are over-estimated, as the governing powers of France have only a slight hold over the nation. So far as Germany's preparations go, nothing can be founded upon the calling out of the reserves. The fact that 70,000 reserves are under drill will not hasten the mobilization of the army a single hour."

A FLOOD AT FORT WAYNE.

The Inhabitants of the City Seeking Places of Safety.

FORT WAYNE, Ind., Feb. 12.—The flood now exceeds all previous records. The water in the three rivers, St. Joseph, St. Mary's and Maumee, has risen twenty-six inches since 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon, and is still rising an inch an hour. The city is entirely cut off from communication by wagon roads with the north country and the water is even with the ties of the Lake Shore and Muncie Railways and is threatening wholesale destruction of bridges. Scores of families were removed to places of safety to-day with great difficulty.

London Stock and Money Market.

LONDON, Feb. 13.—Discount was in moderate demand during the week at 2½ to 3⅜ on the Stock Exchange. Early in the week there was a marked recovery in prices in every department, with a tendency to rise. The improvement was checked on Friday, however, after which there was a cessation of buying. Yesterday the market closed with a general reaction downward, which was especially strong in foreign loans, stock being again thrown upon the market from Berlin and Paris, which dealers here were more disinclined to take. Russians, French rentes, Italians and Turkish fell 1 to 1½ yesterday. American railroad securities were largely purchased during the week, and there was a rapid rally in prices, but on Friday the rise slightly abated, and yesterday there was a decided decline, and dealing was sluggish.

The Pope and Septennate.

BERLIN, Feb. 13.—The North German Gazette remarks the notable display of incapacity to conceive, in their full bearing, the recent manifestations of the Pope's bill in the quarter where pretension is made to the most correct and profound comprehension of the objects of the Catholic Church. The Pope, the Gazette says, advocates the septennate because it tends to uphold peace and authority, which are of equally vital importance for Catholicism and the state, and which Herr Windthorst long opposed. Cardinal Jacobini's letter is the Pope's protest to this abuse of his name and order to obey the encyclical, wherein is stigmatized the egotism of political parties. They misrepresent the Holy See who attribute to it diplomatic motives. The Pope desires the preservation of Germany, because it is conducive to peace.

Eight Feet of Snow in Montana.

HELENA, Montana, Feb. 12.—The snow is drifted to enormous depths and people living at the mountain bases are in imminent danger of meeting a horrible fate beneath an avalanche, or freezing to death. Should another protracted storm occur it is believed that hundreds would succumb to its terrors. As it is more people have been frozen to death this winter than for a quarter of a century. In the vicinity of the Middle Jeanne and Grand Central mines in Bald Mountain the snow is eight feet deep on the level and travel impossible except on snowshoes.

A Treaty Between Germany and China.

BERLIN, Feb. 12.—It is understood that the Marquis Tseng's recent visit resulted in the conclusion of a secret treaty between Germany and China which will lead to large business between German contractors and the Chinese Government.

DISORDER IN BRITAIN

MR. GLADSTONE WRITES ANOTHER HOME RULE LETTER.

LONDON, Feb. 12.—Mr. Gladstone, writing in support of Mr. Slagg, candidate for the parliamentary seat for Burnley, made vacant by the death of Peter Rylands, says: "For the last twelve months I have been telling the English, Scotch and Welsh that their Parliament will continue paralysed and its business be neglected until it settles the Irish question. The Scotch and Welsh believed that, but the southern English did not believe it and they stopped the way. They will pay heavily for the delay. Before we reach a certain conclusion we will have to pay, with them, and after the thing has been done the Tories will begin to say and believe they have always been Home Rulers. Costly playing with national interests seems to be the main purpose for which the Tories exist. They have played for a certain time with all great questions for the last fifty or sixty years. When they leave off playing with one they soon find another with which to play again. I hope that Burnley will give them a lesson."

Election in Antrim.

DUBLIN, Feb. 12.—The elections in North Antrim to fill the Parliamentary vacancy caused by the resignation of Mr. McNaughton, Conservative, resulted in the return of C. E. Lewis, Conservative, who polled 3638 votes against 2838 obtained by McElroy, Home Ruler, and 424 by Traill, Liberal Unionist.

A Turbulent Sunday in Ireland.

DUBLIN, Feb. 13.—At Loughrea to-day 200 police were refused food and shelter. Michael Davitt arrived in the morning. He refused to accept a copy of the Government proclamation prohibiting the proposed Nationalist meeting. Davitt addressed the meeting in the afternoon in the League rooms, which were barricaded. He spoke at Woodford in the evening.

At midnight on Saturday gangs of Orangemen and Catholics pelted one another with stones on the Falls-road in Belfast. They were dispersed by the police. One man was stabbed and some policemen were bruised.

The meeting announced to be held at Youghal to-day, and proclaimed by the Government, was held at Terry Point, Waterford. Mr. Tanner spoke. The crowd burned copies of the proclamation amid cheers and groans. After the meeting the crowd returned to Youghal and had some encounters with the police.

THE MONTREAL CARNIVAL.

It has Been Much More Successful Than the Promoters had Hoped.

MONTREAL, Feb. 13.—The Carnival of 1887 is now a thing of the past and has been a more pronounced success than was ever hoped for. The snow blockade was raised on Saturday morning and the majority of the visitors have departed, leaving the city in practically its normal state. Nowhere is this more noticeable than at the Windsor, which, during the last week, had every window lighted up and to-night it looks as deserted as a Protestant Church on a week day evening. The amount of business brought to the city by visitors has been remarkable, nearly all the retail houses reporting unprecedented sales, particularly furriers.

The important events of the afternoon were the drive of the Tandem Club and the annual races of the Montreal Snowshoe Club. The former was the best turnout in the club's history, and was participated in by many Americans who expressed great pleasure at the magnificence of the equipages. The Governor-General drove at the head of the procession in a very handsome pair.

The carnival was closed by a grand fireworks display at the ice castle, which was witnessed by a good crowd, including those citizens who were unable to be present on Wednesday.

Several more daring robberies have been reported and the police have some suspicious characters in custody who will be brought up in court on Monday.

THE CARDINALS ARRIVE AT ROME.

They Are Met at the Station by Many Bishops and Laymen.

BALTIMORE, Feb. 13.—The American has the following special from Rome: "The American cardinals arrived in Rome this afternoon. Father O'Connell, rector of the American College, met them at Geneva. They were met at the station by Archbishops Cavey, Melbourne and Kerby, of the Irish College; Bishop Keane, of Richmond; Monsignors Callahan, Stonor, Straneiro, Count Moscioli, Vice-Rector Deasy and many prominent laymen. Cardinal Gibbons will make his home while at Rome in the American College, being assigned to the apartments formerly occupied by the late Cardinal McCloskey.

Suicide of an Hotelkeeper.

ST. THOMAS, Feb. 12.—News reached the city this morning of the suicide of Edwin Sales, hotelkeeper of Courtland. Sales had been in poor health for some time, and of late had been in financial difficulties. He had brooded over his troubles for some time and last evening loaded his shotgun and locking himself in his bedroom placed the muzzle to his forehead and fired. The report of the gun was heard by the family, and when the door was forced he was found lying on the floor dead. He was 45 years of age and leaves a wife and two sons and two daughters.

Heavy Failure in Montreal.

MONTREAL, Feb. 12.—A meeting of the creditors of Milton Pennington, general merchant and manufacturers' agent, St. Paul-street, was held today. His liabilities are placed at $95,770, and assets $67,170, although it is said the latter figures will be reduced by at least $20,000. All the creditors with one exception are in Montreal.

To be Married at Rome.

ROME, Feb. 13.—Miss Terry, of South Carolina, who has been received into the Catholic Church by Monsignor Sallua, will marry Count Misciali at the Municipio on Feb. 20. Cardinal Gibbons, if his engagements permit, will afterward perform the religious ceremony in the chapel of the American college. The cardinal confirmed Miss Terry's mother.

A Strike Riot Notice at Glasgow.

GLASGOW, Feb. 13.—Some Socialist speakers addressed a crowd at the Nelson monument today on behalf of the Lanark miners. After the meeting the crowd pelted the mounted policemen with mud and stones. The policemen charged and scattered the mob.

Duel at New Orleans.

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 13.—A duel with small swords was fought to-day by Robert Roman, son of Judge Alfred Roman, and Sidney L. Theard, son of Hon. Paul E. Theard. Theard received a slight flesh wound in the hand and the fight was stopped.

Pittsburg Threatened by a Flood.

PITTSBURG, Feb. 12.—The rivers are still rising here and about three feet more water are expected. This will flood the flats on the north and south sides and cause a suspension of work in all the mills and factories along the river banks.

Suicide at Wiesbaden.

BERLIN, Feb. 13.—A Russian lady, said to be the divorced wife of a consular official at Philadelphia, has committed suicide at Wiesbaden by shooting herself in a cab.

TAKEN TO AN INSANE ASYLUM.

Scandal Driven Rev. O. J. Booth of Buffalo To Drink.

BUFFALO N.Y., Feb. 13.—The following item in a Sunday paper of this city will cause much regret to many friends in Canada of the Rev. Mr. Booth, formerly of St. Catharines, but lately of the Church of the Ascension in this city: "The Rev. Oliver J. Booth, the beloved and admired rector of the Church of the Ascension in Buffalo has, with his own consent, been taken to the Utica Insane Asylum, on the certificates of Drs. Coakly, Wychoff and Granger, who pronounced the reverend gentleman incapable of restraining an intense craving for stimulants."

THE CRISIS IN ITALY.

It is Thought Senor Depretis will be Asked to Form a Ministry.

ROME, Feb. 12.—The Opinione says King Humbert has asked Count Du Robilant, Minister of Foreign Affairs in the Cabinet which has resigned, to form a Ministry. It is not believed that he will accept the commission. It is thought more probable that Signor Depretis, the Prime Minister of the retiring Government, will finally be entrusted with the task. The Italian press violently attacks Count Du Robilant and find plenty of stimulus in the articles against him published in the German and Austrian papers.

Dreadful Accident in a Saw Mill.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Feb. 13.—The saw in a portable sawmill on the farm of L. D. Wright, a wealthy farmer, 8 miles from California, Mo., blew to pieces yesterday, one part of it cutting open Mr. Wright's breast, exposing his heart and killing him instantly, and another piece carrying away a part of the head of Miss Thompson, a young lady who had gone to the mill to call the men to dinner. She died in four hours.

Jacobini's Successor.

PARIS, Feb. 12.—L'Univers (newspaper) announces that the Papal Nuncio at Madrid, Mgr. Rampolla del Tindaro, has been appointed Pontifical Secretary, succeeding Cardinal Jacobini.

HOME AND FOREIGN.

The Hotel Continental in Berlin was burned on Saturday.

A heavy snowstorm in Spain has caused a stoppage of traffic.

The French Minister to Morocco has been summoned to return to Paris.

To-Night!

A Grand Rally of every working Liberal in Town is called for THIS EVENING, in the Liberal Club Rooms, over Telegraph Office.

The Daily Examiner.

MONDAY, FEBRUARY 14, 1887.

THE BOODLER EYKERT.

Mr. Stevenson has condemned in the strongest manner the conduct of Boodler Eykert, and yet the latter is running as Conservative candidate in Lincoln with the endorsation of Hon. Thomas White and all the leaders of the Conservative party. Mr. Stevenson's harness evidently does not fit him just yet.

TRUE TO THE LETTER.

The Lindsay Post truthfully says:—"No man has done more for Peterborough than Mr. Geo. A. Cox. No man in the province has done more for his town than Mr. Cox has done for Peterborough. His judicious and far-seeing enterprise has enormously enhanced Peterborough's progress and prosperity; yet everything he has done is being twisted and turned by the Review to his disadvantage. The Review is displaying remarkable malignity and want of local patriotism in its unscrupulous attacks on Mr. Cox,—all to injure him because he is a candidate for parliamentary honors."

THE REGINA SCAFFOLD.

A number of Cavan Tories honored Mr. Stevenson with their presence at Hastilleboro Friday night, and probably to gratify them, he fairly erected the scaffold and hanged Riel over again in due form. He stated that the Half-breeds had no grievances whatever, and that the Government deserved credit for hanging Riel. Mr. Stevenson is a little inclined to be bloodthirsty when speaking on the borders of Cavan. Mr. Carnegie also had a fine burst of eloquence on the same topic; he threw off the cowed and beaten look he has carried about with him of late, and trod the scaffold as if on his native heath. He, however, did not venture to say that the Half-breeds had no grievances, knowing that the Government had settled nearly two thousand claims.

THE LEGAL LUMINARY.

The financial authority of the Conservative party, Mr. A. P. Pousette, Q.C., at Benfort on Thursday night delighted the average Tory by explaining away the national debt—that there was no debt at all, and if there was one it was a national blessing. He also showed the farmers what a great blessing the N.P. was, because it put a duty on fine wool, such as they did not grow, and put no duty on what they did grow. When he was told the very reverse was the case, he then acknowledged he had been misinformed, but said he could easily change his argument and argue the other way, which he did. Mr. Stevenson will have to buy a muzzle to take around with him.

THEY CAN'T ALL GET IT.

The Conservative party in the present contest are working two vacant positions "for all they are worth." There are about forty applicants for the position of Street and Bridge Inspector, and while the applicants are informed that they will have to "wait until after the elections," each one receives the assurance more or less directly that his chance is sure, but he must work hard for Mr. Stevenson, the Conservative candidate. Each applicant is therefore converted into a zealous electioneering agent, feeling certain that he will get the place if he gives zealous service to the cause. In a similar manner the numerous applicants for the position of caretaker of the new post office and his deputy, are worked. Now there is sure to be somebody disappointed. We can't have forty street and bridge inspectors or a score of post office caretakers and deputies. Only one man can get each of the positions named and it becomes the applicants to reflect upon their chances. Each man will be led to believe that he has "the straight tip"—is "solid" for the position, but after all only one can get the position. The Conservative party cannot be trusted in their promises of office. Recollect their base breach of faith, and disregard of a specific written agreement by a minister of the Crown in the matter of the post office site, and then it will be seen how "easily" the chances of an applicant for any position is. The only way any man can be sure is to get the appointment before February 22nd. After the elections applicants will be disposed of in short order and perhaps some outsider will replace the grist of applicants who have worked so hard for the Conservative candidate in order to secure place they seek.

HAPPINESS AND SORROW.

SERMON BY LAYMAN.

(Written for The Examiner.)

There was never happiness without sorrow. They are two extremes, but in their case extremes meet. As sunshine is succeeded by clouds so clouds are followed by sunshine. Storms and tempests may arise, but they serve to clear and purify the atmosphere though they leave rain behind. And then follow days and weeks and months of pleasantness and peace. The sun shines out bright and warm again, the fruits of the earth grow and are multiplied, the birds sing sweetly as before, the sorrow passes away, and happiness reigns supreme again. Man's life is full of sorrow, but he creates a great deal of that sorrow himself, and when that sorrow prevails he could, if he would, substitute for it much of it, contentment and happiness. But man is never satisfied. When he is well off he either does not know it or does not care for it. He is never content to let well enough alone. The result therefore often is that he throws away his opportunities and makes trouble for himself when there was none before. Happiness there may be, but sorrow there will be. The latter comes to us in many ways, in disappointments, the loss of relatives and friends and the loss of property. No one can get through this world without experiencing sorrow. We may strive to guard against it, but it appears to be inseparable from human life, which is full of trouble, as the sparks fly upwards. But happiness, in a measure, is of our own creation. The Creator has liberally conferred upon us the means of enjoyment, and the loss of it, in many cases, is the result of our own recklessness or foolishness. A man becomes rich and for the time being he is happy, but he soon finds that riches fly away and his happiness is changed to sorrow. Another man is sitting by the death bed of his wife. He is thinking of his past happiness and then of the sorrow and his great loss. He knows that he cannot control or prevent the approach of her death and he feels that his wife and companion will soon be no more. There is room for happiness and enjoyment everywhere, but there is greater and more sorrow. There is great joy in the household over the new born babe, or over some unexpected good fortune, but the parents soon discover that in the midst of life we are in death, and the good fortune has turned to grief. Few persons know the happiness of contentment. They are soon satisfied. They toil on, they secure wealth at any price. They deprive themselves of society and comfort, all for the sake of a little more of this world's goods, and in an instant are cut down and are gone, and what they strove so hard to obtain passes into other hands. They thought that after a little more money they would leave their cares behind them and then take their ease. But it was not to be. I once knew a man who was almost willing to give his soul for the possession of riches. He was very successful in his object and he said that after the accumulation of a little more he would retire and spend the remainder of his days in the enjoyment of his possessions and in leading a religious life. But man proposes and God disposes, and this man was suddenly called to face his Maker and his soul went to its dread account and to a sorrow that never ends. Man's days are few and are full of trouble. Go down and walk through the silent grave yards of this town. They are the burial places of those who have lived among us, and were just as full of life and hope as we are to day. They never thought that death was so near. They accompanied the remains of their departed friends to those last resting places, but never gave one thought to themselves. But in a little while they too were laid by their side. And every day witnesses the long train of mourners passing along to perform the last rite over another and still another of departing friends. Yet the world goes on all the same as before and the survivors never take to themselves the lessons that are being taught them day by day, and the losses, and the grief, and sorrow that have gone before are disregarded, and they live on just as if their troubles were never to come and their lives were never to end. It is not peace and happiness which they are striving for, but it is the acquisition of something more, which they do not want and the possession of which can only bring trouble and pain. The man who accumulates millions is not happy. He is only a toiler and a slave. And in a short time he has to leave it all behind. I once heard of a person who had, with hard labor, accumulated a fortune of many millions of dollars. He was lying upon his sick bed and so had time to reflect and think of himself. His money did not bring him peace, and he thought of his early days when wealth did not oppress his soul. He was conversing one day with an old friend, and he told him he had been thinking so much of the time when he was young and poor and had just married, and when he and his young wife occupied but two rented rooms, and he said those were his days of happiness, and that he would freely give up all his millions if he could only be as he was there once more. The possession of property sufficient for all our reasonable wants is desirable and commendable, and serves to make the journey of life smoother and easier, but all wealth beyond this is useless and only brings trouble and discontent. A man's life has got to resolve itself into the questions of happiness or sorrow. He will, in any event, undoubtedly have both, but it is in his own power to increase the one and diminish the other if he thinks proper to do so. As a general rule, he does not try hard after happiness, and as a general rule, he wantonly and unnecessarily brings sorrow upon himself. The latter comes by the neglect of the former. It feeds and grows strong because human frailties and human passions encourage evil rather than good, and people, by their reckless mode of life, take their entertainments and pleasures, although they do surely bring sorrow in their train, rather than live and do according to nature's laws and so enjoy happiness and life. I once asked a man to give me his idea of happiness. He at once said that it consisted in having plenty of money and plenty of amusements and pleasures. He said life was nothing without these. Some years after I saw the same individual and he asked me did I remember the conversation which he and I had upon this subject. He then told me how he had changed his mind. He said the intervening years had taught him the sad lesson that true happiness rested upon a conscience at peace with God and man. That wealth oftener brings misery than happiness and he said that the man who earned his daily bread by the sweat of his brow possessed more real contentment than the man with his millions, that he was at peace with all the world, even though he was poor, with his mind free from care, and he built his hopes of the future upon the one sure foundation, and that was the man whom the world might well envy. As a general rule there is too much selfishness in the world to admit of the enjoyment of true happiness. And the wants and wishes and habits of the people all lead the other way. The struggles for wealth and honor and power all combine to destroy man's peace of mind, and the recklessness and excitement consequent upon the prevalence of those evils all tend to create discontent and sorrow. And it thus comes in fact many persons look upon the existence of happiness as a mere idea, a mere imagination, and they say that man's life is full of trouble. And so it is, but this only shows that this world is not man's abiding place, that his days here are soon ended and that peace of happiness are only to be found, if at all, when this life has passed away. But few persons live for the future. They don't appear to consider that they are fast travelling on to another world, a world which never ends, and that their pleasures are but passing shadows, without life or hope. The fact is there is no real permanent happiness to be found. It is no sooner comes than it goes again like the clear sky which is suddenly overshadowed with clouds. Man's mind is never at rest. It is always looking for something which it cannot get, or getting, which it cannot retain. It is never satisfied. It soon tires of present possessions and longs for something new, and this life is a continued struggle between things that are and things to come, and it seems that the only rest is in the grave. People struggle on and on, always looking for something they never get, expecting contentment which never comes. One year succeeds another, time quickly passes away, men weary themselves looking for that which they never find, always dreaming of the good things to come. Their lives are one dull, monotonous round of weary labour, and they toil on and continue to toil on, always hoping but always disappointed, until life's troublous journey is ended. It has been all a dream, the happiness which they sought for has never been found, and now, when too late, they see the darkness coming and hear the hoarse roar of the deep waters of disappointment and trouble, which are rushing on to engulph them, and they go down and are seen no more. And thus ends all their trials and sorrows here and their hope of a happiness which never comes.

Dominion Elections!

Nomination Day: February 15th.
Polling Day: February 22nd.

A NEW CANDIDATE IN THE FIELD!

HIS PLATFORM:

GENTLEMEN,

I have no desire to tamper with the votes of that noble army of our citizens who freely exercise the Franchise on behalf of their favorite political leaders. But, in order to take a hand in the present political struggle for supremacy between Grit and Tory, I have decided to come out and offer such tempting

BRIBES TO THE ELECTORS

as cannot fail to place me at the head of the polls.

I would scorn, like all other candidates for parliamentary honors, to buy up votes, or do aught that might be construed as a violation of our Election laws. My object is a far more patriotic one, namely—that of making a CLEAN SWEEP of all my Winter Clothing and Tweeds before Election day.

Nor will the secrecy of the Ballot be infringed by asking purchasers whether they will vote for LEBRUN, COX, or STEVENSON. No, not by a home rule scuttle full! But every elector is expected to attend this exciting Political-Winter-Clothing-Sale, and to hurrah for LEBRUN, so as to elect him by an overwhelming majority as the Workingman's Favourite Candidate.

SAMPLES OF THE BRIBES:

SUITS, made to Order - - $12
Formerly sold for $15.

SUITS, made to Order - - $14
Formerly sold for $17.

SUITS, Ready-made, for $5
and upwards.

PANTS made to Order for
$3.00——$4.00——$4.50.

If the Electors will only ponder over these facts and see and handle these Bribes for themselves, I feel certain that the 22nd will be a cold day for the other candidates.

Address and Presentation—A Double Surprise Party.

Monday evening, 31st ult., a number of warm personal friends of Mr. and Mrs. Brotherstone, of Villiers, assembled at their residence, to the great surprise of the occupants. A still greater surprise was in store. The following address was read accompanied by the presentation of a handsome overcoat and fur cap to Mr. Brotherstone and a beautiful shawl and pair of kid gloves to Mrs. Brotherstone:—

Mr. William Brotherstone:

DEAR SIR,—When we learned that you and your family—old and highly respected settlers in this neighborhood—were about to remove from our midst to take up your abode at Havelock, we were deeply grieved at the thought of parting with those who had been so long and so highly respected by all in this neighborhood. When we consider that you have resided almost continuously since you immigrated to this country, over thirty five years ago, in this vicinity, and during the greater part of that time you have acted as our village blacksmith and part of the time as our postmaster, and that in all your transactions and dealings with your customers you have acted honestly and uprightly, we feel more deeply the loss we are about to sustain in your removal from our midst.

Your genial and obliging disposition and your many other qualities of both head and heart have made you very many friends by whom you will be long held in pleasant remembrance.

We would now ask Mrs. Brotherstone and yourself to accept these gifts as a slight token of the esteem in which you are held by the entire neighborhood; and though we may not again see your genial faces in our midst as usual, our sincere wish is that when we cross over the river of death we may meet in that better land where the friendship begun here on earth may have a happy reunion.

Signed on behalf of the neighbors.

Villiers, Jan. 31st, 1887.

Mr. Brotherstone, overcome with surprise, briefly thanked them for the totally unexpected gifts, which he and Mrs. Brotherstone would always cherish as momentoes of their happy sojourn amongst the kind and sociable inhabitants of Villiers. A pleasant evening was spent together.

Prohibition and Politics.

The anti-liquor question is a strong plank in the political platform, and one safe to lay hold of. All intoxicating beverages are safest when let alone, even in medicine. The Committee of the French Chamber of Deputies on the abrogation of the Concordat has affirmed, by a vote of 11 to 9, the principle of separation of Church and State.

Rest and Cold.

Is a never failing cause of disease. At this season of the year neuralgia, toothache, and a host of similar diseases are rampant. The great question, then, is to find the quickest, surest, and most economical remedy. Polson's NERVILINE exactly fills these requirements. It is prompt, efficient, and most economical, for it exceeds in power every known remedy, and is as cheap as inferior articles. A 10-cent sample bottle will give every person a chance to test it. Large bottles only 25 cents. 6-1w7

A Cozy Girl's Wage.

A Stratford girl was fined $1 and costs last week by the police magistrate for using abusive language.

Astonishing Success.

It is the duty of every person who has used Boschee's German Syrup to let its wonderful qualities be known to their friends in curing Consumption, severe Coughs, Croup, Asthma, Pneumonia, Sore Throat and all throat and lung diseases. No person can use it without immediate relief. Three doses will relieve any case, and we consider it the duty of all Druggists to recommend it to the poor, dying consumptive, at least to try one bottle, as 30,000 dozen bottles were sold last year, and no one case where it failed was reported. Such a medicine as the German Syrup cannot be too widely known. Ask your druggist about it. sample bottles to try, only 10 cents. Regular size, 75 cents. Sold by all Druggists and dealers, in the United States and Canada. eodw4

Defrauding the Press.

A lost horse blanket was advertised from the Methodist pulpit in Mount Forest one Sunday evening recently.

Brain Work.

requires for its successful and pleasurable pursuit a full, uniform and continuous supply of pure, rich blood to the brain. If, through the torpidity of the liver, the blood becomes foul with bile, the brain is poisoned and over-stimulated with the excess of blood which the irritated heart sends to it with frantic impulses. Dizziness, heaviness, loss of memory, impossibility of application to any kind of work, reveal the truth. To relieve this, and preserve not only the brain but the whole system in the best working order, Dr. Pierce's "Golden Medical Discovery" will be found invaluable. 6dw7

Matrimonial Octave.

A Georgia man is said by the local papers to be "living pleasantly with his eighth wife."

Invisible but Instantaneous

All pains or aches will be instantly removed by a few drops of Fluid Lightning applied over the affected parts. No time lost; no nauseous medicines needed; no poulticing or using greasy liniments. It will not blister or discolor the skin. Sold at 25c. per bottle by John McKee Druggist. Sufferers from Neuralgia assure, us that they never fear it when their house contains a bottle of Fluid Lightening. eodw7

A Good Name.

The best recommendation of anything is its popularity where it has been longest known. Throughout the Dominion of Canada there is no more effectual medicine for coughs, colds, hoarseness, sore throat, bronchitis and asthma, than Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam, for sale by all druggists. 2w7d

GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY

CURES ALL HUMORS,
from a common Blotch, or Eruption, to the worst Scrofula. Salt-rheum, "Fever-sores," Scaly or Rough Skin, in short, all diseases caused by bad blood are conquered by this powerful, purifying, and invigorating medicine. Great Eating Ulcers rapidly heal under its benign influence. Especially has it manifested its potency in curing Tetter, Rose Rash, Boils, Carbuncles, Sore Eyes, Scrofulous Sores and Swellings, Hip-Joint Disease, White Swellings, Goitre, or Thick Neck, and Enlarged Glands. Send ten cents in stamps for a large treatise, with colored plates, on Skin Diseases, or the same amount for a treatise on Scrofulous Affections. "THE BLOOD IS THE LIFE." Thoroughly cleanse it by using Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and good digestion, a fair skin, buoyant spirits, vital strength, and soundness of constitution, will be established.

CONSUMPTION,
which is Scrofulous Disease of the Lungs, is promptly and certainly arrested and cured by this God-given remedy, if taken before the last stages of the disease are reached. From its wonderful power over this terribly fatal disease, when first offering this now celebrated remedy to the public, Dr. Pierce thought seriously of calling it his "Consumption Cure," but abandoned that name as too limited for a medicine which, from its wonderful combination of tonic, or strengthening, alterative, or blood-cleansing, anti-bilious, pectoral, and nutritive properties, is unequalled, not only as a remedy for consumption of the lungs, but for all

CHRONIC DISEASES

"Abide With Me."

At the George street church last night Miss Wells sang "Abide With Me," composed by Prof. Jacques, during the taking of the collection. It was a nice song, and well rendered.

The New Officers.

Capt. Williamson and wife, of Brantford have takta charge of the Salvation Corps here and are meeting with great success. They are well liked by the soldiers and friends of the Army. Word has been received from Capt. Pople that he is pleased with his new station.

A Local Law Case.

In the report of the proceedings in the Court of Common Pleas, at Osgoode Hall on Saturday the following appears:

DODBIN v. DOBBIN.—Aylesworth, for the plaintiff, moved to increase the amount for which judgment was entered at the trial by Proudfoot, J., at Peterborough in an action of conversion. Watson for defendant, showed cause. Reserved.

The Busy Burglar.

This morning Mr. M. Carton on entering his store in the town clock building discovered that burglars had been at work during the night. A pane of glass in the back door had been broken out, and a barrel rolled under it on the inside. In the store the goods were scattered about, and a considerable quantity has been missed. Mr. Carton doesn't yet know whether his loss is $10 or $100, but it is probably not over $50.

Among Turnbull's new French Dress Goods will be found beautiful tints of Peacock Blue also the new Gobelin shade in several qualities with trimmings to match.

A Free Organ Recital.

Thursday evening of this week Mr. Davies, of Ottawa, acknowledged to be the finest organist in Canada, will formally conduct the "opening" services of the new George street church organ, which is now fully completed. It is also expected a Toronto vocalist will assist. The entertainment will be free, a silver collection being taken up at the close.

Have you seen Turnbull's 6½ coat Fancy Check Winsey, if not you are missing a bargain.

Hard on the Salvationists.

The adjourned trials resulting from the recent Salvation Army disturbances in Lindsay have been concluded. Robert Lindsay, Edgar Hepburn, Jennie Menzies, Bertha Smith, Lizzie Wood and Lilly May, were fined. All but one was committed in default of payment. The charge against Chief of Police Bell was heard, evidence taken and the case was dismissed.

Missionary Meetings.

Missionary sermons were preached in the Methodist churches Sunday by Rev. Mr. Clarkson, of Port Hope, and Rev. L. N. Beaudry, of Montreal. Both gentlemen are eloquent preachers. Rev. Mr. Beaudry was particularly effective and enlisted the hearty co-operation and sympathy of the congregation in the cause he was so powerfully pleading. This evening he delivers a lecture in the George street church on "The Memories of Libby Prison," which is said to be thrilling and very interesting. A silver collection will be taken up.

A commercial tester. we are at the top, but our prices are at the bottom. See what Turnbull is showing this week in new Bedroom Chints and Cretonnes.

Sammy Sent Up.

This morning Samuel Jeremiah Clarke Skillen, aged 14, was committed to the Reformatory. He was charged with having damaged a safe in Mr. Hilliard's saw mill Saturday morning last. Friday night he was "fired" from the mill, where he was in the way. On going to the mill Saturday morning Mr. Hilliard met the lad coming out with an axe on his shoulder. He said he had been "watching the mill" all night, but investigation showed that he had been trying to pry open the safe, which was considerably damaged. He was arrested by P. C. Pidgeon, and at the police court this morning his uncle, Mr. James Hendry, testified that the boy was insane, and they could do nothing with him. The fact that he was non compos mentis was palpable enough, for the lad evinced the utmost contempt for men and things in general, "making faces" and talking incoherently whenever addressed. He was committed to the Reformatory.

Turnbull deals exclusively in the Extremes—the best and the Cheapest. See his new stock of Prints, Ginghams, Scotch Suchers, White and Grey Cottons, Cottonades and Tweeds.

Appointing the Assessors.

Special Meeting of the Town Council at 10.30 a.m.—A Lively Time over the Appointment of the Assessors.

FIRE, WATER AND LIGHT.

Mr. McNEIL, chairman, presented the report of his committee, as follows:—

Your Fire, Water and Light Committee beg leave to report that we asked for tenders for the construction of a new hose waggon, and have awarded the contract to Fitzgerald & Stenger, they to supply the town with a new waggon for $180 and take the present waggon in part payment, allowing $100 for the same.

We would recommend that in future Terrence Smith hand in his time to the clerk on the first of every month for the preceding month, stating how he was employed.

The report was adopted.

MR. CAHILL moved, seconded by Mr. Davidson, that the Clerk be requested to furnish to the Reeve of South Monaghan all extracts from the minutes in reference, to the construction of a bridge over the Otonabee river at "Rose's."—Carried.

APPOINTING THE ASSESSORS.

MR. KENDRY introduced a by-law to appoint town assessors. The Council went into committee of the whole, Mr. Douglass in the chair.

MR. CAHILL moved that Mr. McGrath be appointed an assessor.—Carried.

MR. MENZIES moved, seconded by Mr. Kendry, that Messrs. Aldridge and McKee be appointed assessors.

MR. MCNEIL moved, seconded by Mr. Moore, that Mr. McKee be appointed an assessor.

MR. YELLAND moved, seconded by Mr. Kelly, that Mr. Aldridge be an assessor.

MR. DAVIDSON moved the previous question, and Mr. Menzie's motion was put and lost, after which a tie resulted on Mr. Yelland's motion. Chairman Douglass voted away the tie in favor of Mr. Aldridge.

MR. KENDRY moved that Mr. McKee be appointed an assessor.

MR. STENSON moved that Mr. J. L. Hughes be appointed.

MR. MCNAUGHTON made a fiery speech in which he asserted that either two assessors or four be appointed, as when the work was done by three the majority ruled and great injustice resulted. He instanced several assessments which he claimed were disproportionate. He wanted men appointed that would do justice without fear or favor.

Messrs. Kendry, the Mayor, Cahill and Hartley supported the appointment of three assessors.

The motions were put and Mr. McKee declared elected a third assessor.

The by-law was filled in with the names, at a salary the same as last year, after which it was passed.

MOTIONS.

MR. YELLAND moved, seconded by Mr. Stenson, that no orders for charity be given except by the four members of the charity committee.—Lost.

MR. YELLAND moved, seconded by Mr. Moore, that H. Baker's taxes be referred to the Court of Revision.—Carried.

MR. HARTLEY moved, seconded by Mr. Kendry, that Mrs. Plunkett's taxes be remitted.—Carried.

MR. MCNEIL moved, seconded by Mr. Kelly, that the chairman of the Property Committee have the stoppage in the drain pipe leading from the town buildings removed.—Carried.

The Council then adjourned at the call of the Mayor.

All on Account of Whiskey.

At the police court this morning the Italian shooting case was disposed of. Murphy, the wounded man, was present, and though weak gave his evidence. Mr. Frank Anthony acted as interpreter. The court room was crowded.

JOSEPH MURPHY, the victim of the spree, testified corroborating in substance the details published in the EXAMINER at the time of the affray, with the exception that he stated he had no axe in his hand when shot, and that Marino didn't say, "Joe, I'm going to shoot you." Murphy said he had returned the axe and was coming back into his own room when Marino, who never said a word, shot him as he entered the door. He denied being drunk, though six flasks of whisky had been emptied.

MRS. STAPLEY testified that Murphy had the axe in his hand trailing along the floor. Marino, she said, was very drunk, Murphy slightly.

Police Magistrate Dumble then committed Frank Marino for trial at the next court of competent jurisdiction.

A Puff for the Curlers.

"The Lindsay men," says the Post, referring to the return of the Lindsay curlers from the Peterborough bonspiel week before last, "were enthusiastic in praising the way they had been treated, and in particular were highly pleased with the hospitable attentions shown to all clubs alike by their hosts, the Peterborough Club. The club provided lunch on both days and refreshments during the afternoons, and were most considerate in rendering any little services that visiting curlers required. It is such conduct as this that binds the bond of fellowship among curlers still tighter, and if a formal resolution were moved, ably seconded, unanimously carried, will cordially in any tangible shape the respects and compliments of the Lindsay club to their confreres of Peterborough, that resolve on shall be passed before other official business is transacted. And so say all of us."

Mr. Stevenson's Explanation.

To the Editor of the Daily Examiner.

SIR,—Regarding the letter in your issue of last Saturday signed "Ratepayer," I desire to say that the answer I made to Mr. Kendry and Mr. Yelland when asked to subscribe was that I had as many charitable demands on me as I could attend to; that if the town would give him $500 or $1,000 towards charity I would give them $100.

All that passed was said laughingly and in a joke. I never intended it in any other way and I am sure they took the same view of it for they never since called on me for any part of it.

As to the other more serious statement that the $200 given me by the Council on motion of Mr. Yelland and which was meant in a measure to recoup my expenditures on charity, I wish to say that the grant was not sought and was altogether unexpected by me. Not one cent of it was ever used for any purpose save that of charity to the poor of Peterborough, and I wish further to say that it did not repay me the one-third of what I disbursed during the year to that end, as I can readily show anyone who will call at my office.

Yours truly,
J. STEVENSON.

"Wait Till After the Elections."

To the Editor of the Daily Examiner.

SIR,—I understand that the position of Street and Bridge Inspector has been promised to about 40 persons, and each applicant while being led to believe that he will be appointed, is requested to "wait until after the elections." Now, as only one man can get the place, the remainder of the applicants will be on the lookout to see that they don't lose their votes on the head of it. The same advice applies to applicants for the position of caretaker of the new post office, who are put off with the same disinterested advice, "wait till after the elections." Party heelers seem to think that though old birds refuse to be caught by chaff, the intelligent electors can be duped by the "wait till after the election" dodge.

Yours truly,
NOT AN APPLICANT.

Peterborough, Feb. 12th.

A Chapter of Accidents.

Friday night Master Lionel King, son of Dr. King, while skating at the carnival was knocked down on the ice and fractured his arm near the shoulder. Though the injury was painful, he did not know the limb was broken, and skated about for some time before going home. The break is healing.

Sunday forenoon, Harry, another younger son of Dr. King, was bitten severely in the leg by a large dog owned by a West-end butcher, which jumped into the cutter and nearly tore a piece of flesh from the limb. The animal was shot.

Saturday afternoon Irvine Marks was knocked down and stepped on by a horse at the corner of Hunter and George streets, but fortunately escaped serious injury. It was a narrow escape. Careless driving did it.

A few days ago Willie Comstock, son of Mr. Aaron Comstock, was carrying a pot of boiling pitch over the icy ground, when he slipped, and the boiling liquid poured over one of his hands, burning it frightfully.

Personal.

The Lindsay Post, referring to the programme of a recent entertainment, says:—"Special reference is deserving Mr. MacDuff, who made his first appearance in Lindsay as solo violinist, and who, playing at a disadvantage—without accompaniment—charmed the audience with his magnificent playing of a fantasia of Scotch airs. Mr. MacDuff won high encomiums and created—justly, too—the impression that he is a thorough master of the violin, and an artist of exceedingly great capabilities."

A Talented Lady Dead.

The Globe of Monday says: "On Saturday evening Isabella Valancy Crawford, the last surviving daughter of the late Stephen Crawford, of Peterborough, suddenly passed away at 57 John street, in this city. She spent part of her life in France, and was an accomplished linguist. She was well known to the readers of several journals as the writer of "The Little Bacchante," together with several poems of extraordinary merit. For several years she has written for leading American and English newspapers, and published one volume of poems which received the highest commendation from first-class English literary journals."

BANKERS—Bank of Toronto and Canadian Bank of Commerce.
SOLICITOR—D. W. Dumble.

TO DEPOSITORS—Deposits are received by this Company both on current account and for periods of one year or longer. The rate of interest paid on deposits on current account, and which may be withdrawn by check in such sums as the depositor may from time to time require, is FOUR per cent., either paid or compounded half-yearly, and the rate on yearly deposits is FIVE per cent.

TO INVESTORS—The five and ten year FIVE PER CENT DEBENTURES of this Company which are issued in denominations of $100, $200, $500 and $1000 each, transferable by endorsement, with half-yearly interest Coupons attached, payable at the Head Office of the Company in Peterborough, or at any Branch of the Bank of Toronto in Canada, afford a safe and convenient mode of investment.

The funds of the Company being invested in first mortgages on Real Estate, no better security can be offered to depositors or debenture holders, they having a first claim or mortgage on the whole Assets of the Company, the shareholders having the second. The annual statement shows that the amount so invested was over $900,000, and on the security of real estate at least double that value.

By the laws of Ontario, Executors and Administrators may deposit Trust Funds of the estate which they control in this Company, and are free from all further liability, a privilege which belongs to this Company alone.

TO BORROWERS—Money is obtainable from this Company on approved Real Estate security at once on all amounts paid on account of the sum borrowed.

IRISH YET THE THEME

THE QUESTION TOUCHED ON IN THE HOUSE OF LORDS.

LONDON, Feb. 14.—In the House of Lords to-day Baron Inchiquin (Conservative) demanded that the Government take immediate measures to deal with the lawlessness in Ireland. He said that the League was carrying terror throughout the country and should be instantly suppressed. The worst feature of the struggle in the County Kerry was the part taken by the priests. If the League was proclaimed the priests should be debarred from taking part in the meetings. An amendment of the jury law was necessary to secure the administration of justice.
